REPORTS PACIFIC A-BLASTS 'WENT OFF PERFECTLY'

Hosmer Tells Calif. Reactor-Site Plan

Rep. Craig Hosmer, R-Long Beach, said Saturday in Honolulu the Kennedy administration is giving "serious study" to a proposal to create a nuclear power reactor site on Camp Pendleton near La Jolla.

Hosmer stopped off in Honolulu en route to Washington after inspecting nuclear tests sites at Christmas and Johnston Islands.

He told Honolulu newsmen the first two U. S. atmospheric tests in the Pacific "went off perfectly." They will cause no danger to any place or anyone in the world, he said.

Rep. Hosmer, a member of the Joint Congressional Atomic Committee, said that setting aside sites such as Camp Pendleton as national nuclear power reactor reservations would "encourage public and private power industry to go nuclear."

The proposed reservation at Pendleton would be one of several in the nation, under the Hosmer proposal, which included a series of recommendations "to get the nation's nuclear power program off dead center."

The Marine Corps site is one of the most logical areas in the nation for a nuclear power reservation, Hosmer said.

He noted that the camp occupies many thousands of acres of land along 20 miles of coastline.

Hosmer, the first congressman to view the current nuclear series, said the tests were proceeding so well "they should be finished on or before schedule. This assumes the weather will remain good. It looks good so far."

The United States plans to detonate approximately 30 nuclear warheads in a two-to-three-month period. Before going to Christmas Island last Wednesday, Hosmer indicated the tests would be

Chiefs OK Talk at the Summit—if

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy and British Prime Minister Macmillan agreed Saturday that they are ready to consider holding East-West summit conferences if assured of useful results, but they said conditions are not ripe for summit diplomacy now.

British and U.S. informants said following day-long talks at the White House that the two leaders generally agree there should be East-West diplomatic contacts at many levels including, when productive, the summit.

They specifically agreed that U.S.-Soviet discussions on the possibility of a German settlement could be continued.

Informants said this decision was reached after Kennedy gave Macmillan a report on conversations held here during the past two weeks by Secretary of State Dean Rusk with Soviet Ambassador Anatoly F. Dobrynin.

Kennedy and Macmillan felt their summit policy agreement was in line with views expressed by Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev in a Moscow interview about 10 days ago. Khrushchev told American publisher Gardner Cowles that he thought advance preparations should be made to give prospect of successful results from a summit conference.

Kennedy and Macmillan were reported to be thinking of the possibility of more than one summit conference provided conditions were suitable. However, informants declined to say that what they had in mind was a series of top-level meetings although the report opened that possibility.

The British and American government chiefs met for about two hours Saturday morning. They lunched together at the White House and spent another two hours in conference Saturday afternoon.

They decided to continue their talks today, and a joint statement once scheduled for issuance late Saturday was delayed until sometime this afternoon.

Official word from the morning session was that the two leaders had dis-

Father Excommunicated

LONELY WALK TO THE ALTAR

BRIDE SUZANNE MARIE RICAU LEAVES DAD AT CHURCH DOOR

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Pretty Suzanne Marie Ricau took a long, lonely walk down a Roman Catholic church aisle Saturday to become an April bride after leaving her excommunicated father at the church door.

Jackson G. Ricau, a top officer in the pro-segregation South Louisiana Citizens Council, said church officials would not let him accompany his daughter to the altar railing.

But he later entered the church to witness the ceremony.

Ricau was one of three Catholics excommunicated by Archbishop Joseph Francis Rummel of New Orleans on April 16. The others were Mrs. B. J. Gaillot Jr. and political leader Leander H. Perez Sr. The excommunication edict said they ignored the archbishop's "fatherly counsel" by defying his order to desegregate parochial schools next fall.

Ricau and his blonde, 20-year-old daughter—the eldest of eight children—drove to St. Francis Xavier Church in suburban Metairie and he took her up the steps. He kissed her on the cheek and she then entered the slate gray building—alone.

After his daughter walked down the aisle and met her bridegroom, Donald A. Boudreaux, at the altar railing, Ricau entered the church and slipped into a first row pew beside his wife.

N.Y. Brush Fire Burns 14 Homes

Hundreds Forced to Flee; Twenty Reported Injured

GLENS FALLS, N.Y. (AP)—Fourteen houses were destroyed Saturday by a wind-driven brush and forest fire that raged into a suburban area of this city of 18,000.

Approximately 20 persons were reported injured.

Hundreds of others were forced to flee their homes and a public school was opened to provide them with food and shelter.

* * * *

A SPOKESMAN for the State Conservation Department said the fire finally was contained Saturday night behind wide lines cleared by bulldozers. It still continued to flare up in spots, however, and fire companies remained on guard.

At the height of the fire, more than 1,000 firemen and volunteers were battling the flames. Fire-fighting equipment was rushed to the area from as far away as Lake Placid, nearly 100 miles north of Glens Falls.

Fire coordinator Leslie Hillis said that 14 houses officially were reported destroyed but that the number might be higher.

* * * *

THERE WAS no immediate estimate of the loss.

The fire was the most disastrous of hundreds of brush and forest fires that have broken out in the state during the past week.

The Conservation Department spokesman said it burned about 500 to 600 acres in an area three miles long and a one-quarter to one-half mile wide.

It swept through the hamlet of Bennettville and into West Glens Falls.

* * * *

THE FLAMES jumped the highway at several points and for a time forced closing of the four-lane expressway also known as Interstate Route 87.

All electric power was cut off in the area.

Glens Falls Hospital said four or five fire victims had been admitted. Another 10 to 15 were treated in the hospital's emergency room and others were treated at the scene.

The fire situation in New York State has been dangerous for a week because of extremely dry weather and unusually high temperatures. Fires have erupted in many parts of the state.

It was hot and dry again Saturday and the temperature here hit 90. The weather bureau forecast scattered showers for today.

Era Ends: Last L.B. Field to Be Residential Area

Work on a project that marks the end of an era in Long Beach started last week when ground was broken on the last large residential tract that can be built in the city.

The $40 million tract, El Dorado Park Estates, is located on 287 acres just north of Spring Street between El Dorado Park on the west and Norwalk Blvd. on the east.

Many large tracts have been constructed during the past 10 to 20 years and have in large measure accounted for the tremendous population spurts the city has taken.

* * * *

NOW THE LARGE areas of vacant ground are gone and aside from this one area most major development in the city will be in the form of high rise apartments.

Builder of El Dorado Park Estates is S & S Construction Co., owned by David and Nathan Shapell of Beverly Hills who have built more than 1,200 homes in the past in this city including College Park and College Park Estates in east Long Beach.

The tract site has been scheduled for development for many years, but engineering problems—primarily drainage—delayed operations.

* * * *

BERNARD E. McCune, general manager of S & S and a former engineer in the city engineer's department, said that with the "splendid cooperation" of the city these problems have now been solved.

"We are spending more than a half million dollars on drainage facilities," McCune said, pointing out that the firm is building a cement drainage channel on city right of way which will not only drain the tract area but will also drain El Dorado Park just to the west.

The area where the "walled community" of 250 homes and 600 garden apartments will be located was annexed to the city by S&S about two years ago because of Long Beach's "cooperaton, low tax rates, schools, utilities, buildng codes and fine attitude regarding upgrading of major streets in the vicinity."

The new area will have a small commercial area at Norwalk Blvd. and Wardlow Rd. and has land set aside for a new elementary school—the Douglas A. Newcomb School, which probably will be ready for use in the 1963-64 school year.

Homes will range from two to five bedrooms, will be one-floor, split level and two-story. Prices will be from about $22,000 to $31,000. First unit to be built will contain 200 homes. Total development of the area will take about two years.

Boats Sink, 21 Die

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP) —A sudden storm swept the northern Adriatic Friday night, sinking two boats with a possible loss of 21 lives, Tanjug News Agency said Saturday. Most victims were youths.

Check the Clock-- It's Daylight Time

Daylight-saving time went into effect at 2 a.m. today.

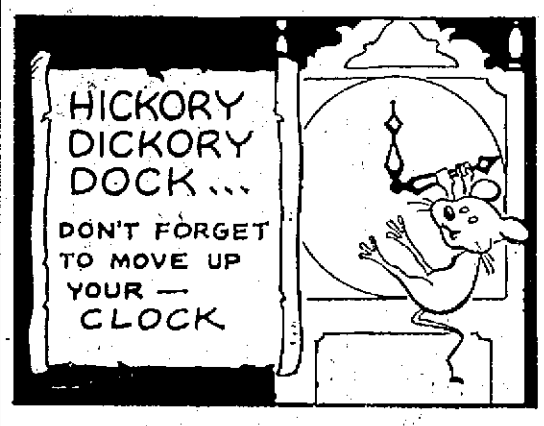

If you complied with the letter of the law, you set your clocks ahead to 3 a.m. when they reached 2 a.m.—and consequently lost an hour.

But you probably won't be prosecuted if you waited until you got up today to change the timepieces.

The lost hour will be regained next fall. But a measure on the June 5 ballot will determine whether it will be the last Sunday in September, as hertofore, or the last weekend in October.

If the October date is agreed upon by voters, it would bring the state into line with most other daylight-time states in the country.

And, by the way, if your newspaper is late today, don't blame the circulation department. Its an annual problem for the distributing crews when the paper goes to press on standard time and rolls off on daylight time—an hour late.

Anti-Red Riot Hits Havana

HAVANA, Cuba (AP) — Opponents of Fidel Castro's regime Saturday night staged a demonstration on one of Havana's busiest street corners but it was quickly broken up.

Witnesses said that several demonstrators were arrested. Police quickly moved in to crush the demonstration. Witnesses gave various accounts of the incident.

(Reports from Havana gave no indication whether only a handful was involved or whether there was an organized move.)

* * * *

THE LAST major riot in Havana erupted last Sept. 10, when a Roman Catholic procession suddenly turned into an anti-Communist demonstration. Before it was broken up, one man was reported killed and a score wounded in clashes with police.

The September riot developed into a free-for-all when a crowd of about 4,000 started to march on the presidential palace.

PAULING PROTESTS TESTS

JFK Honor Guest Joins Picket Line

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Nobel Prize-winning chemist who will be a dinner guest of President and Mrs. Kennedy tonight picketed the White House Saturday, but from a distance of a block away.

Dr. Linus C. Pauling of the California Institute of Technology joined the picket line of Women Strike for Peace, a group protesting the resumption of U.S. nuclear tests.

He was assigned a three-hour stint, from noon to 3 p.m. His wife also joined the picket line.

* * * *

DR. AND MRS. Pauling are among 175 guests, including 49 Nobel Prize winners, invited to a White House dinner to honor the scientists.

He said they plan to attend the dinner. Pauling won the 1954 Nobel Prize for chemistry.

The picketing had to be conducted on H Street, across Lafayette Park from the White House, instead of on the sidewalk in front of the White House on Pennsylvania Avenue.

Washington police barred picketing within 500 feet of the White House, because of the presence there of British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan. The 500 foot rule is involked only when a distinguished foreign visitor is at the White House.

Coatless and hatless, Dr. Pauling carried two different signs. One said "no" and included a picture of an atomic explosion. The other read: "Mr. Kennedy, Mr. Macmillan: You have no right to test."

Pauling dropped out of the picket line to talk briefly on a park bench with a newsman.

BICYCLIST NABBED AS TIPSY DRIVER

The only thing unusual about Mrs. Marcella O. Sheppard's arrest for drunk driving Saturday was her vehicle.

It was a bicycle.

Police in Harbor City arrested Mrs. Sheppard after her bike collided with a car at 257th Street and Marigold Avenue.

Mrs. Sheppard, 39, of 1075 W. 253rd St., Harbor City, had been riding her bike on the wrong side of the street, but didn't collide with the car until she swerved to the right side, according to Officer James Gleason.

L.A.C. Says:
He Should Speak to His Brother

The President's brother in a speech prepared for the Associated Press convention this week was quite concerned over the image of capitalism as viewed in other countries. He said: "Capitalism has become a dirty word because it is synonymous with selfishness." He went on: "Many people in foreign lands believe Americans are interested only in material gain—that they are not interested in their neighbors—not interested in their communities and not interested in those that are less well off."

It may be this is the image of us among many people of foreign lands. But if anyone has added to this image recently it is the President himself. His ill-tempered tirade against the steel companies gave all the ammunition needed for those who would paint our capitalism as pure selfishness. We suggest that his brother, Robert, address his criticisms to his own brother in this respect.

In last Monday's New York Times, the President is quoted as saying, "My father always told me that all business men were S.O.B.s, but I never believed it til now. He did not use the initials—the raw language went out in the Times' European as well as American editions. We may be sure communists everywhere will see they are widely quoted—and he did say, "all business men."

We do not criticize the President for objecting to a price raise in steel. It is his privilege and possibly his duty. But here are some of the worldwide publicized words he used when he objected to the 3.5 per cent price raise to offset the 12 per cent rise in wage costs. He said it was "wholly unjustified and irresponsible defiance of public interest." He used the demagogic example of the Berlin crisis—"when we are asking reservists to leave their homes and servicemen risk their lives." He referred to a "handful of steel executives whose pursuit of private power and profit exceeds their sense of public responsibility who show utter contempt for the interests of 185 million Americans."

The President's brother suggests we send speakers throughout the world to tell the people the truth about capitalism. We assume these travelers would be picked from the intellectuals surrounding the Kennedy administration, one of whom is the long-time liberal who is reported to have written the President's speech. Just how even the most ardent advocate of capitalism could overcome the impression made by these remarks is hard to understand.

The President could have strongly stated his opposition to the increases—and stated he was asking Congress or the courts to take action. But he gave a demagogic speech which is grist to the mills so looked for by agitators—here and abroad—who picture us as ruled by a ruthless, selfish small group of capitalists who, as Khrushchev says, "grind down the people for their personal power and gain."

This writer did not find any such feeling among the common people he met in Europe a year ago. It was a time when this capitalistic nation had just experienced the Cuban invasion debacle. All we heard was "why did you start and then pull back from stopping communism in Cuba?" We recall the President's constant reference to our loss of world prestige.

The President's words at a press conference are heard and read by the masses of people in every country where their governments seek such words to undermine U. S. prestige. No traveling speaker can overcome such expressions. They will not even try when they are chosen by the people who write and express such views.—L.A.C.

Nixon Backs $470 Million School Bonds

By ROBERT WILCOX
Education Editor

Former Vice President Richard M. Nixon said Saturday that "the most effective way to avoid dictation on education from Washington is to do a better job of meeting the needs of education at home."

The candidate for governor assailed foes of federal aid to education who "vote against local and state bond issues and other funds needed to support a top-quality, locally controlled school system."

In what was described as a major address, Nixon endorsed the $470 million in state school-bond issues on the June ballot.

His speech concluded the two-day "California Conference on Investing Skilled Manpower for the 60s," sponsored in Los Angeles by the California Teachers Association and the National Education Association. Gov. Brown addressed the conference Friday.

Nixon described support for local and state financing of school programs as the only "effective answer to pressures for vastly increased federal aid and the threat of federal control."

The former vice president listed several "glaring weaknesses" which must be corrected, he said, if the state "is to maintain its position of leadership" in education.

"So long as we have our overcrowded classrooms and our high rate of student dropouts, we can not say California has the kind of education system which the first state in the nation deserves."

Nixon proposed an increase in the number of teachers and the more effective use of school buildings in order to reduce the pupil-teacher ratio. He said that teachers should be relieved of non-teaching duties wherever possible.

He warned against the possible downgrading of vocational and applied education programs in connection with the dropout problem.

The gubernatorial candidate criticized the state for imposing more requirements on local school districts and "at the same time assuming a decreasing percentage of the costs." Every program the state imposes, he said, should be accompanied by an enabling act to pay for it.

He also called for the state either "to reassume a fair share of the cost of education" or to release tax sources to local districts so that they can pay for their own school systems.

"In many areas," Nixon said, "property taxes have been pushed to the limit."

He also recommended a thorough review of state aid to school districts to increase its equity and effectiveness.

In backing the state bond issues, Nixon said that "properly drawn, local school-bond issues also deserve support."

For students who do not [illegible] to college and who want vocational training, he called for a "more adequate recognition" of their needs.

In conclusion, he told the audience that "we educate American children for a different purpose and a different end than do the Communists. We should not push the panic button with each new Communist achievement."

He urged rejection of the concept of "the isolated specialist." While specialists, Nixon said, "must and will have the best training in the world . . . they must have it in a well-rounded atmosphere of freedom and freedom's responsibilities."

$4.5 Million Anti-Erosion Plan Pushed

HUNTINGTON BEACH — The Army's Beach Erosion Board has approved a $4.5-million plan of offshore breakwaters and sand recovery to halt erosion and replace damaged strands.

Outlined here Feb. 14 by Col. William T. Bradley, district engineer for the U.S. Army Engineer Corps, the plan calls for the federal government to pay 67 per cent of the cost rather than the 61 per cent "formula" usually followed.

The board in Washington, D.C., agreed to the higher participation by the federal government after accepting Col. Bradley's explanation that government breakwaters at Seal Beach Naval Ammunition and Net Depot's Anaheim Bay caused much of the downcoast erosion.

* * * *

THE PLAN calls for a "detached" breakwater 2,600 feet long off Newport Beach, to check the littoral drift of sand, and trap sufficient sand each five years to replace eroded shores. It would cost an estimated $2,091,000.

Rebuilding the badly-eroded shoreline at Sunset Beach and Surfside Colony would cost an estimated $2,159,000, Col. Bradley's report said.

Replacement of sand — chiefly to be dredged from the Navy's Anaheim Bay, would create a beach 500 feet wide and 9,200 feet long. Col. Bradley's report said it would be a sturdy buffer against seasonal storms and high tides which eat away the Sunset-Surfside strand.

* * * *

APPROVAL by the Beach Erosion Board represents the first major hurdle for the ambitious plan of controlling the erosion which has ruined some beaches and is threatening almost all others from Newport Beach to Seal Beach.

It now goes to the chief engineer of the Army Engineer Corps, then to Gov. Brown, various federal agencies, and finally to President Kennedy.

Spending 'Lag' Hit by ADA

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Americans for Democratic Action (ADA) proclaimed its friendship with the Kennedy administration Saturday but condemned some of its economic policies.

Delegates to the ADA's 15th annual convention adopted one resolution calling for a "positive planned program for economic growth" and saying:

"The danger of inflation and of a drain of United States gold have been used as a rationale for contractionist policies which have retarded economic growth and threatened to defeat our broad national purposes."

* * * *

THE WORD "rationale" was substituted on the convention floor for the term "smokescreen," which was in the draft prepared by the convention's domestic policy commission. A delegate objected that the commission's term impugned the motives of President Kennedy.

Another resolution approved contained more specific praise and criticism of Kennedy administration policies.

This second resolution commended the administration for asserting that full employment was a top-priority economic goal, but said there had been "lack of vigor in seeking that goal."

"The administration is in fundamental error in giving lip service to the principle of a balanced budget and placing undue emphasis on the balance of payments at the expense of full employment," the resolution said.

* * * *

IT ADVOCATED an expanded public-works program and tax cuts for low-income groups.

Other sections praised the administration's proposals for a more liberal foreign-trade program and for stand-by authority to reduce taxes and increase public-works spending when a recession is threatened.

LET ME GO PLAY BALL

Joanie Ota tries to interest Wayne Tagashira in Shoki, a Japanese devil-chasing doll, but Wayne, who prefers wearing T-shirt and shorts to the handsome costume, shows he would rather be out playing baseball.

JAPANESE BOYS DAY MAY 5

Lad Shuns Devil Beater

Joanie Ota did the best she could.

And it wasn't really Wayne Tagashira's fault that he was frightened by Shoki, the Devil Chastiser.

Besides, this is America, and in America boys don't play with dolls!

For the background, you have to know that next Saturday, May 5, is the day of the Boys' Festival, the time above all others when the Japanese people rejoice in having male children.

DOTING PARENTS, grandparents, uncles and aunts and family friends present gifts to little boys, and many of these gifts are Japanese character dolls of tradition and strength.

Over their homes during the Boys' Festival the Japanese fly carp-shaped kites, one for each boy in the household. The fish, attached to bamboo poles, plunge in the wind and seem to be swimming strongly upstream.

On tiered stands inside their homes during the festival the Japanese display dolls and miniature helmets, spears, halberds, armor, drums to inspire their boys to strength.

IN FRONT of the stands are offerings of rice cakes and sake, the wine flavored with the leaves of iris to keep evil away from their men children.

Hanako Manaka, proprietor of the Azuma Gift Shop, 2070 Santa Fe Ave., last week arranged a Boys' Festival exhibit and invited the Japanese of the neighborhood to come to look at it.

Among the visitors were Joanie and Wayne, each 4 years old. Wayne wore a green, handsomely embroidered kimona, with flowing sleeves. (He prefers a T-shirt and shorts.)

JOANIE, WHO LOOKS exactly like a Japanese doll, came in kimono, obi, and an elaborate headdress.

For the photograph, Joanie was to hand Wayne the Shoki doll.

Wayne would have none of it.

"Take," pleaded Joanie.

"No!" wept Wayne and turned his back.

The Shoki, famed in Chinese legend, is represented by a fierce-looking warrior doll, a sword in hand to frighten away devils.

He also frightened a small 4-year-old Japanese boy, born in America, who went out to play ball after the Shoki was safely back on its stand.

Keaton Asks Probe of College GOP

SACRAMENTO (AP)—Harry Keaton, president of the California Young Republicans, announced Saturday he has asked the YR general counsel, Don Lindeberg of San Diego, to investigate the recent turbulent convention of the California Young Republican College Federation.

The federation chose officers reported to favor Richard M. Nixon for governor. Delegates supporting Assemblyman Joseph C. Shell for the GOP gubernatorial nomination charged the convention was rigged.

Keaton told the YR board of directors he has asked Lindberg to look particularly into the federation's credentials committee to determine whether the convention was packed.

* * * *

KEATON, of Los Angeles, said Lindberg will report to the next board meeting whether there should be a trial board and hearings.

At today's sessions YR members from Orange County distributed a statement protesting refusal of the federation convention to seat delegates from Santa Ana Junior College and Chapman College.

They said that as a result, they will refuse to recognize the new officers, headed by Harold Phillips of the University of Redlands.

Keaton told the board:

"The duty of Young Republicans is to elect Republicans to public office, not to elect Young Republicans to Young Republicans office. All of these intramural contests are sapping our strength and must be recognized for what they are."

Daredevils' Blast Snuffs Sahara Fire

HASSI MESSAOUD, Algeria (UPI)—Rebel yells filled the desert around the Gassi Touil gas fields Saturday when "flying firemen" Red Adair won a double-or-nothing gamble and doused "The Devil's Cigarette Lighter."

With a 550-pound charge of dynamite, Adair and his assistants in "Red Adair and Co., Oil-Well-Fire and Blow-Out Specialists," snuffed out a six-month-old fire raging at the runaway GT-2 well at Gassi Touil.

Two days from now Adair plans to set off another blast to clear away damaged portions of the well head, followed by a third explosion to snuff out the fire reignited by blast Number Two.

Adair was planning to give up Gassi Touil as a bad job unless the blast Saturday morning did the trick. It did.

* * * *

ADAIR AND HIS three assistants, Coot Mathews, Boots Hansen, and former gridiron star Charley Tollar, had been directing preliminary operations around the GT-2 pit off and on for three months.

At 3:30 a.m. Adair drove out from Hassi Messaoud. He walked up to the edge of "No Man's Land." He checked the 10 asbestos-protected batteries of fire hoses trained on the well head 600 feet away.

About 8 a.m., a small truck arrived with the dynamite which Adair fixed to the front of a bulldozer.

At 8:30 a.m., everything was ready.

* * * *

ADAIR TOOK the driver's seat. The others climbed up to a small platform behind the bulldozer's scoop to help guide the dynamite-loaded lance-point to the foot of the pillar of fire.

All four wore asbestos suits.

At 8:35 a.m., Adair revved up and roared into the danger zone. The bulldozer and riders disappeared in water from the fire hoses.

Suddenly, Adair, Hansen, Matthews and Tollar appeared, running for their lives to a slit trench 450 feet away from the well head.

A flat, sharp crack shook the ground. The shock wave rolled over the waiting crowd.

The crowd flinched and looked away.

When they looked up, "The Devil's Cigarette Lighter" was out.

'Apollo' Program Contract Let

CLEVELAND, Ohio (UPI)—The General Dynamics Corp., San Diego, Calif., was awarded a $60,393 contract for carbide research by the Lewis Research Center, National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

The center, which has a staff of 3,700, is responsible for working on part of the Apollo program, which will land men on the moon.

WORLD NEWS BRIEFS

1 Slain, 11 Hurt in Muslim Riot

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Extremist Black Muslims battled police with guns, bottles, fists and feet early Saturday outside the anti-white sect temple in a riot that killed one Muslim and injured 11 men.

About 50 Muslims and an equal number of police were involved by the time the riot reached a climax at 12:30 p.m. It started an hour earlier with a seeming routine questioning of two peddlers, and concluded when police jailed nearly a score of the rioters.

Wounded by gunfire were Officer Frank Tomlinson and six members of the Black Muslim cult. Four of the latter were reported in critical condition.

A crowd of about 200 watched the battle. Dead was Robert Stokes, 28, Los Angeles, identified by Lt. Ronald Williamson as one of the black-suited cultists.

The cult advocates a separate "black nation" within the United States for Negroes despite public opposition voiced by local and national Negro leaders to its extremist stand.

Ayub Takes Lead

KARACHI, Pakistan (Sunday) (UPI)—Early returns in Pakistan's first "basic democracy" elections today indicated a vote of confidence for pro-Western President Mohammed Ayub Khan.

Many voters rode to the polls on camels, in jeeps or boats. Some tribal chiefs came on horseback, with rifles slung over their shoulders. The newspaper Morning News said today the parliamentary election was a triumph for Ayub, who is gradually restoring democracy to Pakistan following his military takeover in 1958.

Welk Show Star Marooned

COEUR D' ALENE, Idaho (UPI) — Jo Ann Castle, piano star of the Lawrence Welk television show, her husband and four Spokane, Wash., residents were marooned for nearly two hours on an isolated island on Lake Coeur D' Alene Saturday morning after their cabin cruiser struck a snag and sank.

200 Viet Cong Reds Killed

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—More than 200 Viet Cong Communists were killed last week, the government reported, as South Viet Nam's guerrilla war steadily grew in intensity.

The increasing pressure of American-supported government units, fanning out into Communist-infested sectors, brought bloody clashes daily in the jungles and dusty rice fields.

Dynamites Home, Slays Self

FAYETTEVILLE, N.C. (AP)—A dynamite blast ripped apart a two-story home near here early Saturday without injuring the eight sleeping occupants. Police who went to question a suspect a few hours later found he had fatally shot himself.

Police theorized that Larry Williford, 34, a contractor, brooding over a former friendship between his estranged wife and Grover Leo Draughon, 34, either set or tossed the dynamite under Draughon's home, then went to the home of his grandmother where he committed suicide.

staged every two or three days.

"Nothing went wrong with the first two shots . . . they went off perfectly.

"That's quite a feat when one considers the billions of factors—scientific, military, weather—involved.

"These tests are so designed as to create the smallest amount of radiation fallout. They will cause no danger to any place or anyone in the world."

The blasts Friday and Wednesday were staged with devices dropped from airplanes.

Hosmer said he had only one possible criticism of the test series, "and that's not exactly valid."

He said he referred to the attention given to health and safety in the mid-Pacific testing zone. "It's so time-consuming it might be delaying the work. This, however, is indicative of the care and concern the United States gives to tests of this sort."

* * * *

REFERRING to the Camp Pendleton proposal, he said, "A small portion of this coastline would be ideal for such a nuclear reservation because of the availability of ocean water for condenser cooling.

"It constitutes practically the only Southern California location suitable for nuclear power reactors. It is close to heavy power load centers.

"Both the Los Angeles Department of Water and Power, a public utility, and the Southern California Edison Co., a private utility, are anxious to go nuclear but each has site problems. Both are severely restricted in the use of conventional fuels because of the Los Angeles basin's smog conditions.

"The withdrawal of the small portion of the Marine Corps base for a five-million kilowatt nuclear power reactor reservation would be in the paramount national interest and it can be accomplished without any serious hardship to the Marine Corps amphibious training program."

* * * *

HOSMER SAID other Southern California utilities which might be expected to join in the nuclear efforts would include Pasadena's Municipal Department of Power and Light and the San Diego Gas & Electric Co.

He said about $1.153 billion has been spent toward achieving economic nuclear power in the United States—some $271 million by public and private power companies and another $882 million by the Atomic Energy Commission.

"At the present moment our goal of leading the world in peaceful power production from the atom is in clear sight but the program is stalled on dead center," said Hosmer. "We need to do but a few more things, including setting up the reactor parks, to move ahead."

Atomic-Test Drops 'Right on the Mark'

WASHINGTON (AP)—High bombing precision is reported to be indicated in preliminary data on the opening phases of the Pacific nuclear tests.

The air drop from an Air Force bomber of a nuclear device on Wednesday, first shot in the test series, was described in some quarters as having been virtually perfect, detonating at precisely the point in mid-air which had been planned.

A second air burst of a device was made Friday, but there was no immediate indication of results on this drop.

* * * *

SINCE THE advent of the atomic bomb in 1945, dozens of test devices and actual bombs have been dropped by Air Force bombers, including the two combat shots on Japan.

With few exceptions, they have been on or satisfactorily close to the aiming point. Only two misses have been reported publicly. In the 1946 series at the Marshall Islands proving grounds, an air drop from a B29 exploded several hundreds yards wide of the target. In 1956, a 10-megaton device dropped by a B52 jet bomber was almost four miles off the intended bursting point.

Suzanne wanted it this way," the slim, greying Ricau said. "We talked it over and she told me that if I could not take her down the aisle to her groom, she would walk alone.

"And there were other factors to consider. I don't want to put my daughter's nerves on edge on the biggest day of her life. If I took the chance and defied the order, everybody—my wife, my daughter, our friends—would be tense fearing that something might happen to spoil what should be a beautiful day.

"Then, too, I don't want to appear hostile to the church. I consider myself a good Catholic. I've never been officially informed of the excommunication except through the newspapers.

"And after all, what goes on inside a church is the church's business. I'm not going to contest that at all. If they don't want me in there, then I shouldn't be in there."

By in there, he meant as a participant in the wedding ceremony.

The refusal to let him accompany his daughter, Ricau said in a typed statement, "clearly reveals how far the hierarchy will go to suppress a Catholic who is telling the truth about racial integration.

"The excommunication edict," the statement continued, "was obviously an act of desperation. It was, in my opinion, a spiritual bayonet designed to silence organized resistance to forced integration and to throw fear of further threats into the flock.

"The cruel edict, knowingly or unknowingly part of a plot to silence conservative activity, is creating widespread resentment among sincere Catholics and is hastening the collapse of the already crumbling forced mixing program."

The type of excommunication the archbishop imposed on Ricau, Perez and Mrs. Gaillot prohibits them from receiving the sacraments, bars them from a Catholic burial and forbids their acting as sponsor at baptism and confirmation. A statement from the archbishop's chancery said they lost their right to attend mass, but no attempt was made to stop Perez from attending mass last Sunday.

TROMBONIST JOSEPH KEARNS . . . Featured in Festival Band Concert

IN MUSIC FESTIVAL

Band to Present Modern Concert

By GEORGE ERES

Contemporary music written for bands will be showcased by the Long Beach Municipal Band, directed by Charles J. Payne, at 3 p.m. today in the Elks Lodge, 4101 E. Willow St.

The concert, fourth in the series of programs in the Long Beach Music Festival, sponsored by the Long Beach Music Council, will feature Long Beach-born trombonist Joseph Kearns, a member of the band.

Kearns will play two works composed by Fred W. Deyerberg, who until his recent retirement was composer, arranger, principal French-horn player and harpist with the Municipal Band. The works are "Episode" and "Autumn Nocturne" both written especially to display Kearns trombone virtuosity, Payne said.

* * * *

OTHER WORKS to be presented in the Festival Band Concert are:

"Conquest" by Alfred Newman, the theme from the film, "Captain from Castile;" "Chester," overture for band by William Schuman, based on a theme by William Billings, popular during the American Revolution; "Tango Lullaby," by Don Gilis; "Suite of Old American Dances," by Robert Russell Bennett, including, Cake Walk, Schottische, Western One-Step, Wallflower Waltz and Rag.

Musical impressions of works of art by Toulouse-Lautrec, Dali and Degas are the basis for a work by Henri Rene, "Passion In Paint;" "X-Minus-10," is a musical journey through outer space by Lionel Taylor, Hollywood composer; "Prelude and Rondo," two movements of a suite for hand by Burnet Tuthill, awarded the Columbia University prize of 1947; "Modernistic Impressions," by William Reddie, musical director in Las Vegas, and Leonard Bernstein's "West Side Story."

The program is sponsored by the City of Long Beach and the Elks Lodge. Admission is free.

Chiefs OK Summit If Useful

cussed a wide range of issues, including Berlin and disarmament.

The reference to disarmament made by White House Press Secretary Pierre Salinger and British spokesman Harold Evans presumably covered the issue of nuclear weapons testing on which Macmillan is under considerable political pressure at home.

Macmillan is believed to have told Kennedy that, much as he regretted U.S. resumption of atmospheric explosions in the Pacific, he could not raise objection in the light of Russia's refusal to sign an enforceable treaty banning all tests. At the same time, Macmillan obviously faced greater need than Kennedy to make clear his continued interest in halting all tests if possible.

* * * *

MACMILLAN, who reached Washington late Friday after a visit to New York, talked with Kennedy in private in the President's office for an hour. Then they moved to the larger cabinet room and were joined by a group of advisers including Rusk and British Ambassador David Ormsby Gore. Rusk was leaving Saturday night for conferences in Britain.

Macmillan lunched at the White House, and the conference continued during the afternoon. His turn to play host came later, with Kennedy invited to be his dinner guest at the British Embassy.

It was following the adjournment of the hour-long session in the cabinet room that Salinger and Evans announced that the talk had covered "East-West relations with particular emphasis on Berlin and the future of the Geneva disarmament talks."

NATO to Get U.S. Arms Data

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dean Rusk is expected to offer the NATO allies this week detailed information on the numbers, types, general capability and potential use of weapons in the U.S. nuclear arsenal.

Kennedy administration leaders are reported to hope that such information will be reassuring to Allied governments in Europe and thus help to ease the pressure from some countries—particularly West Germany — for quick creation of NATO's own nuclear weapons force.

Rusk, who left Saturday night on a globe-girdling trip, will attend a meeting of the North Atlantic Council in Athens beginning late this week. Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara also will be present. The availability of U. S. nuclear power for the defense of Western Europe will be one of the major issues before the council.

RUSK DOES not expect that the issue will be resolved at the forthcoming session. The other 14 Allied governments in NATO are divided on what they think should be done. The United States has offered to help them create a nuclear force under control of the alliance, whose chief military commander is an American general. But the complex problems of how decisions on the use of nuclear weapons would be made are not yet close to solution.

In the meantime the West German government is pressing for some specific reassurances. One proposal from Bonn which the United States had considered and which some officials regard favorably calls for an American commitment that nuclear bombs and warheads stationed on Allied territory would not be removed without the consent of the government which has jurisdiction. The U. S. is known to have weapons in Britain, West Germany, Italy and Turkey.

Officials said that actually the United States has already given extensive information to the 15-nation NATO council, including data on the numbers and locations of nuclear weapons committed in the European area for the defense of NATO.

Science Proves Smash Hit at World's Fair

By PAUL WELLS

SEATTLE (AP)—If there was ever any doubt that science has drama, fascination and strong human appeal, the Seattle World's Fair dispelled the notion in its first week.

Science, the keynote of this Century 21 exposition dedicated to man in the space age, has been a solid smash, with the beautifully housed federal exhibit during the largest crowds.

But popular as science has been, the famed 600-foot space needle and the high-speed monorail have proved to be equally strong drawing cards.

So have food and frivolity, drama and the dance.

Just how good is this first U.S. world's fair in 22 years? Has it lived up to expectations, both in what it provides and early attendance? What are the surprises, the weak spots?

AMAZINGLY, the pre-fair hyperbole and press agentry superlatives have not proved to be too overdrawn. Upwards of 1,000 newsmen and women who viewed the 74-acre grounds and its exhibits with a critical eye last opening weekend were generous in their praise. So were several disinguished visitors, including the Shah and Empress of Iran and Sir Julian Huxley, noted British scientist.

Attendance the first four days of 160,765 was mildly disappointing, but changeable spring weather and scare stories of expected crowd and traffic jams cut down the turnout.

To a man, ranking officials of the fair have no qualms.

"We've got a winner," said Joseph E. Gandy, fair president.

"No question this will be a tremendous success," said Ewen C. Dingwall, general manager.

SUCH expressions from these hometown men might have been expected, but an old pro at the game, George Whitney of San Francisco, director of concessions, predicted unequivocally "this will go down as one of the best smaller world fairs in history."

Although science has provided the harmony of theme through federal, state, domestic and foreign exhibits, there's plenty of more down-to-earth stuff for both the high and lowbrow.

Wage Pacts in Aircraft Eyed by JFK

By GEORGE J. MARDER

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Next on President Kennedy's anti-inflation firing line is the aerospace and aircraft industry.

Management and unions in those companies can expect the White House to pressure them for non-inflationary contracts in the wake of Kennedy's steel price rollback. In fact, the heat has already been applied. Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg warned the unions the government could not tolerate a strike.

The President stoked up the pressure a bit higher by pointing out at a recent press conference that the public interest is very definitely involved in contract negotiations. He let it be known that he would let the people involved know what the public interest is. He did that in steel — but not until the major compaies had raised prices.

* * * *

THE government has a much more direct interest in aerospace and aircraft. In steel its greatest concern was the falling-domino effect wages and prices might have had as they spread through the economy. The President said a steel price increase would have endangered his efforts to keep other unions and firms in line.

It would have been difficult, if not impossible, to get other unions to exercise restraint if steel prices had been allowed to rise.

But in the aerospace-industry the government is the big buyer. It takes most of the production. In some companies, the government is the 99 per cent customer.

* * * *

THAT means an inflationary contract would immediately sock the government, and, through it, the taxpayers. In fact it might be more difficult than in steel to keep the costs from being passed along, whether or not the new contracts were inflationary.

In any negotiated cost-plus contract, all wage costs are immediately relayed to the consumer — Uncle Sam. Only in fixed-price contracts would there be any possibility of increased wages granted under new contracts.

About 300,000 workers are involved, and the negotiations present complications not encountered in steel. For one thing, the unions have made clear they will ask for greater wage increases than were granted in steel, and greater than productivity increases might justify.

The base their demands on grounds they have some catching-up to do; that their wage scales are below comparable standards in other industries.

CHARLES MAY GET 'CORRUGATED'

Future King to Enter School With Accent on Toughening Up Students

By EDDIE GILMORE

LONDON (AP) — A bus load of schoolboys wheeled into Parliament Square a few years ago, and the spiky silhouette of Westminster Abbey towered into view.

"That," said one of the schoolboys, a moppy-haired, chubby boy of 8 named Charles," is where my mother was corrugated."

Prince Charles meant that his mother was crowned there — or coronated, as some people put it.

As the Prince of Wales, Charles, now 13, is heir to the throne.

* * * *

NEXT TUESDAY the boy who will be king will go to Gordonstoun Boarding School where, in fact, he may come pretty close to being corrugated.

Founded by the German educator Kurt Hahn 28 years ago, Gordonstoun is a tough school where conditions that would alarm a West Point freshman are deliberately created in the strange, almost tribal rite of turning British boys into gentlemen.

* * * *

Sir Winston Churchill was schooled at Harrow.

Prime Minister Harold MacMillan was an Eton boy, like a half dozens members of his cabinet.

* * * *

GORDONSTOUN is not so snobbish as Eton or Harrow, but it's tougher. Situated in a bleak section of Scotland, it has fewer sons of the titled gentry than other elite private schools.

This is one of the reasons Prince Philip is said to have insisted that his son go to Gordonstoun. Queen Elizabeth had preferred Eton.

At Eton or Harrow and especially at Gordonstoun, part of the education calls for:

Taking icy baths or showers.

Sleeping on rough mattresses.

Going on hikes before breakfast.

Studying at old, splintered, ink-stained desks.

* * * *

STUDENTS who misbehave are beaten with walking sticks.

The Duke of Bedford's 17-year-old son, Lord Rudolph Russell, ran away from Gordonstoun.

Told that Charles was to be a student there, Lord Rudolph sympathized to a friend:

"My heart bleeds for him. I remember it with horror."

* * * *

YET, Gordonstoun was not too tough for Charles' father. Prince Philip was an above than average student and became head boy in his senior year. He also captained cricket and rugby teams.

Charles is not likely to match his father's record. In his elementary studies at Cheam school his marks were below average. He was pretty awful at English and mathematics. He was best in history and geography.

"They put me on the relay team," he told a friend, "and I lost a big race for them."

* * * *

IN HIS senior year, however, he captained the soccer team. Once during a match an opposing player yelled in the Royal Ear:

"I say, Fatty, get off my foot."

Last weekend, Prince Philip began teaching his son to play polo.

"He's very good with a shotgun. Charles often practiced for hours when the Royal Family was at Balmoral Castle.

His manners are impeccable and he's thoughtful.

* * * *

CLOSE friends of the Royal Family say he saves pocket money and insists on personally buying presents for his parents and other relatives.

For a boy his age, he has amazing poise.

Charles gave a cocktail party last Christmas.

He drank fruit juice, but he supervised mixing of stronger drinks and preparation of snacks. Cooking fascinates him. He can bake a cake or make a pie.

Perhaps such unexpected interests as this convinced Prince Philip that rugged Gordonstoun is the place for his son.

It costs about $1,500 a year.

Planners Show Dallas Way to Solve Congestion and Blight

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — The Columbia University School of Architecture has proposed a new approach to solve the problem of blight and congestion in the American city, with specific applications to downtown Dallas, the school announced today.

Initially, the project proposed for Dallas would center in an area of 9.75 acres centrally located in the deteriorated portion of the central business district.

As proposed, the project would be carried out by private enterprise without governmental aid of any kind.

* * * *

THE CIA STUDY, with its subsequent recommendations, was commissioned by a group of Dallas businessmen headed by W. W. Overton Jr. in a dual capacity of entrepreneur and property owner and chairman of the research committee and member of the executive committee of the Central Business District Association.

The Dallas proposal involves construction of an initial "catalyst" project covering a six-block area, comprising the 9.75 acres. The project would include twin office towers, a department store, museum, shops, restaurants, recreational facilities, parking and storage space. A motor hotel is scheduled for second stage development.

* * * *

THE ECONOMIC practicality of the "catalyst" project has been tested by today's cost and market standards and has been determined to be feasible and realistic as a private enterprise undertaking, Columbia said.

Wagner Won't Run in New York

NEW YORK (AP)—Mayor Robert F. Wagner removed himself Saturday as a candidate for the governorship this fall against Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller.

Reports had persisted that President Kennedy might induce Wagner, the state's strongest Democrat, to try to upset Rockefeller, a potential Republican nominee for president in 1964.

Wagner told a news conference he had discussed the matter with Kennedy but that he was "never under pressure" and that the President "knew how I felt."

The mayor, elected to a third four-year term last fall, said he could not "walk away" from his city duties.

He added, in effect, that there was no need for him to run for governor—that there are "a number of outstanding Democrats who, running on a liberal forward-looking platform, can take the measure of Gov. Rockefeller."

Rockefeller, commenting on Wagner's announcement, said "the decision is up to him."

The governor previously had said he believed Wagner would be the candidate if the White House gave the go ahead.

Asked whom he thought now might be his November opponent, Rockefeller said: "It's up to the Democratic Party."

Wagner declined to express any choice for the Democratic nomination.

"I am not going to list any potential candidates or list any individuals at this time," he said.

Royal Children Win at Pony Jumping

WINDSOR, England (UPI) Prince Charles and his sister, Princess Anne, competed in a private pony jumping contest at Windsor Castle Saturday and both won rosettes in a special jumping course for youngsters.

The prince and princess tested their skill in most events to earn the rosettes, the colored paper roses awarded for a winning performance and which are pinned to the mount's bridle and later hung on the stable wall.

'Enter Fully Into Politics,' Mosk Tells Young People

Young Americans were urged to "enter fully into politics" by Atty. Gen. Stanley Mosk Saturday night when he addressed 250 California Junior Statesmen in the International Ballroom of the Lafayette Hotel.

"The continual infusion of youthful blood into our political system is actually what prevents hardening of the political arteries," he told the 48th semi-annual state legislative session.

Mosk said a few years ago many observers feared for the future of our government because they thought young people were not interested in public service.

* * * *

HOWEVER, he said, the fear is now passing.

"Such activities as the Peace Corps have revealed the strong desire of young people to serve their nation."

Mosk told the junior statesmen to remember "that we elect leaders."

He observed that legislators must not be "simply passive objects of the people's will," but must offer plans for approval or disapproval.

"THE CANDIDATE who fails in intelligent leadership during a political campaign," he said, "who panders to our lower instincts rather than issuing a call to new heights, does not indicate the qualities needed in a democracy's leaders."

The attorney general said he has found youth attuned to these needs and young people he has spoken with over the years expect such leadership as a matter of course.

Attending the two-day legislative session with the 250 Californians were representatives from Arizona and a delegation from Washington.

* * * *

"NO AMERICAN can rise above politics," Mosk told the session, "if he ignores politics he only sinks below politics."

He noted that the American genius has been called political.

"Our nation's greatest achievements have been in the political realm: the Constitution, the Emancipation Proclamation, the great social advances, the Marshall Plan.

"Our greatest heroes are politicians: Washington, Jefferson, Lincoln, the two Roosevelts, Wilson."

U.S. Scientists Differ on Tests

By WALTER T. RIDDER
Chief, I, P-T Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON — With the resumption this past week of nuclear testing by the United States, the question arises of precisely how much good the tests actually do. There is a vast difference of opinion on that question among those scientists who have studied the matter.

Some of the scientists who are close to the White House maintain that there is no scientific need for the testing. They say there are good and sound political reasons why the tests should be resumed and they are indicating that President Kennedy's action in ordering new tests were based largely on political, not scientific, grounds.

The argument of these scientists is that the United States now possesses a clear lead in nuclear weaponry; that the United States now has incalculable "overkill" power, that is the power to kill more people than is necessary to achieve an objective; that the tests can merely result in learning how to kill even more people that you don't have to kill, and that little if any new knowledge can be gained from the exercises.

WALTER T. RIDDER

Most of the above arguments are hotly opposed by another group of scientists, who also have access to the President's ear. They contend that while the U. S. does now possess atomic superiority, continuation of unilateral Russian tests would soon bring the Soviets on a par with us.

Secondly, they argue the tests are necessary to produce a more sophisticated weapon, one in which the "overkill" potential, instead of being increased, would as a matter of fact be reduced.

They argue further the tests can be extremely useful in finding new ways of packaging the nuclear bombs and of the means to deliver them. They also state that only in atmospheric tests can the bomb bursts be effectively studied and thus give mankind more knowledge of the forces with which he is dealing.

The layman is caught between the arguments of the experts. Most of us can let the scientists happily argue the question, but the President, of course, had to make a decision.

* * * *

TO TEST or not to test? The suspicion here in Washington is that the President decided to test because he had no acceptable alternative. As long as there was the remotest chance that something might be learned from the tests, he could not permit the Russians to burst their bombs without loosing our own.

Whatever doubts he and his scientific advisers might have had about the efficacy of the tests, the Russians, in effect, left him no choice.

The fear that the Russians might be learning something new, that they might through their experiments catch up with us or even outstrip us would have had had political effects within the United States and would certainly have caused considerable queasiness on the part of our allies.

In effect then, the President's decision to resume testing was largely a political decision, based more upon the exigencies of the cold war than upon the scientific reasons for the explosions.

Red Cross Cautions on Stings of Insects

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The American Red Cross Saturday warned persons allergic to insect stings to take extra precautions as warm weather approaches.

It said the sting of a bee, a wasp, hornet or yellow jacket could be the "sting of death" for persons who suffer an allergic reaction known as anaphylactic shock. This could result in asphyxia.

It suggested that those who know they are subject to shock should ask their doctors for an injection of serum which gives year-round protection. The serum was developed by a Cornell University specialist, Dr. Mary H. Loveless.

The Red Cross said it has been shown that immunity to stings lessens with each sting. It added that when a victim stops breathing, artificial respiration is immediately necessary. Mouth-to-mouth respiration is best because it is quickest, and speed is essential.

The bee always leaves its stinger in the victim, and it should be removed at once, the agency said. Wasps, hornets and yellow jackets can sting repeatedly.

Algae May Give Life Saving Aid for Space Travel

AZUSA (UPI)—A tiny green single cell aquatic plant, commonly known as algae, may be the life saving companion of future astronauts, says an Aerojet-General scientist.

Thanks to a new breakthrough in the care and feeding of algae, man's potentially harmful waste gases in space travel can now be used to give him life-sustaining oxygen plus an aesthetic benefit.

Algae, commonly found on ponds or other relatively stagnant bodies of water, can absorb carbon dioxide which is found in the "used air" people exhale. It converts this gas to oxygen which man needs to breathe.

State Auto Population Still Growing

SACRAMENTO (AP)—Compared to a year ago, California has 372,000 more motor vehicles, 241,000 more drivers, and collected $9 million more in license fees.

Motor vehicles Director Tom Bright gave these figures as of March 31:

Vehicles registered — 8,102,169, including 882,000 trucks, 638,000 trailers and 64,500 motorcycles.

Licensed drivers—8,220,392.

Fees collected — $219,857,674, half of which goes to cities and counties for roads and streets.

Verdict Due in Murder, Arson Trial

POMONA (UPI)—Superior Judge James G. Whyte was expected to return a verdict Tuesday in the trial of Donald Roland Dana, charged wth murder and arson for setting a series of brush and forest fires last year.

Dana submitted the transcript of his preliminary hearing as the basis of his trial. Whyte is hearing the trial without a jury.

Dana, 32, a former mental patient, is charged with eight counts of arson. He also is accused of murder because of the death of firefighter Michael Rushworth, 18, in the Sierra Madre fire Oct. 30.

U.S. Chamber Policy Makers Rap Price Controls

By STERLING F. GREEN

WASHINGTON (AP)—Policy makers of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce declared Saturday their opposition to any direct or indirect wage or price controls except in time of war or grave threat of war.

The statement was one of a score of resolutions drafted by the chamber's policy committee for approval of some 4,000 delegates to the organization's 50th annual meeting starting here Monday.

President Kennedy will greet the delegates and guests at the opening session in Constitution Hall.

It will be his first speech to any business group since he quashed the steel industry's bid for a price increase. Many businessmen have criticized his mobilization of government power in that clash as an undue interference with free markets.

* * * *

BUT KENNEDY is expected to deliver a new appeal for cooperation between business and government in curbing inflation, fostering economic growth and enlarging foreign trade. He is expected also to renew his assurances that the administration harbors no ill-will as a result of the steel price battle.

Although former President Dwight D. Eisenhower regularly greeted the chamber delegates throughout his two terms in office, Kennedy did not appear last year. He did address the National Association of Manufacturers and many other business groups, however.

The proposed resolution against economic controls in peace time was not prompted by the power struggle between big steel and big government but by the potentially explosive Berlin situation.

THE CHAMBER'S policy committee, headed by the president-elect of the organization, H. Ladd Plumly of Worcester, Mass., decided that the chamber's position should be spelled out in detail for presentation to Congress before another East-West crisis brings on demands for economic safeguards.

The proposed resolution says presidential authority to invoke wage, price or rent controls "should derive from Congress" and the enabling law should expire within two years of its enactment unless renewed by Congress.

Any freeze action, it states, should be applied simultaneously to wages, prices and rents.

* * * *

"ALL WAGE, price and rent controls should be reviewed promptly and simultaneously upon the termination of the conditions that initiated their imposition," it adds.

The resolution is expected to get prompt approval at the chamber's final policy meeting Wednesday afternoon, as is another resolution which opposes collective bargaining by federal employes.

This clashes directly with Kennedy's policy. A recent presidential order recognized the right of employes' unions to bargain and sign agreements with federal agencies on grievances, promotions and other matters, not including pay. The order does not alter the historic ban on strikes against the government.

Committee for Hosmer Re-election Organized

By BOB HOUSER
Political Editor

Organization of a citizens committee for re-election of Republican Congressman Craig Hosmer of the Long Beach-Lakewood-Signal Hill-Dominguez 32nd District was announced Saturday.

C. L. (Slim) Fowler, Southland businessman, is chairman. Dick Sukman, retail executive, is vice chairman. Joseph Turner, West Coast shipping operator, is finance chairman. Mrs. Annette Brewer is treasurer.

Fowler said scores more representing both major parties will be included in the group to elect Hosmer to his sixth two-year term. He added:

"Craig Hosmer, through his ability, experience and seniority in Congress, his great activity and sincere interest in the problems of the area and the people here, is an outstanding representative.

"Among other things, Mr. Hosmer is a key member of the Joint Atomic Energy Committee and a leader in the field for atomic power for peaceful uses as well as for United States space exploration, defense missiles and armament.

"Our Congressman has worked diligently and tirelessly for many things good for this area, our state and nation. Among his numerous efforts has been his outstanding work to get the Naval Hospital for Long Beach, not to mention many more."

* * * *

FOUR IN 39TH PUSH CAMPAIGNS

All four Republican candidates for the East Long Beach 39th Assembly District seat (old 70th) issued campaign statements Saturday.

Alvin G. Miller asked Democratic opponents to explain "the weak stand taken by their party on the vital issue of narcotics, narcotic laws, penalties and rehabilitation."

Miller said the issue affects everyone, especially impressionable and immature teen-agers "who lack the judgment of understanding the evils of narcotics. This issue is of grave concern to me since I am a teacher and the father of six children or stepchildren, all in their teens or below. I intend to drive hard until our racketeers, hoodlums, pushers and others associated with narcotics are given their just reward, for the weak victims' help.

"I stand for strong help to our law-enforcement agencies to aid in curbing our illicit traffic in dope, and strong penal sentences for the violators. I have had enough talk, now how about some action?"

* * * *

GEORGE DEUKMEJIAN also took an apparent swipe at Democratic opposition—Bert B. Bond—in decrying "irresponsible statements . . . concerning the future of Long Beach as being 'at its limits'."

Speaking at a neighborhood coffee hour at 6229 Seaside Walk, Deukmejian said that rather than talk the city down and retard our growth with this kind of "narrow-minded opinion," we should look to recent reports which "definitely show that the general Long Beach area is entering a new era of development.

"Local construction projects are up $4 million, the number employed has increased 27,000, personal income has reached a new high, general retail sales have risen 1.5 per cent and over 5,000 new residents have come to our city. All of these facts coupled with the recent launching of Long Beach Promotion Inc., clearly prove that this area is on the move ahead."

Deukmejian said the philosophy that we have reached our limits "must not be put to work in Sacramento."

* * * *

CAPT. C. M. GARRISON, approved committee appointments of his campaign chairman Edward W. Gray. They are:

Commodore Schuyler Heim (USN, ret.), and Harold Brown, veterans; Walter Powell, insurance; Mrs. Mary M. Taylor, Mrs. Mildred J. MacDonald and Mrs. Marti Cannon, precincts; Dr. Lyman R. Vaughan and Dr. Paul W. Christensen, dentists; Mrs. Mary G. B. Tointon, teachers; Dr. Bernard L. Johnson and Dr. Oliver Nees, physicians; Bruce Nelson, CPA; Mrs. Nellie Combellack, Signal Hill; Norman G. Hovlid and M. J. Jensch, businessmen; Walhfred Jacobson, attorneys; Harold O. Gray, public accountants; Philip D. McCutchan and W. G. Nicol, real estate.

Garrison said these are experienced campaign workers "and I am sure they will be our foundation of a successful campaign."

* * * *

JAMES A. HAYES attacked the recently adjourned special session as a "do-nothing Legislature which has left citizens in a baffled state of wonderment . . . in puzzled consternation."

Despite Democratic majorities in both houses, said Hayes, "They managed to produce a blank record of nonaccomplishment, issue-dodging, buck-passing and log-jammed futility leaving no results or progress of any real meaning."

He said unless voters in great numbers act decisively to elect vigorous, constructive action-minded, practical public leaders, we can look for nothing better from the Legislature in 1963.

Among issues, out of some 50 before the session, on which Hayes charged inaction or lack of adequate action were "vital and realistic reapportionment of the State Senate, more gas tax moneys for Southern California, workable legislation for poker control and an appropriate 'unloaded' state budget."

WOMEN SQUABBLE

Cow Subpoenaed in Battery Trial

EL CAJON, Calif. (UPI)—A cow, which apparently didn't mind in the least being chased from one farm to another by a bull, will appear in court Tuesday in the case of two women neighbors who came to blows over her.

Attorney John Brady, who subpoenaed the cow Friday, said the cow, unbranded and emaciated, had wandered into the ranch of his client, Mrs. Antonia Chikering of Potrero. He said she took care of the cow and claimed it.

Then along came a bull owned by Mrs. Hazel Copeland. He took a fancy to the cow and chased it onto Mrs. Copeland's property.

Brady said the two women met at their property line and argued over the cow. He said the words changed to blows and another neighbor, Herb Horsefell, entered the fray on behalf of Mrs. Copeland.

As a result of the conflict, Mrs. Chickering filed assault and battery charges against Mrs. Copeland and Horsefell. Mrs. Copeland countered by filing similar charges against Mrs. Chickering.

Brady said he had subpoenaed the cow because in settling the assault charges the court may also decide its custody. Since the fracas the cow has been impounded. The bull is not involved in the legal battle.

Brady added that prior to the cow incident, Mrs. Chickering and Mrs. Copeland had not been on the best of terms.

Demo Leader Warns of Over-Confidence

AKRON, Ohio (UPI)—National Chairman John M. Bailey warned fellow Democrats Saturday night against "blind hope and careless optimism" about next fall's congressional elections.

Bailey said in an address before a Jefferson-Jackson Day dinner, that while the Kennedy administration record had been "magnificent" both at home and abroad, "we can never assume that this means we can relax."

He said a recent public opinion poll showed that "more Republicans than Democrats had a reason for waiting to vote."

* * * *

BAILEY SAID Democrats must make sure that their voters cast ballots. "The President needs a Democratic Congress because the Republicans still have not learned how to move without dragging their heels—unless, of course, they are moving backward," he said.

Bailey said Republican criticism of Kennedy's actions in the recent steel price controversy was the latest example of the GOP "negative stance."

He said that in essence "they criticized him for acting like a President."

* * * *

BAILEY attacked Ohio Republican Rep. William H. Ayres of Akron for voting against administration bills, which Bailey said were in the public interest—such as aid to depressed areas, a housing bill and education legislation.

Rightist Triple Play Perils GOP Win, Boosts Goldwater

By WILLIAM BROOM
of I. P-T Capital Bureau

WASHINGTON — A conservative triple play—New York to Michigan to California—is arousing speculation about a double cross among liberal Republicans here.

The party's three gubernatorial candidates in those states, Gov. Nelson Rockefeller, automaker George Romney, and former Vice President Richard Nixon, are having troubles with their campaigns. All are rated prospective candidates for the GOP presidential nomination in 1964, provided they win this year.

Most of the Rockefeller-Romney-Nixon troubles are being attributed to conservative elements within their own party. Were all three beaten in the same election, Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona, the conservatives' conservative, would stand alone with a claim to national Republican leadership.

GOLDWATER, it should be emphasized, is not connected in any way with the monkey wrenches conservatives are throwing in the three big states. As chairman of the Senate Campaign Committee, he's fighting hard for GOP candidates of all persuasions in this year's races.

Nevertheless, problems with conservatives have brought a note of uncertainty into three races where prospects for Republican victories were considered excellent earlier in the year.

The state by state reports being circulated here are as follows—

New York: Gov. Rockefeller once was rated a solid bet for re-election. Republicans were forecasting a 750,000 vote win over any Democratic candidate. Right-wing Republicans, who regard the governor as too liberal, are busy organizing a conservative party which will run its own slate in November. Within the past week, Democrats have circulated results of a poll showing that Rockefeller actually trails the Democratic mayor of New York City, Robert Wagner, in a trial heat. Rockefeller officials say the poll is inaccurate and designed mainly to excite the reluctant Wagner talking margin of victory, and the Rockefeller campaign hasn't generated the power it was expected to. (Saturday, however, Wagner withdrew from the race. See story on Page A-7.)

Michigan — A beautifully synchronized national public relations campaign projected Romney into prominence a few months ago. There were widespread predictions in Michigan that he was a cinch to end the Democratic 10-year hold on the governorship. Romney let it be known he was out to rejuvenate the Republican Party in the state, and thereby become a possibility for national leadership. Some of the glitter disappeared, however, when he was forced to seek an accommodation in the state's constitutional convention with conservative rural Republicans. It is they who have long held power in the legislature while Democrats held the governorship. Gov. John B. Swainson has moved up in popularity recently, while the Romney campaign has leveled off.

California — About a year ago, Nixon was leading Gov. Brown in public opinion polls by more than 10 percentage points. Two weeks ago, he fell behind for the first time. These are non-partisan polls with a generally good record for accuracy. At the time he entered the race, Nixon had beaten President Kennedy by 36,000 votes in California in the extremely close 1960 presidential race. Gov. Brown's candidacy, beset by problems in governing the big and complex state, was at a relatively low level. Nixon is meeting more opposition than he or the Democrats anticipated from Joseph Shell, a conservative GOP leader in the state legislature. Many Republicans, including staunch Nixon friends, are predicting Shell may roll up as much as 35 per cent of the vote in the primary race against Nixon.

Reshuffle Police in Scandal

DENVER (UPI) — Denver Police Chief James Slavin announced Saturday a complete reshuffling of the top command of the scandal-rocked department he took over early this year.

Slavin removed Capts. Walter G. Nelson, 46; Clifford V. Stanley, 55, and Robert H. Newbury, 55, as chiefs of the department's three divisions and replaced them with three veteran command officers.

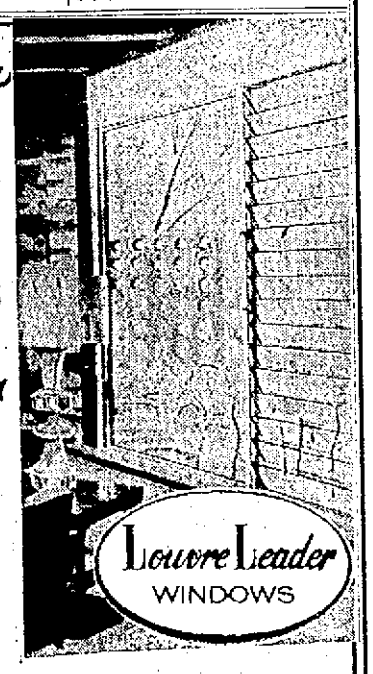

It was the first top-echelon change in the department since one last fall by a state investigation. Fifty-one policemen have so far been charged with being criminals.

Slavin said the three new division chiefs would be James F. Shumte, 50, who will become division chief of detectives to replace Nelson; Roy M. Floyd, 51, division chief of staff services replacing Stanley, and Warner K. Reeser, 47, acting chief of uniform patrol, replacing Newbury.

'Go' From JFK Triggered Tests

By HARRY WILSON SHARPE

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A mighty blast high over the central Pacific last week signaled resumption of U. S. nuclear weapons tests in the atmosphere. There are many more to come.

President Kennedy figuratively pulled the trigger. He gave American weaponeers the "go" when Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev disdained a long-pending deadline for signing a cheat-proof test-ban pact.

The United States meanwhile scored its first landing on the moon with an unmanned, "crippled" Ranger-4 spacecraft—crippled because a technical flaw damaged its vital communication system.

* * * *

THE NATION ALSO OPENED a new era in international space collaboration. It joined Britain and Japan in two experiments, including the firing into orbit of the world's first international satellite. This latter was an Anglo-American venture.

Two highly secret satellites were lofted from the West Coast, apparently intended for defense purposes, and it was announced that the next U.S. manned orbital flight will come at Cape Canaveral in mid-May with Astronaut Scott Carpenter at the controls.

SCOTT CARPENTER

Russian spacemen were not idle. They launched the fourth experimental satellite in a current series on ways to land a man on the moon.

But dominating the headlines were the U. S. nuclear shots—the President's most forceful way of showing Khrushchev the United States will maintain its nuclear deterrent power, come what may, until Russia joins in an ironclad test ban.

Kennedy had said in effect that the deterrent will be maintained despite the anger of friend, foe, or neutral, or deadly radioactive fallout—anything, so long as Khrushchev maintains his present position.

* * * *

MOSCOW REACTED at the Geneva disarmament conference with charges Kennedy had brought the world "to the abyss of nuclear war." It indicated it would call for sanctions but found no backers outside the Communist bloc. Nor did Khrushchev carry out a threat to bolt the conference.

U. S. Ambassador Arthur H. Dean reminded the conference the United States resumed testing because it refused to be duped again by Russia as it was last fall when Khrushchev broke a gentlemen's agreement with the firing of more than 40 radiation-laden blasts.

Dean said no responsible government woul allow this situation to continue and expose itself to further betrayal by a hostile power whose declared objective is to "overwhelm and destroy us."

ARTHUR H. DEAN

In Washington Secretary of State Dean Rusk said the United States "regrets" the tests but not its decision to go ahead. He also cited Russia's cheat tests and said: "We aren't going to lose any time." The United States, he added, can never accept a test-ban treaty based on "blind trust," that it would never place the security of the American people and the free world in the hands of those who operate in secrecy.

But he said the President will continue to press ahead for an end to the arms race, even while the American tests are going on.

Rusk said meantime that he did not foresee an early summit conference, which Khrushchev wants. Nor did he foresee a formal NATO-Warsaw pack non-aggression treaty until the Kremlin recognizes the Allies have "absolutely no intention of abandoning their rights in West Berlin."

* * * *

HE TOLD REPORTERS the same applies to Russo-American guarantees against the spread of nuclear weapon know-how. The Allied position in Berlin will be given up, he declared, only when the Russians agree to let all Germans vote on their future and achieve reunification of their divided country. He said the United States was willing to let the East Germans "exercise local responsibility" over access to the city.

Rusk held another Berlin exploratory talk with Soviet Ambassador Anatoly F. Dobrynin before leaving for important defense treaty conferences in London, Athens, and Canberra, Australia.

President Kennedy returned from a Palm Beach vacation to greet British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan and began wide-ranging cold war strategy talks. Before coming to Washington, Macmillan addressed the American Newspaper Publishers Association in New York.

HAROLD MACMILLAN

America's spacemen and scientists were jubilant over their moon strike, saying the Ranger guidance system and booster package put the U. S. back in the race with Russia to land the first man on the moon. The Ranger-4 hit the backside of the lunar body Thursday morning after a 238,857-mile journey which began Monday at Cape Canaveral.

In other news spheres, a federal grand jury in New York indicted U. S. Steel Corp., and three other steel companies on charges of conspiring to fix prices and rig bids on sales to the Army and Navy and other buyers. The companies promised "a contest in the courts."

The Defense Department authorized resumption of government-paid overseas travel for military families. The ban was imposed during the Berlin crisis last fall.

Southern Democrats began a filibuster in the Senate to prevent passage of a bill to ban state literacy tests as a voting qualification in federal elections.

Buena Park Immortalizes Film Greats in Wax

MOVIELAND WAX MUSEUM scene shows Actress Gina Lollobrigida in dressing room trailer.

$1.5 MILLION MUSEUM

Famed Figures Debut Monday

Film stars from draped Greta Garbo to the barely clad Brigitte Bardot wax silently but eloquently in Buena Park.

Done in fine wax flesh tones, the luminaries of Hollywood now "hold that pose" indefinitely in the new Movieland Wax Museum, 7711 Beach Blvd., just north of Knott's Berry Farm and Ghost Town, in Buena Park.

The wax figures—65 of Hollywood's all-time greats, posed in scenes and roles from their most memorable pictures — will premiere Friday night.

* * * *

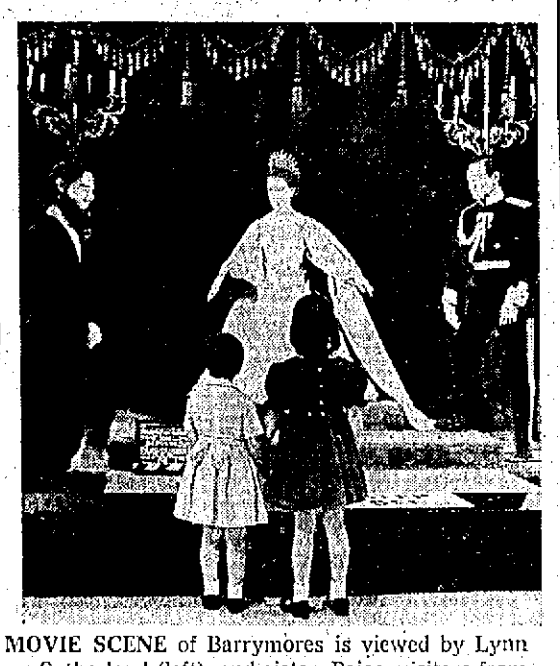

THE $1,500,000 wax hall of film fame, founded by Allen H. Parkinson of Long Beach, its president, eventually will house more than 200 figures. The sculptures are from famed wax studios in Hong Kong, Hollywood, Mexico and France.

The public premiere, starting at 9:30 p.m. next Friday, will run continuously until the following midnight, with all proceeds going to the Motion Picture Relief Fund.

* * * *

THE MUSEUM will open with all the glitter of a Hollywood grand premiere—searchlights, fireworks—all far enough away to keep the wax intact.

Stars who are scheduled to get long runs in wax in the show include Jean Harlow, Will Rogers, Charles Chaplin, Rudolph Valentino, the Marx Brothers, Clark Gable, Norma Shearer, Gina Lollobrigida, Tyrone Power, Cantiflas, Charley Chase, Harold Lloyd, Marilyn Monroe, Laurel and Hardy, William S. Hart, Pola Negri, Mary Pickford and Douglas Fairbanks—an entire Who's Who in films past and present, including 14 Academy Award winners.

FINALS IN L.A.

Area Sends 6 to Posture Contests

Six students from area high schools will be among 41 youngsters competing Thursday in the citywide finals of the 16th annual posture contest of Los Angeles City Schools.

The area will be represented best in the competition among senior high school boys, where four of nine finalists will be from local schools.

They are Bernard Fernandez, Narbonne High; Fred Hannon, Gardena High; David Hollingsworth, San Pedro High; and Todd Martella, Banning High.

* * * *

SHARON SCOTT, representing San Pedro High, will compete in the senior high school girls' division, and Linda Weiss, Fleming Junior High, will compete in the junior high school girls' competition. No area students reached the finals for junior high school boys.

Finals of the contest, which attracted more than 85,000 entries, will be held at Hollywood High School. Trophies will be presented the top three finalists in each classification, and a perpetual trophy will be awarded the winning school in each group.

Hallinan's Son Faces Citation

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The district attorney's office Saturday cited Patrick (Butch) Hallinan, 27, son of attorney Vincent Hallinan, for disturbing the peace.

Asst. Dist. Atty. Walter Varakin said the citation was the result of a fistfight between Hallinan and his fellow student at Hastings Law College, Ted Millar, 23. The fight took place Thursday in Golden Gate Park, the day after the pair got into an argument at a demonstration in civic center against the House Un-American Activities Committee.

2 E. Berliners Swim to West Under Fire

BERLIN (AP) — Two East Germans Saturday night swam across a canal to West Berlin under a hail of Communist gunfire, West Berlin police reported.

Both men reached the West Berlin canal banks safely.

City's Contract Rules Get Study

City charter advisers have begun a study aimed at streamlining numerous sections requiring competitive bidding for contracts.

A proposed new draft prepared by City Atty. Gerald Desmond's office was taken under advisement by the Charter Revision Committee, which scheduled another meeting next Friday on the same subject.

The proposal brings together in consecutive order sections widely scattered through the existing charter.

Deputy City Atty. Harold Lingle recommended that no change be attempted in the present exemption of contracts for professional services. Competitive bidding in this specialized field would often prove impractical, he said.

Under the draft, the current maximum of $3,500 on contracts completely exempt from competitive bidding is left unchanged.

Personal Finance Lecture Monday

Money and how to hang on to it will be the subject of Dr. Irving Pfeffer's lecture on "Putting Your Financial House in Order," at 7:30 p.m. Monday in Lecture Hall 150, Long Beach State College. Dr. Pfeffer is associate professor of insurance at UCLA.

Berserk Man Shot to Death

Arthur H. Hansl, 54, was shot twice and killed when he attacked a police officer with a long barbecue fork early Saturday at the door of his apartment at 269 Glendora Ave.

Police officers Douglas Bostard, 27, and Virgil J. Fogg, 24, answered a call from Hansl's neighbor in the apartment house, Robert Eugene Shuker, 33, who complained that Hansl had attacked him.

According to Homicide Detective Sgt. Robert Castillo, Officer Bostard was forced to shoot when Hansl advanced "toward the officers, jabbing at Officer Bostard with the barbecue fork." Bostard was wounded slightly in the abdomen.

Hansl, former Independent employe, had been undergoing psychiatric treatment, according to police.

Fleet Reserve Urges Flag Display

The Fleet Reserve Association, Long Beach Branch 43, again this year is conducting "Operation Red, White and Blue."

Object, said William D'Andrea, cochairman of the project, is to urge every homeowner to fly the Flag daily during the operation, May 1 to June 14 and on each patriotic day thereafter.

Mayor Edwin W. Wade has proclaimed the period May 1 to July 4 as Operation Red, White and Blue period to help promote the program.

Polygraph Expert to Address Lions

Polygraph expert Harold A. Saly will speak at the bimonthly dinner meeting of the Lakewood Lions Club Thursday at the Lakewood Country Club. Saly is director of Personel Screening Consultants, Long Beach.

The lecture will include a demonstration of the use of the Polygraph (lie detector) with a Lion member as subject.

'Human Factors in Electronics' Parley

First International Congress on Human Factors in Electronics will be held Thursday and Friday in the Lafayette Hotel when new frontiers in "Man-Machine Engineering" will be discussed.

The Professional Group on Human Factors in Electronics, one of the 28 professional groups of the Institute of Radio Engineers, is sponsor of the congress.

Bank Dedication Ceremony Set

Dedication ceremonies marking the opening of the new Willow Daisy branch of the Bank of America will be held at 6:45 p.m. Thursday at the branch, 600 W. Willow St. The two-hour open-house celebration will begin at 7 p.m. P. A. (Phil) Carey, manager, will be master of ceremonies.

Proposes U.S.-Russ Citizen 'Exchange'

MADISON, Wis. (AP)—Hospitality and curiosity are the keys to a university professor's plan to thaw the cold war by sending 200,000 plain American citizens to Russia for a 10-day visit while a like number of Russians tour the United States for the same period.

The "open cities" plan is proposed by University of Wisconsin professor of Slavic languages Edmund Zawacki, who already has discussed it with the State Department.

THE BUSINESS WEEK

Price-Fix Indictment Jolts Big Steel Again

By JACK LEFLER
AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—The steel industry took it on the chin again this week — this time through indictment of four steel companies, a trade association and five individuals on charges of conspiring to fix prices and rig bids.

The development came as the sound and fury of the two-week-old steel price increase warfare echoed. But there was no connection.

Indicted by a federal grand jury were United States Steel Corp., Bethlehem Steel Co., Erie Forge & Steel Corp. and Midvale-Heppenstall Co. Also charged were Open Die Forging Institute and five officials of the four companies.

* * * *

THE BIDS cited in the indictment were on sales of steel forgings to the Army, Navy, electrical companies and other buyers.

The Forging Institute was alleged to have acted as a "clearing house" for price agreements among the accused companies.

The Justice Department said it began investigating the case in April 1961.

The case against the steel companies appeared to parallel the indictment for price fixing and bid rigging of 29 electrical equipment manufacturers and 44 of their executives in 1960. The companies and executives were fined a total of $1,924,500 and seven executives were sent to jail.

* * * *

THE INDICTMENT returned Thursday had nothing to do with the steel industry's raising prices $6 a ton April 10, only to back down three days later under steamroller pressure from the Kennedy administration. However, steel pricing is under investigation by another federal grand jury.

News of the indictment sent steel stocks lower on the New York Stock Exchange. They had been declining all week on investor disappointment over first quarter earnings.

Steel company heads took the opportunity of reporting earnings to reiterate their need for relief from a profit-cost squeeze so that they could meet competition from other domestic materials and foreign steel imports.

* * * *

U. S. STEEL earned $55.8 million, equal to 91 cents a share, compared with $32 million in the recessionary 1961 first quarter and $112.6 million in the busy 1960 period.

U.S. Steel chairman Roger M. Blough said:

"Continuing intensive efforts will have to be made to increase the amount of income above that announced in the first quarter which only equals today's dividend declaration (75 cents) and a pro-rata share of the year's debt repayment, leaving no margin for reinvestment in the business."

Chairman Avery C. Adams of Jones & Laughlin Steel Corp., commenting on the price situation faced by the steel companies, said:

"Isn't it time for all of us to face up to the economic facts of life and examine the question as to whether any business, large or small, can coexist with a governmental policy which calls for a denouncement of anyone who doesn't submit meekly to economic edicts by government?"

* * * *

ADDING TO ITS tribulations, the steel industry found demand for its products continuing to slide since a new labor contract was signed three months ahead of the contract expiration date. The early agreement, providing 10 cents an hour in fringe benefits but no wage increase, was reached under pressure from President Kennedy.

Output last week fell to 2,138,000 tons, off 4.7 per cent from the previous week. Earlier hedge buying against a strike had ended.

Meanwhile, the automobile industry zoomed along on the crest of a tide of prosperity.

For the second week in a row, production hit the highest level of the year with an estimated 152,000 passenger cars turned out, compared with 146,215 last week.

* * * *

SALES IN THE middle 10 days of April totaled 214,850, highest since record April 1955, the year when the most cars in history were sold.

General Motors Corp. reported its greatest quarterly earnings for the first three months of this year. Its profits totaled $374 million, equal to $1.31 a share, on sales of $3.66 billion.

The cost of living, rising for the second straight month, reached a new high in March. The Labor Department's index moved up to 105 per cent of the 1957-59 average from 104.8 in February. The increase was attributed to higher prices for women's spring clothing, shoes, medical care, fresh fruits and vegetables, house furnishings and used cars.

* * * *

MACHINE TOOL orders rose in March from January and February levels. However, the total of $17,450,000 for the first quarter was slightly under the $172,550,000 for the like 1961 period.

Contracts for future construction in March spurted to an all-time high of $3,895,529,000, an increase of 26 per cent above March 1961.

Briefly around the business scene: American Motors discontinued production of its two-passenger Metropolitan model . . . Metropolitan Life Insurance Co. paid policyholders and beneficiaries $1.88 billion last year . . . Shoe production in March hit the highest monthly level in history—59,035,000 pairs . . . The music industry sold 410,000 band instruments last year, compared with 240,000 a decade earlier.

Aerojet Plans to Test-Fire 2 Big New Motors

SACRAMENTO (AP)—Plans to test-fire two huge solid-fuel rocket motors, each theoretically capable of almost three-quarters of a million pounds of trust, have been announced by Aerojet-General Corp., a firm that manufactures rocket motors and fuels.

An Aerojet spokesman said the firings would take place sometime in the next 2½ months.

The spokesman said the two 100-inch in diameter motors are being tested under a $4-million Air Force contract that includes developing new methods of steering large solid-fuel rockets.

The current record thrust for a single rocket motor is 600,00 pounds, set by another Aerojet motor earlier this year.

Union Oil Awarded Santa Barbara Lease

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—The State Lands Commission has awarded a gas and oil lease on a 5,653-acre parcel of Santa Barbara County tidelands to Union Oil Co.

The commission said that Union offered a bonus of $3,047,740 in addition to royalties. It was the highest of four bids received on the parcel.

Other bidders were Shell Oil Co., $513,000; Richfield and Tidewater Oil companies (joint bid) $250,334; and Standard Oil Company $170,327.

Powder Puff Fliers Draw for Places

TETERBORO, N. J. (AP)—Mrs. Pauline Glasson of Corpus Christi, Tex., has drawn the No. 1 position for the 1962 Powder Puff Derby.

The derby, an all-women transcontinental air race, begins July 7 at Oakland, Calif. It will finish 2,600 miles away at Wilmington, Del., July 11.

Race officials say the first pilot to take off normally enjoys advantages of time saved in refueling, partjcuarly at the first stop.

Entries will be competing for a $2,500 purse plus 13 prizes for sections of the race and awards in many special categories.

Each plane will fly against its own handicap. Entries are restricted to stock aircraft of 85-400 horsepower.

Mrs. Glasson, has logged 11,000 flying hours.

Pabst Brewing Co. Sued for $990,000

CHICAGO (AP)—Emco Sales Co. of Los Angeles has sued the Pabst Brewing Co. of Milwaukee for $990,000 damages, alleging breach of contract. The U.S. District Court suit alleged that Pabst canceled a contract for two to three million flashlights to be supplied by Emco for a promotional campaign.

No Wheels for Autos of Future

By ROBERT IRVIN

SEBRING, Fla. (UPI) — In 10 years you will be able to buy a passenger car which has no wheels and will run on a cushion of air, according to a noted British automobile manufacturer.

Donald Healey of Warwick, England, says the long-range future for motor vehicles lies in aircars which speed along the highway an inch or so off the ground.

The 63-year-old engineer, who once went 205 miles an hour in an Austin-Healey sports car over the Bonneville (Utah) Salt Flats, acknowledged there is a lot of room for development left in the standard internal combustion engine in today's automobiles.

* * * *

TURBINE superchargers (in which air is forced into the engine under pressure) will be used more on regular passenger car engines, he said, and cited recent announcements by Oldsmobile and Chevrolet offering them on some models.

But Healey, here for the recent Sebring Sports Car races, believes air cushion passenger cars will be a reality "within the next 10 years." Before then, however, "tremendous difficulties must be overcome, he said.

"Ford is further along than we are," he said. "They have air cars already running on tracks. And Curtiss-Wright is developing cross-country air vehicles for the U. S. Army."

* * * *

THE MAIN problem in developing an air car, according to Healey, is propulsion. It's not too difficult to move an air car down the highway, he said, "but how do we get it up a hill?" One way would be a form of jet propulsion, he suggested.

Touching on other automotive developments, Healey said it was a definite possibility that cars would be made with all-aluminum bodies in the next three years.

In England, he said, there has been "an astounding drop in aluminum prices in the last three months. If the price drops more we may use it in complete car bodies."

Healey hastened to add that he was thinking mainly of limited production vehicles such as sports cars. For the major-massed produced cars "it will still be steel for a long time," he said.

Soviets 1st Spaceman Schedules Japan Visit

PATSY FINNEGAN STARS ON ICE

'Patsy' Star Skater of Ice Capades at 19

Nineteen-year-old Lynn (Patsy) Finnegan has been with the Ice Capades only three years, but she is featured in two of the big productions of the show which opens its run Tuesday in the Los Angeles Sports Arena.

She does a routine in "Brigadoone" and holds the spotlight in "Hungarian Rhapsody."

Miss Finnegan, a native New Yorker, has been performing on skates since she was 10. In 1958 and 1959 she was runner-up to Carol Heiss in the national and North American competition.

The Los Angeles run of the Ice Capades consists of 12 evening and 8 matinee performances.

Poles Enjoy Early Easter

WARSAW (AP)—Warm sunshine beamed on millions of Easter-tide churchgoers, shoppers and vacationers in Communist Poland Saturday.

Temperatures above 70 in Warsaw brought out a premature Saturday Easter parade of people wearing modest spring clothing. Many lined up at food stores and churches, symbolizing the Easter tradition of praying and feasting in Poland.

Professors Rap Racist Schools

CHICAGO (AP)—The American Association of University Professors Saturday overwhelmingly recommended termination of all federal aid to colleges and universities maintaining segregation.

It also passed resolutions against tighter regulations on "Communist propaganda" sent through the mails, against abuse of discipline power, against faculty members and students taking part in peaceful demonstrations, against "social injustices," and for faculty control of college and university athletic policies.

Beatnik Party Raid Nets 45

SOUTH PASADENA (UPI) —Police and sheriff's deputies Saturday raided a beatnik party in a normally quiet neighborhood here and arrested 45 persons on suspicion of violation of state narcotics laws.

When the officers raided the apartment and found the party going full blast — complete with goatees and leotards.

Thirteen officers seized 1,000 assorted pills, two ounces of marijuana and several hypodermic kits.

Lecture Series Set on 'Child's Health'

"Your Child's Health," a series of public lectures offered for the first time by the Long Beach City College General Adult Division, will begin at 7:30 p.m. Thursday in the Mark Twain School auditorium, Centralia Street and Clark Avenue.

John Saylor, M.D., will open the series with a "Critical Analysis of Nutrition, Growth and Development." A former student at City College, Dr. Saylor is a graduate of Juniata College and Harvard Medical School. He was resident pediatrician at Seaside Hospital before entering private practice here in 1949.

Other speakers in the weekly series will discuss various health problems of children from infancy through adolescence. Topics will include infectious and contagious diseases, hereditary diseases, allergies and skin problems and the emotional effects of illness upon children.

Other admission-free programs this week:

MONDAY

Light on Dark Africa—Dr. Wendell L. Miller, "Capetown" (illustrated), 7:30 p.m., Hughes Junior High School auditorium.

Personal Estate Planning—R. J. Garnauss, "Insuring the Estate," 7:30 p.m., Jefferson Junior High School auditorium.

Librarians Slate Spring Breakfast

By P-T Los Angeles Bureau

More than 600 librarians and their friends — literary gourmets whose special dish is children's books — will gather Wednesday, May 16, for the 20th annual Spring Book Breakfast of the Los Angeles County Library.

The breakfast, which begins at 8:45 a.m., will be in the Statler Hilton Hotel, Los Angeles.

Mrs. Mary Rogers Smith, coordinator of children's services, arranged the program, which will feature 10 experts in children's literature. Nine are authors and one teaches children's literature in college.

The authors are Mrs. Edna Sorenson, Virginia Newell, Paul and Beryl Scott, Leo Politi, Don Freeman, Mrs. Carol Ryrie Brink, Ruth Robbins and Fred Gypson.

Mrs. Dorothy McKenzie, professor of children's literature at Los Angeles State College and founder and chairman of the Southern California Council of Children's Literature, will deliver the keynote address.

HOURLY CONFUSION

You Can Use Two Clocks in Oregon

By JAMES J. DOYLE

PORTLAND, Ore. (UPI)—Asking what time it is in Oregon this summer could bring a lengthy answer.

The person you ask may not like what time it is and decide to move it up an hour or back an hour, depending on whether he is an advocate of Daylight Time or Standard Time.

Five counties are permitted to go on Daylight Time legally. The rest of the state is supposed to stay on Standard Time. But some people don't like the idea of being left out, so they turn their clocks ahead anyway.

That was the picture last summer and it is expected to be the same this year.

MULTNOMAH COUNTY and four continguous counties are permitted under a 1961 Oregon law to go on Daylight Time. But last summer other political sub divisions turned the clocks ahead without legal authority. The result was a crazy quilt of time zones.

In a number of towns, the schools went fast, while the city government remained Standard—or businesses remained on Standard while the city government went for fast time.

So far, four of the counties permitted to move the clocks ahead as of April 29 have voted to do so. The fifth was expected to go along.

THE MAIN opposition to Daylight Time in Oregon has come from Grange and theater lobbies. They have a vociferous backing of other persons, not organized.

Because of such opposition, the 1961 Oregon legislature failed to pass a memorial to congress advocating a uniform time. But the same assembly did pass a bill permitting the five counties in the greater Portland area to use Daylight Time if they wanted. They did.

The legislature also referred the matter to the electorate in the November general election. That will decide the matter for 1963.

Meanwhile, petitioners are trying to get a Standard Time measure on the same ballot. If they succeed, the measure will run side by side and if both pass, the one with the greater number of votes will win.

Clothing Sales Show Eastertime Splurge

NEW YORK (AP)—Mothers went on an Easter shopping splurge this week but slowed down their purchases of home furnishings, Dun & Bradstreet Inc. said.

The business news service agency said heavy purchases of children's wear and millinery helped push the volume of retail sales far above the level of a year earlier.

In 1961, however, Easter fell earlier than it does this year. This partially accounts for the comparatively sharp year-to-year increase this week, estimated by Dun & Bradstreet to be 20 to 24 per cent.

Italy Picks President Wednesday

ROME (AP) — The young Italian republic will elect a president Wednesday—without a single campaign speech.

The election is by 854 members of Parliament.

An issue is whether President Giovanni Gronchi should succeed himself, setting a two-term precedent. Two terms mean 14 years.

Although Italy's constitution allows the president almost no policy-making power, politics is a factor. The legislators will have to decide whether to name a president who favors or disapproves Italy's new experiment with a government slanted to the left. Premier Amintore Fanfani heads an alliance which depends for parliamentary majority upon the pledged support of the Socialist left.

* * * *

IT IS CONSIDERED unfitting to engage in campaign oratory, but debate has been going on behind the closed doors of party meetings.

A two-thirds majority is required for election on any of the first three secret ballots. After that a simple majority elects.

In the past the winner has always emerged as a dark horse, his strength not even hinted in early vote swapping. Gronchi polled a meager 30 votes on the first ballot seven years ago, and won hands down on the fourth.

Although there are no avowed candidates, it is known that Gronchi, now 74, would like another term. Opponents have cited only one objection—the precedent of a second term. Gronchi, a member of the dominant Christian Democrat party, advocated the government's slant to the left.

FOREIGN MINISTER Antonio Segni, 71, is another possibility. As a right-of-center Christian Democrat, he has been suggested as a counter- balance to the leftist trend.

Giuseppe Saragat, 63, has support as a candidate who would let another party into the presidency. He is a Democrat Socialist.

The job pays $20,000 a year.

Diners Club Buys 2 Financing Firms

NEW YORK (AP) — Diners Club Inc., which runs the credit card plan, said it expanded its commercial financing operations by acquiring 80 per cent of the stock of two North Carolina companies. They are Southern General Factors, Inc. and Financial Services Inc. The seller and terms of the transaction were not disclosed.

Airliner to Launch Daily Nonstop L.B.-S.F. Trips

WESTERN'S PROP-JET ELECTRA BRINGS NON-STOP SERVICE HERE

By LEE CRAIG
Military-Aviation Editor

The first nonstop commercial passenger service to be offered between Long Beach and San Francisco will begin Monday when a Western Air Lines Electra prop-jet lifts from a Municipal Airport runway, headed for the Bay City.

Aboard the big four-engined Lockheed will be a score of civic leaders, headed by Mayor Edwin W. Wade, who will ride the inaugural flight in celebration of the boost both to the city's prestige and to the convenience of the Long Beach area's air travelers.

The 95-passenger Electra's all-coach flight will leave Long Beach daily except Sunday at 8:56 a.m., arriving in San Francisco at 10:09 a.m.

* * * *

THE RETURN TRIP will leave the northern city at 7 p.m. and arrive here at 8:15 p.m. each day except Saturday.

Western Air Lines officials indicated a favorable response to the service would result in addition of another daily flight within 60 to 90 days.

Western also has announced inauguration of nonstop schedules, beginning today, between Los Angeles International Airport and Sacramento, with through flights north to Reno and south to San Diego. This route will be served by 20 flights weekly, also with Electra prop-jet aircraft.

The line expects delivery of three new Boeing 720B fan jets this summer, which will bring the Western fleet up to seven 720B's, two Boeing 707 turbojets, 12 Electra II prop-jets and 16 Douglas DC6Bs.

Western, founded in 1926, the oldest continuously operated airline in the United States, recently announced an estimated profit of $1,070,000 for the quarter ended March 31, highest in the company's history.

OPEN HOUSE AT LONG BEACH PUBLIC SCHOOLS

Record Throng to See Schools in Action

By ROBERT WILCOX
Education Editor

A record 115,000 adults will begin inspecting 77 Long Beach schools Monday with the start of the 43rd observance of Public Schools Week.

The throng, school officials reported, is expected to top last year's turnout by more than 15,000.

Long Beach City College is gracing for 10,000 visitors Monday night when it presents a vocational arts exhibit at its Business and Technology Division, 1305 E. Pacific Coast Hwy. The college's six adult divisions also will welcome guests the same night.

OPEN HOUSES are scheduled Monday at the Long Beach Unified District's two special schools —Tucker for the physical handicapped and Nightingale for the mentally retarded.

Tuesday is "Elementary Night" when more than 70 parents will descend on the district's 54 grade schools to view displays from science to patriotism.

The grade schools will conduct minimum-day sessions, releasing pupils at 2 p.m. to prepare for the avalanche of evening visitors.

VARIED programs are scheduled Wednesday night at the district's six senior high schools which expect to host 10,000.

Attractions will range from Jordan's annual Art Show to an ROTC display at Polytechnic.

The 14 junior high schools take over Thursday night when 25,000 adults will tour the facilities and witness displays and demonstrations ranging from social studies to physical fitness.

★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★

Schools Week Slate

The Long Beach Unified District's Public Schools Week open house schedule:

Monday, City College; Tuesday, elementary schools; Wednesday, high schools; Thursday, junior high schools.

All events will start at 7 p. m. and conclude at 9 o'clock.

ALTHOUGH the open house events will be held from 7 to 9 o'clock each evening, Supt. Douglas A. Newcomb has issued an invitation to the general public to visit the schools in the daytime to watch them in operation.

Special programs planned during the week by many service clubs and other organizations will stress the celebration's theme — "The Public School — America's Heritage and Strength."

IN INVITING the community to participate, Newcomb said:

"Everyone has an important stake in the public schools. When we develop our educational system — expanding it and making it stronger—we cultivate the greatest of our natural resources — the people of America."

Orlo R. Peugh, chairman of the Citizens' Public Schools Week Committee, stated:

"Public Schools Week is an annual reminder of our responsibility to lend support to the Long Beach Unified School District in its education of our 80,000 youths and adults."

'THE WRITER AND THE SPACE AGE'

Fourth Annual Writers Conference Set for Lafayette Hotel May 17-19

The fourth annual Long Beach Writers' Conference, presented by the Long Beach City College General Adult Division, will be held May 17-19 at the Lafayette Hotel.

Events of the three-day conference will include two luncheon programs, a dinner, and panel sessions on non-fiction, drama, the novel and short story, poetry, television and motion picture writing. Speakers and panel members will include a number of noted professional writers, critics and publishers' agents.

Featured speakers for the May 18 dinner program will be novelist Sylvia Wilcox, screenwriter Allen Rivkin and TV dramatist Stirling Silliphant. Theme will be "The Writer and the Space Age."

ATTENDANCE AT ALL conference sessions will be open to the public on payment of a single $1 registration fee, exclusive of luncheon or dinner reservations. Printed programs and reservation forms are now available at all offices of the LBCC General Adult Division.

Director of the conference for the fourth successive year is Mrs. Alice C. Wright of the GAD staff. Co-sponsors and cooperating agencies include the Independent, Press-Telegram, the American Association of University Women, Long Beach Writers' Club, National League of American Pen Women, California Federation of Chaparral Poets, Presidents' Club of Long Beach and the California Writers' Guild.

ALSO THE LuValean Poetry Club, the Long Beach Women's City Club, the Long Beach Public Library, Buffums' Book Dept., Lafayette Hotel, Long Beach Convention and Visitors' Bureau, Herald-American Newspapers, Enterprise Publications and the Associated Student Body of the LBCC General Adult Division.

Local participants as panel moderators will include Malcolm Epley, executive editor of the Independent, Press-Telegram; Frank B. George, supervisor of Audio-Visual Services, Long Beach Unified School District; H. D. Cooke, chairman of the English Dept. at Long Beach City College; and Dr. John H. Green, professor of theater arts at Long Beach State College.

City Automation Study Ordered

By GEORGE WEEKS

The City of Long Beach is launching a two-year program toward keeping pace with new developments in automation.

It won't be visible in many muncipal functions: old-fashioned manpower will still carry out such duties as police and fire protection, rubbish collection and the like.

But accounting, record-keeping and data processing methods may be revolutionized for the second time in 10 years, according to Samuel M. Roberts, head of the Department of Administrative Management.

Modernization of the system is considered especially timely in Long Beach because of the imminence of the huge offshore oil development.

THE FIRST step was taken last week in the authorization of a $20,000 contract with a nationally-known firm of consultants, Booz, Allen & Hamilton, which has carried out similar assignments in more than 100 cities for public and private clients.

In its initial stage the contract calls for analysis of present data processing work and determination of future requirements. From this study will be developed specifications to manufacturers for computer equipment. Also to be determined are the relative economies of a central system as against several smaller ones.

After the 10-week survey by the consultants, the second phase will involve the evaluation of equipment proposals to be submitted by manufacturers, followed by the planning and installation of the new machines. Manufacturing and assembling the various components to fit the city's needs will probably take 18 months, Roberts said.

"OUR GREATEST need is flexibility," Roberts added, "because of the variety of work handled — everything from 325,000 utility and rubbish accounts to complex oil and subsidence-control data."

One problem with the present equipment is storage. In recent years some 7 million punch cards have accumulated—many of them containing basic city information. Much of this will be transferred to magnetic tape under a modern system.

The city currently spends $7,500 per month for rental of punch-card and tabulating machines. The battery of equipment, some of it obsolete, operates 24 hours a day in the Municipal Utilities Building at a total cost of $270,000 per year, including a staff of 30.

ALTHOUGH this installation is the largest in the general business category in the Long Beach area, it still can't handle much of the data that can be processed through newer machines, Roberts said. And once the offshore oil development reaches a busy stage, the current system will be obsolete.

Business computer assemblies in the range soon to be required by the city will cost between $7,000 and $10,000 per month in rental charges, Roberts estimated.

In addition to the City Council, the Harbor and Water Boards have approved the consultants' contract. Both of those departments will share in the cost.

Beach Combing
With Malcolm Epley

GOOD morning, in fast time. If you haven't turned the clock ahead, do it now. We're saving daylight again.

It's a tribute to our systhem of public communication that this twice-a-year one-hour switch takes place in our state with so little confusion.

A few may forget and here and there a publicly displayed clock may not be changed for a few days, but everybody knows about the time change.

Also, it's a tribute to wise public policy in California that we have a Daylight Saving program on a statewide basis.

Things aren't that well ordered in some other places. In my former home state of Oregon, for example, DST is a raging issue. Some communities have it and others don't, with some hectic results. Some visitors up there last summer reported they found time differences in a single community. Oregon now lies between two DST states—California and Washington—which adds to its confusion and the confusion of visitors.

Farmers have kept Oregon from going DST. But it's just a matter to time until it moves into line with its neighbors.

ON THE March anniversary of the L.B. earthquake, a story here told about an incident at Seaside Hospital, where Dr. Sterling Pillsbury was presiding at a birth when the 1933 shake came. The item related that the baby was a girl, and that a few minutes before the quake hit, the father was standing in the delivery room on a piece of flooring that fell away in the temblor. He moved at the doc's suggestion, and thus his life was saved. In my piece, I asked if the girl born at that time was still around.

Today, I have the answer. Comes a letter from William C. Boynton, 2823 Santiez Dr., Pomona, identifying himself as the father. The daughter, Betty Lou, is now Mrs. Clifford McQueen, and she lives at 7402 Shirley Ave., Reseda, Calif. Her husband runs a carpet co. in Tarzana. Writes Boynton: "I imagine Dr. Pillsbury has delivered many a baby since that time, but I doubt if he ever came so close to losing a father."

WITH the advent of TV to hospital rooms (in modern hospitals, rooms are wired for the picture boxes and patients operate them from bed) people who visit friends and relatives in the sick rooms may not be so welcome as in the past.

Dr. Chet Moore has sent me a note about a major hospital in Scotland where the patients asked that visiting hours be reduced. They complained that the big crowd of evening visitors interfered with their favorite TV programs.

NOT MUCH is gained by reporting prices of "The good old days" but modern readers always seem interested, even though frustrated.

So I'll pass along the prices shown on a Southern Pacific diner menu sent to this desk by a reader.

In 1939 you could get an economy plate dinner on the S.P. for 35 cents. The menu: baked fish fillet or swiss steak with country gravy; vegetable, potatoes, dinner roll, blackberry cobbler and beverage.

And that reminds me of another price item from New Orleans, which I visited last week. Across the street from my hotel was an oyster bar where I could get oysters on the half shell, 41 cents for half a dozen.

Naturalists' Art Works to Be Shown

An exhibition of paintings and drawings of North American wildlife, produced by the late Allan Brooks, British Columbia naturalist-artist, will open Wednesday at the County Museum in Exposition Park.

The exhibition, titled "Bird and Mammal Paintings," comprises 27 illustrations for books.

YMCA Fund Drive Workers to Meet

Instructional meetings are on tap this week for volunteer workers who will carry the YMCA's $1.196 million "Buildings for Youth" campaign to the public here May 10-29.

The citywide campaign seeks funds to build a family-type YMCA building in Los Altos, complete the renovation and expansion of both the North Long Beach and Downtown YMCAs and build an all-purpose gymnasium at the Lakewood Y.

LOS ALTOS campaigners will hold a dinner meeting Monday at 6:30 p.m. at the First Congregational Church in Los Altos, with Robert Volland and Verne Upton co-chairmen.

Monday at 8 p.m., Lakewood section workers will gather at the Lakewood YMCA under the leadership of William Burns. Tuesday at 4:30 p.m., Hale Young will assemble the downtown campaign group at the Downtown Y.

Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. at the North Long Beach Y, Tom Norcross will preside.

L.B. Courts Bid Public to Open House

Long Beach area residents have been invited to view and hear American justice in action, by visiting their local courts Tuesday.

All municipal and superior courts in the Long Beach County Building at 415 W. Ocean Blvd. will hold open house as part of the annual celebration of Law Day.

A special program is planned from 7 to 9:30 p.m., when mock trials will be staged and lawyers will guide visitors through the courthouse.

Actor Lederer to Speak Here

Deadline for making reservations for the Saturday luncheon at Long Beach State College when actor Francis Lederer will be the Drama Day speaker is Monday.

Fee is $2—$1.50 for students—which includes luncheon and events.

Reservations should be mailed to Council of Living Theater, care of Drama Department, Long Beach State College, 6101 E. Seventh St., Long Beach, 4.

Car Hits House, Motorist Killed

Thomas H. Mathewson, 35, of Compton was killed Saturday night when his car leaped a curb and slammed into the side of a house in the Torrance area.

Mathewson, of 316 Oak St., was dead on arrival at Harbor General Hospital.

The car rammed a hole in the wall of the house at 20614 S. New Hampshire Ave. Mathewson was alone. No one in the house was injured.

Blood Pressure Seminar Set

Three doctors will discuss high blood pressure at a seminar beginning at 2 p.m. Wednesday in Pacific Hospital of Long Beach, 2776 Pacific Ave.

Lecturers will be Drs. Donald A. Adams, John Ferrar and Robert E. Rockney, all of UCLA Medical School.

All doctors in the area are invited. The program, which includes a dinner meeting, will continue till 8 p.m.

$1 Million Research by VA Here

Medical research at the Long Beach Veterans Administration Hospital has become a million-dollar industry.

This was disclosed by Robert L. Somerville, coordinator of the hospital's medical research programs, in a talk to employes.

Just 11 years ago, he noted, Congress appropriated $1 million for the entire research program in the VA.

Now, this year, a half million dollars has been ticketed for the Long Beach hospital alone. Another half million will come to the local hospital via grants.

FOR THE ENTIRE VA research program, $27 million has been set aside. Several million more will go to VA labs in grants.

There are 7,175 persons involved in VA research, investigating a total of 7,097 projects in 141 VA hospitals across the land.

At the Long Beach hospital, more than 100 projects are in the works. The VA research program here has 59 full-time employes. The payroll for Long Beach research personnel totals $1,561 daily.

CIVIL WAR RUNNER

Frogmen Probe Wreck of Sunken Vessel

The Modern Greece, a blockade runner from the Bahamas bringing war supplies to Wilmington, N. C. was sunk early in the morning of June 27, 1862 off Corncake Inlet on the lower North Carolina coast.

Nearly 100 years later Navy frogmen, including a Long Beach man, are delving into the deep, taking Civil War period weapons from the wreckage.

IRONICALLY, the Modern Greece actually was sunk with solid shot by the Confederate shore battery for fear the Union ships might explode her large cargo of gunpowder.

Spring storms this year thrashed the Atlantic seaboard, and waves and tides occasionally exposed her hull.

AIKEN

The divers found the ship resting on her stern, the bow angled toward the surface. Most of the superstructure was gone. Pipes in the boiler room were badly twisted, indicating an explosion.

SCHOOLS of fish played around the wreck, which was nearly covered by knife-sharp barnacles.

The divers brought to the surface 40 rifles, 15 12-pound Whitworth shells, bayonets, metal sheets believed to be armor plating and 13 170-lead ingots for bullets. Some of the rifles were .57 caliber English Enfields.

Most of the loot will be placed in the Fort Fisher Museum, not far from the place where the ship went down.

AIKEN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Aiken, 117 Termino Ave., for three years has been bomb disposal instructor at the U. S. Naval School, Explosive Ordnance Disposal at Indian Head, Md., 30 miles down the Potomac from Washington, D. C.

The frogman is a brother of Lt. Cmdr. Robert Adam Aiken, in charge of submarine repairs at Honolulu. Three years ago when Robert was named commander of the USS Segundo, he was the youngest submarine skipper in the U. S. Navy.

67 CLUBS SIGN UP

Thousands to Enter L.B. Hobby Show

Thousands of the top hobbies in Southern California will be shown off here May 10 to 13.

Long Beach Hobby Show, which opens then in Municipal Auditorium, has signed up entries from [illegible] individuals and 67 clubs. Clubs range in membership from six to [illegible].

Mrs. Lois Delano, show manager and city Recreation Department employe, forecast an attendance of more than 50,000 persons. Admission is free.

AMONG THE exhibits will be collections of dolls, bells, ceramics, postmarks and pitchers; models of racer cars, antique cars, model cars, trains, planes and ships in bottles; wood work in stage coaches, wagons, gavels, wood turning, inlayed wood, carved wood, mechanical farm equipment, and art and craft work in needle point, petit point, textile painting, basketry, water colors, oils, sketching, dry flower arrangements, pot holders, rug braiding, paper craft, and special demonstrations.

The 19th annual show this year is booked to capacity and overflowing with entries. Some latecomers are being turned down, and urged to apply for the 1963 show.

"There seems to be a lot of interest in hobbies. I am sure I could fill an auditorium twice as big as the auditorium here," said Mrs. DeLano.

THE SHOW was started in 1934 as a two-day affair that drew only 2,000 persons. By the 1940s, attendance soared to the 40,000 mark. Since 1957, it has topped 50,000 each year.

The show is conducted by the City Recreation Department and assisted by the Hobby Clubs Council.

In addition to the exhibits, there will be shows from the auditorium stage during the four-day fete. Show-goers will be entertained by Long Beach Municipal Band, "Hobby Lobby" stage interviews, folk dancing, square dancing and magic acts.

Show hours are 2 to 10 p.m. on May 10-11, 1 p.m. to 9 p.m. May 12-13.

Learn to Tell Good Cause From Confidence Game

WHEN SO-CALLED MISSIONARIES collect funds on the promise of buying Bibles for the needy, but pocket 70 per cent of the donations as their commission, we think their operation may be accurately described as a con game.

Such a racket was reported this week in these newspapers in a series of articles by Vint Mader. Reporter Mader, concealing his newspaper connections, "volunteered" as a home missionary for an organization which calls itself the Western Missionary Army, Inc. As a Home Missionary, it was his job to go from door to door in a uniform with this spiel:

"We are asking for YOUR donation to help place FREE Bibles in the homes of the needy and missions overseas; a dollar places a Bible in a home that does not have the word of God."

ALTHOUGH MADER PURPOSELY mumbled and stumbled over his words, the generous, goodhearted public gave him money anyway. It's hard to beat free Bibles for the needy as an appeal to the finer human instincts.

Mader discovered that the "Army's" collectors get to keep 60 per cent of what they collect. Of the remaining 40, the crew chiefs take 10 per cent. Thus, only 30 per cent of the money collected goes to headquarters. The organization, Mader noted, was very vague about how the money is used. He observed no mailing of Bibles.

According to the Long Beach bunco squad, such "armies" collect about $1 million a year in the metropolitan area. The take from Long Beach, alone, is estimated at $50,000. There is no evidence of value received by society.

THESE CON GAMES siphon money away from bona fide charities and religious organizations. And when the public discovers it has been duped, the worthy groups suffer from being mistakenly lumped with the offensive ones.

We are not against door-to-door solicitations. Many fine causes, including Red Cross, Community Chest, and the March of Dimes, receive funds in this way. We do recommend that the public learn to distinguish the good causes from the con games. Meanwhile, there is need for legislative action in a field too long neglected. Those who collect from the public should give the public a precise accounting.

Bulldozers Poised on Potomac Bank

By the I, P-T Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON—Not even the banks of the storied Potomac River are safe from the tender blandishments of the developer, his bulldozers and tree choppers.

On the drawing board now—after a rather peculiar bit of re-zoning on the part of officers in Virginia's Fairfax County—are plans for a set of sky-scraping apartment buildings to be located on the 46-acre estate of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh D. Auchinoloss.

Mrs. Auchinoloss is Jacqueline Kennedy's mother, and the estate is where Jackie spent her girlhood. It is on a lovely portion of the Potomac called the Pallisades, just a few minutes from downtown Washington, and it is a neighborhood of large, wooded estates,a kind of nature's wonderland which caters to both birds and bird watchers.

TO SAY THAT the decisinn of the Auchinclosses to sell their Merrywood estate to the apartment developer has shocked the area is to put it very mildly.

Residents claim, for one thing, they have been betrayed by a county supervisor who campaigned on an issue of keeping apartments from the McLean area. They see it as a strange sort of business when the Sheriff has acted as broker to the sale, collecting a fee. They fail to understand how Mr. Auchincloss, who is very wealthy, or Mrs. Auchincloss, who, as a member of the committee for a National Cultural Center, is apparently quite well versed on things to do with the national heritage, could possibly benefit.

And it has not just been a matter of a few wealthy landholders defending their own. Secretary of the Interior Udall has taken a stand against it. Nature lovers are inflamed. Mainly, the man in the street, who likes to look at trees, feels that it is still another victory in sight for asphalt and concrete over soil and greenery.

Needless to say, there are campaigns against completion of the sale. But as of now things look dark for the Potomac.

DEMOCRATS AREN'T THE only ones with polls showing that New York's Gov. Nelson Rockefeller isn't exactly a shoo-in for re-election. The Rockefeller organization's own polls confirm the evidence that Rocky would have a tough time in a race against Mayor Bob Wagner. Two explanations are being given by New York politicians for the unexpectedly poor showing. The state's conservatives are displeased with some of the governor's fiscal policies. Rural areas, tradional backbone of Republican strength, feel they've been given short shrift by the Albany administration. Also bothering the Republicans is the impact of the Rockefeller divorce. One organization man said, "we don't know how much it's hurt, but it's hurt us, that's for sure."

Old Scot's Theory Provides Devastating Political Cheer

WHEN A PRETTY, young cheerleader exhorts her classmates to "Kill 'em," it is doubtful—given the chance—that she actually would drop the pellets.

We fans pardon this pony-tailed little monster because we recognize the place of intermural demagoguery on the playing fields. The same thing happens at political meetings. A reporter, disconnecting his partisan wires, must view the excessive claims and charges of either party as he would view the puffery of a TV commercial for a mouthwash.

HOUSER

The reality persists that despite Don Drysdale's testimonial contempt, this country may actually harbor some national heroes who use "greasy, kid stuff" in their hair.

Dr. Arnold O. Beckman led the cheers Friday night at a Disneyland Hotel dinner gathering honoring GOP gubernatorial candidate Richard M. Nixon, his wife, Pat, and mother, Hannah.

Dr. Beckman's hyperbole was misleading, overdrawn and demagogic. But it was legitimate dialogue for a political rally and the most clever performance of late years.

A FORMER educator, Dr. Beckman donned a mortarboard and used a blackboard to give a physics lesson on the kinetic theory of gases, the life history of a molecule. He labeled three circles to represent molecules A, B and C.

He explained that heat increases the agitation of the molecules. Take for example Molecule B, Beckman lectured. It may, with heat, go off in this direction until it hits another molecule, then it changes course and darts back where it meets a couple more molecules and goes off in another direction.

And the motion of the molecule is unpredictable. This is called random motion. in science texts, it is called "BROWNian motion," Professor Beckman disclosed.

THE PHENOMENON was named for Scottish botanist Robert Brown (1773-1858).

"So you see Brown's behavior was described over 100 years ago and they even put his name on it," Beckman concluded.

Nixon was in good form too. In addition to more than 700 guests at the Orange County Nixon Committee dinner, he picked up 400 more listeners in another part of the hotel. He briefly addressed 400 members of the California Federation of Women's clubs while the Nixon diners were finishing their dessert.

ONE EXCITED EMCEE, he reported upon returning, started to introduce him as the candidate "for Vice . . . er, for governor."

This reminded him of a Utah occasion in which his wife was being introduced. Said the emcee, "I present to you the next wife of the Vice President of the United States."

Said Nixon, "If that sounds funny here, you can imagine the impact it had with an audience in Utah."

Perhaps the soberest spot in Nixon's talk was his apprehension at the "economic illiteracy" reflected in poll at a California college which showed 60 per cent thought profits were a bad thing per se.

"This shows a failure to understand the real strength of America. You can't strengthen free enterprise with this present lack of understanding."

Trapper Ruined White House Campaign Against Squirrels

EDITOR'S NOTE: While Drew Pearson is on a brief vacation, his column is being written by his associate, Jack Anderson.)

WASHINGTON — In rummaging through the papers left behind by the Eisenhower administration, the New Frontiersmen have come across suppressed information which could cost the Republicans the wildlife vote.

Remember the uproar over the squirrels that got in the way of Ike's golf balls on the White House putting green? It was reported that anxious aides trapped and deported the pesky little creatures to Rock Creek Park.

Not so. The Democrats have uncovered evidence that the squirrels were not banished at all but were quietly liquidated. The Eisenhower staff even consulted experts at the Fish and Wildlife Service for advice on the best poison to use. As in the U-2 incident, Press Secretary Jim Hagerty was ready with a "cover story" in case someone noticed a decline in the squirrel population on the White House grounds.

Rather than bring down the wrath of wildlife lovers upon the President's head, Hagerty would simply claim a few squirrels had been removed to leafier and nuttier Rock Creek Park.

It became expedient to put out this story in the summer of 1955. But the astute Hagerty underestimated the outrage of squirrel lovers. They raised a national outcry against disturbing the squirrel life of the White House. Among Boy Scouts in particular, Ike's popularity dropped several percentage points.

What White House aides never learned until several weeks after the Great Squirrel Scandal was that their efforts had been in vain anyhow.

All the time they were trying to get rid of the squirrels around the President's putting green, a booby-trap designer named Don Glassie was innocently complicating the squirrel problem.

It seems that his wife, who loved birds more than squirrels, had the habit of sprinkling tidbits in a trough outside her window for her small feathered friends. But free-loading squirrels beat the birds to most of the goodies.

She appealed to her husband who, unlike the White House aides, didn't have the heart to poison the little furry fellows. Instead, he put his talents as a professional trap designer to work and built an ingenious squirrel trap.

The best place to deposit the trapped animals, he decided, would be the nation's most celebrated squirrel refuge: the White House grounds.

On his way to work mornings, he began emptying his trap through the White House fence. Then he would go to the office happy in the thought that he had not only helped out the squirrels but had added to the pleasure of tourists by keeping nature alive in the heart of Washington.

Thus Glassie added to the White House squirrel population as fast as aides could reduce it. They had just about decided that squirrels, like rabbits, must multiply at an amazing rate.

Then Hagerty's squirrel story hit the headlines, and both the Eisenhower staff and the humane trapper left the squirrels alone ever after.

NOTE—Some pessimistic officials believe the nation's capital, rather than going to the dogs, will be taken over by squirrels and starlings. No reliable census has been taken of the squirrel population, although they are known to have litters twice a year and seem to be thriving in the hospitable Washington environment. The Audubon Society estimates there are 210,000 starlings in the Washington area, most of them perched on the eaves of downtown buildings. These, too, are increasing at a horrifying rate.

Report on U.S. Steel Profits Tells Only Part of the Story

WASHINGTON—It's easy enough to bewilder the public with large figures about a company's profits, though in themselves they may be a sign of weakness instead of strength. Thus the country was told this week, in five-minute news summaries on the radio or in newspaper headlines, that the U.S. Steel Corp., had earned $55.8 million in the first quarter of this year. This sounds like a lot of money and promptly raises questions as to why a company which can make that large a sum in only the first quarter of a year should be asking for price increases on its products.

LAWRENCE

But precisely because of this superficiality or brevity of treatment, the American people aren't seeing the problem in perspective for the $55.8 million has to be divided into 58 million parts, as that is the number of shares held by the 325,000 owners of U.S. Steel Corp. Receiving 75 cents a share or $3 for the whole year, means the holder of common stock is earning less than three per cent on each dollar invested in 1959 when the stock sold for more than $100 a share. But nowadays an investor can buy bonds or keep his money in a savings bank and earn more than three per cent.

SO, UNLESS investors see some hope of larger profits and dividends in the future, the free-enterprise system as a whole will face dark days, and state socialism will be brought nearer.

For there's a serious lesson to be learned from the U.S. Steel Corp. figures announced on Tuesday of this week. In the first place, out of the $55.8 million earned for the initial quarter of the year, $46.9 million was used to pay dividends on stock outstanding. Only $7.9 million was left for debt retirement and about $1 million for other purposes. But U.S. Steel actually had spent about $49 million of borrowed money for new plant and equipment in the same first quarter of the year. Hence, the outgo was far in excess of the income.

As a matter of fact, the company three years ago embarked on a program of modernization of plant and equipment costing $1.2 billion. It has about $265 million still to be spent for this purpose this year. It borrowed more than $800 million for the whole program and took the rest out of reserves.

This money, on the other hand, has to be paid back sooner or later. If a company can earn only enough money to pay its current dividend and provide for debt retirement on what it has already borrowed, it cannot very long keep up its renovation of plant facilities. The need for modernization is constant. That's why the price must be high enough to earn income which will pay back money spent and still give the investor an encouraging dividend.

* * * *

THE ADMINISTRATION is trying desperately to justify its course in interfering with the normal operation of American business —which is to get a price that covers costs and allows a reasonable profit. Today businessmen generally are perplexed because they do not see any economic sense to the formulas and proposals that are supposedly designed to stimulate industry. Instead, nearly every one of the steel companies, for example, is cutting costs severely and planning to lay off more workers. That's not a healthy situation because as the Secretary of Commerce says, steel is a kind of "bellwether" of the national economy.

Medico Says Wells Missed the Point

EDITOR:

I would like to comment on the recent article by Bob Wells entitled "Hippocratic Oath Reviewed." I think Mr. Wells missed the point of the Medical Association's recent meeting in San Francisco. A proposition was brought before the House of Delegates to boycott President Kennedy's program of medical care to recipients of Social Security should it pass Congress. The California Medical Assn. has a republican type of government. Members of the House of Delegates are elected by each of the component medical societies of the organization. Once the representative is elected, he then follows the dictates of his own conscience. This type of government is of course similar to the type which our federal government enjoys. As Mr. Wells noted, the proposition was put forth by one of the delegates from the Los Angeles County Medical Assn. However, it is unreasonable to assume that the actions of this delegate at all times represents the wishes of all the members of the Los Angeles County Medical Assn. It would be just as unreasonable to assume that Mr. Hosmer's actions at all times represent all the wishes of the members of this Congressional District.

* * * *

I THINK THE real point to be noted is that the majority of the delegates to the California Medical Assn. meeting refused to approve this resolution. I am sure that the majority of doctors will continue to treat patients in accordance with the basic precepts of the Hippocratic Oath, regardless of the political organization of medical care. The majority of doctors do object to a medical program which provides government-sponsored care for persons who have demonstrated no need for such care individually. I feel that the majority of physicians would object to a program financed by a tax levied on the working population to provide such care to people who have the means to pay for the care themselves. I think there is no argument about providing government sponsored care for people who are medically indigent. As you may be aware, the State of California, in co-operation with the federal government and the County of Los Angeles, has provided such care at the present time. Many physicians, including myself, who participate in this program provide care for people who may or may not be recipients of Social Security but who do possess a need for medical care for which they are unable to pay.

In summary, I think that the majority of physicians do follow the basic precepts of the Hippocratic Oath, and will continue to do so, whatever form medical care will take.

Feels Party Deserted Her

EDITOR:

The many Democrats who recently re-registered as Republicans have been accused of being "switch hitters and Birchers."

I have been a loyal and devoted Democrat since the days of F.D.R., and it was with a great deal of sorrow that I finally came to realize that the Democratic Party had deteriorated to the point that I can no longer support it in good conscience. I feel that I have not deserted the party, but that the party has deserted me, and its many loyal members who have for so many years had complete faith and trust in it.

All the people in the Longwood Constitutional Republican Club are deeply concerned and loyal Americans. None are members of the Birch Society, but if our views point in that direction we'll have to blame it on the type of reading we've been doing. Such as "Questions and Answers on Communism by Cardinal Cushing," "J. Edgar Hoover's Works," U.S. Government publications including "The Crimes of Khrushchev, No. 1 to 3," "Communist Target Youth," "Psychological Warfare (brainwashing)" and "Communist Control on Religious Activity." These are just a few, for the list goes on and on.

Perhaps all the accusations that were made could have been avoided if we had left this reading material alone, and followed the party line like good little sheep.

Ben F. Marron Co. Offering Another of Their Well-Known Own-Your-Owns

Known for providing fine homes and apartments for more families than any other builder in California, The Ben F. Marron Co., is now offering another deluxe own-your-own of 10 units at 1227 E. First St.

These new units of one or two-bedrooms contain all of the fine features that have made "Marron built" a virtual brand name on fine own-your own apartments in Long Beach.

With two-bedroom units starting as low as $12,500, these new units have fully built-in kitchens with the finest of cabintry and hardware, certain to please any housewife. The apartments include all drapes and carpets.

Open House Today

Visitors to the open house at the units today will note many added luxury items included in all Marron developments without added costs. They will see how fine workmanship goes into each unit for Marron workmen do all the installation instead of subcontracting the usual custom of many builders.

For the past several years, all the Marron-built apartments have been bronze or gold medallion. These medallions are awarded by the Southern California Edison Co. for electrical excellence.

The late Ben Francis Marron, a native of Utah, began his building activities in Long Beach in 1923 in the Houghton Park area. Later he was the leading developer of fine homes in the Bixby Knolls and California Heights sections of the city.

Saw Apartment Need

Marron then foresaw the big need of fine apartments in Long Beach to house retired couples moving here to enjoy the climate and he launched extensive construction of big units on Carson St. and on Wardlow Road.

A son, Bernard Marron, joined his father after his education in architecture and designing and following the death of the Senior Mr. Marron in 1954, Bernard assumed active management of the company.

Under the guidance of Bernard Marron the concern has continued to be a leader in apartment construction and many of the city's most deluxe developments bear the Marron trademark.

Bernard does his own designing and he was a leader in offering complete built-in kitchen facilities to Southland residents.

BERNARD MARRON
Builder of Fine Apartments

complete. Many units are sold from the blueprints even before construction starts, so well known and popular is the type of buildings by the firm.

The Marron Co. also does custom home building and has done considerable commercial building. Many de luxe medical units in this area are Marron built.

The biggest apartment development by Marron was the 38-unit Broadmoor at 528 Cedar Ave., which was completed in late 1960. In a prime location near the heart of downtown Long Beach, close to parks and the beach areas, the Broadmoor was designed for a maximum of privacy with some private patios and featuring the indoor-outdoor California way of living.

Each Stands Out

A secluded courtyard was provided the residents and there is a large recreation room and hobby room.

A reflection pool at the entrance keynotes the architectural design with an added touch of luxury.

Each Marron-built apartment and home has some distinguishing traits in design given by the architect-builder to make them stand out from nearby developments. Stone and redwood paneling have been used in most of the developments but with diversity in styling so there is little duplication.

In his office at 1525 E. Wardlow, Bernard Marron may be seen with pad and paper, sketching his next "dream" development—more units of luxury living provided families in the Long Beach area at moderate cost but in a choice location and with those added bits of luxury for which the company long has been noted.

And he is always available to discuss plans for any custom home or commercial construction project anywhere in the area. There are 35 employes working full-time with Marron with many others available on call for any of his developments.

Strives For Best

Believeing that "An apartment is the only way to live in Southern California," the builder strives to provide only the finest of features in each unit.

Sites of Marron-built apartments are carefully chosen to provide the residents with an appealing location. Many of the deluxe units will be found within a few short blocks of the ocean. Others are close to the downtown shopping area. Many others are in outlying areas for those who prefer to be away from the beach air.

Not all of Marron apartments are own-your-owns. Over half of the firms major apartment construction has been on contract for others.

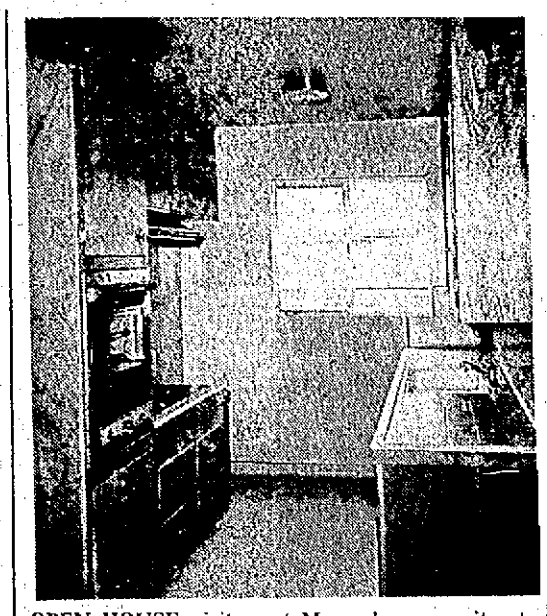

This contracting business has been growing rapidly as developers note the success of Marron's own units.

Sell Out Early

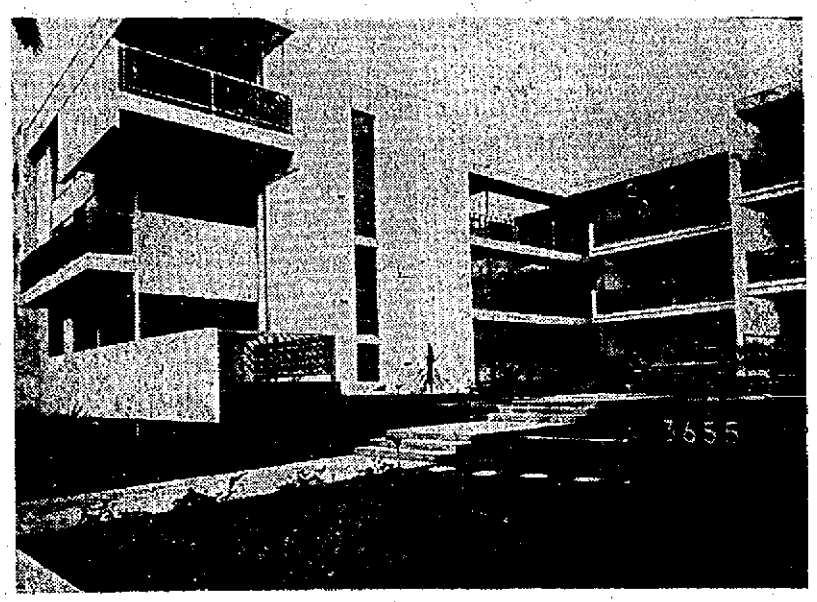

Most of Marron's own-your-owns have been nearly sold out before construction was

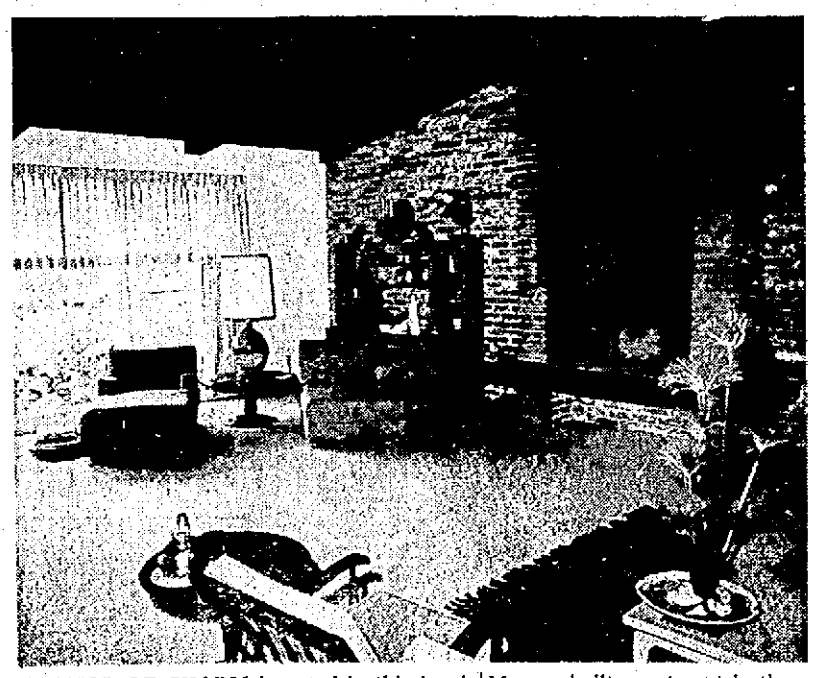

NOW SELLING is this 10-unit own-your-own at 1227 E. First St., the newest apartment developed by the Ben F. Marron Co., and has been awarded the Gold Medallion for electrical excellence.

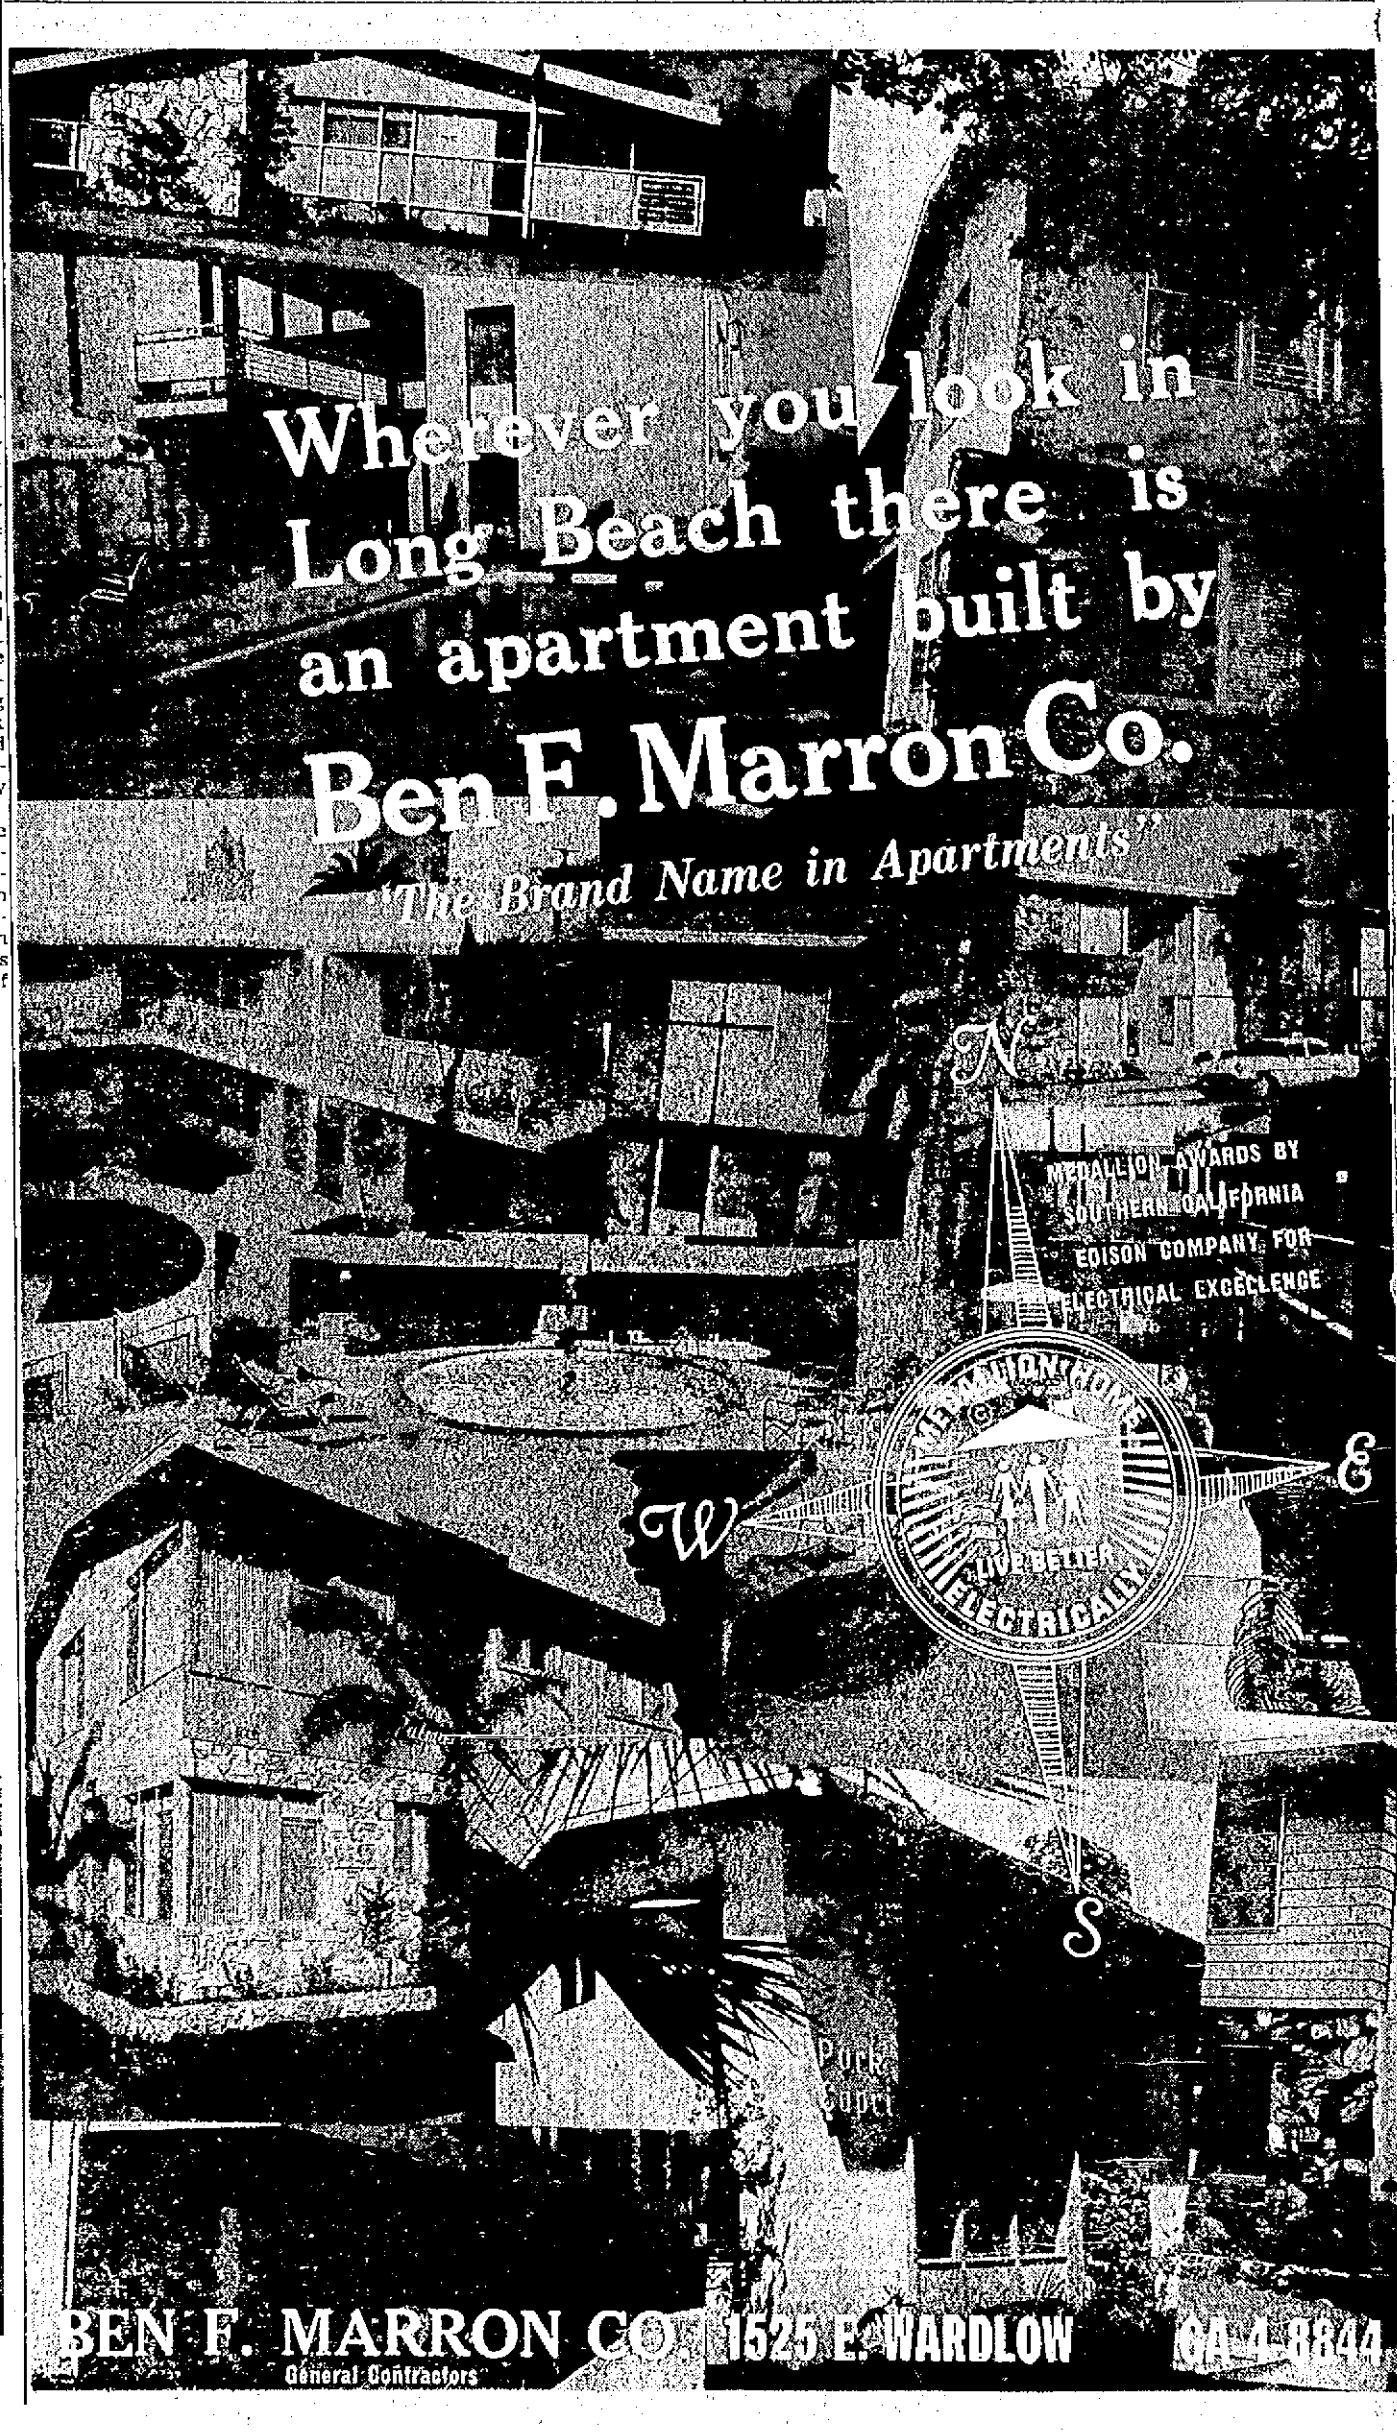

OPEN HOUSE visitors at Marron's new units at 1227 E. First St. today will see appealing kitchens, such as this, in every unit. Designed to save steps, the kitchens have the finest of built-ins.

GOLDEN TERRACE at 3655 E. Ocean Blvd. is another of the fine developments in Long Beach built by the Ben F. Marron Co.

INTERIOR OF CHARM is noted in this lovely Marron-built apartment in the Los Cerritos district of Long Beach. Used brick wall has a huge modern, raised fireplace. Note the spacious feeling the room generates.

Church Rejects Sophia's Appeal

ROME (AP)—Oscar-winning actress Sophia Loren and film producer Carlo Ponti have lost another round in their long fight to be legally married in Italy, the land of no divorce, where they now face prosecution on bigamy charges.

A Rome Catholic Church tribunal, for the second time, has confirmed the validity of Ponti's first marriage in 1946 to Giuliana Fiastra, an Italian attorney who has sought annulment of the marriage. Two children were born of the union, Guendalina, now 15, and Massimo, now 12 years old.

That marriage went on the rocks in 1955, after Ponti already had begun guiding the glamorous Miss Loren on the path to world film stardom. Two years later, Ponti, now 46, and Miss Loren, now 27, were married in a Ciudad Juarez, Mexico, proxy ceremony. The producer had obtained a Mexican divorce, not recognized in Italy.

* * * *

LAST JAN. 17, Italian State Prosecutor Guido Guasco, assistant state attorney for Rome, disclosed he had requested that Ponti and Miss Loren be tried for bigamy.

The trial has not been pressed because Ponti and Miss Loren have been seeking annulment of their Mexican marriage because of the legal difficulties it caused them in Italy.

The situation is one that brought tears to Miss Loren's lovely eyes when she won the Oscar as the best actress of 1961.

No Italian official was willing to attend the Rome Oscar-presentation ceremony that was planned, and it was cancelled. Joseph Levine, American distributor of "Two Women," the film for which Miss Loren won the Oscar, gave her and a few close friends a brief glimpse of the statuette and then took it back to the United States, "for the inscription," he said.

* * * *

ITALIAN Entertainment Minister Alberto Folchi originally was to have presented it, but he suddenly developed an indisposition. So did other officials.

Italian Undersecretary of the Interior Egidio Ariosto, who once held Folchi's job and who Friday sharply criticized Elizabeth Taylor's recent conduct in Italy, said, when asked of the Oscar award ceremony:

"What could we do? After all there is a law on marriage in Italy."

The day after the cancelled ceremony Miss Loren tearfully left Rome for her Swiss chalet. Ponti already had gone to New York.

JOHN WILSON

Former Principal Dies at 71

John Willard Wilson, veteran Long Beach educator and principal of Jordan High School 23 years, died Saturday in a Long Beach hospital at the age of 71.

Funeral service will be at 1 p.m. Monday at Mottell's & Peek Mortuary with Dr. Emerson G. Hangen, pastor of First Congregational Church, officiating. Interment will be in Green Hills Memorial Park.

Wilson, of 3435 Brayton Ave., served as principal at Edison Junior High School and Lindbergh Junior High School and was the first principal of Jordan High School. He retired July 1, 1956.

* * * *

AN ACTIVE civic worker, he was president of the Kiwanis Club in 1957, and was past president of the Masonic Club and honorary life member of the North Long Beach Lions Club and the Business and Commercial Club.

A Boy Scout worker for many years, Wilson held the Silver Beaver Award for Scouting. He was a member of First Congregational Church.

Surviving are his wife, Daisy S. of the Long Beach address; sons, John Willard Jr. of Long Beach; Lindley S. of Torrance and Robert C. of New York; daughter, Mrs. Kathleen Krogh of Long Beach; sister, Mrs. Anna Winkler, and six grandchildren.

Maytag Now in Control of Airline

Purchase of 250,000 shares of stock in National Airlines, which connects Long Beach and other California points with Florida and the East Coast, has made Lewis B. Maytag Jr. the line's largest individual stockholder.

Maytag becomes president and chief executive officer. The stock transfer was made at a board of directors meeting in Miami by George T. Baker, founder of the company, who remains as chairman of the board.

The 36-year-old Maytag controlled Frontier Airlines from 1958 until he sold it last month to a Nevada corporation. His first company, the Maytag Aircraft Corp., was founded in 1948 and has military fueling contracts, operating from 12 bases in the United States and three in Germany.

300 Aviators Excuse 'Goof' by Controller

WASHINGTON (UPI)—More than 300 airline pilots have signed a petition urging Federal Aviation Administrator Najeeb E. Halaby to show leniency toward a controller whose mistake endangered two airliners, it was learned Saturday.

The incident took place March 21 when the controller accidently assigned a United Air Lines Viscount and an Eastern Air Lines Electra to the same altitude for nearly 45 minutes while they were circling blind in a holding pattern near Washington National Airport.

The "go easy" plea included the signatures of Capt. James McClure, the Viscount pilot, and Capt. John Blankenship, who was commanding the Electra.

Pilots signing the petition, with exception of McClure and Blankenship, are based in the Washington area and most of them have had their flights "worked" by the same controller who committed the error.

* * * *

THE FEDERAL Aviation Agency had announced it would demote the controller one grade in his civil service status and transfer him to a smaller control center, reported to be Akron, Ohio. The demotion would reduce his salary about $600 a year.

"We believe the proposed action to be unduly harsh in light of the man's years of safe and dedicated service," the pilots' petition said. "We are not condoning errors of the type committed, but we are all human . . ."

Most of the names on the petition, which still is being circulated on crew bulletin boards at National Airport, are those of United pilots but they also include flight personnel from Eastern, Allegheny and Piedmont.

* * * *

THE PILOTS asked Halaby to intervene personally for the controller and urged the FAA chief to keep him at his present grade and station.

An FAA spokesman said Halaby would "study thoroughly" the pilots' request, which is believed to be unprecedented.

The spokesman said the petition was not the first evidence of pilot support for the controller who "goofed." He said numerous airline captains and copilots have phoned the agency individually in the controller's behalf.

Despite the wave of professional sympathy for the controller, there were no indications that Halaby will relent.

* * * *

THE FAA chief has privately and publicly expressed his regret that any punitive action has to be taken. He conceded the error stemmed from pressures generated by the nation's inadequate air-traffic-control system.

But Halaby also is known to feel that the incident and its aftermath must alert all controllers to the consequences of the slightest mistake.

It was understood that the controller will accept FAA disciplinary action in good grace and complete understanding of the reasons. Halaby himself regards the reduction in grade and transfer not as a real demotion but temporary assignment to a job with less pressure until the man proves he is ready to return to a major control center.

New Satellite Up; Secrecy Veil Down

VANDENBERG AIR FORCE BASE (UPI)—The Air Force Saturday launched a satellite toward polar orbit—possibly of the Discoverer series—but followed its new pattern of releasing no details on the shot.

The Air Force announcement said only the satellite employed a Thor Agena B booster combination. This is similar to those used in the generally successful Discoverer series.

The Air Force declined to confirm orbit, or to give the time the satellite blasted from the launch pad.

LAUGHFEST AT COMMUNITY PLAYHOUSE

New Farce Spoofs Conventions

By VERA WILLIAMS

The theory is advanced, with fast lines and many laughs, in "Third Best Sport," which opened Friday night in Long Beach Community Playhouse, that conventions follow sex and baseball as America's favorite sport.

Anyone who ever has attended a convention will recognize characters and situations of "Third Best Sport," with corporation executives trying to mold recalcitrant wives in the corporation image, corporation executives on the prowl for girls, etc.

Vivacious, blonde Barbara Crooker duminates the stage as Helen Sayre, bride of the general manager of the Wagner Co., kingpin organization at the American Metal Founders Association convention.

Larry Gallery adroitly handles the role of Douglas Sayre, who decides that, after all, he wants his wife to be herself.

Competent performances are turned in by Clay Foster, as Dr. Jonas Lockwood, philosopher summoned to address the convention in a name-mixup when the convention really wanted Dr. Thomas Lockwood, an economist; Alvetta Kay, as the difficult wife of the big customer; Bill Hill as a dedicated corporation man, and Frank Keith as the customer.

Cast members making their first Long Beach stage appearance in this play are John McMillan as John Wagner; Darlene Chaffee and Elaine Herman as corporation wives, and William Clements as a corporation man. All are good. Bill Wililamson as a bellboy treads the boards for the first time in any play.

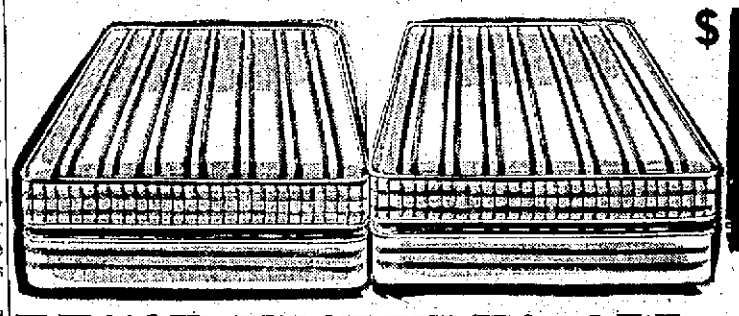

Charlotte Shuman designed the set. Larry Johns directed. "Third Best Sport," 243rd major production of community, will be given Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights until mid-June.

YOUR CAREER WILL START with a good job obtained by reading the "Help Wanted" columns. Better check right now.

Austria Chief Due Wednesday

VIENNA, Austria (AP) — Chancellor Alfons Gorbach said Saturday night one objective of his visit to Washington this week is "to point out that Austria, although neutral, is not neutralist."

He declared that "the overwhelming majority of the Austrian people know no split of conscience between democracy and one party dictatorship."

Gorbach leaves Wednesday for Washington accompanied by Foreign Minister Bruno Kreisky. He will meet Thursday with President Kennedy.

Weapon to Kill Plants Reported Near Perfection

HONOLULU (AP) — Rep. Daniel K. Inouye, D-Hawaii, reports American scientists are perfecting "a horrible weapon" capable of destroying all the earth's vegetation.

The weapon is in experimental stages, Inouye told a dinner honoring him Friday night. He said scientists were seeking to perfect it so that it could be used in small areas with limited and controlled effect.

Report 2 Million Psychiatry Patients

HARRISBURG, Pa. (UPI) — More than 2 million men, women and children are treated for psychiatric problems each year in the United States, reports Dr. Jack R. Ewalt, director of the U. S. Mental Health Commission.

Ewalt based his statistics on a five-year survey recently completed by his department.

He pointed to a serious need for more research in the field of mental health saying the U. S. is spending far too little on mental health research.

Teresa Brewer Oddity in an Undressed Age

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—Teresa Brewer's a rather curious young lady in this Age of Undress—she hesitates to sing and dance in a top nightclub because some of the girls surrounding her occasionally might appear to be practically nude.

"I just don't know whether I should work at the Latin Quarter," Teresa, mother of four, said to me the other afternoon.

"Their shows are lovely. I enjoy them. But one of the songs I sing is 'When I Leave the World Behind,' with sort of a religious quality.

"I'm just not sure it would be wise."

* * * *

TERESA, 30 now, 5-foot-1, 102 pounds, brown haired but dyed red, earns as much as $30,000 a week for herself and act of six boys in Las Vegas or Lake Tahoe. The people around her wish she'd quit being such a home girl and begin acting wicked or something — because it'd be such good publicity.

But she keeps missing her cues to be bad.

"What sort of places do you go to when you're helling around when you're not working?" I asked her . . . and waited for a spicy answer.

"Oh, I don't do anything—I stay home," she laughed.

"Oh, wild parties?" I leered. "With movie star friends?"

"Oh, no, I don't know any show people," Teresa said. "Just with my sister-in-laws."

* * * *

TERESA and husband Bill Monahan live at New Rochelle with their brood — and Teresa is always lousing up the press agents' intent on making her look like a sex-pot by claiming that she isn't sexy at all.

TERESA

"I'm not tall enough," she said. "Nobody's every called me 'lovely.'"

"Listen, Lovely," I said — ("Thanks," she smiled) — "what are your measurements?"

"Well," she said, "my head is bigger around than my waist."

"Huh!" I retorted.

"Yes, I have a 22-inch head and a 20-inch waist!"

It isn't that she's bigheaded; she has an incredibly tiny waist.

* * * *

BORN IN TOLEDO in the heart of God's country, Teresa came to Broadway at 16 as a contest winner ("One week at the Latin Quarter"), wound up doing a year at the Sawdust Trail, became a recording star ("Music, Music" and "Ricochet"), and in '57 got in the middle of a hassle over being Perry Como's summer replacement.

Teresa, insulted at a director's harsh criticism, left the show—but she's done plenty of guest shots since.

She's one of the fleetest dancers living as well as being a great pop singer. Her energy is amazing. She frankly says she became a singer and dancer and cafe performer because, at 16, she didn't want to go back to school.

"But don't tell my kids that," she warned me. "I keep telling them I loved it."

* * * *

THE WEEKEND WINDUP . . . Charles Bickford, the Herb Polesies and other showfolk are starting a theatrical contingent near the Los Angeles Airport and Hollywood Park, at Playa del Rey . . . Latin ¼ showgirl Susan Grey shyly wears a smock over her revealing costume backstage, and one of the other girls sniped: "Oh, she'll do anything to attract attention!"... Polly Bergen'll use four college youngsters, making their professional debut, in her Las Vegas act.

The Queen of Iran wanted to see a baseball game here, and a N.Y. cop said "I hope she doesn't watch the Mets—it could give her the wrong idea about us" . . . Producer Joe Levine's film, "Boccacio 70," has three separate stories; he calls it "a sort of wide-screen antipasto" . . . Harry Balafonte said at the Jazz Gallery he hopes to make a movie in Israel . . . Veteran actor Horace McMahon won the VFW's Americanization Award.

Novelist Lee Cooley—former director of the Perry Como show—has a new book out, "God's High Table" . . . Warner Bros., will shell out $3 million to advertise "Music Man" . . . Vincent Price, star of "Poe's Tales of Terror," has become a cover boy — "Famous Monsters Magazine" will be his seventh.

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: A Taffy Tuttle type walked into a drug store (reports Quote), examined thermometers, and said, "I'll take this Fahrenheit one—I know the brand name."

WISH I'D SAID THAT: If all the practical jokers in the world were laid end to end—say, that's not a bad idea.—Carey Williams.

EARL'S PEARLS: The most self-possessed person in town is a 20-year-old at a Sweet Sixteen party.

Leonard Stern, producing an ABC-TV series, told his star, Marty Ingels, he'd get good billing: "In fact, they even promised to flash your name in the middle of the show before yours!" . . . That's earl, brother.

WORLD'S MOST TALKED ABOUT ACTOR

Richard Burton: Porcupine Personality

Editor's Note—Richard Burton left the cast of "Camelot," where he and King Arthur's wife had quite an affair, and promptly became involved in a triangle much less classic but far more quickly publicized. Despite the smoke from Rome, Burton insists his classic approach to the theater is matched by a classic attitude toward matrimony.

By EDDIE GILMORE

LONDON (AP)—Without a foot of his new movie being shown in public, Richard Burton has become one of the most talked about actors in the world.

Through a spectacular Roman friendship with the beautiful, baffling, four-times married Elizabeth Taylor, this accomplished actor has reaped a harvest of headlines.

Ironically, if he played Shakespeare for the next year—and stood on his handsome head while doing it—the volume of his news clippings would probably fall short of the total gleaned through his off-stage associations with la Liz.

* * * *

THAT IS, the associations — plus the rumors, speculations, announcements, denials, denials of denials and the varied happenings of these two flamboyant stars.

What brought this volatile twosome together was the filming of the movie, "Cleopatra," which has become almost as legendary as its original heroine.

With rumors of a Taylor-Burton romance reaching a shrill crescendo in early April, Burton would appear to have muffled them if not silenced them.

"But I am married," he told a reporter, "and I hope to remain so forever."

* * * *

THIS craggy-faced son of a Welsh miner is married to the daughter of a Welsh mine manager.

He and his wife Sybil have two daughters, Kate and Jessica.

Despite the distractions from Rome, their friends say they are well suited and happy in one another's company.

As an actor, Burton is a sort of odd-ball with a porcupine personality.

He's not easy to get at.

A child in Wales during the depression, he once said of those rough tough days:

"When I was a kid I was one of 13 children. During the bad days of the depression our whole family had to exist on a crown a week. Five shillings (70 cents). I've never forgotten it."

* * * *

SPEAKING of some of his earlier films, he said: "I've been in a lot of rubbish, you know."

But rubbish or not, his talents as a fine actor have stood out. A critic once said he seemed to be the whole hope of the English stage, adding:

"An artist who gives fresh vigor to the great but eroded tradition of classic acting."

Burton once threw away a big money Hollywood career to return to Britain and act in London's Old Vic Theater at $126 a week.

* * * *

BURTON came in for some criticism in Britain several years ago when he moved to Switzerland and became a Swiss citizen.

Some writers accused him of being a tax dodger, a charge he denied.

"I want to get something straight," he said on returning in 1960 on a short visit. "I do not live in Switzerland to dodge tax.

"I have lived there for four years for the sake of my wife Sybil's health. It was done on doctor's advice."

* * * *

BURTON makes no secret of the fact that money is a subject close to his heart.

Admitting that he had banked about $280,000, he was asked if he was content with what he had.

"It's enough," he replied. "Though it's tempting to try for a million pounds. I've thought about it a lot. All those noughts. Do you realize you couldn't count it if you had a million."

A million pounds is $2,800,000.

* * * *

NOW 36, Burton has a long future ahead as an actor.

He's been trained in the best Shakespearean theaters of Britain. Great praise has come his way.

He left the cast of "Camelot" in New York—where he had won resounding acclaim—to play Mark Antony in "Cleopatra."

Discussing his part in "Cleopatra," Burton told an interviewer:

"When they asked me to do it, the Antony part hadn't been written. So, I've just been standing around for Rex Harrison to be assassinated."

IN FULL camera view, actor Richard Burton kisses his wife Sybil as they leave a Rome night club.

Magnolia's 'Once in Lifetime' Has Room for Improvement

By ROBERT C. WYLDER

Kaufman and Hart's "Once in a Lifetime" opened this weekend at the Magnolia Theater. In its present state, once is about enough.

On opening night when I saw it, at any rate, it still had a long way to go to come up to the usual standards of the Magnolia. It was, in fact, rather a bore.

Not that there wasn't plenty of activity and noise sometimes, and plenty of potentially good performances. The trouble was that the play never quite jelled into a coherent whole. It was just a lot of people saying sometimes funny lines to one another in individual scenes.

* * * *

WHAT THE PLAY might be when it gets pulled together is a little hard to say. It seems to be a combination of a huge spoof on Hollywood and its denizens, but at the same time it participates itself in the kind of hokum it is satirizing.

At its best, with a fast pace and tongue in cheek, it is probably highly amusing. At something less than its best it is not.

The cast is in general good. Probably because we see them less often and because they do not have to fit so well into the total fabric of the play, the minor characters seem more distinguished than most of the major ones.

For instance, Ric Larson is a gem as a waiter who appears in only one scene, and Harriette Seekins is very funny as a secretary-receptionist. Both can—and do—exaggerate their parts out of proportion to their importance without risking the play itself.

* * * *

LEADING THE CAST as George Lewis, the genius who bungles into Hollywood success, Jerry Anderson is usually effective as the lucky dope. Sometimes, though, he has to work too hard at it, and the voice patterns get a bit monotonous.

Dawn Bender and Gordon Elliott play George's two associates and provide the romantic interest. Neither manages enough force to be very compelling.

Danealia Hill as George's protege sometimes displays a good deal too much force, almost blasting the other players off stage.

Carl Yates is amusing in what has by this time become a stereotype, the eccentric Hollywood producer. Ann Leverett plays a Louella Parsons type to perfection, and Lynne Leider is a silent star with voice problems.

* * * *

John R. Williams directed, and he and Dick Hunter designed the sets.

"Once in a Lifetime" promises to be a lot better on subsequent nights than it was on the opener. Once the actors start working together and with the technical crew, the show ought to be smoother and more enjoyable.

Performances continue through May on weekends. Call the box office for reservations.

SIDEWALK SPEAKEASE

SHOULD WORKING WIVES BE EXPECTED TO COOK BIG DINNERS EVENINGS AND SUNDAYS?

(Asked at Fifth Street and Pine Avenue.)

Pat Escareno, 5039 Falcon Ave., homemaker: I say No. Because they have so much work to do, they shouldn't have to cook.

ESCARNO KROVIOUS

Margaret Krovious, 735 Cedar Ave., homemaker: I think they should once in a while. Otherwise their family would suffer.

Irene Stott, 5823 Pavo St., drug store clerk: The wife shouldn't have to do it by herself. The family should work together. The wife, the husband, and the children if they are old enough to help.

STOTT LYDESEY

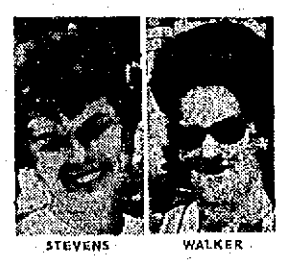

Penny Livesay, 6137 Ibbetson St., homemaker: Definitely not! No reason why the wife should do all the work. The husband should help his wife—or better yet, take her out to dinner once in a while!

Ernest Taylor, 1010 E. Secnod St., salesman: It should be up to the family, whether or not they can afford to go out or get help.

TAYLOR HUMPHREYS

Loretta Humphreys, 3322 Barclay St., secretary: Yes—with help with the dishes!

Lois Stevens, 1041 Lime Aye., clerk: No. Make sandwiches. Then on days off make meals — extra large ones, seven courses if they want them.

STEVENS WALKER

Barbara Walker, 5355 Anaheim Road, medical assistant: Of course they should. I always did.

Miss Auto Skooter

Cathy Ross, 19, will represent the popular pump-em cars in the Nu-Pike Press Day Beauty Contest June 2 in the Nu-Pike Plunge. The ride, opened in 1946, has been patronized by over 5,000,000 slam-bam riders. Girls over 18 may enter the contest by writing the Long Beach Amusement Co., 201 W. Pike. Deadline is May 24.

County Budget Action Slated

I, P-T Los Angeles Bureau

The cost of government for Los Angeles County for the fiscal year 1962-63 begins to take form this week with the start Tuesday of the first steps toward adoption of the budget.

At 10:15 a.m. Tuesday, the county's chief administrative officer, L. S. Hollinger, will present his recommendations on the budget to the Board of Supervisors in the Hall of Administration in Los Angeles.

Under the administrative code, the board must approve the preliminary budget on or before May 5—in time for the auditor to arrange for its printing and for it to be made available to the public by May 28.

* * * *

DEPARTMENT hearings on the preliminary budget start at 2 p.m. Tuesday and continue Wednesday at 9 a.m.

On Tuesday, May 15, at 9:30 a.m., Hollinger will make his salary recommendations.

Salary hearings will begin Thursday, May 17, at 9:30 a.m. Adoption of the salary ordinance must be on or before May 31. It is scheduled to come at the regular May 29 meeting.

Supervisors, who must hold budget hearings before June 10, have scheduled them to start at 9:30 a.m. Friday, June 8. They will continue Monday, June 11, at 9:30 a.m.; Tuesday, June 12, at 10:30 a.m.; and Wednesday, June 13, at 9:30 a.m.

* * * *

THE ADMINISTRATIVE code provides that the budget hearings shall be continued from day to day until concluded, but shall not exceed a total of 10 days from the first hearing date.

The budget must be adopted in late June in order that it may go into effect on July 1, the first day of the 1962-63 fiscal year.

Last year's general county budget was $527,819,838—highest in the history of Los Angeles County. Hall of Administration observers are predicting a record this year.

Day Schedules Tour of 5 States

WASHINGTON (AP)—Postmaster General J. Edward Day, who returned two days ago from a trip to Japan, will leave Tuesday on a week-long tour of five states.

A Post Office Department spokesman said Day will visit Seattle, Wash., Wednesday and Thursday for the dedication of a stamp commemorating the fair there; Des Moines, Iowa, April 28, for a Jefferson-Jackson Day dinner; Springfield, Ill., April 29 for the Boy Scout pilgrimage to Lincoln's Tomb; New Orleans, La., April 30, for the issuance of a stamp commemorating Louisiana's statehood anniversary, and Texas City, Tex., May 1, for the opening of a new post office.

Russ Protest U. S. Harassment of Ships

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Russia has protested to the United States against what it called harassment of Soviet ships passing through the Panama Canal.

Soviet Embassy Counselor G. M. Kornienko told the state department that "armed detachments" had been placed aboard some Russian ships and photographs had been taken of their radio and radar equipment.

STATE PAYS FOR NEW CENTER

City Sets Up Treatment for Victims of Alcohol

By BEN ZINSER
Medical Editor

A community alcoholic rehabilitation center financed by the state but operated by the Long Beach Health Department, has opened for business.

Located on the ground floor of the health department building at 2655 Pine Ave., the center will be open from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. daily, Monday through Friday.

Any resident of California 21 years old or older is eligible for the services of the center, Dr. I. D. Litwack, city health officer, said.

Harry Ladas, formerly health educator for the City Health Department, has been named full-time director of the center.

* * * *

LADAS SAID no fees will be assessed at the outset of the program. Later, he said, a small fee may have to be charged—but no one will be refused services if unable to pay.

Services available at the center will be outpatient medical and psychiatric treatment, counseling, psychological testing and follow-up checks by public health nurses. The center also will conduct a continuing education and information program.

For the time being, Dr. Litwack said, there will be no facilities for detoxification of the patients in the throes of an acute alcoholic episode.

"We hope to enlist local hospitals in providing emergency detoxification service," Dr. Litwack said.

No inpatient bed treatment will be provided, he added.

HARRY LADAS
Heads Alcohol Care

Dr. Harold W. Seifer, an internal medicine specialist, will be the center's medical doctor on a part-time basis. Other part-time members of the rehabilitation team will be Dr. Don C. Littlefield, psychiatrist, and Dr. Amalie Phelan, clinical psychologist.

* * * *

BESIDES LADAS, full-time staff members will include Miss Pauline Hubbard, public health nurse, and Mrs. Gertrude Poole, clerk.

Still to be employed is a full-time medical social worker.

Ladas said anyone desiring the center's services should go to the City Health Department and fill out an application blank.

During this first visit the patient also will be interviewed by a social worker or a public health nurse. He may see the doctor at this time, too.

The patient will receive a medical and psychological examination during the second visit. Laboratory tests also will be performed, and a chest X-ray taken.

Each week, at a staff conference, a treatment program will be outlined for each patient accepted for the program.

* * * *

PERSONS found to have organic disease will be referred to private doctors.

However, alcoholics found with attendant disorders such as malnutrition will be treated for these by the center doctor.

The Long Beach Alcoholic Rehabilitation Center is the newest of nine such facilities supported by the California State Health Department.

In preparation for establishment of the center here, Dr. Litwack and Ladas visited similar centers in San Francisco, Oakland, San Diego and Los Angeles.

Local health authorities have sought establishment of an alcoholic rehabilitation center for a long time. A survey conducted several years ago showed that Long Beach had the third largest alcoholic problem in the state and the fifth largest in the nation.

Masked Men Slay 2 Greek Cypriots

NICOSIA, Cyprus, Sunday (AP)—Masked men burst into a village coffee shop in West Cyprus late Saturday night, and killed two Greek Cypriots. A third man was wounded seriously.

Police set up roadblocks in an effort to stop the killers.

Council's Calendar

City Council actions Tuesday:

Tork Topples Vault Mark—16-2

By JOHN DIXON

Dave Tork, a pole vault also-ran with the audacious confidence of a Barbary Coast pirate, finally won a first-place medal.

The 27-year-old Camp Pendleton Marine lieutenant, consistent second-place finisher in big league competition, won the big prize Saturday by pole vaulting 16 feet, 2 inches at the fourth Mt. San Antonio Relays.

No man, beast or kangaroo has ever soared so high without a balloon.

Five hours and 18 minutes after the vault competition began, Tork surpassed Don Bragg's still recognized world record of 15-9¼, George Davies' pending record of 15-10¼ and John Uelses' recent vault of 16-¾.

It was no surprise to Tork, or to Independent, Press-Telegram readers whom he told exclusively three weeks ago, "16 feet is easy; I'll get it at anytime. I'm thinking about 17 feet."

Tork, a 14-1 vaulter at West Virginia U., was deadlocked with Gerald Pratt of Texas Southern and Davies, now of Arizona State, after surpassing 15-7.

But the tie didn't last long.

Davies and Pratt missed badly at 16-2. Tork was "over" on his first try, but scraped the bar on the way down. His second assault was a winner all the way. He cleared it with at least four inches to spare.

The 6-foot, 170-pounder held the fiber glass pole at 14-9 and used a 152-foot run for the big one.

Tork tried 16-4 three times but the inspiration had expired. He didn't come close.

A Marine for four years, Tork's previous best was 15-8¼ last month.

The vaulting began at 14 feet but Tork took his calisthenics on the sidelines until competition reached 15 feet. He made 15-0 on his first try, then 15-7. Then he was alone, except for 1,000 expectant spectators surrounding the catapult runway.

Tork's vault timing was perfect but the timing of the event was not.

He finished his acrobatics at 7 p.m., the same time that Al Oerter boarded a plane for New York with his "field athlete of the meet" trophy.

The voting was held at 4:30 p.m. No doubt a new pole poll would bring a two-foot silver trophy for Tork.

Oerter, a mammoth flying the emblem of the New York Athletic Club and winner of the 1960 Olympic Games discus, had a throw of 198-6, only a few blades of grass short of Jay Silvester's world record of 199-2½.

Oerter, who scratched at almost the last minute from the Penn Relays to compete at Mt. San Antonio against the finest U.S. discus field in history, had the best throwing series in history.

He had successive long ones of 190, 198, 188, foul, 198-6 and 190. Oerter's previous best was 194-2.

Another Olympic champion had a prodigious throw.

Hal Connolly, of the Pasadena Olympians, winner at Melbourne in 1956, skyed the hammer 226-½, within a few clods of his own world record of 230-9. No one else has twirled the 16-pounder so far.

The crowd's favorite event was the mile.

Jim Grelle, one of Mihaly Igloi's flock of "we run until it hurts" martyrs, became the fourth American and 30th anywhere to break the well-blemished four-minute "barrier."

Grelle followed teammate Bill Kozar through a 58.5 440, took the lead with a right-on-target 1:59.2 880, led by 25 yards after an adequately paced 3:00.8 1,320, and sprinted home without a tick left over—3:59.9.

The former Oregon collegiate king seemed to be

Pirates for 4th Victory

DON CLENDENON, lanky Pirate outfielder, blows a bubble at home plate while waiting for delivery by Dodgers' Sandy Koufax.

By GEORGE LEDERER

Earl Francis and the Pittsburgh Pirates jumped the gun on daylight savings time. Besides losing an hour's sleep Saturday, he lost the National League lead and a 2-hour and 39-minute ball game.

With two out in the ninth inning, Tommy Davis broke out of a mild slump to single home the run that gave the Dodgers a tense 2-1 decision.

Sandy Koufax became the National League's first four-game winner with his third complete game, although he admitted he "was laboring" in outlasting Francis. Until Davis' first hit in 10 trips dissolved the tie, Francis had not permitted an earned run in 17 innings this season.

The erstwhile leaders, who reeled off 10 successive wins against the Phillies, Mets and Colts, now have lost four of their last five games. The Dodgers have won three in a row.

* * * *

ENTERING the 2 o'clock doubleheader this afternoon, only one-half game separates the first four clubs. The deficit belongs to the Dodgers. The third-place Giants and second-place Bucs trail the Cardinals merely by percentage points.

Johnny Podres (1-1) goes against Bob Friend (3-1) in today's opener and rookie Joe Moeller (1-1) will be opposed by Alvin McBean (2-0) in what may be the nightcap, literally as well as figuratively speaking.

Lights were on from the fourth through the eighth innings Saturday before a ray of sunshine broke through for a ladies day crowd of 28,964. The paid attendance of 26,332 brought the eight-game Dodger Stadium total to 302,402, 111,519 ahead of last year.

KOUFAX

SANDY KOUFAX hurled six-hitter for fourth win of season as Dodgers nipped Pirates, 2-1.

* * * *

FRANCIS (1-1) and Koufax (4-1) dueled on even terms in everything except control. Koufax was the winner in that department but, oddly enough, the only walk he allowed cost him a run. Francis walked eight without damage and four times worked his way out of jams after intentional passes.

Pittsburgh scored with two out in the fourth inning when Johnny Logan drew a walk between singles by rookie Donn Clendenon and Don Leppert. Leppert, the only physically-fit catcher on the Bucs' staff, drove home the run after Logan's walk advanced Clendenon to second.

The Dodgers caught up in

Angels Turn Tables, Clip Bengals, 7-6

By ROSS NEWHAN
L. P-T Staff Writer

DETROIT—Angel pitching, sorely in need of a shot in the arm, received it from the left one of Ted Bowsfield Saturday and then nearly lapsed into a state of unconsciousness.

Making his first start of the championship season and his first game appearance since April 5, Bowsfield was the miracle cure to manager Bill Rigney's pitching headaches as he turned in a classy six-inning stint before tiring in the seventh and leaving with a 7-4 lead.

However, just as the patient was climbing off the stretcher he became wild and Rigney almost became a shock victim. The Seraph skipper dipped into the bullpen four times over the final three frames before the Angels emerged with a harrowing 7-6 victory over the Detroit Tigers before 6,585 fans who braved forecasts of rain.

* * * *

IT WAS only the Angels' second victory in 10 contests at Tiger Stadium and only the second in their last eight games. Among other noteworthy statistics, it broke an eight-game Tiger victory string over the Angels and

BACK'S ON BEAM, BAT HAS STEAM

Tommy D. Fulfilling Prophecy of Stardom

By GEORGE LEDERER

For a fellow who enjoyed a successful spring, Tommy Davis' first regular season plate appearance was a bit unorthodox. It was at a luncheon prior to the Dodgers' third game.

Under the circumstances, his introduction by Dodger publicist Red Patterson also bordered on the unusual. "Gentlemen, I want you to meet the man who, in my opinion, will carry the Dodgers this season—Tommy Davis."

Davis was flabbergasted. "I didn't know what to say," he admitted later. That night Davis began to answer the way Patterson had predicted he would. He collected two hits and since then has failed to hit in only one game.

Looking back on the flowery introduction, Davis now relishes the role in which he was cast. "It gave me a goal and determination," says Davis. "I know I have to produce. I have to drive in the runs."

Since putting Tommy into the driver's seat, manager Walter Alston has kept him there against all types of pitching. "Now, if we can keep him keyed up and aggressive," says Alston, "there's no telling how much he'll hit."

Davis says, "if I have to go for the punch, I may not hit .300. But I'll go for the long ball only in certain situations. I'll settle for singles whenever there's a man in scoring position."

Through games of Saturday, Davis had batted with 20 men in scoring position and driven in 23 runs. During the first three weeks he has been at or near the top of the list in home runs (5) and runs batted in. Tommy's 24 hits amount to 49 total bases.

Davis already is one-third of the way toward his 1961 totals in RBI (58) and home runs (15) and one short of the halfway mark in doubles (13). His average is .385 compared to .309 in April last year and .278 for the season.

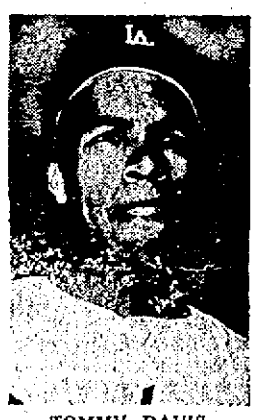

Improvement is due to a number of things. "No. 1," says Davis, "my back feels fine. I haven't had a bit of trouble since early this spring." A back injury early in July was aggravated in August and rendered Davis virtually useless fof the last two months. He batted .155 in August and .156 in September.

"Hitting the ball with the right part of the bat and having a quicker bat," is Tommy's explanation for the improvement in power. "The power was always there, I just couldn't utilize it before.

"Maybe I tried to pull the ball too much last year. Now, I'm going with the pitch, but I'm still getting around on the fast ball and more often. I don't know if they know how to pitch to me. I haven't noticed a specific pattern. They just seem to move the ball in and out."

Alston, who at times thought Davis to be somewhat of a hypochondriac, is willing now to change his mind. "Maybe the bad back was his main trouble last year. What I've noticed most, though, is that he's more aggressive.

"Tommy has a tendency to be lazy once in a while. Down in his heart, he wants to play, win and bear down as much as anyone. But, unconsciously, he wants to relax. It's our job to keep him wound up."

Fly Straw Wins Chicado V

By MAC McGUIRE

C. J. Burnam's blaze-faced Fly Straw took advantage of the stumbling Alamitos Bar and had her white-stocking feet flying from the gate to win the $5,000 Chicago V. Stakes Saturday before 10,500 fans at Los Alamitos Race Course.

The 2-5 favored Alamitos Bar stumbled and hit his nose on the ground coming out of the gate, almost unseating jockey Danny Cancholа, to give Fly Straw all the opening she needed to burst across the wire for her second straight victory.

Second-favored Fly Straw paid $12.60, $4.60 and $4.20 across the board for her three-quarter length victory. Guy Purinton's No Butt was second for $5.80 and $5.20 and William H. Carter's Miss Jet Deck was third for $9.60.

* * * *

WESTERN STABLES' Alamitos Bar placed sixth in the seven horse field, the first time he has finished worse than second since the summer of 1961.

Fly Straw was clocked in 20 seconds flat for the 400-yard sprint, just a tenth of a second off the world record and the same time in which she won the Miss Princess last week.

Fly Straw stepped out on top with Midland Miss, No Butt and Miss Jet Deck in close pursuit. Canales Black made a brief run at them and about half way through the race he began to wilt and Fly Straw started to pull ahead of her three distaff rivals.

Jockey Efrain Garza hustled her along and she steadily pulled away from the pack.

* * * *

IT TOOK Canchola several strides before he could fully regain his seat aboard 3-year-old Alamitos Bar and by that time he was out of the race.

Jockey Ken Chapman fell from favored Bombay Miss as she came out of the gate in the fifth race. He was pronounced all right at the track hospital but was sent to have X-rays taken as a precaution. He was taken off his last three mounts of the day.

REVEAL Q-H WINNER SOON

Winner of "Name the Horse" contest will be announced later this week.

The contest, offering Independent, Press-Telegram readers a chance to name the quarter horse weanling out of Go Man Go-Triple Lady, was warmly received.

A flood of names arrived at the sports desk during the final few days and it will require some time to sift them and determine a suitable name and winner.

Sports Merry-Go-Round

L. B. Cage Entry Cooking

Pearls from the Sunday pulpit:

. . . In response to the many interested fans who have inquired as to the progress of Long Beach's new entry in the American Basketball League, let me say now that everything is moving along at a highly encouraging pace, thank you. Complete financing has been assured and very necessary behind-the-scenes negotiations for a coach, general manager and players are moving swiftly. Until all preliminary factors are tied up securely, however, no definite names can be announced. (However, some surprises in the "name" department are forthcoming, I can promise.)

HANK HOLLINGWORTH

. . . Again in response to many questions, the Long Beach team will NOT be known as the Jets. An area - wide contest for everybody to join the name-the-team clan will be held before too long.

. . . Speaking of contests, the most fantastic I've seen in many years around the sports beat was the Name - The - Quarter-Horse event staged by the Independent-Press Telegram in conjunction with Los Alamitos Race Course. The contest concluded last midnight, but I have no idea when the winning name will be selected. Thousands of entries flooded the sports department and many, many hours will be required to sift through each letter and postcard. As we said when the contest opened, everybody wants either to own a race horse or to name one. (And wait 'til you see some of the names offered! They're dillies . . . and we'll include the best, and worst, in a future column.)

. . . Bob Pestolesi and Dick Perry of Long Beach State College already are deep in work for the first annual L.B. Invitational Basketball tourney in the new Arena next December. The event should be a corker, especially if Oklahoma State's defense-minded club meets the offensive machine from Drake. Both these clubs expect to be in the nation's top 10 (or at least 20) next season.

. . . University of Iowa also has expressed interest in the '63 tourney and is a definite possibility to invade Long Beach if the Hawks can work out their schedule.

MAYBE RED PATTERSON, the Dodger publicist, should send along a club brochure to Ed Sainsbury of the Chicago UP-I office. In describing Sandy Koufax after his 18-strikeout feat against the Cubs, Ed termed the handsome chucker ". . . a little southpaw." How LITTLE is a man 6-2 and 205 pounds? What does Sainsbury call BIG?

. . . I wonder when American League boss Joe Cronin wil get wise and put some handcuffs on his erratic arbiter, Ed Hurley. A red-necked type, Hurley gets in more trouble than the rest of the circuit's umpires combined. His needless meddling in Friday night's Angel-Tiger game should have drawn a riprimand from pudgy Cronin. As the second base umpire, Hurley had no business sticking his Irish schnoozola into the plate ump's feud.

. . . Also in the wondering department, when in heck is the A.L. going to do something about the rowdy fans in Detroit? There is no excuse for fans pelting opposing outfielders with beer cans, pop bottles and even liquor containers, but the irresponsible idiots in Detroit get away with this barbarism every year. Maybe a Tiger forfeit or two would curb the Motor City savages, eh, Mr. Cronin?

DANNY MURTAUGH looked like a Vic Tanny model (well maybe not THAT good) when he led his Pittsburgh troops into Dodger Stadium for this weekend series. Rigged like a butterball ordinarily, Murtaugh looked mighty streamlined on this visit. His explanation: "I haven't changed my diet. After winning the pennant in '60 I lived off the land's fat. After finishing sixth last year, I just worried my weight away in the off-season."

. . . George Agar, L.A. Blades' coach, told a Long Beach service club group this past week that sooner-or-later he was certain ice hockey would come to this city. Now, I wonder if George had to stand in the corner of Dan Reeves' office when the boss got wind of that statement of heresy?

. . . Agar was high in praise of Art Chapman, who would be general manager of any Long Beach puck franchise. Chapman, now director of Art Edwards' paint company's ice sports division, formerly coached the Blades' mentor.

. . . After Friday night's gasser, does anyone still want to argue that Don Drysdale will win 20 games this season? The new stadium was bound to help Drysdale and Don admitted the same after cutting down the Bucs. "For the first time since the Dodgers came to California, I can throw a changeup," explained Drysdale. "That's the advantage of throwing in a big park. Anybody could tap a slow pitch right out of the Coliseum, but they have to supply their own power in Dodger Stadium. And that's a big order." Onward, Mr. 20-gamer, onward.

Cards Vault to First Place

ST. LOUIS (UPI)—Lindy McDaniel came on in relief of Ray Sadecki in the ninth inning Saturday to protect a St. Louis Cardinal lead and help the Redbirds to a 5-4 victory over the Cincinnati Reds. St. Louis took over first place in the National League by percentage points.

McDaniel came in after Sadecki had walked Gordy Coleman who led off the ninth, and given up a double to John Edwards.

Jerry Lynch, a pinch-hitter, drove in a run with a sacrifice fly. McDaniel walked the next batter, but forced Leo Cardenas to ground into a game-ending double play.

* * * *

SADECKI, who picked up his first victory, was charged with four runs and all eight Cincinnati hits in the eighth innings he worked.

St. Louis was trailing 2-1 when they pushed across three runs on Cincinnati starter Jim O'Toole in the fifth inning. Minnie Minoso's two-run double off the glove of third baseman Eddie Kasko, was the big hit. Minoso went to third on the throw to the plate and scored on an error by Kasko.

Curt Flood drove in the deciding run in the seventh when he singled into left field.

* * * *

JULIO GOTAY, who had led off the inning with a double off Cincinnati reliever Jim Brosnan, scored on the hit. It was the 23rd straight game that Flood has hit safely, 11 of them this season.

O'Toole, who allowed four runs and eight hits in his six-inning stint, was charged with his third loss in four decisions.

Mays Powers 11-2 SF Romp

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Slump-ridden Willie Mays, coming up with a .207 batting average, exploded a bases-loaded home run Saturday which paced the San Francisco Giants to an 11-2 romp over the Chicago Cubs.

WILLIE MAYS
Clears the Bases

It was the sixth grand slam of Willie's career and capped a six-run blast against rookie pitcher Al Lary in the second inning. Juan Marichal, who went the distance for the third time to post his third win, kept the rally going with a run-scoring single.

Marichal had a shutout going until the eighth inning when Billy Williams smashed his third home run of the season with a man on base.

Lary, at 32 the older brother of Detroit's Frank Lary, gave up four hits and three walks while the Giants were working him over in the second inning. He was the first of four Chicago pitchers to work, with the only veteran being Barney Schultz, who finished up.

Lary took the loss, and now has a record of 0-1. Marichal gave up nine hits and struck out five.

* * * *

FOUR OF San Francisco's runs were unearned. A two-base throwing error by pitcher Dave Gerard let two across and set up another in the fourth inning. Then centerfielder Lou Brock muffed a fly to bring in another during the fifth. In the sixth, however, Brock crashed against the fence while making a great catch of Felipe Alou's smash.

14 Hits for Braves Rip Colts, 9-3

HOUSTON (UPI)—The Milwaukee Braves shelled four Houston pitchers for 14 hits Saturday night, including Mack Jones' first home run of the year, for a 9-3 victory and the most runs ever given up by the new National League club.

Starter Carl Willey was chased by the Colts in the fifth inning when Houston picked up four hits and two runs. Righthander Cecil Butler relieved Willey and blanked the Colts the rest of the way, striking out five and giving up only three hits.

The victory went to Butler, his first of the season, and Dave Giusti, the first of four Houston pitchers, was charged with the loss.

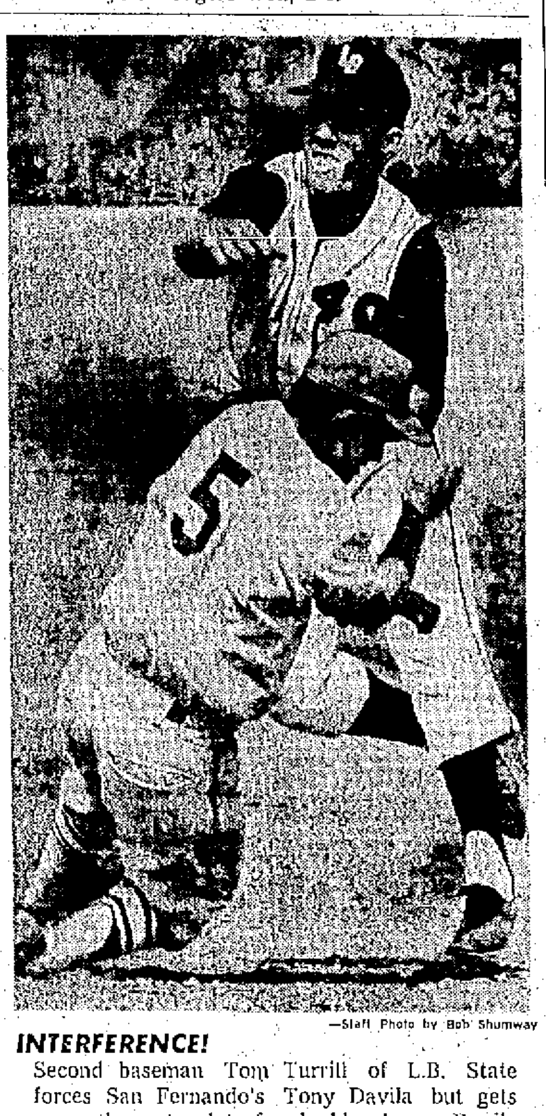

Eddie Mathews, Dennis Menke and Joe Torre each collected three hits for the Braves.

INTERFERENCE!

Second baseman Tom Turrill of L.B. State forces San Fernando's Tony Davila but gets away throw too late for double play as Davila crashes into him in sixth inning of first game Saturday.

SWAP 5-RUN INNINGS

State Divides Pair With SF Valley St.

Long Beach State and San Fernando State traded five-run innings and victories in a CCAA doubleheader Saturday afternoon at Blair Field.

Jack Foley, 49er winner, had little difficulty in the opener, going all the way as his mates gave him an 8-0 margin after two innings.

In the seven-inning nightcap, Long Beach took another lead by getting all its runs—and all its hits—in the fourth, but the Matadors jumped on starter Bill Wilson and reliefer Bill Rose for five runs in the fifth, and the action was all but over for the afternoon.

The 49ers, who got 18 hits in Friday's 14-13 win over San Fernando, added 15 more in Saturday's first contest, but winner Matt Brletic had them eating out of his hand except for one inning in the second game.

Long Beach now is 6-6 in league play and 12-14 on the season after winning nine of the last 13 games.

CHARLIE NEAL
Big Day for Mets

Neal Swats 2 Homers in Met Victory

NEW YORK (UPI)—Chris Short's two-run wild pitch ended a thundering battle of nine home runs Saturday to give the New York Mets' aged infants a 8-6 victory over the Philadelphia Phillies, their first home win in the ancient Polo Grounds and their second triumph in 14 starts.

Ex-Dodger Charlie Neal hit two home runs for the Mets and Gil Hodges rapped his first of the year.

Indians Nip Twins On Romano's Blow

CLEVELAND (UPI)—John Romano doubled home the winning run in the eighth inning Saturday to give the Cleveland Indians an 8-7 victory over the Minnesota Twins, despite a pair of Twin homers by Don Mincher, one of them a grand slam.

Mincher, put in the game when Vic Power pulled a leg muscle in the third inning, tied the score at 3-3 with his first homer of the game in the third inning. And his seventh-inning, bases-loaded blast off Frank Funk tied the score again at 7-7.

Other homers were hit by Harmon Killebrew of the Twins, his fourth, and Woody Held of the Indians.

Yankees Smash 3 Homers, Bury Nats

WASHINGTON (AP) — The New York Yankees powered three more home runs into distance points of the new D. C. Stadium in the same inning Saturday in dealing the Washington Senators their 11th consecutive defeat, 10-3.

Hector Lopez hit his first over the centerfield wall, Clete Boyer his fourth, eight rows into the upper deck, and Roger Maris his third off the facade in right. Boyer's was the longest by a righthander in the stadium.

All were off an old pal of the Yankees, Fred Green, who was bombarded in relief roles in the 1960 World Series.

Ralph Terry pitched a smooth 6-hitter in winning for the fourth time against one defeat.

Trade Locke for Phils' Ferrarese

ST. LOUIS (UPI) — Pitcher Bobby Locke was traded by the St. Louis Cardinals Saturday for Don Ferrarese of the Philadelphia Phillies.

A minor league player, to be named later, will also be supplied by the Cards as part of the deal.

Ferrarese, 32, was 5-12 last year. Locke, who was acquired by the Cards from the Chicago Cubs two days before the season opened, played for Cleveland last season and was 4-4.

Man to Man

By JERRY WYNN

One can pass by Phil Bryson without a second look on the campus at Long Beach State College. A clean-cut, 21-year-old Long Beach youth of medium build, he is probably no different than hundreds of other students.

But put him in the water in the rowing shell of the 49ers, and Phil Bryson stands out like Jayne Mansfield on a life raft.

In a sport where spidery arms, strong as long, seem to become meshed with the oars they pull, Bryson unquestionably is the smallest man rowing in a championship eight. The average California oarsman is 6-2½ tall, 185 pounds, while in Washington and British Columbia, the tall timbers are seldom less than 6-5, 200.

Phil Bryson is 5-9, 158.

Are you conscious of being a little pea in a giant pod?

"Yes, the big man is the status symbol of a crew. At Washington, they won't let a man go out who is under 6 feet. Cal has a 5-11 stroke, but he has rowed for five years and went to a prep school in England. It wasn't so bad here last year. We had some other little guys. But this year our average is almost 6-2, 185."

Do you get kidded about your size?

"A little. I am the bowman, so up at Oregon State they called us the crew with a coxswain at both ends. But we beat them."

Why did you go out for crew?

"I had been a swimmer at Wilson High, but got tired of that. Two years ago, I saw the regatta at Marine Stadium, the big one in which Cal beat Washington. It was the first race I had ever seen, and I liked it. I decided then to go out the next season at State."

Had you ever rowed before?

"Only once. Mr. Archer, the Wilson swimming coach, took me out with him. I remember I had troubles. I caught a few crabs."

Crabs? Did they get in the boat?

"Catching crabs is the expression for rowing poorly. It's when your oar goes dead and you lose the stroke."

Have other members of the Long Beach State crew had more experience than you?

"No, most of them are new at it like me. None of us are physical education majors. Of our eight, we have three pre-med students, one physics, one math, one architecture and two engineers. I am studying civil engineering. Most of us are castoffs who didn't like their other sports, but wanted to continue in sports."

What is the status of the crew on campus?

"We are a varsity sport now. I think the students like us, but I'm not sure of the athletic department. On our last trip to Oregon, the school senate voted to give us $500 for traveling expenses. We chipped in $15 apiece, and Coach Lockyer took care of what was left. He always does."

Do you think crew members should get athletic scholarships?

"It might help and it might not. We do our own recruiting. It might help us get some guys, but it could take away some of the pioneer spirit. We need that."

Rowing is one of the most physically demanding of all sports. What satisfaction do you obtain from it?

"Its hard to put into words. You have to feel it. If the boat sits right and everyone swings together, you can feel the swing and glide. It gives you a lift. And one who stays out for crew must be dedicated and love it."

Do you feel that the accent on team work in rowing negates your individuality?

"No, I like it. We have no stars. No one is better than the rest. During a race, the coxswain never calls us by names, only the number of our oars. I am No. 1. In that way, we all belong to the boat. But we do know that if one person doesn't pull or tires, the whole boat suffers. We know we must win together or not at all."

Are you going to win the big regatta? (The Western Intercollegiate Rowing Championships, the biggest regatta ever held on the Pacific Coast, with crews from Washington, British Columbia, Oregon State, Cal, Stanford, UCLA, USC, San Diego State and Loyola, is scheduled for Marine Stadium, May 19.)

"We should be a contender or you might call us a darkhorse. Cal is going to be out to get us after we beat them up there. They're really good, and so is Washington."

And if the 49ers do win the big regatta, a large share of glory will fall to small No. 1, Phil Bryson.

L.B. CREW UPENDED BY TRIBE

SAN DIEGO — Stanford University scored an unexpected victory over the Long Beach State College crew here Saturday in a five-team race. It was LBSC's first loss.

Long Beach had come here with the reputation as a giant killer, having beaten the Ilkes of Cal and Oregon State, and didn't figure to have much trouble with Stanford.

However, the Indians stroked ahead quickly and won by 15 feet in the time of 6:53 flat. State was clocked in 6:55 flat. Southern California was third, Loyola fourth and San Diego State fifth.

Stanford made it a clean sweep by winning the junior varsity and frosh races.

Rams' Scholl Blanks Poly on Five Hits

By CHARLES HUFF

Millikan High moved into a second-place tie with Poly in the Moore baseball League as Barney Scholl blanked the Hares on five singles, 3-0, on the Ram diamond Saturday.

Both teams have 6-4-1 records and trail Lakewood (8-3) by 1½ games. Four games remain.

Scholl, whose earned run average dipped to 0.79, allowed three hits in the first inning but wasn't in serious jeopardy again until the sixth.

Millikan scored first in the sixth via a balk and added two more in the seventh on two errors and singles by Brian Stock and Mike Caldarella.

SWIM TITLE TO VIKES!

Long Beach City College, spurred on by a national record by Terry Humphries, came from behind to win the Southern California junior college swimming championships at Santa Ana College Saturday night.

Trailing Santa Monica by one-half point through Friday, the defending state champion Vikings amassed a whopping 47 points Saturday for a grand total of 93. Santa Monica finished with 76½ points.

Long Beach won only one of the seven events Saturday but that was the one which shattered the national JC record. Humphries clocked 1:04.2 in the 100-yard breaststroke to clip two-tenths of a second off the previous mark.

Depth made the difference as the Vikes scored in five of the final seven events, Russ Robinett, Murdock Fraser, Casey Coleman, Bryant Brown, Donn King, Ed Holms, Russ Poe and Don Sutherlin all contributed to the Vike victory.

A FLOCK of millionaires are waiting for an answer from Floyd Patterson on a million dollar offer to withdraw from a scheduled title defense with Sonny Liston and instead match gloves with Archie Moore.

The $1 million guarantee was made to the heavyweight champion by Jack (Doc) Kearns after the New York State Athletic Commission had refused to issue a license to Liston.

Kearns put a condition on the offer that the match take place in San Diego, Moore's hometown, in September. "I've got a flock of millionaires ready to guarantee Patterson. We're all set if Floyd is," said Kearns.

Texas Southern Wins 'Only' 4 Drake Titles

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP)—Texas Southern, sensation of the Texas and Kansas Relays, was held to four titles and only two meet records were set in the chilly 53rd Drake Relays Saturday before a capacity 18,000 track fans.

In all, six marks were set and one tied in the two-day meet.

A modest 9.5 triumph in a heralded 100-yard dash was registered by Florida A&M's fleet Bob Hayes, just a little less disappointing than 16-foot pole vaulter John Uelses' also-ran performance Friday.

Texas Southern's talented squad from Houston, although failing to match its five triumphs in the Texas relays and six titles in the Kansas Relays, accounted for three Drake records.

PHILADELPHIA — New York University broke a seven-year drought and won two major titles in the Penn Relays Saturday—the sprint medley and the mile.

The Violets whipped to a 3:25.3 victory in the sprint medley, then became the first team since 1954 to break Villanova's stranglehold in the mile relay, winning in 3:12.9.

Michigan captured the 2-mile in 7:37.8. Abilene Christian took the 440 in 41.6, and Winston-Salem carted off the shuttle hurdles in 59.3.

Oregon Star Burleson in 4:02.5 Mile

EUGENE, Ore. (AP)—Dyrol Burleson, national collegiate mile champion from the University of Oregon, turned in his best effort of the year Saturday, but failed to crack the four-minute mark.

He was timed at 4:02.5 minutes as Oregon was on its way to a dual meet victory over Washington State, 98-45.

Three of Burleson's teammates were in the race to try to chase him under the four-minute mark for the fourth time in his career.

* * * *

VIC REEVE, Archie San Romani, Jr., and Keith Forman — the teammates—alternated the lead for three laps, but the pace was too slow. Burleson opened a sprint for the tape 300 yards from the end, and won by 15 to 20 yards. The lap times unofficially were 61, 61, 64 and 56.5 seconds.

The sun was out but the weather cool—54 degrees. The wind may have affected the race. A gentle three miles an hour at the start, it picked up midway in the race and was blowing 12 miles an hour as Burleson headed into it on the closing sprint.

Downs, Montague Lead Tarpons' Win

Team records by Cathy Downs and Dianne Montague paced the Lakewood Tarpons to a 115-96 victory over the Burbank YMCA in their swim meet on Saturday.

Downs' mark came in the 40-yard freestyle with a 23.5 clocking. Montague had efforts of 13.6 in the 20-yard backstroke and 26.1 in the 40-yard freestyle. Other scores:

running out of time with 220 yards still left, but he covered the final furlough in 29.7.

The soap salesman puffed, "I didn't feel so good on the second lap, but I felt very easy and relaxed on the last one. I'm in the best condition of my life."

Igloi greeted him at the finish. Igloi's first words, accompanied by a pat on the back, were, "We'll start training hard for a better time Sunday."

Grelle's time was two-tenths faster than he ever ran before. He was voted "track athlete of the meet."

The relays were as stimulating as pep pills.

Most noteworthy was the national collegiate record mile of 3:07.5 by a band of Arizona State importees.

USC, only a few steps behind in 3:08.0, shared the old record of 3:07.6 with Abilene Christian.

Poly Qualifies 67 in Moore Spike Prelims

By DICK FULLER

As expected, Poly High showed the way in the Moore League track and field prelims on its own cinders Saturday. There were no varsity league records broken, however.

Poly qualified 26 in varsity, 22 in Bees and 19 in Cees to lead all divisions. Poly's grand total was 67. Jordan was second with 47.

Top efforts were turned in by Millikan's George Davis and Poly's George Alford. Davis ran a 1:57.2 half-mile and Alford clocked 9.8 in the 100 and 49.3 in the 440.

* * * *

WILSON'S John Yancy broad jumped 23-1½ to edge Poly's Marvin Motley (22-10½) to even their "series" at two wins each. Yancy also ran the low hurdles in the good time of 19.5.

Poly's James Miles set Bee league records in the hurdles (8.9 and 13.0) and Jordan's Tom Brosnahan tied the 100 mark of 10 flat. He also ran a wind-aided 21.5 220.

The finals are set for Poly Saturday.

Boone Chairman for Lions Race Regatta

Charles Boone of Long Beach was named general chairman for the 14th annual Belmont Shore Lions Club Memorial Day speedboat regatta at Marine Stadium.

In addition, seven race officials were announced for the speedfest which draws the top hydroplane and runabout drivers on the Coast. They include referee Marvin Boettger, chairman Gillette Smith, measurer Glen Miller, timer Gaylord Evans, starter Glenn Davis, scorer Ray Holder and pit manager Ernie Gage.

RECORD JUMP BY L.B. GIRL

VAN NUYS, Calif. (UPI) — Martha Watson of the Long Beach Comets Saturday set a new Southern Pacific Amateur Athletic Union women's record for the broad jump, leaping 18 feet 1¾ inches.

Miss Watson already held the record at 17-7½. She competed Saturday in the Southern Pacific AAU track and field meet at Valley College.

Contention Runs Deep in Derby

As things stand now, Sir Gaylord and Ridan probably will go postward in the Kentucky Derby next Saturday as the top two favorites.

However, the Derby shapes up as one of the most wide open affairs in years and at least a dozen colts—and perhaps the fine filly Cicada—have the qualifications to win the "Run for the Roses."

There hasn't been a field in some time in which the contention has run so deep. In addition to Sir Gaylord, Ridan and possibly Cicada, the other leading contenders are Sunrise County, Decidely, Royal Attack, Donut King, Sir Ribot, Admiral's Voyage, Roman Line, Prego, Endymion and possibly Crimson Satan.

Because of the deep contention, is this year's hand of 3-year-olds a vintage crop?

It was thought so for awhile and may yet prove to be, but the consensus at the present time is that it will turn out to be a mediocre group which will take turns beating each other.

WHEN 1962 DAWNED, it was thought that it would be a "one horse year." Ridan, the undefeated 2-year-old champion of '61, appeared to be such a standout that he would win everything in sight . . . including the Triple Crown events—Kentucky Derby, Preakness and Belmont Stakes.

His potential was rated "unlimited." However, Ridan's stock took a plunge during the winter season in Florida when he found it difficult to stretch his speed over a distance of ground and suffered several setbacks.

He has steadily charged back into the Derby picture, though, and capped his preps for the classic Thursday with an impressive win in the mile and an eighth Blue Grass Stakes. It was a strong performance and he missed Round Table's track record by only a fifth of a second.

Trainer LeRoy Jolley has never given up on Ridan. He still thinks he has the best colt even though his breeding stamps him as more of a sprinter than a classic horse.

"A LOT OF PEOPLE PUT the knock on Ridan when they may not have realized how tough it is for some horses to make the transition from a series of sprint races to going a distance," Jolley says.

"It's just like asking a 100-yard dash man in track to suddenly go 440 or 880 yards. Ridan developed a sprint habit as a 2-year-old, but the more he has gone a distance this year the more he has become used to it."

On top of that, Jolley made several jockey changes in order to find the rider who best fit him going a distance. The big trouble as they tried to stretch Ridan out has been in trying to rate the headstrong colt in order to conserve some of his blazing speed for the stretch.

He finally called on Manual Ycaza and the fiery Panamanian appears to be the answer to the problem. He has been rating the colt perfectly in his last few outings.

MEANWHILE, SIR GAYLORD appeared headed for a certain sweep of the Triple crown following three stakes wins in Florida over fields that included Ridan. But an ankle injury interrupted his training.

There was some doubt in the minds of veteran turf observers that Sir Gaylord could come back in time for the Derby . . . not even when he reeled off an excellent 2:03⅗ work over the classic distance of a mile and a quarter last week.

However, after his smashing victory in Saturday's Stepping Stone purse, there is no longer any doubt that he is fit.

He won easily over Sir Ribot at seven furlongs in near-track record time and then finished out a mile and a quarter in a blistering 2:02⅕.

With Sir Gaylord apparently all right, Chenery likely will not start the filly Cicada. Although she has shown she can hold her own with the colts, he doesn't want her to run against them in such tough races as the Derby at this time.

Sunrise County is a definite threat . . . if he can stay on a straight course. He's the most erratic runner of them all and twice has been disqualified after winning such stakes as the Flamingo and last week's Wood Memorial.

SIR RIBOT MAY BE the best of the bunch that campaigned this winter in California. A "green" runner, he has great potential. A broken bone in his foot sidelined him last summer and he is just now starting to come on.

Another "darkhorse" California is Donut King. A ruptured blood vessel in his knee and then an infected heel caused him to get a late start in preparing for the Derby, but he is building up to a smasher. He must get a fast track, though. He hates mud.

Decidely, son of Derby winner Determine, appears to love a distance. He has a tremendous lick in the stretch, but he, too, is behind in his training after suffering from colic.

Royal Attack, winner of the Santa Anita Derby, is royally bred and must not be overlooked even though he has progressed slowly since his big win.

The best colt of 1962 could be one sitting out the Derby. He is Jaipur. His training was delayed so long that his handlers decided not to start him until the Preakness and Belmont.

SAM SNEAD . . . Still Nifty at 50

Snead, Palmer in Spotlight as TC Golf Starts Thursday

By JERRY WYNN

Man to man, it's Sam Snead vs. Arnold Palmer this week in the $55,000 Tournament of Champions at Las Vegas.

Although the 10th renewal of the famed Desert Inn golfest, Thursday through Sunday, has drawn a record field of 28, the spotlight will be focused on only Snead, the venerable defending champion, and Palmer, the mighty champion of champions.

Snead hit the $10,000 silver dollar jackpot last year with a maximum of artistry and a minimum of effort. He shot 68-67-69-69 for a 15-under par total of 273 and a yawning seven-stroke margin over the field.

Now just a few months shy of his 50th birthday, the old Slammer appears as formidable a title threat as ever during his near-legendary 25-year tournament career. He has the long game to scoff at the 7,200 yards of Desert Inn greenery, the strong game to withstand the winds that normally buffet the scenery, and the putting game to conquer swift greens known for their meanery.

What more can be said of Palmer than he proved again in the Masters that he is the king of golfdom. However, Palmer, like Snead before last year, never came to the fore at Las Vegas. Last year, he trailed Snead by 23 shots with a 296 that put him fourth from the bottom.

The oddsmakers are forgetting last year, and have installed the Pennsylvania Powerhouse a 6-1 favorite. Snead, strangely, is only 12-1 and rated behind three-time champion Gene Littler (8-1) and Billy Casper (10-1).

This is the year of upheaval in the tournament, which is limited to winners of major PGA events.

Entered are a rash of newcomers—Phil Rodgers, Butch Baird, Joe Campbell, Jack Cupit, George Knudson, Dave Marr, Bob McCallister, Gay Brewer.

Missing are a host of familiar stars—Art Wall, Ken Venturi, Gary Player, Tommy Bolt, Dow Finsterwald, Bob Rosburg.

Only four members of the original TC cast of 1953 are returning — Jerry Barber, Cary Middlecoff, Earl Stewart and Snead. Jackie Burke should have been a fifth, but he—a staunch foe of mixing gambling with golf in any proportion—turned down an invitation.

If one man deserved an entry, it was dapper Doug Sanders. He won six tourneys to qualify six times. And who would have bet on the chances of Sanders against the likes of Venturi and Wall a few years ago?

The tournament will be preceded by an exhibition Wednesday in which Snead will play with Phil Harris and two other celebrities to set a standard score for Amos Alonzo Stagg national golf day later this year. A fund is being established to fete Stagg on his 100th birthday this August.

As always, all proceeds from the tournament proper will benefit the Damon Runyan Cancer Fund.

40-1—Butch Baird, Earl Stewart.

Campbell Maintains Slim Lead

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Joe Campbell shot a 2-under-par 69 Saturday to hold onto his lead in the $30,000 Texas Open with 204 for 54 holes as favorite Arnold Palmer fell two strokes back with a 70.

Campbell, the cigar-smoking blond from Pendleton, Ind., finished last in the same threesome with Palmer and Gene Littler, the National Open champion. The latter missed a chance to tie for the lead on the 18th green when he failed on a short putt.

Littler had a 68 that tied him for second place with the onrushing Doug Sanders, who swept over the 6,616-yard Oak Hills Country Club course with a five-under-par 66.

Randall Carries Hopes of Hawks as Season Opens

By RAY CUNNINGHAM

Jack Randall is a practical man. No crystal ball for him. He uses a little, black handball.

And with it he could determine the outcome of the 1962 softball season which opens this week.

The great pitcher rifled the Long Beach Nitehawks to seven world championships, but when his arm went out last year so did the Hawks.

It has taken persistent drills on the handball court to get the wing flipping again, and now the Cerritos College math professor is as good as new.

The rejuvenation may mean that Joe Rodgers' Hawks could dethrone San Pedro as Western Softball Congress kingpin and once more make a move to the world title.

* * * *

THE NITEHAWKS begin their campaign Friday night at 8:30 at Park Ave. Field against Pomona. They go to Vista Saturday night and then play at San Pedro next Sunday night.

The Nitehawks will be stronger than last year. Magnificent southpaw Eddie Waymire, a 21-game winner, will team up with Randall. All-time all-America Stan White has rejoined the team as a coach and will be a valuable aid to catchers Red Mealrs, Corty Van Dyk and Art McCary.

The infield will have Larry Silvas, Cleo Goyette, Clint Herron and Nick Hopkins. The outfield has Roger Hull, Paul Peterson and Rickey Maris.

It looks as though the only newcomer who will make the Hawks is lefthanded pitcher-outfielder Carl Harris from Seattle.

Paramount and San Pedro loom as the Hawks' chief rivals. Lakewood strikeout star Ed Dewey has joined Paramount and should provide a strong combo with whiff champ Don Sarno.

Doug Ballard's San Pedro squad will be as tough as ever and is headed by one of softball's better batteries in George Pearson and Ralph Sangster. Dale Leach, Ben Breskovich and Ben Souders are outstanding hitters.

Of all the teams in the loop, Lakewood faces the most rugged task. It was a crushing blow to lose Dewey, and the absence of the big boy could be too costly. Adding to that, Dewey may get the starting call when Paramount plays Lakewood Thursday night at Mayfair Park.

Winds Vicious at Crowley Lake

CROWLEY LAKE — Terrific winds almost whipped out the opening of trout season here and at other places in the Sierra Nevadas Saturday. The wind, which started Friday noon, kept anglers off all lakes until 11 a.m. Saturday.

Fishermen who towed boats from Long Beach and Los Angeles Basin were terribly disappointed but the Los Angeles Department of Recreation and Parks had to close Crowley for safety reasons.

Once Crowley was opened, more than 10,000 anglers took to the water. Two thousand others already were fishing from shore. A total of 2,504 boats, rental and private, were admitted to the lake.

The largest fish was taken from shore by an Anaheim boy, Terry Foster, 12, who resides at 847 Bellevue Road. He boated a brown trout of eight and three-quarter pounds.

Lester Watt of Torrance had the second highest fish, also a brown trout, of seven and one-quarter pounds.

CROWLEY LAKE'S OPENING ALWAYS is a three-ring circus, a sort of World Series of Fishing in advance of the full season, and this year's first day was no exception.

Strangers to California may wonder why Crowley Lake is so famous. Actually, it's not beautiful when compared to other lakes in this area. It's shores are more barren than most any other lakes at this elevation.

Lakes such as Mary, George, Mamie, Arrowhead and Twins in the Mammoth group are situated in the thickest of forests and offer splendid campgrounds, as well as numerous resorts.

Crowley, on the other hand, is in the middle of Long Valley, with few trees around it. No camping is allowed by the Los Angeles Department of Recreation and Parks, which operates the concession.

Few persons would want to camp on its shores any way, particularly at the time of year when the slightest breeze can blow through sixteen layers of canvas and send chills up and down your spine.

So then, what has Crowley got that other lakes have not?

THE ANSWER IS SIMPLE: FISH! Thousands of fish! Fish that grow like no other fish in the Sierra Nevada! One never knows what he will catch when he tosses a baited hook into Crowley. What he does know is that when he gets a strike, the fish, if landed, will go a pound or better. That's the main reason for the seven-fish limit here. Those fish must not weigh more than 10 pounds and one fish. But you can take three fish, regardless of size.

It's impossible to predict Sunday's total catch, so a comparison with the two opening days last year can not be made until later this week. In 1961, a record number of anglers took 72,144 trout. The average weight was one and one-eighth pounds; the total weight 40½ tons. That gives you a rough idea of what makes Crowley great.

What makes Crowley so good? The food in the lake. After the Owens River was dammed more than 20 years ago, biologists discovered that fish were grow faster in Crowley than anybody had ever thought to be possible, so they suggested a great planting program.

The LADR&P went along with the idea and thus was born the biggest fishing circus in the west, if not in the nation. The lake's season is purposely kept short —April 28 to July 31 this year—to preserve and maintain adequate fish life.

TO GIVE YOU AN IDEA of the fish which were planted in this lake after last year's close (July 31), we dug up the totals that follow: 411,592 subcatchable rainbow trout (survivors of that group weigh more than a pound each); 183,760 cutthroat trout (planted in 1960 as fingerlings; 66,000 eastern brook fingerlings (1960); 14,500 rainbow fingerlings (1960) and 100,000 Kamloops strain of rainbow trout.

In addition to those fish, the lake naturally has a holdover of fish from year to year. There are natural brown trout in the lake and those continue to propagate from year to year. I wouldn't be surprised to learn there are brown trout longer than a man's leg, but, indeed, it would be a most remarkable thing if somebody caught one.

If you never have fished Crowley and are planning a trip into this region of the Sierra Nevada between now and July 31, by all means make it a point to stop here for a day or more. There are plenty of campgrounds in the surrounding area, plus resorts from the rustic mountain type to the de luxe motels.

Weekend boat reservations are necessary for almost any time between now and Crowley's close, but arrangements may be made by writing to the L. A. Recreation and Park Department, 305 City Hall, Los Angeles 12. Rental rowboats and inboard motorboats are available.

LARGEST DOUBLE IN TANFO HISTORY

SAN BRUNO (AP)—Corolla scored a length and three-quarter victory over the favored Can't Sleep in the $11,000 Hillsborough Handicap Saturday at Tanforan — but the big news was a whopping $2,253.20 daily double.

It was the largest double in the track's history and topped the 1934 mark of $2,171.80.

Sir Gaylord Nabs Derby Prep Easily

AMBIOPOISE WINS

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Sir Gaylord wiped out all doubt about his fitness for the Kentucky Derby as he scored a smashing victory over three other Derby eligibles in the Stepping Stone Purse at Churchill Downs Saturday.

The Future Book favorite for the Derby, Sir Gaylord won by 1¾ lengths over Sir Ribot but was much the best. Green Hornet finished third.

Ridden by Ismael Valenzuela, Sir Gaylord laid in third and fourth places through most of the seven-furlong event and didn't make his move until the turn into the stretch.

Sir Gaylord then worked out the Kentucky Derby distance of a mile and a quarter in 2:02 3/5. His time for the Stepping Stone was 1:22 2/5, two-fifths of a second off the track record.

NEW YORK (AP) — Robert Lehman's Ambiopoise upset the favored Carry Back Saturday at Aqueduct, taking the lead near the eighth pole and winning the $85,800 Grey Lag Handicap by 2½ lengths.

Ridden by Bobby Ussery, the winner carried 115 pounds and paid $33.70, $9.90 and $6.20. Carry Back, toting top weight of 125 pounds and with Manuel Ycaza up, returned $3.40 and $2.80 after starting the even money favorite. Larry Adams rode Beau Prince, who had 115 pounds and was $10.80 to show.

The time on a fast track for 1⅛ miles was 1:49.

HARRY GIER

OSCAR GREGORY
GENERAL MANAGER AND PARTNER of GLENN JONES
CHEVROLET
INVITES YOU TO MEET OUR PARTS & SERVICE TEAM

RALPH GIBBS

Harry was born and raised in Long Beach. He graduated from Long Beach Poly High in 1943. In 1947 he began his career in the automotive field with a local Chevrolet dealer. In 1950 Harry joined the Glenn Jones organization and soon climbed to the head of our Parts Department. In nine years we have experienced a 250% increase in parts sales and today carry nearly $100,000 in parts and accessories.
Harry's wife, Billie Jean, and two charming daughters are pretty proud of his success as our Parts Manager.
In passing we would like to mention that Harry is active in the Paramount Lions and Paramount Elks. He is also a Past President of the Long Beach 20-30 Club. If you haven't already, come in and meet Harry. I'm sure you will appreciate him as we do.

Ralph is a native of that great state of Texas. And, as many Texans do, he moved to California in 1958.
Ralph heads up our growing Service Department and offers 37 years of experience in and about automobile service centers. He spent a number of years as a Factory Service Representative and managed the entire service operation for a chain of dealerships in Texas.
Ralph is a Past President of the Long Beach Motor Car Dealers Parts & Service Managers Club and has written many articles published nationally on automotive service operations.
His wife, Elizabeth, and son, Stephan, who by the way is a flight instructor in Orange County, are as enthusiastic as we are about the fine job Ralph is doing as leader of our most important department. Stop by and say hello, you will be glad you did.

Customer satisfaction is responsible for our continuing growth in our service department. To take care of the added flow of business we are increasing our service hours 60% and adding a new building that will increase our service floor space 35%. Of course, we think such success does not just happen. It is the result of quality service principles as applied by capable personnel with adequate facilities and modern equipment. It comes from the extra benefits and superior service that our personnel and facilities can deliver such as quick appraisal of customer demands, accurate testing, and complete one-stop maintenance.

STARTING MAY 1ST OUR PARTS AND SERVICE DEPTS. WILL BE OPEN DAILY TIL 9 P.M. SAT. TIL 6 P.M. CLOSED SUNDAY

IF YOU ARE SHOPPING FOR A NEW OR USED CAR AND HAVE NOT YET VISITED GLENN JONES CHEVROLET . . . PLEASE DO SO, YOU'LL FIND A RELAXED, BUSINESS-LIKE ATMOSPHERE THAT WE FEEL YOU'LL APPRECIATE, AND YOU'LL SEE WHY GLENN JONES CHEVROLET QUIETLY CONTINUES ITS SALES LEADERSHIP, WITHOUT BALLYHOO OR FRANTIC PROMOTIONS. Angels Stave Off Tigers--

for lefty Don Mossi (2-2), he received his first defeat at the wings of the Seraphs after two triumphs last year.

The Angels rapped Mossi and ex-teammate Ronnie Kline for 10 hits—seven of which were extra base blows—and all their runs over the first six innings and then left the Tigers do the stalking.

The Angels were nearly caught in their own trap.

Bowsfield, overcoming a sore shoulder by hard work on the sidelines and a series of cortisone shots, started on a minor chord, yielding two runs on three hits in the first. After that, he was pretty much in control—walking no one and fanning two.

* * * *

AFTER allowing the two tallies in the first, he yielded another in the fourth on Steve Boros' single and catcher Dick Brown's double and then retired six in a row until Chico Fernandez, a .248 batsman last season, swatted a homer to open the seventh. That narrowed the Tigers' deficit to 7-4 and Rigney decided that Bowsie was just about out of gas—if such a thing is possible in Detroit.

Tom Morgan, with a week's rest, became Hurler No. 2 and Brown rammed his first pitch for homer No. 2. When pinch-hitter Vic Wertz singled, Rigney, looking for another medicine man, brought in Ken McBride who had lasted little more than an inning as Friday evening's starter.

McBride worked Morgan out of the jam, but when he walked two men to open the eighth Jack Spring became hurler No. 3. One out later, a single by Fernandez made it 7-6 and Ryne Ruren became hurler No. 4 as the crowd chanted "we want more."

* * * *

FORTUNATELY, "The Flame" was glowing. Rapid Ryne fanned Brown and Charlie Maxwell to close the eighth and then struck out Al Kaline with the tying run on first in the ninth and whiffed Rocky Colavito after balking that runner to second to end a dramatic duel with the Detroit Adonis and the game.

The Seraphs sent Mossi's ERA spiraling from 0.75 to 2.35 with a long ball attack. Doubles by Eddie Yost and Ed Sadowski, following a single by Bilko, produced two runs in the second, and Leon Wagner's sixth home run following Albie Pearson's triple and Billy Moran's single highlighted a three-run third which sent Mossi to the showers.

Kline was touched for a run in the fourth on a double by Pearson and single by Moran, and another in the sixth on Joe Koppe's first four-bagger.

* * * *

WAGNER'S homer, his fourth in the last five games, put him 15 games ahead of Roger Maris' record 1961 pace and tied him with Norm Cash for the league lead. Pearson, with two doubles and a triple, raised his average 35 points to .271.

Angel Angles: In his report to league president Joe Cronin on Friday's rhubarb with Rigney and Joe Nuxhall, Hurley said he elected Nuxhall for the throwing a ball into the stands after umpire Ed Runge had fined him $50 for throwing at Norm Cash. . . . That is not true. . . . Hurley had tossed Joe out long before the ball was hurled into the stands. . . . That was Nuxhall's last irate gesture before leaving the field. . . . Sadowski's start was his first of the year. . . . Rumors have the Tigers in need of a catcher. . . . Earl Averill was out in the showcase Friday night with his homer and double. Brown pretty well quenched those rumors. . . . The Angels have hit four home runs in the two games here. . . . They hit only four in nine games at Chavez Ravine. . . . Gene Autry and Rocky Bridges were honored at the 21st annual Capuchin Fathers' Baseball Dinner. . . . President Bob Reynolds flew in for the occasion.

DODGERS--

the sixth when one of three Pirate errors produced an unearned run. With two out, John Roseboro singled and scored from first base on Logan's wild throw. It was a two-base error for Logan, although first baseman Dick Stuart was partly responsible for the damage.

* * * *

STUART FAILED even to block Logan's low throw and the ball bounded to the edge of the grass. While Roseboro scored, Daryl Spencer advanced to second and set up the second intentional walk by Francis. Willie Davis accepted the free ticket and Koufax was called out on strikes to end the inning.

Francis and the Pirate strategy were at their best in the third inning, which began with singles by Koufax and Maury Wills. Trying to catch Koufax napping at second base, Francis instead caught shortstop Dick Groat. His pickoff throw hit Groat on the forehead and both runners advanced.

Francis now was confronted by three lefthanded batters in a row with first base open. What to do? He struck out Jim Gilliam and Wally Moon, both on low pitches, then elected to walk Duke Snider. No one could question the strategy after T. Davis fanned.

The winning rally began when Moon beat out a scratch hit off second baseman Bill Mazeroski's glove and advanced as Snider grounded out for the second out. Third base coach Leo Durocher called T. Davis aside to calm him and Tommy responded by grounding the game-winning hit between third and short.

DIS AND DATA—Koufax struck out six to bring his career total to 999 in 969 innings. . . . Francis turned in his first complete game in 14 NL starts. His only win in four decisions against the Dodgers was at Koufax's expense last June 29. . . . Fielding gem of the day was turned in by W. Davis, who gloved Stuart's 390-foot drive with his back to the wall in the sixth inning. . . . Most unusual assist of the year was credited to Koufax, who muffed a roller by Clendenon, but in so doing deflected the ball to Moon at first base. . . . Dodgers left 13 men on base, seven in scoring position. . . . Don Hoak again was sidelined. . . . The Bucs' third baseman had a tooth pulled in the morning.

Templeman in First Trial Spin for Indy '500'

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (UPI) — Practice for the 46th annual 500-mile Memorial Day auto race opened under threatening skies Saturday.

For the second consecutive year, veteran Clark (Shorty) Templeman, Seattle, Wash., was the first driver making a shakedown cruise around the 2½-mile oval under restricted speeds.

Templeman, fourth in last year's race, drove a new red and white four-cylinder roadster.

BOB ROSS

NASCAR Stocks Back at Ascot First Time in '62

Late model NASCAR stock cars make their first appearance of the year at Ascot Park in Gardena today with six of the Pacific Coast's top ten drivers from the Long Beach area. Qualifying starts at 1 p.m.

Any one of a dozen drivers are given an excellent chance of winning the 100-lap main event.

A local contingent of '60 Pontiacs driven by Lakewood's Marvin Porter and Bob Ross along with Clem Proctor of Compton have all been impressive of late.

Electronic Technicians Development Lab

Interstate Electronics located in Orange County needs technicians to assist in prototype and production test work on our custom built electronics systems equipment.

A corporation of approximately 800 people has both prime and subcontracts and offers a diversified volume of work.

Qualified applicants can expect top salary which will equal if not exceed the going rate for Technicians in the greater Los Angeles area.

Technician 'A'

- 3 years minimum experience plus 2 years technical school.
- Must have 1 year's recent digital experience.

U.S. CITIZENSHIP REQUIRED

Interstate's product is a wide variety of digital type range instrumentation. The activity in the lab involves:

- Prototype building
- Product test and evaluation
- Trouble shooting
- Engineering assistance

The company's employee benefits and operating attitude are designed to make IEC a better place to work, with congenial and professional atmosphere.

FAMOUS FRANCHISE GRANT

NOW GUARANTEES SUCCESS
With Refundable Investment

QUALIFY yourself for one of the country's most highly coveted paint franchises. Operate your franchise in conjunction with another business on a departmental basis or establish a new career in retail selling by opening a new retail branch in this area. Immediate profits are a certainty through a unique advertising promotion, featuring a FREE PAINT OFFER

Mary Carter Paint Co., one of the country's fastest growing paint manufacturers, offers these franchises with a sensational sales background. Over 700 retail branches in 36 states are now in operation. Demands for these franchises throughout the country are due largely to exceptional dealer benefits, such as: CASH AND CARRY RETAIL BUSINESS—STOCK TURNOVER IN EXCESS OF 10 TIMES PER YEAR—FREE DELIVERY SERVICE—EXCLUSIVE FRANCHISE GRANT—INVESTMENT REFUNDABLE—ORGANIZED SALES AND SERVICE PROGRAM—SPECIAL ADVERTISING AND MERCHANDISING PROGRAM THAT CREATES IMMEDIATE HEAVY CUSTOMER TRAFFIC—NO FRANCHISE FEE OR ROYALTY ON SALES—COMPLETE TRAINING PROGRAM ON THE SELLING OF MARY CARTER PRODUCTS. These dealer benefits help to guarantee your success and is one of the main reasons why Mary Carter franchises are under constant demand. This can best be illustrated by the fact that the majority of the trade areas throughout the United States have already been franchised. Your refundable investment amounts to $5,000 for inventory and $2,000 for operating capital. In some cases a lesser investment is possible.

This is an opportunity for you to own your own business with a guarantee of success. This may be the most important decision of your lifetime.

Homes for Sale 139

WHY YOU SHOULD LIST YOUR HOME FOR SALE WITH WALKER & LEE, INC.

It is natural for any salesman to think that the company he works for is the best company in its field. If he did not feel that way, he would be working for another company. However, we feel that Walker & Lee offers many advantages to the person interested in selling his home that the average broker cannot offer. Here are some of them:

1. LARGER SALES FORCE: Walker & Lee have 60 trained salesmen in the Lakewood-Los Altos area working exclusively on selling Residential homes.
2. MORE ADVERTISING: Walker & Lee does more advertising in the local and Los Angeles papers than any other Broker in this area. In addition it has developed a system of advertising over the years that brings results — based on past experience. (See our big Ad today in this section.)
3. SECOND TIME CUSTOMERS: During the last 18 years, Walker & Lee have sold over 40,000 homes to people living in the Long Beach and Orange County areas. It is natural for many of these people to see us first when buying another home.
4. REFERRALS FROM OTHER WALKER & LEE SALESMEN: With over 200 salesmen working in the six Long Beach offices and Orange County area, we are constantly getting customers referred to our office by salesmen who have customers who for one reason or another cannot or do not wish to buy a home in the immediate area where that particular salesman is working. The salesman then refers the customer to our office.
5. INDIVIDUAL SALES CONTROL MANUAL: Over the years Walker & Lee has developed a sales system which keeps you completely up to date on the progress being made on your sale of your home. You are kept informed of how many times your home is being shown, what the prospective customers are saying about it, and the price opinions of Walker & Lee and other salesmen in the area.
6. TRADE-INS: We have developed a workable system of trading homes whereby if you are interested in purchasing another home, we can take your home in on trade on the new one of your choice. Even if you are not interested in buying another home, this benefits you in selling your home because it enables us to sell your home to that buyer who has to sell his other home first.
7. FINANCING: Walker & Lee makes available to any buyer the best and latest methods of financing the sale of your home through first and second trust deeds and in some cases actually helping the buyer finance his down payment.
8. OUR SALESMEN: The secret of any selling organization is in its salesmen. Walker & Lee has a staff whose main objective is to find and train outstanding salesmen and keep them up to date in the best and latest methods of finding buyers and placing them in homes in this area.
9. WHAT'S IN A NAME? Because of its 16 Resale offices and over 40 New House and Tract subdivisions that Walker & Lee is currently operating, they are one of the best known names in the real estate field in Southern California. Because of the every day appearance of the Walker & Lee name before the general public, it is only natural for many home buyers to contact their local Walker & Lee office when seeking a home.

Last but not least, it will be our sincere and conscientious effort to give you absolutely the best service obtainable in finding a new buyer for your home and we will greatly appreciate the opportunity of being of service to you.

LAKEWOOD

PAINT A LITTLE—SWIM A LITTLE—You and the family can enjoy redecorating this 3-bedroom home with 15x30 pool. Walking distance to the May Co. with a price of $17,000, think of the money you will save! Call HA 5-1214 or come to 4100 Bellflower Blvd.

POOL HOME—JUST $16,500—This needs sharpening up but where can you match it for price and terms. This "Blue Haven" pool will bring you countless hours of enjoyment. 3 bedrooms too, so everyone can have one of their own. So if you don't mind sweating a little to fix it up you can then swim a lot. Call HA 9-5924—Key at 3010 Woodruff Ave.

MAY WE REMIND YOU:

. . . that, if one of the above homes does not fit your needs, one of the other 450 will. Call the Walker & Lee office nearest you.

WALK TO MAY CO.! JUST LISTED—2 and den or 3-bedroom home. Sink into lush carpets while entranced with the latest in modern decor and good taste. Huge patio slab with plumbing and electric lines all installed ready to be enclosed. Just $14,300 and you'll have first choice by calling HA 1-1211—Key at 5549 Woodruff Ave.

WORLD WAR II VETS—LAST CHANCE before your loan rights run out in July. This 3-bedroom, 2-bath home with rear living room and sliding glass door to covered patio is a top buy. Major shops and schools just a 5-minute walk. Your total payment including taxes with nothing down is less than you could rent it for. Call HA 1-1211 — Key at 5549 Woodruff Ave.

PLAZA AREA

SMART MODERN HOME—AIR CONDITIONED — Big 3-bedroom, 1¾ baths with floor-to-ceiling glass from living room and master bedroom suite overlooking the patio. Birch kitchen with built-ins and forced air heat. A real find at $19,950. Call HA 5-1214 or come to 4100 Bellflower Blvd.

Wife of Tourist Slain in Mexico Learns of Death

SAN DIEGO (UPI) — The blonde wife of a free-spending Canadian tourist learned for the first time Saturday her husband was slain in neighboring Tijuana while she waited in a hotel here for him to return from his "shopping trip."

Pretty Cecille Arnold, 20, who wed Canadian heir Wayne Arnold, Vancouver, B.C., last year, said she heard a radio report Saturday that a "tourist" had been slain in Tijuana. She didn't learn Arnold was stabbed fatally Thursday night until a saleswoman, Mrs. Lucy Lara, and a fellow resident of the hotel where she was staying broke the news Saturday afternoon.

CECILLE ARNOLD

* * * *

MRS. ARNOLD, insisting she had no idea police had been looking for her since Thursday to tell her what had happened, conceded she had begun to worry Friday. "I didn't sleep well the nights he was away and I prayed for him," she said. "I had a feeling last night . . ."

Ramon Flores Figueroa, a Tijuana taxidriver, admitted he killed Arnold but said he did it in self-defense. He claimed Arnold asked him for a "shot of narcotics."

"My husband had nothing to do with narcotics," said Mrs. Arnold, who told newsmen she and her husband were sweethearts from the age of 14. "Wayne was an ideal husband. I loved him and he loved me."

Mrs. Arnold said that on Thursday, her husband took a bus to Tijuana, leaving her $125 for expenses. He took $300 or $400, she said.

The couple departed from Vancouver April 20.

With exception of a shopping trip, Mrs. Arnold said, she spent most of the time in the hotel.

"Mrs. Arnold said she stayed in the hotel, didn't read newspapers, listen to the radio or watch television," said Lt. William Schenck. "We have no reason to doubt her story. She is a young girl in a strange city."

* * * *

ARNOLD TOLD his wife he was going to "buy her a purse and some other things," police said.

Another resident of the hotel recognized Mrs. Arnold and notified authorities who questioned her Saturday afternoon.

Mexico authorities Saturday agreed to release the body after some delay over confirmation of the identity. The British Consulate in Los Angeles had sought for more than a day to obtain the release.

WAYNE ARNOLD

Arnold inherited $100,000 last June and has spent $59,000 since that time, attorney David Chertlow said in Vancouver. Arnold married in July.

Chertlow said he had warned Arnold about his high living, and said "you will wind up dead if you go on like you are, probably knifed in some alley."

Khrushchev Greets Cuban Delegation

MOSCOW (AP) — Premier Khrushchev received Saturday a Cuban delegation which has arrived for May Day celebrations.

Tass said Khrushchev wished Osmany Cienfuegos and Joaquin Ordoqui, members of Cuba's integrated revolutionary organizations, "new successes in their heroic struggle."

Dick Eats With Liz, Then Sybil

ROME (UPI) — Actor Richard Burton went home for dinner with his wife Saturday night after an intimate seaside lunch with Elizabeth Taylor.

It was the latest chapter

Profile Story of Richard Burton Is on B-6

in the game of "Burton, Burton, who's got the Burton."

During Burton's lunch with Miss Taylor at Anzio, his English wife Sybil stayed home with their 4-year-old daughter Kate.

* * * *

TONIGHT, friends of the couple said, Burton and Sybil had a light supper at their villa, "seeking to work things out calmly and quietly." They did not elaborate.

Walter Wenger, producer of the movie Cleopatra in which Burton and Miss Taylor star, joined the Burtons for an "animated" after-dinner discussion, the friends said.

Several hundred yards from Burton's Old Appian Way villa, Miss Taylor was said to be spending a quiet Saturday night at home in the $3,000 a month villa she used to share with her estranged husband, singer Eddie Fisher.

* * * *

PHOTOGRAPHERS and newsmen watched Rome's nightspots for Miss Taylor or Burton, but by midnight neither had appeared.

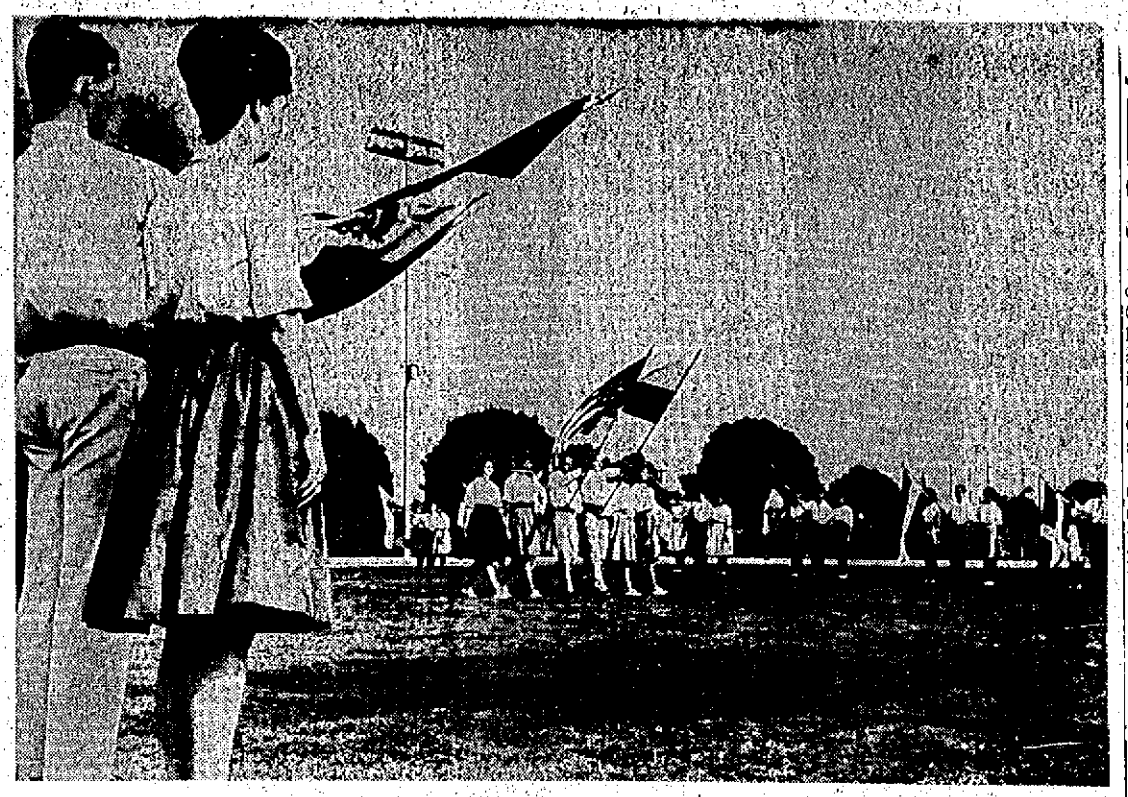

Liz stayed home Friday and nursed her bruised nose and cheek while Burton made an unexpected appearance in public with Sybil who had flown in from London, apparently to look into reports of the Taylor-Burton idyll.

Miss Taylor looked happy and unworried at the intimate seaside lunch at a restaurant near the $2 million movie set where she and Burton lunched earlier this week. They chatted with great animation while three of her children by former husbands lunched on the set itself.

Burbank Man Tops Navy Law Students

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — The Naval Academy announced Saturday Midshipman William C. Miller of Burbank, Calif., will receive the American Bar Association award as the senior who stands highest for the course in military law.

Miller, a graduate of Bellarmine-Jefferson High School in Burbank in 1958, has been named to the superintendent's list for honor students all four years and will be commissioned an ensign in the Navy at June graduation exercises.

PANAMA, U.S. FLAGS GO BY IN PAN AMERICAN CEREMONY IN LAKEWOOD SATURDAY

Savant Says Body Repairs Ray Damage

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — A government scientist disagreed Saturday with the belief that harmful effects from radiation accumulate in the human body over the years.

William L. Russell, principal geneticist at the biology division of the Oak Ridge National Laboratory, said latest experiments with mice indicate the body can repair radiation damage naturally if the initial exposure was not too great.

Russell told the closing session of the American Philosophical Society meeting that the experiments showed "for the reproductive cell stages most involved in hazards, a given dose of radiation spread over hours or weeks produces fewer mutations than does the same dose delivered in a few minutes.

"This upset a long-held tenent of radiation genetics. It indicates that at low radiation dose rates, some natural repair can take place, presumably before the initial radiation damage in the cell is converted into a completed mutation."

Russell said the studies also showed female mice were more sensitive to immediate and acute doses of radiation than males, but the males appeared to be more sensitive to prolonged exposure.

Lake Trestle Burns

PROMONTORY POINT, Utah (UPI)—A pre-dawn fire destroyed a portion of the historic Southern Pacific trestle that spans the Great Salt Lake Saturday, but the blaze was reported under control.

Parade to Climax Lakewood Fete

A steady stream of high-stepping majorettes, marching bands, precision drill teams and prancing horses will strut along two miles of streets in Lakewood's big Pan American Parade, starting at 2:30 p.m. today.

The 1½-hour-long parade, concluding event of the Lakewood's week-long Latin festival, will present 122 units in five divisions. A delayed TV showing of the parade is scheduled from 5 to 6:30 p.m. on Channel 11.

Grand marshal will be DeLesseps S. Morrison, United States ambassador to the Organization of American States. Consular representatives of the Latin American republics will ride in convertibles.

The parade line of march will start down Bellflower Boulevard from South Street to Del Amo Boulevard, turn west on Del Amo to Faculty Avenue, and then north into the Lakewood Center disbanding area.

Rear Adm. W. H. Baumberger, USN, commander of Cruiser - Destroyer Flotilla Three, will review the parade units from judging stands on Bellflower at Hardwick Street.

Truman Blasts Capehart at Indiana Demo Dinner

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (UPI)—Former President Harry Truman got the November senatorial campaign in Indiana off to an early start Saturday with a bare-knuckle assault on Republican Senator Homer Capehart.

Capehart hasn't been renominated yet, although he is certain of the nomination in June and the Hoosier Democrats are currently battling over their nominee.

At the Indiana Jefferson-Jackson dinner here Truman called Capehart "the Republican opportunist in whose hands the happy and honorable art of politics has become a dismal science.

"He is cunning and he is clever, but I challenge you to name for me one single measure bearing his name that offers any comfort and hope for working people or their families, for the aged, the underprivileged or the unemployed."

N. Y. Law Demands Seat Belts for 1965

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — All new automobiles registered in New York State beginning with the 1965 model year must have two sets of seat belts in the front seat.

Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, announcing he had signed a bill requiring the installations, said the new requirement would "provide a large segment of our motoring public with this life-saving device."

TV Actor's New Motel Hit by Raid

NEOSHO, Mo. (UPI) — Three persons were charged with gambling Saturday after a fight at a motel owned by movie and television star Bob Cummings in nearby Joplin, Mo.

Sheriff Tommy Harbit said two persons also were charged with illicit cohabitation. Cummings and his wife, at Joplin for grand opening ceremonies of the motel, were not involved in the fight which broke out Friday night.

John Rice, prosecuting attorney for Newton County, said several other persons were involved in the gambling and fighting, but got away before officers could apprehend them.

Charged with illicit cohabitation and gambling were Kenneth Faey and Wilma Cunningham, who said they lived both at Wichita Falls, Tex., and Muskogee, Okla.

Charged with gambling was John Blair, Camdenton, Mo.

Magistrate Ray England set bond at $1,000 for Faey and Miss Cunningham and $500 for Blair. A hearing was set for May 8.

The Bob Cummings Motor Hotel, located in the Newton County portion of Joplin in southwest Missouri, opened for business two weeks ago. Official grand opening is this weekend.

Jobs-Boost Plan Offered Sea Unions

Two ship-operating subsidiaries of Bethlehem Steel Corp. said Saturday they have offered maritime unions a program aimed at replacing foreign seamen with American seamen on American-controlled foreign-flag ships.

The two concerns are Calmar Steamship Corp., a domestic intercoastal carrier which has facilities at Berth 25, Pier C, Port of Long Beach, and Ore Navigation Corp., which operates from the East in the offshore trade.

Calmar is manned by American crews.

Ore Navigation has foreign-flag vessels under its control and employs foreign seamen.

* * * *

THE PROPOSAL calls for union agreement on acceptance of technological advancements Bethlehem Shipbuilding Division says can make it possible to operate ships with crews 50 to 60 per cent of the size of the "normal complement" of vessels of similar tonnage and service.

A Bethlehem spokesman said the talks with unions involved have been going on for several years now and that there was "hope that agreements will be signed in the near future."

The plan calls for participating shipping companies to make available to American seamen, at American wages and conditions, two jobs or foreign-flag ships under their control for every job which technological improvements make unnecessary in the manning of their American-flag ships.

ORE NAVIGATION soon expects to be operating two 51,000 deadweight-ton ore carriers now building in German shipyards.

Robert J. Jurgen, president of Ore and Calmar, said it is now technically feasible to operate a large bulk carrier with a total crew of 26 to 32 men. With such a manning scale, the normal spread in wage costs between American and foreign seamen is greatly reduced. In fact, a 50,000-ton bulk carrier with 26 to 32 American seamen can efficiently compete with a time-chartered vessel of similar size manned by a normal foreign complement of 50 men."

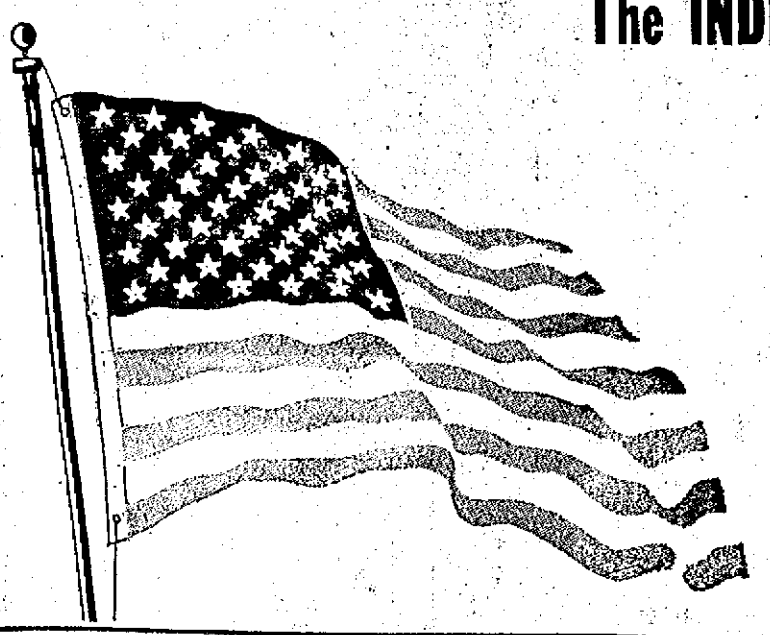

Under the program, Jurgen said, American seamen would gain jobs.

Unions with whom discussions have been held are the Seafarers International Union of North America, National Marine Engineers, Masters Mates and Pilots and Radio Officers Union.

Convention Utopia!

By BETTY WENTWORTH

We're off to convention! Wining and dining, reunions, touring the countryside, hotel room caucuses, elegant banquests, sports events, the whole punctuated with gavel rapping—visions of all these dance through delegates' heads as they pack for the big get-together.

Their destination could well be Long Beach, dubbed the "Convention City" for good reason. Last year there were 150 conclaves here ranging from little clambakes of 50 to huge regional and national affairs drawing eight to 10 thousand.

Behind all the fun and games and speeches, a vast and complicated piece of machinery is in action. Housing, entertainment, trips, facilities for meetings, all have to be planned. And at the Long Beach Convention Bureau, headed by Howard Jones, they know all the gambits for making visitors comfortable, happy and free from major problems.

* * * *

MAYBE THIS IS why they have two conventions going simultaneously, as is the case next weekend when annual statewide meeting of Pilot Club (about 500 expected) and District 11 semi-annual conference of Altrusa (about 300 attending) will find members converging here the same weekend at the Lafayette Hotel.

These clubs have a great deal in common. Both are international classified service organizations for executive business and professional women. Altrusa has 16,500 members in 500 cities; Pilot has 13,000 members in 430 clubs, and both are found dotted here and there in cities all over the world.

Altrusa's main local philanthropy is the Community Rehabilitation Center on E. Anaheim Street, and Pilot's service projects include many service hours to Veterans Hospital as well as furnishing a wing of Long Beach General Hospital.

WITH SEMINARS and elections behind them, where do our delegates hie themselves? They have a bewildering choice, so it's each to his own taste. For those from inland there's a real live ocean close at hand. Touring the harbor on "Princess" or "Shearwater" sniffing the crisp salt air, passing battleships and great freighters, is always a thrill.

Gourmets may try seafood spots and restaurants with marine views. You just can't find 'em in Arizona. Or they may go farther afield to Beverly Hills and Hollywood famed dining spots and nightclubs where they'll maybe spot a movie star or two.

They can find wares from all over the world at the Farmers Market and, for atmosphere, there's old world Olvera Street. They can see the marvels at Marineland, and of course there are the meccas for practically everyone, Disneyland, the gay and

Set for Light-Hearted Luau

Vivid print sarongs and muu muus will abound at the Elks Club on Saturday when Ebell Juniors, their husbands and guests, assemble for a light-hearted luau serving as a finale for a busy club year.

Delicate orchid trees and bowls heaped with colorful fruits will center tables for a Hawaiian buffet to be served at 8:30 p.m. Gene Walsh and his orchestra will play for dancing from 9:30 p.m. to 1:30 a.m.

Numerous pre-luau affairs have been planned. Among those bidding guests to their homes are Dr. and Mrs. John Sewak, Messrs. and Mmes. Keith Card, Ken Ragland, Robert Lindsay, William Anderson, Jim Shirley, Ray Green, Alan Kenady and John Turley.

* * * *

Still wondering what the Juniors are sampling in picture? A prospective luau sent them scurrying to cook-books and they unearthed several goodies (some from a member in Hawaii—others from those who've visited the Islands). Herewith are two.

HAUPIA

(Cocoanut Pudding)
3 cocoanuts (save milk)
1 cup sugar
Cornstarch

Grate cocoanut and pour 1 qt. water over it. Let stand for short time and squeeze liquid through a strainer. Measure and let boil. Add sugar. For each cup liquid add 1 tbsp. cornstarch which is first mixed with cocoanut milk and then added to boiling liquid. Pour into pan and cool. Refrigerate and cut in squares for serving.

LOMI SALMON

1 lb. salt salmon
5 large ripe tomatoes
1 large onion (or finely chopped green onion)

Skin salmon, cut into pieces and soak. Change water repeatedly until not too salty. Shred in pieces and put in bowl with cubed tomatoes and sliced onions. Squeeze all ingredients through fingers until in small pieces. Serve ice cold.

By MARY NETH

A vital grey-haired lady in pink flowered hat invaded the all male domain of Exchange Club this week—to walk off with one of the city's most coveted awards.

Mattie M. Paine, who retired from 42 years of teaching 14 years ago (and has been busy ever since), was named Citizen of the Year by the club at a luncheon in Lafayette Hotel.

It was the first time in the history of the Long Beach service group, comprised of top civic leaders and business and professional men, that a woman has been so honored.

But, though Miss Paine was a feminine newcomer to the club's 10-year-old award roll, she wasn't a stranger to many of its members.

She numbers several of them among "her boys." They are men she taught during her years from 1906 to 1948 as a member of the local school system.

* * * *

HARRY FULTON, as chairman of the awards committee, introduced Miss Paine and the luncheon speakers, her former students and fellow workers.

They included Mrs. Ruth Craig Merrill Rawn, a member of Miss Paine's Poly High class of 1911; County Supervisor Burton W. Chace, who belonged to her Adelphic Club at First Congregational Church; Russell R. Johnson, former dean, Long Beach City College; Margaret Kracke, League of Women Voters, of which Miss Paine is an active member, and Mary Bell, who represented Retired Teachers.

All agree that throughout her years as teacher, high school and college dean of women and civic leader, Miss Paine has been a vivacious woman who accomplishes what she sets out to do—and doesn't compromise along the way.

* * * *

SAID DEAN Johnson, "Back in 1927, City College was a young institution, suffering growing pains and struggling to find its way. Then, as dean of girls, Miss Paine was the college's conscience—and as such, like any conscience, was at times difficult to reckon with.

"Where the welfare of the students was at stake, there were no half-way solutions for her. She wouldn't let things slip by—she kept at us until a problem was solved."

Supervisor Chase first met Miss Paine when he came to Long Beach as a young bachelor. "I joined the Adelphic Club in 1923," he said. "It was a dynamic service group and Miss Paine, as its leader, really knew how to keep us boys working for high goals."

EXCHANGE CLUB'S 1962 "Citizen of the Year," Miss Mattie M. Paine, was greeted by friend of long standing, Supervisor Burton W. Chace, at award luncheon Wednesday. Her work as teacher, administrator, club and church woman (from 1906 to today) was honored. She is first woman to receive award presented annually since 1953.

Mrs. Kracke, who represented the League of Women Voters, added to the accolades by saying that Miss Paine is one of any club's rare finds: A member who continues to put out the work year after year.

Miss Paine herself had the final say.

Displaying a lively sense of humor, she glanced over the Exchange Club membership and remarked, "I always wondered what would become of those boys I taught."

"Sometimes I wasn't too sure, I used to have to scold them more than the girls—really lash out at them. But, perhaps they didn't turn out too badly after all."

ALTHOUGH delegates will be criss-crossing paths over the weekend, they share the same objectives, and probably the Altrusans on the golf course will be saying "Too bad the Pilots aren't here," and the Pilots out on their harbor jaunt will no doubt be wishing the Altrusans could have come along.

Convention Schedules

Pilot Club's plans are as follows: Friday, champagne reception for head state officer, Governor Lucy Grimmesey, Sacramento, with floor show by husbands (co-Pilots). Saturday, morning business session; luncheon with Ivy Priest Stevens, former U.S. treasurer, as speaker; afternoon harbor tour; installation of Arlene Saltz, Los Angeles, as new governor at evening banquet. Sunday, workshops luncheon featuring Mrs. Ruth Cunningham, San Gabriel, first vice president of Pilot International, as speaker.

Altrusa's schedule for hostessing 53 clubs from California, Arizona, Nevada, Mexico and Hawaii is as follows: Friday luncheon with welcome by Mayor Edwin Wade; Seminars presided over by Mrs. Margaret F. Albert of Tucson, Ariz., district governor; luau and dinner with speaker, Mrs. Lucile S. Alexander of Jacksonville, Fla., first vice president, Altrusa International. Saturday, banquet with Marsha Hunt, Beverly Hills, speaker on refugee problems. Tours of harbor and city and golf tournament are on agenda. Sunday morning memorial service.

Speaks on Making Ends Meet

Money—and how to hang on to it— will be the topic of a lecture Monday at Long Beach State College.

Dr. Irving Pfeffer, associate professor of insurance at UCLA, will speak on "Putting Your Financial House in Order" in Lecture Hall 150.

With the assistance of six students, Dr. Pfeffer will show models for family financial planning at six income levels. He also will discuss wills, social security, family protection, whether to rent or buy a home, mortgage insurance, educational funds, investments and retirement plans.

THE LECTURE, which is free to students and the public, is sponsored by the LBSC department of home economics and family living in cooperation with the Industrial Arts Club.

SIGNAL AWS HONOR GOES TO STATE COED

Valerie Holwerda achieved a signal honor for herself and for Long Beach State College last week when she was elected vice president of Intercollegiate Associated Women Students, Region I.

Her selection came at the IAWS regional convention on the California campus at Berkeley. She was one of six LBSC delegates to the confab which drew representatives from 60 schools.

As one of four regional vice presidents serving under the national president, Valerie will be the coordinator of IAWS affairs for colleges and universities in 13 Western States.

Valerie is a social studies major, a member of Delta Zeta, is currently secretary of the campus AWS group, and lives in Rossmoor.

She is the first LBSC coed to be elected to such a high AWS post and, if our information is correct, is also the first member of a California state college delegation to be thus honored.

Congratulations, Valerie Holwerda.

Contract in Diamonds

Playing at five diamonds North will draw trumps and eventually take two club finesses. The second will work and he will make his contract.

The chances are, however, that every intercollegiate pair landed at the simple contract of three no-trump on the bidding shown in the box.

Three no-trump is not as easy a contract as five diamonds. West opens the king of spades. South should duck and win the spade continuation.

Next, he should lay down the queen of diamonds, then lead a diamond to dummy's king. At this point things will have taken a nasty turn for the worse. If he leads another diamond, his own eight spot will block the vital fifth diamond trick.

* * * *

HOW CAN he make that fifth diamond? He has to find a parking spot for one of his two diamonds and the parking spot must be on a spade. He leads a spade from dummy and discards one of his diamonds. West takes the rest of his spades, but now South has his nine tricks.

Of course, if West had started with six spades South would have been set, but in that case he could not have made his contract anyway.

Foundation Has Meet Delegate

Mrs. Millard Nicholas, president of Long Beach Exceptional Children's Foundation, will be that group's delegate to the 12th annual convention of the California Council for Retarded Children next weekend in San Bernardino.

Registration opens Friday at California Hotel for the "Western Round-up of Tomorrow's Plans" themed convention. Session workshops are planned on summer camping, state hospitals, public relations and an all-teacher panel on education.

A high light will be Sunday's breakfast meeting when Dr. Richard Koch, CCRC research chairman, heads a panel on the "Diagnosis and Treatment of Mongolism."

WILD WAVES SAY . . .

By Iola Masterson • I, P-T Women's Editor

IT WAS fiesta festive and ole-ok Saturday aboard the Mexican cruise ship Acapulco as she set sail for her home port Acapulco.

Mary Jane and Chuck Walker, Phyllis and Harold DeLance and Shirley and Howard Jones were all given a bueno viaje send-off by countless friends. Countless because in the milling throng of passengers and guests who tried to keep track?

For the Walkers the trip celebrates their 25th wedding anniversary. They had a you-all come see us off party in the ship's Continental Room for 100.

The DeLances are noting a 20th anniversary — (the actual date is May 3rd, the day they arrive in the resort city).

As for Shirley and Howard, well they're just keeping up with the Joneses.

* * * *

THERE'S nothing like a good old annual meeting to bring out the good new hats. And when Assistance League had its lunch and report session Monday at Lafayette the room was a sea of flowers, leaves, ribbon, straw, and silk chapeaux. Oh, it was bloomin'!

Lorraine Fulton was glamor-pretty in a hot pink picture hat. Ruth Dougherty can throw her elegant marigold yellow hat in my door anytime she's "threw" with it. Louise Voigt donned a sensational flower-red bonnet for the day.

Doris Wood wore a crisp, fresh and fetching green and white topper while Margaret Rockwell's all white pillbox was chic and uncluttered. Other milliners of merit were those who hatted Dixie Millie (beige, with flower petal crown) and Dorothy Dunlap (a sophisticated green with orange band hat).

Although hatless, Ina Harris did some spotlight stealing with the best tan, to date, of the season. She built it on a spring vacation visit to Palm Springs with husband, Willie.

NEED FOR sudden surgery socked Gale Evans into Harriman Jones week ago Friday; sacked her plans for Easter Sunday festivities. She's probably home by today, though, and all's well that ends well. Husband "Cec," his daughters assured him, was a very fine foster bunny in mother's absence.

* * * *

PROJECT: Find Time. It took scientific calculation for those two race horse entrepreneurs and club women, Gladys Hayden and Patty Twining, to arrange a convenient week to travel to Hawaii with husbands, Jack (Hayden) and Ned (Twining).

The gals wouldn't go before St. Mary's "Day at the Races" Wednesday. Oh, heavens, no! After all, what would "Peteo" (their very own quarter horse) think of them, even although he wasn't personally involved in "Day." Then, naturally, they will need to be in town May 7 for Nightingales installation. President Gladys must be present to give back the gavel. Later in May? Well, shucks, that's when "Peteo" will make his debut at Tanforan.

So they left Thursday, will return May 6.

LAST Sunday Eddie Frank flew up to Seattle where he was to be a big chief in the meeting of the American Institute of Interior Designers. He was one of two main speakers Tuesday. The other was the prime minister of Denmark. Well, hoo hee!

Incidentally, Eddie's new house, currently being built on a canal front in Naples, has been selected as a case study house for Arts and Architecture Magazine. I don't know what it all means but it impresses me no end.

THE ROARING 20's roared again last Saturday at Petroleum Club. Particularly for those members who knew them well.

Preceding the costume party dinner dance Margaret and Bob Irwin hosted cocktails in their home. Margaret, as well as Avis Dudley and La Vern Huey discovered they were all wearing dresses they had purchased abroad during the fringe and flapper era. Marian Ten Eyck wore a dress saved from her trousseau. Which is a credit to their slender, slender ways.

The men broke out in a rash of bright jackets and wildly banded sailor hats. My informant was strangely silent on whether or not the boys had managed to get into THEIR original stuff, though. How's the old waistline, fellas?

"MOST ELEGANT yet" was consensus of opinion of localites who regularly count the Cardinal's Ball at the Beverly Hilton as a social highlight of the spring season. Marilyn and Doug Graham (Marilyn has been a patroness for the five years of the affairs existence) had at their table Monday Elinor and Joe Ball, Helen and Dr. Bob Heebner and the Graham's daughter and son-in-law, Mardel and Tom O'Brien.

Preceding the ball the Balls entertained at cocktails in their suite at the hotel. And for a very special reason. It happened to be their 31st wedding anniversary.

DECIDING to have a just-for-fun cocktail party, Betty and "Bix" Bixby gathered about 50 friends together Thursday, giving everyone a chance to catch up on conversation before summer vacations start scattering them all over the globe.

Then the next night, with Tina and John Biby, Betty and "Bix" were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Douglas at their Mandeville Canyon home with others of the men (and their wives) who served as crew on the Goodwill during the 1959 Honolulu race. Piece de resistance of the night was to be viewing the complete color movies of the trip, narrated by Preston Foster. Parts of it have been on TV but they had never seen the whole kit and kaboodle before.

Scouts at the Ready

Senior Girl Scouts from 33 Mariner troops will gather Friday at Marine Stadium for the annual Mariner Gam, yearly troop camping event which enables Senior Girl Scouts to demonstrate proficiency in particular skills.

The three-day meet also affords an opportunity for representatives from neighboring councils to participate in an out-of-door living situation. Gathering will be girls from councils including Long Beach, Santiago, Newport, Whittier, Aliso Grande and Green Willows.

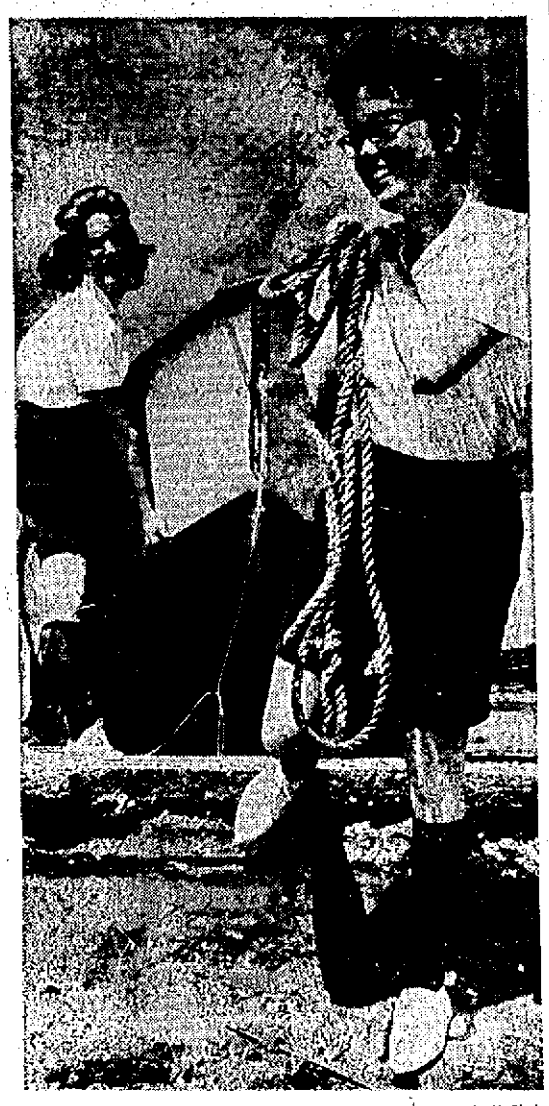

Long Beach Trailblazer troops have been invited as guests.

The event is entirely girl-planned. Senior Scouts have been meeting in committees regularly for five months during which time details of the outing have been developed.

* * * *

THE GAM will be open to the public Saturday from 9:15 a.m. until noon. Skills scheduled for that period include rowing, canoeing, paddleboard races and form events. Visitors also will have an opportunity to tour the camp sites. Other events which the girls will participate in include a Scout's Own, land skills, knots, charting, first aid and swimming events.

Members of the Gam steering committee include Myna Hastings, chairman, and Carol Duhon, Karen Whipple, Phyllis Supencheck, Barbara Mulvey, Sherry Stark, Joan Hammond, Suzie Tisdale, Diane Carner, Diana Horn, Gail Muneo and Susan Williams. Mrs. Fred Wagner is adult advisor of the committee.

SEAWORTHY SHIPS manned by seeworthy sailors will be order of things next weekend when Senior Girl Scouts from 33 area troops converge on Marine Stadium for annual Mariner Gam. Getting rowboat from land to water for event is concern of Mary Hancock (left), Dianna Horn.

Ralph Clock Troth Told

Dorothy Gershenson

Announcement has been made by Mr. and Mrs. Harry Gershenson, University City, Mo., of the engagement of their daughter, Dorothy, to Ralph Clock, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Harriman Clock, Long Beach.

The prospective bridegroom is grandson of Mrs. Ralph H. Clock, Long Beach, and the late Judge Clock, and Portia Terry of Sierra Madre and the late Dr. Roy A. Terry.

THE BRIDE-ELECT received her B.A. last June from the University of Colorado, Boulder, where she was secretary of Pi Beta Phi sorority. She did graduate work at Washington University, St. Louis, last fall and currently is teaching in the Kirkwood, Mo., school system.

Mr. Clock, who was on the water polo and swim teams at Poly High, was graduated from the University of Colorado School of Engineering, where he was president of Phi Gamma Delta, an officer of Chi Epsilon, civil engineering honorary fraternity, vice president of Interfraternity Council and a member of Blue Key and American Society of Civil Engineers.

A late July wedding is planned.

Katherine Taylor to Head Tri-Sigma Alumnae Unit

Katherine Taylor will succeed Mrs. Robert S. Cavin as president of Sigma Sigma Sigma alumnae during an 8 p.m. meeting Monday in the latter's home, 1017 Marcellus St.

Miss Taylor, a teacher at Sutter Elementary School, was graduated from University of Wisconsin where she was a member of Beta Lambda Chapter.

Tea to Celebrate Founding

PAUSING IN FOYER of beautiful new home of Mrs. Thomas Shaheen (right) are provisionals in Children's Memorial Hospital Auxiliary (from left) Mmes. Bert Bond, John Roggeveen and Ernest Lockwood, who will attend tea in Shaheen home on Monday. Day also will honor members of auxiliary guilds and presidents of other organizations who further guild work of supplying medication and hospitalization for needy youth.

Hospital Group Greets Neophytes

The spacious new home of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Shaheen, 4681 Virginia Road, will be setting Monday afternoon for the annual Founders Day tea of Auxiliary to Children's Memorial Hospital, the group's only non-fund raising party of the year.

More than 250 guests, including new provisionals, Nightingales and members of Fiorella and Northern Lights Guilds, and presidents of Emblem Club 106, Spinsters and Bachelorettes, are expected.

GREETING guests and introducing new members in the receiving line will be Mrs. Harrison Moore, president; Mrs. John Kelly, president-elect; and Mmes. Ralph Eusden and Harry Witz, founders.

Provisionals being welcomed into membership are Mmes. Robert Kibler, Ernest Lockwood, John Roggeveen, Leonard Albrecht, John Lower, Vincent Bailey, John Williams, Bert Bond, Donald Baker, Oscar Contratto Sr., and Walter Wolf.

Hostessing duties will be assumed by Mmes. Joseph Kellogg, Dwight Sigworth, Charles Sander, Howard Dumm, Verne Holmes, Spyros Douglas, Leo McCreary, Frederick Jensen, Robert Dilday and Robert Whiteman.

THE AUXILIARY was founded in 1946 for the purpose of supplying medication and hospitalization for needy children. It contributes a minimum of $1,500 monthly to this cause, and will, in May, make its final payment on the original pledge of $56,000 for the Children's Wing of Memorial Hospital.

LOOKING UP AND AHEAD to their duties as provisionals in Children's Memorial Hospital Auxiliary are these five civic-minded Long Beach women (from left) Mmes. Leonard Albrecht, Oscar Contratto, Vincent Bailey, John W. Lower and Donald J. Baker. Quintet will be among special guests at auxiliary's annual Founders' Day Tea Monday afternoon.

Ellen Schumacher Is Bride of D. F. Baker

Ellen Schumacher, well-known director of volunteers for Memorial Hospital, became the bride of Dan Franklin Baker during a recent candlelight ceremony in the sanctuary of First Baptist Church.

Mrs. Dan Franklin Baker

She wore a street-length gown of pale pink chiffon over taffeta with matching net crown hat and a single strand of pearls, a gift from the groom. She carried a white orchid surrounded with pink camellias.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother, P. W. Schumacher.

Mrs. William Meents attended her sister as matron of honor. Completing the wedding party were Don McArt, best man, Dr. Richard W. Nixon, Dr. Leo Goodman-Malamuth, Dr. John W. Wills and Tom R. Gilliam, who seated the 400 guests.

Floral Fountain

Copper and enamel fountain by Dextra and Charles Frankel is one of exciting works at California Designers' show currently at Pasadena Art Museum. Water plays from blown glass flower stamens.

California Designers' Show Huge Success

By VIRGINIA LADDEY

Refinement and richness mark the hundreds of objects in "California Designers 8" which continues at the Pasadena Art Museum until May 6. If you have a home, patio, apartment, or terrace, or ever will, you'll be inspired by this show which, according to the N. Y. Times "firmly establishes the Golden State's leadership in design influences."

Furniture, fabrics, pots, patios, toys, tapestries, trucks, and tools only begin the list of items exhibited. Some are commercially produced, others are artist crafted, all are creative. Many, such as garden furnishings in cast concrete, are inventions that could only follow mastery of the technical aspects of today's materials.

* * * *

THREE WORKS particularly captivated us. "Working with Water" by Dextra and Charles Frankel is a large rectangular fountain filled with floral forms like a burgeoning garden. Each of these provides an avenue for playing water. Except for several stamens of blown glass, the whole is of copper in various shades of verdigris. How appropriate it would be if this could be viewed by a wealthy philanthropist who wished to donate something fabulous for the grounds of the Long Beach Museum of Art!

June Ray Laury's hanging panels are ingenious departures from an ancient and humble art. Of fine cotton in harmonizing shades, they are hand-appliqued and embroidered. One of these, a five-panel room divider, illustrates the parable of the Wise and Foolish Virgins. The wise are in shades of beige and apricot, each with her lamp held high. The reverse side, in blues and purples, are the sad ones. Wit, beauty, and exquisite sewing characterize these.

* * * *

MALCOLM Leland is the designer of a cast concrete screen wall. The blocks curve in and out in baroque pattern making not just a functional and decorative wall, but handsome sculpture which captures a marvelous play of light and shadow.

The LBSC Art Faculty is well-represented by Ken Glenn, Robert W. Ramsay, Tom Ferreira, Mary Jane Leland and Robert Trout. The work of California designers is not just "decorative accessories," rather it creates environments for richer living. Designer-crafts are moving away from both adamant Puritanism and stark simplicity toward exciting finesse.

Show Films at Libraries

"Romeo and Juliet," a magnificent 16mm color picture of Shakespeare's classic, will be shown at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday at Ruth Bach Branch Library, 4055 Bellflower Blvd. and Thursday at Dana Branch, 3680 Atlantic Ave. The public is invited.

Miss Alice Appell, assistant librarian in charge of branches, will introduce the programs.

Filmed in Italy, the picture takes full advantage of the Italian countryside. Castles, marketplaces, costumes and monasteries are depicted and sensitive performances are given by the cast which includes Lawrence Harvey, Susan Shentall, Flora Robson, Mervyn Johns, Bill Travers, Enzo Fiermonte, and Norman Wooland.

Jazz at Shrine

Modern Jazz Quartet will appear at the Shrine Auditorium next Saturday sharing billing with Julian "Cannonball" Adderly, his quintet, and Ernestine Anderson, young jazz singer.

In Concert

Two young artists from Long Beach will perform in the final season concert of Redlands University Community Symphony on Wednesday at 8:15 p.m. in the university chapel.

Joyce Franklin will play the violin and Keith Thompson, bass singer, appears with the concert choir. Brahms' "German Requiem" and Bach's Suite No. 3 will be played.

'Reynard' Will Head Trio of New Plays

A trio of plays will open May 6 at the Off-Broadway Theater, 211 Lime Ave., and run four successive Sunday nights at 8 p.m.

The first, "Reynard," is based on medieval animal legends and was written by Bernard Wilets. It introduces Reynard, the fox, as a sort of picaresque hero who outwits and overcomes the various more conventional animals.

Medieval humor tends to be broad and earthy and Wilets has tried to preserve this feeling. Also, in a highly religious age, it tended to be sacrilegious in a good-natured sort-of ways.

* * * *

THE LEGEND of Reynard has been widely used as subject matter, as for example in a Stravinsky one-act opera and by Goethe in a novel.

Jon Terry will play Reynard; and filling other roles are Bob Hanrahan, Richard Moore, Dave Kettles, Marge Norton, Loren Means and Vern Thomas.

Playwright Wilets is the composer of two operas as well as other music. He was librettist and stage director for "The Zodiac" composed by Arnold Freed which was presented at Millikan High School under auspices of the Ford Foundation, as well as "Aurelius," a one-act play also performed at the Off-Broadway.

* * * *

SECOND PLAY will be "Minus Three" by Walter Crockett written orginially as an avant garde television fantasy about a circus animal caretaker and his charges.

Third play is "Any Time You're Ready, Mr. Freed" by Dixie Rinehart, a farce having to do with a typical Little Theater director and his actors.

BERNARD WILETS

Symphony to Play

One of the most important concerts in its history will be played by the city's own orchestra, the Long Beach Symphony, next Sunday at 8:30 p.m. in the Municipal Auditorium.

This will be the final event of the second annual Long Beach Music Festival and will be a concert of American music. Over 200 musicians will perform, including the 90-piece orchestra and the 120-voice Schola Cantorum of Long Beach City College.

Lauris Jones, conductor, will direct a program of brilliant American music of interest to every American who is proud of his country's developing leadership in this international world of the arts.

* * * *

WELL-KNOWN local actor Marvin Cloyd will be narrator for "Lincoln Portrait," a stirring orchestral vignette of the great president, composed by the dean of American composers, Aaron Copland.

The family lineage of our vast nation will be shown through the varied rhythms of "Dance Overture" by Paul Creston with its colorful square dance, Spanish and other regional tempos.

John Browning, one of the finest American-born pianists, will perform Concerto No. 2 in D Minor by Edward MacDowell. This well-loved work will display the fine technique of the artist who has won such major honors as the Leventritt Award, top-ranking American competition previously won by Van Cliburn.

* * * *

THE CHORUS, directed by Wayne Gard, will perform Stravinsky's "Symphony of Psalms" honoring the 80th birthday of the most famous of living contemporary composers. Two pianos will be featured also.

Triumphant climax will be Howard Hanson's "Song of Democracy," with its challenging choral finale, "Sail thy best, ship of Democracy."

Tickets for this impressive concert may be obtained at Humphrey's Music Store or the Long Beach Symphony Association, 5336 Applan Way. Special rates are available for groups.

Play at UCLA

Beginning a four-week run at UCLA on Thursday will be "The Child-Buyer" adapted by Paul Shyre from John Hersey's latest novel. The play is directed by Shyre, here from New York, and will be taken by him on a national tour following the UCLA showings.

It will be performed in Humanities Building on campus and play nightly to June 3, with no performance on May 14.

Major & Minor Notes

L. B. MUSIC FESTIVAL IS CULTURAL STRIDE

By RACHEL MORTON
L. P-T Music Critic

With "the flowers that bloom in the spring, tra la" (The Mikado) come a rash of spring music festivals. Both the flowers and the festivals are equally welcome and both bring beauty and new inspiration.

Ojai Festival opens in Ojai Valley on May 18 and continues through the 20th. The Aspen, Colorado, Music Festival has an eight week season beginning July 6, and Carmel Bach Festival will celebrate its 25th anniversary from July 20 through the 29th.

Our own Long Beach Music Festival is well under way and this coming week will find us in full swing of interesting musical events. This afternoon at 3 p.m. in the Elks Club, Charles Payne will conduct the Long Beach Band in a program of contemporary music.

Tuesday night at 8:15 in First Congregational Church an organ recital will be given by Richard Purvic of Grace Cathedral, San Francisco.

* * * *

IN THE Little Theatre of Long Beach State College on Wednesday night at 8:15 a concert of the compositions of Knut Nystedt of Norway promises to be interesting with outstanding musicians performing.

A highlight of the Festival will be the concert by the celebrated soprano, Eileen Farrell, in the Municipal Auditorium, Thursday night at 8:15; admission only to Community Concert ticket holders.

At the Museum of Art on Friday at 8 p.m. a concert by Mu Phi Epsilon Sorority will feature Iris Eshelman, contralto; Laura Griffing, violin; Harriet Payne, viola; and Katherine Shreves, cello.

* * * *

FOR A GRAND finale there will be a joint concert May 6 with the Long Beach Symphony, Lauris Jones conducting, and the Schola Cantorum, Wayne Gard, conductor. The famous pianist, John Browning, will be soloist with the orchestra playing the concerto for piano and orchestra by Edward MacDowell. Marvin Cloyd will be the narrator.

This is sumptuous musical fare and bespeaks cultural strides for our city. Let us avail ourselves of this opportunity and so encourage bigger and better music festivals for the future in Long Beach.

Honors Reaped by Artists

Editor's Note: In the absence of Elise Emery, arts' pages editor, this column is being written by Betty Wentworth.

Dick Swift, assistant professor of art at Long Beach State College, became a two-time winner at the U. of Illinois' Biennial of Religious Art. His intaglio-woodcut, "Genesis," won the $250 purchase award for "best in show regardless of medium." Another print received honorable mention. He previously won the best in show award in 1960.

Richard A. Johnson, watercolor teacher for the Seal Beach Artists' League, has been honored with a membership in the American Watercolor Society. He and Mrs. Johnson are presently visiting New York attending the society's exhibit there. He also teaches advanced oils at the Seal Beach Art Center and is having a one-man show currently at Bank of America, Seal Beach.

Pamela Mason just won best in show at the Greek Theatre exhibit for "Girl in Green." She received first place in still life and second in portrait and figure.

Cay Drachnik reports from Viet Nam where her husband is on duty that she has just won third prize in an exhibit there that included entries from free China, Japan and Korea.

Darwin Duncan has a current show at Huntington Beach Bank.

* * * *

OPENING next Sunday at the Pacific Coast Club will be an exhibition by Ben Messick with a reception from 2 to 5 p.m. The 25 works will include casein and oil paintings, pastels, lithographs and mixed media. Show will continue to June 1.

Messick has had 69 one-man shows and has exhibited in over 350 competitive shows. He is widely known for his poignant clowns and his skillful lithography. He is a fellow of Royal Society of Arts of England and listed in "Who's Who in American Art." His works are in numerous museum and private collections, and he is also known as a gifted teacher.

Reception for Elaine Malco takes place today from 1 to 5 p.m. at the Pacific Coast Club. Her current show of paintings and sculpture will continue through Friday.

* * * *

WORKS OF FOUR graduate students at Chouinard's, Otis Art Institute, UCLA and Long Beach State College, went on exhibit Friday at Downey Museum of Art, in a show aptly named "Introduction." Ralph Tarzian, 7220 Metz St., chairman of the art department at Dominguez High School, Compton, is the LBSC student represented in the show.

He is working on his master's degree, and is currently doing a large architectural sculpture six feet high and 10 feet long made of welded auto hoods and fenders and called "The Matriarch." This is to be installed on the LBSC campus at the end of the semester.

The show will be on Tuesdays through Sundays from 1 to 5 p.m. until June 4.

* * * *

"THE WATTS Towers Story" will be told with slides, film and discussion at the Westside Jewish Community Center in Los Angeles on Tuesday at 8:30 p.m. History of the unique artistic and architectural creation of Simon Rodia will be presented as part of opening reception for the May art exhibition of 50 collage creators at the Center.

* * * *

SEEN FOR the last time today at Long Beach Museum of Art will be Ward Youry's ceramics, Lorser Feitelson's oils, Marquis and Stoller architecture and Scalamandre textiles.

During the week various galleries will be temporarily closed for installation of exhibits opening May 6. Scheduled are "Arms and Armor of Old Japan" lent by Southern California Token Kai, a review of Arts of Southern California—Architecture, which has recently completed a five year tour of the nation, and the Long Beach Art Association's 38th annual spring juried exhibition.

* * * *

RECEPTION tonight from 8 to 10 p.m. at the Veltman Gallery, 5604 E. Second St., will open show of paintings and drawings by Norbert Jobst.

Pennario in Recital

Leonard Pennario will appear next Saturday at 8:30 p.m. in Wilshire Ebell Theatre in his only Los Angeles recital of the year. One of the Southland's most popular and busiest pianists, he is on the final lap of his 16th coast-to-coast tour of leading American cities.

On his program will be a Mozart sonata, Chopin etudes, "Kreisleriana, Schumann; a Debussy group and the Prokofieff Sonata No. 2. Tickets are on sale at all Mutual agencies and the Wilshire Ebell box office.

Duncan to Speak

Raymond Duncan, brother of the late famed Isadora, will be presented in a "dramatic discourse" Tuesday at 8:30 p.m. at Pasadena City College. Duncan, a philosopher, artist, actor and craftsman, is being jointly sponsored by Pasadena Society of Artists, the college and art museum.

Farrell Will Appear Here

Eileen Farrell, soprano artist of television, opera, and the concert stage, will be presented on Long Beach Community Concert series Thursday at 8:15 p.m. in Municipal Auditorium Convention Hall.

She has received the highest critical praise for her magnificent voice, flawless artistry, and immense versatility. Her performances have been hailed with enthusiasm both on the stage of the Metropolitan Opera and in her appearances as a blues singer.

Many honors have been awarded her. Among them honorary doctorates from the Universities of Hartford, Rhode Island, Wagner College and College Conservatory of Music of Cincinnati.

The series is open to subscribers only.

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

He Takes the Scenic Route

DEAR ABBY: Do they sell donkey blinders for men? I need a pair for my husband. He never watches where he is driving. Instead, he's busy gawking at the women along the streets. He drives about ten miles an hour to be sure he doesn't miss anything. He's come close to a lot of accidents. How can I make him keep his eye on the road?—THE WIFE

ABBY

DEAR WIFE: Even donkey blinders would be useless for this breed of donkey. If you can't get his mind off the "scenery," take the wheel. If he doesn't like it, let him trot.

* * * *

DEAR ABBY: Our daughter is going steady with a boy we object to very much. Here is the reason. His family is loaded with divorces. His own mother and father are divorced. (His mother is remarried.) He has two sisters and they have both been divorced. One was married a second time and was divorced from her second husband, too. We heard that his grandmother on his father's side had also been divorced. He seems like a very nice young man, but the history of his clan is so bad with all those divorces we are fearful of our daughter's happiness.—FEARFUL

DEAR FEARFUL: Divorce in the family frequently inspires the offspring to succeed in their own marriages. Don't condemn the boy because of his family. Judge him on his own merits.

* * * *

DEAR ABBY: I am a high school teacher. I recently picked up a note written by one of our students. Here is an excerpt from it:

"Hi, Sue:

Yesterday Donna and I skipped school. We went to her house and watched television. Her mother works which makes it nice. When I went home at 4 o'clock Mom told me the school had called to see if I was home. Lucky for me, she said I was home sick."

A child broke the rules and her mother lied to protect her. This prevailing attitude is very discouraging. What is happening to the integrity of people today?—WORRIED TEACHER

DEAR WORRIED: The integrity of some people has not changed. Mothers who lie to protect their children have always been with us. And always will be. But I believe this is the exception—not the rule. Most mothers would have told the truth and let the child face the music.

'Discover Yourself' Series to Begin

You learned to walk before you were two years old. But according to Wilma Hastings, the prominent authority on beauty, charm, and poise, many women need to learn all over again.

In a revealing 15-part series entitled "Discover Yourself," she tells how to acquire the "great lady" look through correct posture and carriage.

She explains how to sit and stand and even how to profit from the example of the baboon, who has his points when it comes to walking.

Look for Miss Hastings' description of the "baboon walk" and her hundreds of other practical, effective secrets of personal improvement — including valuable tips on weight and figure control, hair styling, skin care, make-up application, and clothing selection.

The series, based on her booklet, "Discover Yourself," will start in the women's section of the Independent, Press-Telegram next Sunday.

Sell-Landon in Ceremony

Trinity Lutheran Church, Norwalk, was scene of the recent ceremony in which Linda B. Landon, Downey, became the bride of Thomas G. Sell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Werner W. Sell, 4201 Elko St.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Burdette Landon, Downey, wore a full-length gown of silk organza trimmed with Chantilly lace and sequins. She carried a bouquet of white orchids.

* * * *

BRIDAL ATTENDANTS were Janie Davis, maid of honor; Carol Dudden and Mynet Marks, bridesmaids; Janet and Barbara Terry, flower girls.

Jerry Andre served as best man; Edward D'Orazio was ring bearer. Seating the 300 guests were Ken Brown, Sherwin Cotler and Don Rogers.

* * * *

THE BRIDE, a graduate of Downey Union High School, attends Long Beach City College, where she is affiliated with TNT.

The bridegroom, an alumnus of Poly High School, is a senior business administration major at Long Beach State College, where he is a member of Sigma Pi.

Mrs. Thomas G. Sell

Following a reception at Downey Elks Lodge, the newlyweds left for a honeymoon in Las Vegas and Tahoe. They will make their home in Bellflower.

Member models will include Mmes. H. C. Carrothers, Charles Chandler, Lee Foust, C. L. Fowler, Donald Fowler, Sam Taylor and Kay Walton.

Hostesses for the day: Mmes. Ralph Dalton and Dean Jones.

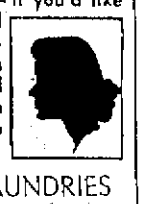

Fabric Facts

by BETTY BLAKE
Foasberg's Fabric Care Counselor

Spots on the Rug — Do not try to remove mud from a rug or carpet. Let it dry; then brush out. For spills we have HOST Drycleaner for Carpets. Pour this powder on spot, brush in, allow 5 minutes for drying. Then vacuum up the powder and usually the spot is gone. Beauty of this drycleaning is that even in the middle of a party you can catch spills before they set and stain.

Painted Stripes — Check patterns with stenciled or painted stripes. Cleaners can't usually guarantee they won't come off. Ask your store.

Club News — If you'd like an unusual talk and demonstration on fabrics, tell your program chairman to phone me.

Beta Sigma Phis Set 31st Birthday Party

Twenty-two chapters comprising the Long Beach Area Council of Beta Sigma Phi will celebrate the 31st anniversary of the organization's founding Monday, 6:30 p.m., with a banquet in the Cavalier Room of the Lafayette Hotel.

Founded 31 years ago in Abilene, Kan., the sorority now has 7,000 chapters and 150,000 members in 14 countries.

With a "Flame of Friendship" theme, the banquet will be under direction of the Nu Mu chapter.

* * * *

ASSISTING Mrs. Tracy Wells, chairman, will be Mrs. Richard Hamilton, co-chairman, and Mrs. Alan McKeown, president of the hostess chapter.

The program will include traditional ceremonies, a review of area council history, a welcome to new members and a special message from the sorority's founder (received from International Headquarters in Kansas City) presented by Mrs. Hal Moore, member adviser.

What's on the Menu?

The following menus will be served in Long Beach elementary schools in the week of April 30-May 4:

MONDAY: Spaghetti; Southern style, buttered green beans, peach-cottage cheese salad, raisin bread squares and milk.

TUESDAY: Hamburger, potato salad, spicy applesauce, oatmeal cookie and milk.

WEDNESDAY: Lasagne, chopped spinach, raspberry sauce with whipped topping, peanut butter sandwich and milk.

THURSDAY: Hot sliced pork, cranberry sauce, mashed potatoes with gravy, California fruit cup, whole wheat bread and butter and milk.

FRIDAY: Macaroni and cheese, garden peas, carrot-raisin salad, tuna sandwich and milk.

The above items make up the elementary children's lunch 30c. Soup and salad from the junior-senior high school a la carte menu are sold in the elementary schools, but they may be purchased by the children only after they have purchased the tray lunch.

JUNIOR-SENIOR HIGH

MONDAY: Italian spaghetti, garden salad, boysenberry sauce with whipped topping, whole wheat bread and butter and milk.

TUESDAY: Sliced ham, home style baked beans, buttered spinach, fruit gelatin, hot buttered French bread and milk.

WEDNESDAY: Diced turkey in gravy on mashed potatoes, buttered peas, shredded carrot salad, whole wheat bread and butter and milk.

THURSDAY: Creole noodles, whole kernel corn, spicy applesauce with cranberry garnish, raisin bread square, and milk.

FRIDAY: Baked fish with oven fried potatoes or buttered sauerkraut with wieners, buttered green beans, California fruit cup, whole wheat bread and butter and milk.

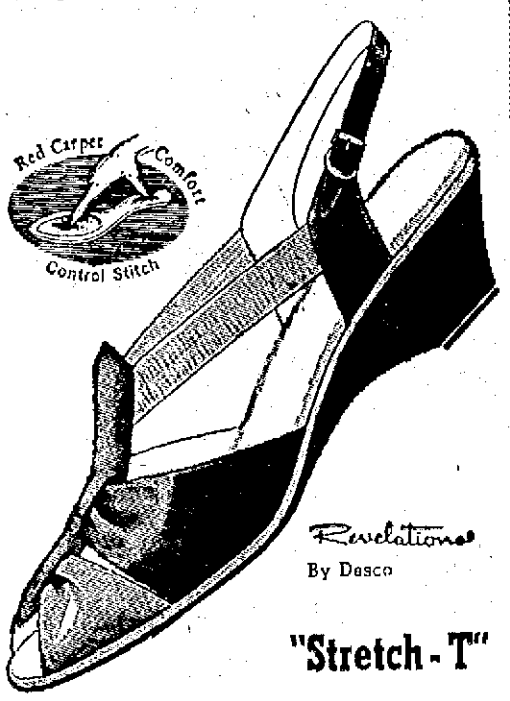

DBE to Hear Librarian Speak

Daughters of the British Empire will gather at 1 p.m. May 8 for a business meeting and program in Guild Hall of St. Luke's Episcopal Church. The meeting originally was scheduled this Tuesday.

Mrs. Helene Silver of the Department of Science and Industry, Long Beach public library, will give an outline of her department's functions and will review some of the material available.

After a Fashion

New Denims Go Everywhere, Do Everything

By MARY ELLIS
I, P-T Fashion Editor

Dame Fashion has taken denim out of the doldrums, has given it new dash and derring-do.

This onetime workhorse of the garment world, now refined, is turning up in summer stunners for island-hoppers, job-goers, supermarket shoppers, sneaker-addicts, sun fadists, beachniks.

A new lightweight version, called chambray denim, is cool and soft — a fashion-natural for children's toggery, country dance dresses and at-home culottes. Extra bonus: it virtually "irons" in the wash. Medium weights, easy-care and crease-resistant, are favorites for sailing togs and rainwear. And the heaviest, a cowboy jeans weight, goes nautical in bell-bottom pants and breeze-resistant jackets.

Favorite colors: "faded" shades of blue and charcoal, also denim with ticking stripes. Their special attraction: all "mellow" with age, improve with washing!

UP-DATED DENIM turns danceable in new lightweight easy-care Surftone, embroidered in matching or contrasting colors.

MOTHER-DAUGHTER fashions in lightweight denim, by Pepperell, feature fringed shorts, shirt for mom; appliqued version for small fry.

DASHING COTTON DENIM takes to sea in striped jacket teamed with bell-bottom sailor pants in sturdy blue jean fabric, matching bag. Jacket lowers to cover bathing suit or shorts; hood raises to shut out sea breezes.

FUN-IN-SUN SUIT for small fry is designed of sturdy cotton denim, appliqued with baby ducklings. Fabric, by Pepperell, is easy-care, drip-dry.

Assumes Helm of Auxiliary

Mrs. William Nesbitt will assume presidency of Long Beach Auxiliary of the Southern California Symphony Association at a May Day luncheon Tuesday in Virginia Country Club. She succeeds Mrs. Lewis T. Dorgan.

Long active in the city's civic and social affairs, Mrs. Nesbitt's auxiliary background includes service as both ticket and program chairman. She is a member of Long Beach Assistance League, serving as chairman of West Long Beach Girls Club, and is a past president of GOP Juniors.

* * * *

OTHER OFFICERS to be installed by Mrs. John W. Persons are Mmes. James K. McCall, H. W. Hodges, Alfred M. Durfee, Raymond Peterson, Geza J. Krempels, Betty Benwell, H. G. Randall, Harvey G. Doody, Fletcher M. Young, Edwin Harvey, Mark H. Keating, George R. Gerveny, Arnold J. Romeyn, Chris T. Conway.

The afternoon program will feature Laura Killingsworth in her program, "Fantasy of Silk, Satin and Song," with Rose Bishop as accompanist.

Mrs. William Nesbitt

Lakewood Orchestra Will Play

In recognition of Public Schools Week, the Lakewood High School Orchestra, directed by John Swanson, will be featured on the community program in Exhibit Hall of Municipal Auditorium Monday evening.

Demonstrating the "professional" ability and versatility attained through the music curriculum of the public schools in Long Beach Unified School District, the orchestra will be heard in a variety of well known numbers ranging from the popular classics through the nostalgic music associated with American folklore.

* * * *

SPONSORED by the Long Beach Recreation Department, the show opens at 7:30 p.m. with a half-hour of community singing. Old time dancing until 11 p.m. follows the orchestral hour. Auditorium doors open at 7 o'clock for this free civic program.

Amvet Auxiliary

Auxiliary to Amvet Post 48 will meet at 8 p.m. Tuesday in the new clubhouse, 1002 Artesia Blvd.

On Course in Air, at Stove

Jackson R. McGowen

By MILDRED K. FLANARY
I, P-T Food Editor

Apparently he's been airborne most of his life! This writer, too, is far-out and way-over-her-head, what with swing-tail jets, DC's this and that, wing cords, turbo compound, configuration, etc.

Anyway, today's Chef of the Week, Jackson (Jack) R. McGowen, knows what it's all about, because he's vice president-general manager, Aircraft Division of the Douglas Aircraft Co. Need we add that his colleagues contend that he was born to be a top-flight, capable administrator and manager.

Born in Sipsey, Ala., McGowen left there at the age of 17 and enrolled in the Indiana Technical College at Fort Wayne, from which he graduated with his B.S. and A.E. degrees.

Though McGowen decided at the age of 10 to become a pilot, we must qualify an earlier statement. He WAS underground for a time . . . in the coal mines in Alabama, during his school years.

Following college, his career as a pilot was again held in abeyance. He enrolled in a special course for diplomatic service.

* * * *

AVIATION finally won out, however, and from 1939 to '46, he served as Civil Aviation Administration liaison engineer at Douglas. In 1946, he became assistant chief project engineer for the DC-6 program and subsequently was named chief project engineer. In '52, he was assigned as chief project engineer for both the DC-6 and DC-7 series.

His progression was continuous, and from '52 to '59, McGowen acted as manager for an aircraft early warning system and as manager of the swing-tail jet transport program. Early in March of that same year, he was appointed assistant to the senior vice president-manufacturing, with responsibility for the coordination of the DC-8 program.

He was named director of commercial sales in September 1959; and in October elected a Douglas vice president and named director of commercial programs. In April of '61, he became a member of the board of directors; and after 22 years of aircraft experience, was appointed to his present position. McGowen is a member of the National Aviation Club, Washington, D.C.

A GOLFER with a hole-in-one to his credit at Bel Air, he is also an avid reader and bridge hound. He has a mania, too, for adding and subtracting walls. A zealous remodeler, he redoes each new home in which they move. Even the new buildings at Douglas fascinate him.

Serious and intensely devoted to business, he rarely takes a vacation. And, inasmuch as he travels widely throughout the world for Douglas, his absences from home unfortunately are numerous. But he still finds time to get-away-from-it-all with his wife, the former Dolores O'Connor, and three teen-age daughters, Margaret, Catherine and Elizabeth.

In fact, he's so fond of the recipe he's sharing with us today, that he calls it "Beef Dolores." It just might be that she whipped-it-up!

BEEF DOLORES

- 5 lb. 7-bone roast (2 or 3 inches thick)
- ½ tps. EACH—black pepper, mace, red pepper and allspice
- 1 tsp. EACH—meat tenderizer and Ac'cent
- 1 tblsp. salt
- 2 medium onions, chopped
- 2 cloves garlic, chopped
- 2 cups salad oil
- Juice of 3 lemons
- 2 tblsp. Tarragon vinegar
- 2 bay leaves
- 1 cup cooking Sherry
- 2 large boiling potatoes, diced
- 4 large carrots, sliced lengthwise
- 1 cup flour
- 1 can consomme

Wipe meat with damp cloth. Pound or slice every-half-inch (¼" deep). Mix dry ingredients with 1 tblsp. flour and rub thoroughly into meat.

Marinate meat for 6 or 8 hours in mixture of onions, garlic, lemon juice, vinegar and 1½ cups salad oil, and ¾ cup Sherry. Baste or turn from time-to-time with flour and sear in remaining salad oil. Add tomato paste, consomme, bay leaves marination juices. Simmer for 3 hours in covered pan. Add carrots, potatoes and simmer for 30 minutes. Remove meat, add remaining flour and stir. Return meat to gravy, add Sherry, and simmer in open pan until potatoes are soft. Cover and keep hot until served.

WHY GROW OLD?

Nature Becoming More Beautiful--Why Not You?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Spring Fever is a confusing and contradictory malady, consisting of romance and floor polish; a relaxing, stretchy laziness, and a frenzy for self-improvement! Fortunately, it is not fatal and one recovers in time.

As you look around you can see that the birds are in the trees, the flowers are blooming or are on the way, and I bet there is a bee in your bonnet!

All nature is becoming more beautiful, is being made over so why not you?

WHY NOT? You probably spent a week or more spring cleaning your house. Why not spend that much time on yourself? You can accomplish wonders with a short, concentrated self-improvement program.

* * * *

YOU MAY realize that you are only five to 10 pounds away from a lovely figure. These may have slipped up on you during the winter, or may have lingered on from last summer when you were uncomfortable and self-conscious in a swim suit. You probably said to yourself, "Never again!"

If you are in the mood for a spring makeover (and who isn't?), I am here to help you. I am bringing you my 9-Day Reducing Diet which gives you a loss of from five to 10 pounds in nine days.

* * * *

ACTUALLY, this is a happy diet. Thousands of readers have told me that they were happy while following it because of the results, and also because they were well fed.

Monday the menus for Tuesday will appear in this column, so that you can shop a day ahead for the prescribed food.

That will be the procedure for nine days—each day the following day's menus will be printed.

PUBLIC SCHOOLS WEEK EVENTS SET AT CITY

Special activities in connection with the 43rd annual Public Schools Week are scheduled Monday through Friday at all three divisions of Long Beach City College.

Monday evening the Business and Technology Division ASB Council will sponsor the annual Advisory Committee Dinner to honor business, labor and industrial representatives who serve on 40 subject-area committees. Student speaker at the program, which starts at 6:30 in the cafeteria, will be ASB secretary Jan Mason. Elsewhere on campus, the same evening, more than 2,000 visitors are expected to tour the annual Industrial-Vocational Arts Exhibit.

Also on Monday, the General Adult Division student body will be hosts for special evening programs and exhibits scheduled at Polytechnic, Wilson, Jordan, Millikan, Lakewood and West Adult Centers. Classrooms and facilities will be open to the public throughout the week.

* * * *

MEMBERS of the Liberal Arts Division ASB Cabinet will be hosts on Thursday to some 125 members of the Uptown Kiwanis and East Long Beach Kiwanis clubs at a luncheon program in the student lounge. ASB president Jerry Schulte will be master of ceremonies. Music will be provided by the College Choir, which is also scheduled to sing for the Long Beach Rotary Club on Wednesday.

Other events of the week on the LAD campus include Mother-Daughter Tea on Wednesday sponsored by the Order of Kassai, women's honorary service group. Faculty sponsor Alice Marie Garrison will show color slides taken on her recent sabbatical tour of Europe. Kassai members will also be hostesses for the Kiwanis luncheon on Thursday.

* * * *

JOINTLY sponsored by the ASB Cabinet and the Associated Men Students will be the showing of "Going My Wave" (latest color surfing film by John Severson) at 8:15 p.m. Friday and Saturday in the college auditorium. Proceeds go to the AMS welfare fund.

BTD students are looking forward to another Co-Rec program Saturday night, sponsored jointly by Kisab, International Club, Norsemen, and the Society of Technical Writers and Publishers.

Winners of BTD's month-long "Best-Dressed Contest" were finally revealed at a gala assembly last week. Winners in the business and general education category were Mrs. Adelene Wing of Voksens and F. B. Lewandowski of Associated Junior Retailers. From the technology classes, the two prize winners were Dave Bleasdell of Airframe and Powerplant Club and Cindi Burrill, ASB Council representative.

Sold's in a Head Over Heels Hurry

Dear Molly Mayfield

DEAR MRS. MAYFIELD:

I'm so in love I'm miserable. Can't sleep, can't eat, have nothing to say, stare into space — but I'm happy.

I found the girl of my dreams just last night. We danced, rode the roller coaster and I'm still riding the clouds of outer space.

This morning I woke about 5 a.m. I tried to wait, but by 6 I was on the phone. You'd think she'd be cross, since I didn't get her home much earlier, but she wasn't.

I want to propose before she gets away. It's too good to be true. But is it too soon? Would she be shocked?—SOLD

DEAR SOLD:

Get off the roller coaster, Buster, before she makes you dizzier. Don't you dare propose. Tell her anything—you love her, adore and worship her, will do anything for her, but don't be more definite than that!

Suppose she feels just like you do. And suppose she accepts the offer of your humble but hot hand in wedlock. And then suppose you, or she, has a change of mind. Some do, you know. Wouldn't it be embarrassing to retract a proposal?

I'm treating it lightly, but it's a weighty matter. Very serious, this uniting for a lifetime is! It takes thought and more thought and still some get caught in a mismated maze.

So keep your love and dreams shining clean and don't rush things when spring's orbiting through your veins.—M.M.

* * * *

DEAR MRS. MAYFIELD:

I'm so darned lonely. I'm 51, and my husband has many outside interests, although we do keep fairly busy evenings. But during the day I just don't know what to do with myself.

I'm a college graduate. I should have many ideas on what to do. But so far I'm what you might call "swinging on a limb."

Any suggestions you have I would appreciate.—MRS. F.P.C.

DEAR MRS. F.P.C.:

I had a letter the other day from the Veteran's Administration which impressed me deeply. It simply outlined the work that over 100,000 volunteers are doing for hospitalized veterans. These volunteers are devoting six million hours to their work!

And still more workers are needed — men and women from teenage to golden age.

If this interests you, you might inquire at Long Beach VA Hospital, or write care of Information Service, Washington D.C., Attention: Fred Panzer, Assistant Director of Special Projects.—M.M.

* * * *

DEAR MRS. MAYFIELD:

Please don't think I am overly sentimental, but a few short months ago I broke up with my girl friend. I know now I will never be able to forget her.

I've tried going out with others, but it doesn't help. I have also tried hard to get her to talk to me, or even write to me, but she is very stubborn.

You see, one night a short time before we broke up I went on a party and did get a little tight. Nothing bad happened, you understand, but she won't forgive me.

Molly, her lips are like the sweetest of vineyard wines, her eyes the twinkle of every star in the heavens, and her heart is as solid as the greatest mountain, yet as soft as a silken thread.

Am I not entitled to a few mistakes, my love, my dove, M.V.? (Ask her for me, won't you, Molly?)—CURLY

DEAR CURLY:

Surely your plaintive plea will touch the marble heart of M.V. But probably not half so deeply as proof that you won't goof again. CAN you prove it?—M.M.

TO BUILD BANK AROUND THIS!

A real traffic-stopper is this 44,000-pound vault door standing in a vacant lot at Indiana Avenue and Artesia St. In a few months it will be protecting money of customers of a Farmers & Merchants branch bank which will be built on the site. The steel door is 92 inches in diameter but when set in place will be so perfectly balanced it will move via the pressure of one finger. Brought here from San Francisco, the door will be positioned and the vault—and bank—will be built around it. Kenneth Walker, 3100 E. 65th St., and Galen Roth, 3132 E. 65th St., are dwarfed by size of door.

Construction Started on New Hospital for Long Beach Area

Construction of a $1,500,000 hospital to serve the west Long Beach-Dominguez and Compton area is well under way on Susanna Road, between Artesia Blvd. and Bort St.

To be known as Dominguez Valley Hospital, the facility will provide 109 beds. While it will be a general hospital extensive 24-hour industrial and emergency units will be provided.

The project is being undertaken by a group of Long Beach and Compton doctors headed by Paul Cardey, M.D. of Compton. Architect is George Kirkpatrick.

* * * *

ALREADY THE walls have begun to rise, giving shape to the rambling structure. While the mail address will be Compton, the hospital grounds are on the Long Beach and Compton city dividing line, said Vic Morgan, spokesman for the doctors.

An open staff is planned, permitting all doctors to admit their patients. A new concept of progressive care will be introduced by the hospital, Morgan added. "The program was developed to provide greater care and attention than possible before, and at a lower over-all cost to the patient," said Morgan.

* * * *

THE SURGICAL suite will consist of three major surgeries with separate cystoscopic room, fracture room, doctors and nurses lounges. A complete obstetrical unit will be a feature, plus an intensive care unit with the most modern electronic and mechanical monitoring devices for continuous reporting of the physical condition of seriously ill patients. Convalescent units will have wide window walls, sliding glass doors to landscaped patios. Patient controlled electronic beds will be installed.

Television will be available to most rooms and the building will be completely air conditioned with all air electronically filtered. Each room will have its own bath.

There will be a complete clinical laboratory, pharmacy, geriatric unit and orthopedic unit.

Government Affairs New Chamber Dept.

The plan of the Long Beach Chamber of Commerce to stimulate participation of local business people in political affairs, and to become more effective in representing business before legislative bodies, has reached full realization with the establishment of a new governmental affairs department, according to Harry Krusz, executive vice president.

Ronald L. Watson was recently appointed by Krusz as staff aid to the department. He will assist with promoting political-action courses which are now in operation by the chamber. Watson will also work with chamber committees which review all current legislation which affects Long Beach or its business interests.

* * * *

WATSON HAS been active in Long Beach civic affairs and organizations. His education at Long Beach State College was in political science and business management.

RONALD L. WATSON
Heads Political-Action Move

Co-chairmen of the chamber's political-action program are George R. Johnson and David Selcer. Goal is to stimulate interest of local businessmen in political affairs, and to furnish them knowledge on all aspects of government and how it functions.

The chamber will cooperate in setting up a one-night, 6-weeks study group for any local firm or organization. Individuals may enroll in courses now being formed.

PROMOTED

J. Frank Tobias of Fullerton has been appointed as general manager of Robertshaw-Fulton's Aeronautical and Instrument Division at Anaheim. Tobias has been product manager for the aeronautical products group within the division. During World War II he commanded the 390th Signal Company, 7th Air Force, in the central Pacific theater of operations.

'Free Bridge' Always Cost

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Seven large bridges over the Mississippi River link Missouri and Illinois at St. Louis, and an eighth will soon be built.

One of the bridges is known as "The Free Bridge" —but it isn't.

The city built the bridge and intended it to be used without cost after bonds had been retired. The bonds have been paid off but the city has never removed the tolls.

The new bridge will be free.

Los Altos Site for Unimart

Plans for building a big Unimark Membership Store at Bellflower Blvd. and Stearns St., directly north of the Los Altos Shopping Center, were announced Saturday.

Located on a 12-acre site the store will represent an investment of $3 million.

The big vacant tract, of some 22 acres, was purchased several months ago by Montgomery Ward & Co., but plans for erecting a store there did not materialize.

* * * *

UNIMART'S construction will start this fall and completion has been tentatively set for spring. Developers of the shopping center will be Bilp and Rhodes, Inc.

Unimart, which was merged with Food Giant Markets last year, will erect a 100,000 sq. ft. building which will include a full-size supermarket with groceries, meats and produce, and a completely stocked department store.

Adjacent to the store will be a 12,000 sq. ft. house and garden center, and a service station.

Income for Workers Up

LOS ANGELES — California's marked economic progress is reflected in the striking growth of personal income in the state, Cecil J. North, president of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co., told members of his company's field force at a meeting here.

"Total personal income last year by Californians ran 50% more than six years ago, contrasting with 35% more for the entire United States," he said.

"Per capita income in the state set a new record of $2,800 in 1961, well above the national average of $2,300. In early 1962 and late 1961, earnings of the employed factory worker in California were running at a new high level between $110 and $112 a week. The average for the full year 1961 had been around $108.50 a week — a new annual record and more than one-quarter above 1955."

* * * *

NORTH POINTED out that the Los Angeles-Long Beach area has close to 2.5 million non-farm employes, and has continued its growth into 1962. "Much of this expansion in employment over the past year," he said, "has been contributed by factories engaged in making electronic, metal, machinery and allied products. From 1955 to 1961 total non-farm employment here has grown by one-fifth."

Life insurance owned by the people of California is equivalent to 16 months of their income, compared with only 12 months six years ago, the insurance executive noted.

North disclosed that his company's current investments in bonds and stocks in California amount to almost $556 million.

OPEN HOUSE THURSDAY

Will Give Visitors Bank Teller's View

Long Beach residents will be given a teller's view of a bank Thursday when Bank of America holds an open house preview of its new Willow-Daisy branch.

The evening's activities will begin at 6:45 when bank officials and local dignitaries hold a colorful opening ceremony. Manager P. A. "Phil" Carey will be presented a gold key to the front door of the branch by Ralph E. Windsor, vice president from the bank's Southern California headquarters.

Among those taking part in the ceremony will include Robert Crow, councilman from the Seventh District; Joseph Kennick, district assemblyman; and Donna Kelly, Miss "Welcome" to Long Beach."

Culminating the program will be the launching of a space capsule. The plastic capsule will be attached to a large cluster of helium-filled balloons which will carry it into the evening sky. Inside the capsule will be a scroll instructing the finder to return it to the branch in exchange for a $25 savings bond.

* * * *

VISITORS WILL then be invited to enter the branch for a behind-the-counter tour of the modern building. During the 7 to 9 p.m. open house the patrons will view the massive vault, glass-topped windowless teller counters, safe deposit boxes, and night depository.

The new branch is located at 600 W. Willow St., on the southwest corner of Willow Street and Daisy Avenue.

Report Heavy Sales for Cambridge Park

APPEALING HOME

Spacious living rooms, carpeted with wool or nylon, and terrazzo entryways are found in all Cambridge Park homes in Orange. Located on Cambridge north of Fairhaven, all homes have been built to meet the Balanced Power concept.

Cambridge Park, located in the Orange-Tustin area, is now one-third sold, it was announced by Don Schug, developer.

An exclusive suburban location for family living convenient to schools and shopping, is cited by sales agents as a prime reason for these brisk sales. Immediate occupancy is still available with a choice of five different color schemes and distinctive stylings. Three model homes are open at Cambridge Park, located on Cambridge Ave. just north of Fairhaven in the city of Orange.

* * * *

THE HOMES are a short distance from both the Santa Ana and Newport freeways, making it convenient to employment opportunities and industrial parks. Both parochial and public schools are close by with Chapman College just a few miles north. Santiago golf course lies adjacent to Cambridge Park on the south.

Both three- and four-bedroom models are available from $24,400. All have family rooms and two baths.

Offer Rental Units to Senior Citizens

The combined attractions of a Western "Ivy League" cultural environment, scenic beauty and a unique flat rental residence plan are attracting retiring senior citizens in ever-increasing numbers to Claremont Village Green.

Daniel Alvy and Seymour Sohn of Danmour & Associates, the developers, said more than 50 per cent of the original 119 one and two-bedroom homes on the 8½-acre landscaped site have been occupied since the formal opening.

Village Green is located in the heart of Claremont, a "city of trees" and headquarters of the five Associated Colleges — Pomona, Claremont, Scripps, Harvey Mudd and Claremont Graduate College.

RESPONSE to the Village Green rental plan has been so enthusiastic that Alvy and Sohn are negotiating for the purchase of nine additional adjoining acres. If negotiations are completed, the community eventually will be doubled in size.

Claremont Village Green is the first non-sectarian retirement community in Southern California operated as a private enterprise on a flat monthly rental basis without membership, life-lease or "buying-in" provisions.

Rent includes full privileges in the Village Green community buildings, hobby shops and recreational areas "which are operated entirely without a social director or coordinator," according to Alvy.

Many of the residents of Village Green were recent home owners in Southern California communities. A high percentage of the residents are retired or retiring professional people.

Montgomery Park Second Unit Now Selling

Proof of the exciting popularity of these spacious new homes offering the rare and desirable combination of rural charm and "downtown" living convenience is that the first unit was sold out in only six weeks and second unit is now ready to go.

Montgomery Park, on Harbor Blvd. just south of Bolsa Ave., within the city limits of Santa Ana offers three different "family engineered" floor plans priced from $15,950. For just $395 a non veteran can live in an area with all metropolitan facilities such as public and parochial schools, churches, modern shopping marts. Employment opportunities are to be found within minutes of its central location, yet homes are comfortably removed from urban congestion and noise.

* * * *

THE SOUTHLANDS' fabulous recreation and entertainment centers are close by—Disneyland, Knott's Berry Farm, beach and mountain resorts—all just a short drive over fast, lightly traveled routes.

"The location, plus the low purchase price, plus the fact that the homes have three and four bedrooms, nine exteriors to choose from, hardwood floors, and two-car garages, plus front landscaping and fences is the reason for the fantastic appeal of these homes," said sales manager Dick Murray of Farrow Real Estate.

"Easy financing is another big feature when we can offer homes to vets with no down payments and keep monthly payments to as little as $88.35 including principal and interest."

Montgomery park has many extras found only in the finest homes: Kitchens with built-in Wedgewood-Holly ranges and 21-inch king-sized ovens, silent waste disposals, forced-air heating, glass lined water heaters, sliding glass doors, custom birch cabinets with deluxe hardware, and accoustic finish ceilings.

Butler to Talk

Speaker for the North Long Beach Real Estate Club Thursday morning will be Howard Butler, Realtor, who will tell of his experiences while serving on committees of the Long Beach Board of Realtors. "Four Years of Grievances" will be the subject. The club meets at Mayo's Restaurant, 5925 Cherry Ave.

Another Sherwood Sellout Now Near

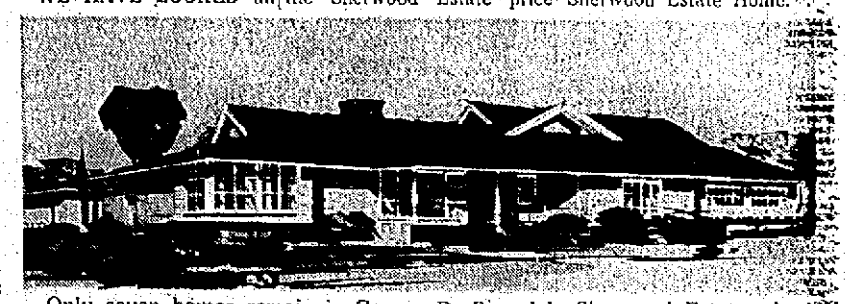

George D. Buccola, award winning developer of "Sherwood Estates" in Orange County, announced that only seven homes remain in his latest development in Tustin.

The Tustin development, located off 17th St. on Yorba just east of Tustin Ave. features 37 four and five-bedroom, three-bath, one-story, story and a half and two-story homes, with living areas from 2150 to 2500 square feet.

When asked why Sherwood Estates enjoy such great sales acceptance, Buccola said, "Perhaps I can best answer that question by quoting many of our customers."

* * * *

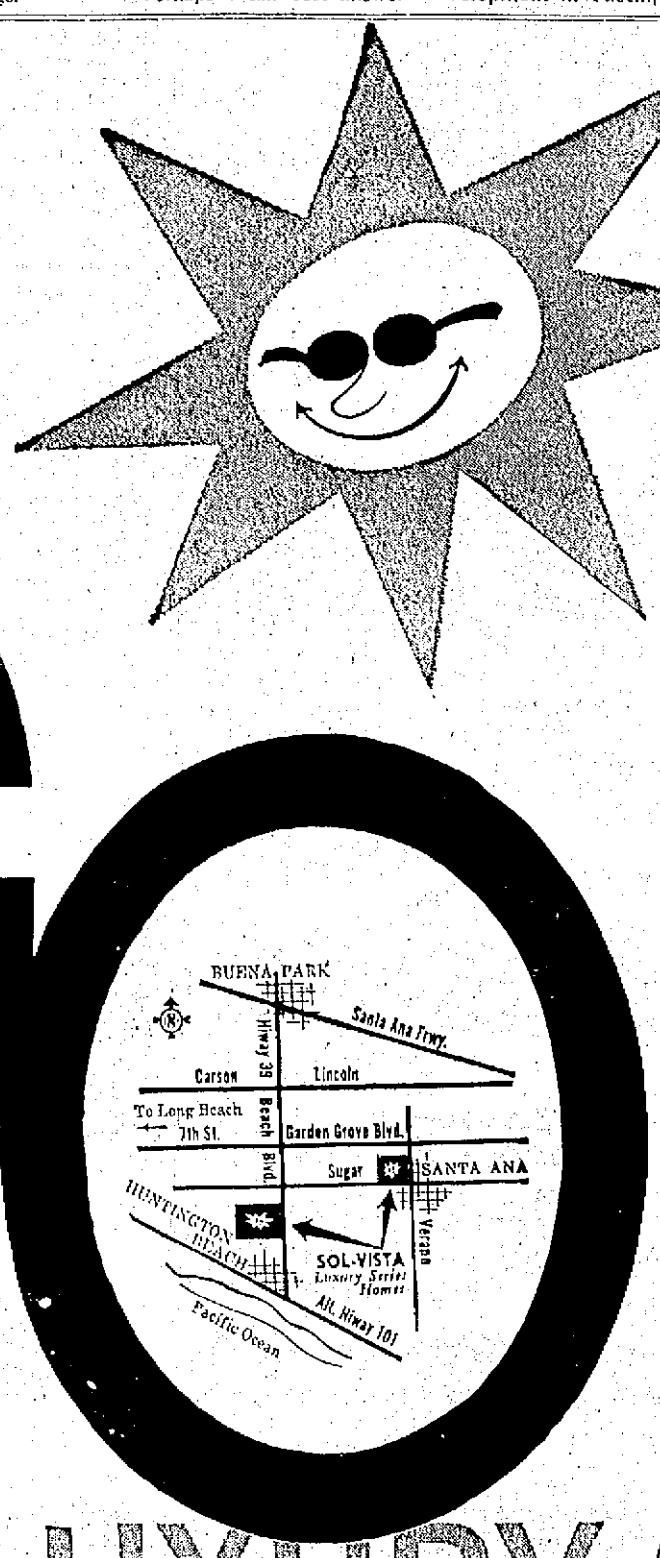

"WE HAVE LOOKED all over Orange County, and nowhere could we find so much quality and spaciousness in the Sherwood Estate price range of $28,700 to $29,950, so quite naturally we decided that the best buy was a 'Sherwood Estate Home.'"

Only seven homes remain in George D. Buccola's Sherwood Estates development in Tustin, so popular has the offering proven. Here is one of

Park Pacifica Previews Big Luxury Homes Today

IN PARK PACIFICA

Today's preview showing at Park Pacifica in Buena Park introduces a diverse selection of contemporary and conventional residences sparked by such attractions as sunken living and family rooms and indoor planters.

Preview showing today at Park Pacifica, Emblem Homes' community of luxuriously appointed residences in Buena Park, presents a selection of contemporary and conventional architectural elevations, designed with three bedrooms, a family room and two baths, according to Koblentz & DeLancy, sales agents.

Situated in Buena Park, "Gateway to Orange County" at Holder and Orangethorpe, homes in the new community offer such attractions as step-down living rooms and family rooms, hardwood block floors, ornamental interior planters, aluminum-framed sliding glass doors, forced air heating and baths with ceramic tile, pullman lavatories and stall showers.

* * * *

KITCHENS are expected to be focal points of much visitor and buyer interest. They are equipped with built-in double gas oven with separate broiler and counter top range, built-in fully automatic dashwasher, range hood with filter, covered fan and light, decorator-finish ash cabinets and superamic tile countertops.

Veterans have a total "move in" of $199 and in addition to convenient conventional loans, non-veterans have 35-year FHA loans, Koblentz said. Full prices are from $19,350 to $20,200.

Park Pacifica is reached from Long Beach by driving east on South St., which becomes Orangethorpe, to Holder St., then right to the model home area.

Vet Needs Only $88

Financing is still the "good news" at Huntington Hills, "Sea View" community in Huntington Beach, W. D. McCaffrey of Sales Co. explained, for the luxuriously appointed homes are available to veterans for a total "move-in" of $88 and non-veterans have choice of conventional loans or 35-year FHA terms.

Full prices, McCaffrey said, are from $17,500. An exciting "special" among all of these homes which are now ready for occupancy, are two residences complete with pool and patio, that are priced at $20,990.

HUTINGTON HILLS presents a widely diverse selection of handsome exterior designs. Plans are flexible and offer choice of three and four bedrooms and two baths. Each home has an inviting entry with handsome slate floor, a family room and big two-car garage.

Highlights among the many fine home features list fireplaces, gleaming oak floors, mahogany wood paneling throughout, sliding walls of glass to the patio garden area and forced-air heating.

From Long Beach, Huntington Hills is reached by driving south on Pacific Coast Hwy. to Huntington Beach, then left on Beach Blvd. (Hwy. 39) two miles to the community.

Golden West Estates Offering Large Home With Twin Patios

CHEERFUL ENTRANCEWAY
Here is a view in the living room of a Golden West Estate in Huntington Beach looking toward the entranceway patio. This model home has two separate patios.

An unusual floor plan with two separate patios is popular with buyers at Golden West Estates in Huntington Beach, said Jim McCarthy, vice president of McCarthy Co., co-builders with Sant Construction.

One patio serves as an enclosed front entranceway to the home, while the other offers outdoor seclusion at the side. The master bathroom has direct access to pool area. A lift-up boat door in the rear of the garage permits use of the garage as a cabana for the pool area.

The interior of the home features a separate formal living room and a separate family room which is distinct from the dining area. The plan is available in five exteriors, among them an authentic Spanish styling.

* * * *

THE LIVING AREA in this Golden West plan may be inexpensively combined with the family room simply by removing the wall between. The front patio may also be economically incorporated to make one large living area, ideal for entertainment. To further expand the home, it's easy to add a room in the large side patio," said Jack Chase, sales manager.

Buyers may choose from 22 distinctive exteriors. Priced from $17,800, the homes are offered with 5¼ per cent, 35-year FHA terms featuring down payments from $800, GI no-down-payment terms, and conventional terms with down payments from $695. Trade-ins are accepted.

Buyers may take advantage of an unusual lay-away plan which permits them to reserve any home with a $100 deposit while they build up to their down payment.

From Long Beach, the homes may be reached via Seventh Street east to Golden West St., then right to the furnished models.

Plans to Build Fontana Plant

CHICAGO—Pipe Line Service Corp., a subsidiary of Amsted Industries, is planning to build a plant at Fontana, Calif., to apply plastic and bituminous coatings to steel pipe for protection against underground corrosion.

The plant will cover about 60,000 square feet on a 15-acre site immediately adjacent to the Kaiser Steel Co.'s Fontana pipe mill.

Cigarette Taxes Boost U. S. Revenue

WASHINGTON (UPI)—U. S. smokers paid enough in cigarette taxes last year to meet the cost of the U. S. Space Agency's fiscal 1963 program, with enough funds left over to buy 40 Atlas missiles, the Tobacco Institute estimates.

'Law Day' at Realty Meeting

Reg F. Dupuy, program chairman for the Long Beach Board of Realtors, announced that Tuesday's breakfast meeting at the Crown Cafeteria will be "Law Day."

We will honor our three board attorneys—M. Ross Bigelow, Donald E. Grisham and Lawrence Lackman and also Judges Charles Smith and Joe Raycraft.

The program will consist of 15 minutes by the Franklin Junior High band directed by Jack Kroesen and a 15-minute talk by Dr. William Melchior, director of curriculum of the Long Beach Unified School District.

Tries to Quiet Noise of Building

NEW YORK (UPI)—Amid the clatter of New York's billion-dollar construction boom, there's one builder trying to muffle the noise.

Fisher's Brothers, now putting up a 40-story office building here, has replaced rivet guns with high tension bolts and has padded the slides of the dirt chutes with plywood and foam rubber.

Location Appeals to New Home Buyers

Location is one of the important considerations when selecting a home today, stated S. V. Hunsaker, prominent Southland builder and developer.

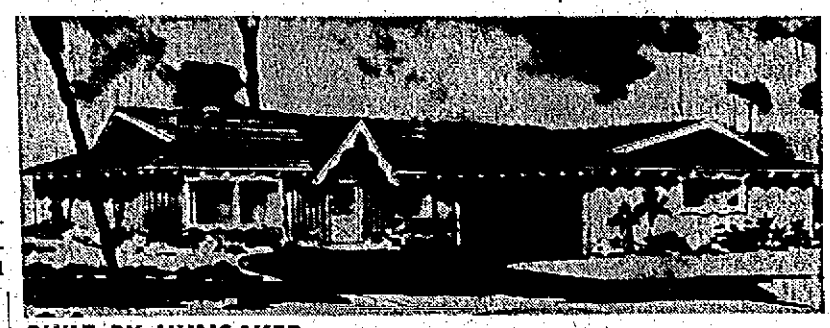

This is one reason the Lakewood East Sunshine homes have received better than average buyer acceptance, according to Hunsaker. These homes are located only minutes to the prime metropolitan industrial area and within easy driving distance to Southland major resort and recreational spots.

* * * *

OFFERING the home buyer the most popular of architectural planning, built-ins, and modern materials designed for lifetime satisfaction, these attractive homes have three bedrooms, two full baths, family room, large two-car garage and may be purchased with a down payment of $195.

Lakewood East Sunshine homes offer the home buyer many quality features such as wall-to-wall carpet, forced-air heat, metal sliding windows with screens, and ample closet space. The ultra-modern kitchens are equipped with built-in range and oven with hood and exhaust fan, disposal, Formica counter tops, plastic vinyl tile, and natural finish cabinets.

Home buyers who are seeking quality homes, centrally located, are invited to inspect furnished models daily from 10 a.m. to 7 p.m. on Del Amo Blvd., just west of Pioneer Blvd.

BUILT BY HUNSAKER
Quality construction, combined with efficient floor plans, is stressed in Lakewood East Sunshine Homes such as this by builders S. V. Hunsaker & Sons.

Quality at Moderate Prices

OFFERED IN HUNTINGTON BEACH

Immediate occupancy is available in Huntington Beach Sunshine Homes with easy payment terms available. They are by S. V. Hunsaker & Sons, builders and developers.

Homes with individuality and quality design at prices possible only through volume construction is what S. V. Hunsaker and Sons, builders and developers, offer home buyers according to S. V. Hunsaker, president.

Nowhere has this ideal been realized as successfully as in Huntington Beach Sunshine Homes, Units 1 and 2. Immediate occupancy is available in both units. Unit 1 homes may be purchased with no down payment and only $95 down is required for purchase of Unit 2 homes.

* * * *

MODERATELY PRICED Huntington Beach Sunshine homes have three and four bedrooms, two full baths, two-car garage, family room and large kitchen.

Features that make for lasting value in these attractive homes include forced-air heat, metal sliding windows with screens, all-copper plumbing, and plenty of built-ins. There is wall-to-wall carpet. Kitchens have natural finish cabinets, Formica counter tops, vinyl tile, and built-in range and oven equipped with hood and exhaust fan over range.

Huntington Beach Sunshine homes are located near both Orange County and Long Beach industrial centers, and close to the finest beaches and golf courses. Unit 1 is situated adjacent to a park site on Heil Ave. just off Golden West St. Unit 2 is on Golden West and Smeltzer.

Both units are open daily for inspection from 10 a.m. to 7 p.m.

Food Imports

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The United States is the world's second largest agricultural importer, accounting for about one-sixth of the world's total food imports, according to the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Sol Vista Opens Another Unit of Homes in Huntington Beach

CHARM IN EVERY ROOM

This appealing kitchen in a Sol Vista home in Huntington Beach shows how Alco-Pacific builds charm in every room. A new unit of the Luxury Series of homes has been opened.

Alco-Pacific Construction Co., builders-developers of Sol Vista Luxury Series Homes, has opened another new unit in Huntington Beach, one of the fastest growing areas in Southern California where the population surge is being matched with growth in industry.

"Sol Vista Homes in Huntington Beach are in a most desirable area, close to beaches and other recreational and service facilities. The development is constantly luring those seeking a prestige residential community," according to Irving Solomon, executive vice president of the firm.

In addition to location, Sol Vista offers the buyer quality construction and originality in design. One may choose from 23 exterior elevations and five floor plans. These homes have three and four bedrooms with two baths and are priced from $18,150 with minimum FHA down payment. VA terms—no down payment (except costs and impounds) Cal-Vet and conventional financing is also available.

A MASSIVE brick or stone fireplace — of floor-to-ceiling design — is included in every Sol Vista Home. Kitchens have all-electric Frigidaire built-ins, natural grained ash hardwood cabinets and are color coordinated. A Frigidaire dishwasher is also included in the price.

Sol Vista Homes have hardwood floors throughout and are heated by forced air heat with thermostat control.

Other important but less visible features include Johns-Manville fiber glass home insulation, a lighter, softer, blanket insulation faced with reflective foil, acoustical ceilings, and American Standard Plumbing fixtures.

* * * *

SOL VISTA is near established schools and churches, close to thoroughfares and existing and proposed freeways. It is only a few mintues from shopping areas.

The development is on Hwy. 39 (Beach Blvd.) three miles south of Garden Grove Blvd. Model homes are also conveniently located in Santa Ana, on Sugar Street just west of Verano. They are open daily from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. and until 6 p.m. Saturday.

Sol Vista developments are also in Riverside and Santa Maria. For free brochure and information write or call: C. LaFaye Co., Inc., 16601 Beach Blvd., Huntington Beach.

Pet Mynah Bird No Politician

OMAHA (AP)—The first rule of politics is to know when to keep your big mouth shut. Jasper couldn't get that through his head so he was fired from the mayor's office.

It just isn't good politics, says Mayor James J. Dworak, to greet women visitors with a raucous "Oh Boy," and a lusty wolf whistle. What made it worse was that Jasper stayed out of sight and left the mayor and his two male assistants to face the music.

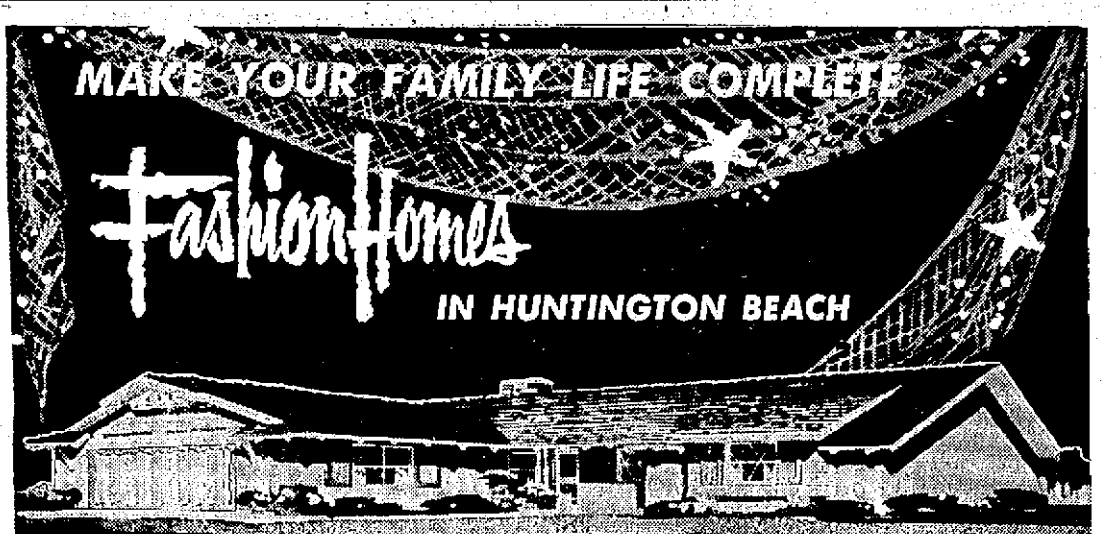

Jasper, formerly Mayor Dworak's pet mynah bird, now resides at the Omaha zoo.

Here is the interior of one of Dutch Haven's newest homes offered in Unit 20. The large living room is a feature of all Dutch Haven models.

Officials of Luxury Homes, Inc., creators of Dutch Haven communities, announced they are extending the preview of Dutch Haven Unit 20, on Edinger Ave. near Bolsa Chica at Huntington Beach, to accomodate the overflow crowds that have been thronging into the area to view the new subdivision.

This is Dutch Haven's 20th community to be successfully opened within the Southern California area. Present sales and traffic records indicate that it may soon develop into Dutch Haven's fastest-selling and most successful community.

* * * *

A SPOKESMAN for Luxury Homes, Inc., said that the new unit's location in the highly desirable Huntington Beach area is proving highly attractive to many buyers who have previously been unable to secure such a premium location at such moderate selling prices for both quality homes and property.

Just a few minutes away from Unit 20 are excellent facilities for boating, surfing and picknicking. Major department stores will soon be opened, is close by and schools are immediately convenient.

Dutch Haven homes are three to four bedrooms with family room and up to two full baths. Prices start at $14,950, with $95 move-in cost to veterans on VA terms. Cal-Vet terms and FHA loans at 5¼% interest rate are also available.

* * * *

MONTHLY PAYMENTS begin at $79.63, including principal and interest. There are no hidden charges, second mortgages or balloon payments.

"American Home Series" residences are being featured exclusively at Unit 20. Buyers have a choice of award-winning floor plans, all of which have unusually efficient room arrangements, spacious closet and storage areas and an oversized garage with additional storage space for larger items.

From Long Beach go east on Seventh St. to Bolsa Chica, then right to models.

Many Homes Already Purchased in Del Webb's New 'Sun City'

SUN CITY—Anyone 50 or over, or nearing that age, is invited to look into the prospects of future retirement in the Webb Corporation's new Sun City in Southern California.

Construction, in top gear for weeks now, on this $20 million retirement community, is being pushed for an early June grand opening. Exclusively designed for "an active way of life" offered and already accepted in three other Sun City communities built by Webb in Arizona, Florida and at Bakersfield.

The site chosen for the newest Sun City is a 14,000-acre area of Menifee Valley just 25 miles south of Riverside. It is situated on U. S. Highway 395 between Riverside and San Diego. It is countryside consisting of rolling hills and valleys, small villages and ranches. Enjoying a warm hospitable climate, with summer temperatures softened by cool ocean breezes.

* * * *

SUN CITY IS ideally centered for California's recreational attractions and the mountain playgrounds of Lake Arrowhead and Big Bear are just 52 miles away. Los Angeles is 75 miles and Palm Springs 62 miles. Capistrano and the ocean beaches just an hour's drive.

Six model homes are nearly completed and a Webb Corporation bus takes visitors on tour of the project. Home prices start at $11,950 to $17,650 and many border on the golf course fairways. Cooperative apartments are also available from $10,950 to $15,750. Many have already purchased homes which can be acquired by cash, FHA or conventional purchase methods.

The "active new way of life" for a resident of Sun City will be provided by a community center which will have arts and crafts buildings, a Town Hall seating 700 for plays or meetings. A fully equipped kitchen in the Town Hall will lend itself to club style or "pot-luck" meals.

A complete shopping center will have a full variety of stores including a bank and Sun City's own post office.

Information about Sun City can be obtained by writing to the Webb Corp., Box 878, Perris, Calif. And visitors are welcome every day.

Garden Park Estates Offering Two-Story, Five Bedroom Home

BIG LUXURY HOME
Two-story luxury homes are presented at Garden Park Estates on Knott Avenue and Garden Grove Boulevard. Discriminating home shoppers will find a range of plans that will answer the spatial needs of every size family. The new two-story dwellings have five big bedrooms, and the one-story homes are designed with choice of three or four.

Popular Garden Park Estates now presents selection of two-story luxury homes designed with five spacious bedrooms, officials of the community at Knott Ave. and Garden Grove Blvd., report.

These new residences give Garden Park Estates the added distinction of a range of flexible plans to meet the palatial needs of families of virtually every size, for the one-story residences offer three and four bedrooms, family rooms and dining area, and two baths.

Master bedrooms, which with two other bedrooms and an attractive bath, are on the second floor, have their own fireplaces. On the first floor the other two bedrooms occupy a separate wing for the maximum of quiet, and the living room (which also has a handsome fireplace), the dining room and the appliance-equipped kitchen are in the opposite wing. In the entry a stately staircase rises to the second floor, and the first floor bath in this center hall plan, is convenient both to the bedrooms and to the living area.

* * * *

"FOUR WAY" financing is still available, officials said. This includes veterans terms of nothing down except impounds and closing costs with monthly payments from $98.50 including principal and interest, or Val-Vet loans. Non-veterans have choice of conventional or FHA loans. Full prices are from $17,800.

Highlights among the many fine home features include fireplaces, sliding walls of glass, forced-air heating, baths with colored plumbing fixtures, pullman lavatories and Italian mosaic tile, and sound construction with lath and plaster walls and ceilings. Quality detailing extends to concrete driveways for the large two-car garages.

Furnished models are reached from Long Beach by driving east on Seventh St. past Long Beach State College to Knott Ave.

College Educations for Children of War Victims

Ten thousand California youngsters under the age of 18, whose fathers died as a result of military service will be eligible for a college education, it was noted by Morr Webster, manager of VA's Southern California Regional Office.

"This fine educational opportunity offered by the VA is available for children of veterans who died of service-connected causes," Webster said. In the Southern California area, Webster estimated 7,000 youngsters will become eligible in the next year or two.

Generally, the young people must be between 18 and 23 years of age, and the VA offers up to 36 months of classroom study and each orphaned youngster will receive an allowance from the VA of up to $110 for each month of school.

* * * *

"WHILE THE EMPHASIS is on college and university work, this is not just a college program," Webster said. "Training in a wide variety of schools above the high school level is also permitted."

"We want eligible youngsters to come to us," Webster said. The VA is prepared now to counsel and process applicants for the upcoming fall semester.

Talk on Low-Price Housing

A proposed low-priced housing project will be the subject of a talk by Merrill Butler, Jr., president of the Butler Harbour Construction Co. in Los Angeles, at a meeting of the Appraisal Division, of the California Real Estate Association to be held in Room 333, Biltmore Hotel in Los Angeles Thursday, it was announced by Gene Hoffman of Long Beach, chairman.

The proposed program is free enterprise's answer to government - owned housing for low income groups, according to Hoffman.

Butler's firm has completed and sold nearly 2,500 homes since 1955. Butler is a graduate of USC with a degree in civil engineering. He is currently serving as president of the Home Builders Association of Los Angeles, Orange and Ventura Counties.

Appraisers interested in attending the dinner meeting may make reservations through the California Real Estate Association, 117 West Ninth St., Los Angeles 15; MAdison 7-0428.

Fair-Priced Homes Find Ready Sales

"The best salesman in the world can't sell a home for more than it is worth," says Mildred Stanley, Long Beach Board of Realtors representative of the National Institute of Real Estate Brokers.

Mildred Stanley

Mrs. Stanley was quoting part of the information in the March bulletin of the Institute entitled "Selling Sellers Successfully." The booklet explains the advantage of a seller listing his property at a realistic price.

* * * *

"A HOME priced within 5% of the fair market value is 10 times as likely to sell as one priced within 15 to 20%, Mrs. Stanley said. "There has to be a sound reason for an owner to dispose of his property before he can be counted on to act reasonably and decisively. Where a seller's motive is weak, a realistic offer is difficult to obtain."

"The price problem is something anyone selling any product encounters," stated Mrs. Stanley. "Persons selling cars or clothes can do little to solve the price impasse, but realtors can and should influence sellers to price their property realistically."

Begins Crack Down on Illegal Sales of Out-of-State Lands

By BILL BOYARSKY

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The state real estate commissioner has launched a campaign against illegal land promoters who sell out-of-state subdivision lots from booths at county and district fairs.

Commissioner W. A. Savage said the efforts are directed against subdividers of distant and isolated land who offer lots without filing a report with his office.

It's against the law to sell subdivision property in California without such a report.

If the state finds the promoters' claims are fraudulent, it can refuse to issue a report.

* * * *

WITHOUT A report, the prospective buyer has no way of learning the true condition of the land. And often, officials say, the land bears little resemblance to the promoters' lavish promises.

"We've learned that these fairs are good productive spots for these operations," said John E. Hempel, assistant real estate commissioner.

He mailed letters to officials of every fair in the state telling them what to watch for when a land developer asks to open a booth.

He said the officials are being told of the need for the reports and that every salesman working in the booth must have a California real estate license and a permit to operate a branch office at the fair.

* * * *

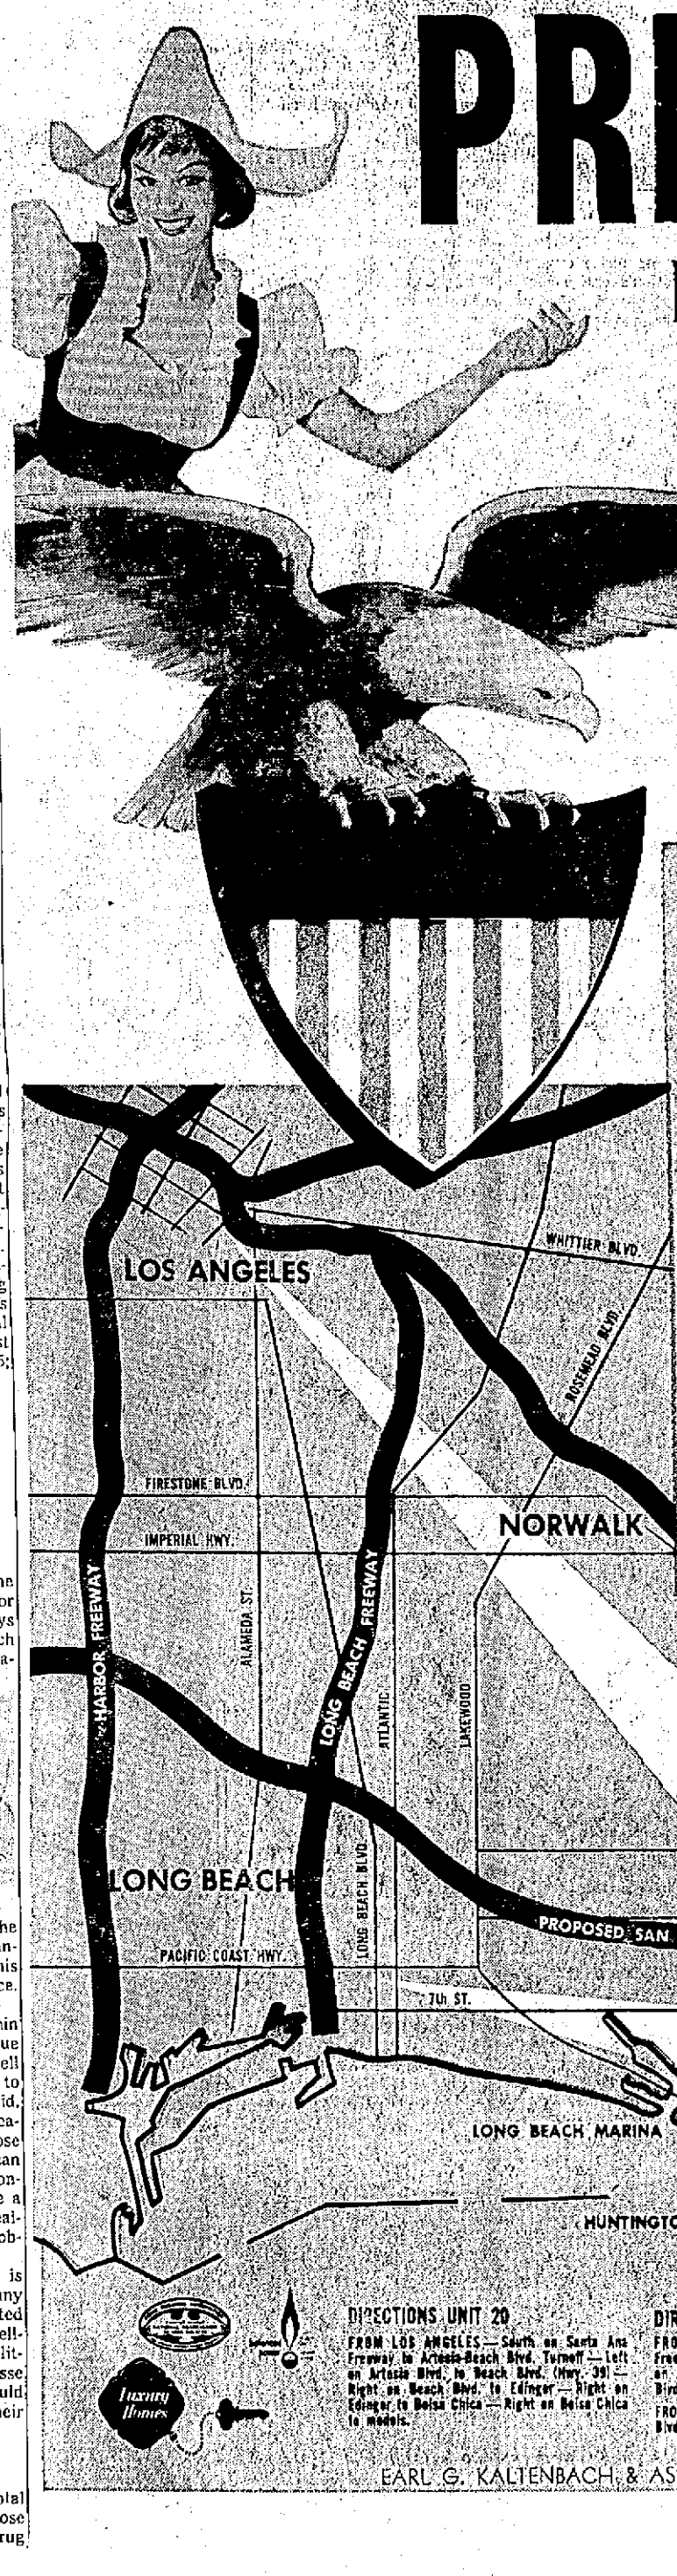

THE STATE already has cracked down on one firm which operated at a recent Sacramento sports show.

Promoters of a Colorado subdivision were ordered to stop selling or offering lots after more than 100 persons complained they had won lots at a drawing and then had to pay $39.50 handling charges on the land.

Hempel called the firm a "hit and run operation" which had "left town with the money" before the state could take action.

BERT'S EYE VIEW

Judy Says 'Westerns Need Women'

By BERT RESNIK
TV and Radio Editor

You know the bit.

Daughter of famous actress makes grade on her own. Conceals mother's identity and lands role on television series.

You've heard it before.

You never know whether to believe it.

In the case of Judy Lewis, the daughter of advertising executive Thomas H. Lewis and movie-television actress Loretta Young, I prefer to believe it.

Because when you talk to Judy, she comes across as a pretty believable girl—believable and sincere.

Judy plays the role of Connie Masters on NBC-TV's "Outlaws" Thursday night series.

She won the role after being sent by her agent to producer Frank Telford. The producer selected her from four girls whom he considered as finalists for the role. The producer later said he did not know Judy was the daughter of Loretta Young.

It doesn't really matter whether he knew or didn't know.

What matters, from the viewers' look at the screen, is that Judy has been able to capably perform the role.

* * * *

IT IS A ROLE, like those of women in other westerns, that is not too demanding.

"I realize," said Judy, "that it is very difficult to write for women in westerns.

"But women definitely should be in westerns. They were an important part of the West. The men needed women to start a new way of life.

"I feel that a woman in a western should have a very positive character — I don't mean that she has to get involved in fast-draw shoot-'em-outs.

"But why must a woman in a western be either doing a can-can, serving coffee or telling the sheriff, 'They went thataway.'?"

Judy feels that westerns need love scenes, "but not kissy, mushy stuff." She thinks women in westerns should be portrayed with very positive character, with inde-

Each Coming Back With TV Series in Fall Season

BERLE GUESTS ON 'BISHOP SHOW'

Uncle Miltie Considers Joining Ranks of TV Vets Returning With Series

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The television viewer may feel like Rip Van Winkle next season as he watches Lucille Ball, Jackie Gleason, Loretta Young, Sid Caesar and Roy Rogers return to the air with weekly shows.

Those returnees may be joined by Mister Television himself: Milton Berle.

"The network has been talking to me about it," said Berle of his parent (or is it partner?), NBC.

"I'll admit I'm interested. In fact, I have been thinking about an idea for the last two or three years. It would combine the elements of the old Tuesday night show with an entirely different factor. I can't say now what that factor, is, or it would be on the air tomorrow.

* * * *

THE MAIN thing I want is the proper time slot. I don't mean it has to be a sure fire time—there's no such thing any more. But I don't want to be stuck with an impossible time, as I was with 10:30 Mondays on 'Jackpot Bowling.' It was a good show, but I myself recommended that the sponsor cancel. You can't build a rating at that hour."

Berle's announcement that he's thinking of returning to regular television may or may not be occasioned by the fact that he is guesting on "The Joey Bishop Show" at 8:30 p.m. Wednesday, channel 4.

After all, he was television's top banana for a half-dozen years, and with the medium regressing to its old-time favorites, why not Uncle Miltie? Besides, NBC might not be adverse to putting him to work. The network is still paying him $100,000 per year under a contract that lasts until 1981.

* * * *

BERLE reminisced about those fine, frantic days when television was young and so were we.

"You wouldn't believe how we put the shows together in those days," he said. "We had two cameras and a drop-roll curtain. We had acts like Harry Richman, Sophie Tucker, Martin and Lewis, Lucille Ball, Red Skelton.

"I paid Pearl Bailey $150. Why, the whole show, talent, technicians and air time—came to $12,000.

"You know what a good variety special costs? Half a million. And that doesn't include air time.

"Try to get some names today and their prices start at $40,000."

* * * *

BUT EVEN if prices have gone up, it's easier to do television nowadays, said Berle. Facilities and technicians are vastly improved. That's why he'd be willing to return on a regular basis. But it couldn't be before November—he has a long-running role in Stanley Kramer's super-comedy, "It's A Mad, Mad, Mad, Mad World," which starts in June.

Milton's other interest these days is his 3-month-old adopted son, Billy, whom he displayed with paternal pride.

"Look at that Irish kisser," he glowed.

The comic admitted that Billy's advent had mellowed him: "Punch lines don't seem quite that important any more."

MILTON BERLE
May Return

ANN-MARGRET guests on "The Andy Williams Show" at 9:30 p. m. Friday in COLOR on channel 4.

TV Series Kill Individualism

By ERSKINE JOHNSON

HOLLYWOOD (NEA)—Individualism, in case you haven't thought about it, doesn't have a chance on television these days. Never before in all history have there been so many assistant heroes. It's just lucky for individualism that television didn't arrive until it did.

Fellows famous for solo deeds never would have made it. After being exposed to television early in life, they wouldn't have dared tackle anything alone.

Take Michelangelo, for instance.

Under television influence, he probably would have joined a firm of three other "Chiselmates." They would have alternated on such epic jobs as David, head of the Madonna and Descent from the Cross to avoid exhaustion and overexposure.

Somewhere along the way Michelangelo also would have organized "77 Sunset Colors" to get the Sistine chapel ceiling painted in 13 weeks, and the Creation of Adam and of Eve, and the Sacrifice of Noah ready for delivery in 28.

"TARGET: PARIS"—not Lindbergh—would have flown the Atlantic for the first time. Lindy would have been the top billed chief pilot, of course, but the plane would have been a four-seat job, giving him three co-pilots and a chance for a little shuteye.

Custer would have been saved by his three "Army Train" partners and even that scene of Washington crossing the Delaware, I bet, would have been different. There would have been three other fellows standing up with George in that boat—his alternating partners in "Valley Forge '77."

THE MULTIPLE LEAD SERIES which does not depend on one star to carry the show is the television gimmick putting individualism down the drain. It was devised to release pressure on human endurance caught in 39-week cycles. "Maverick" first introduced the idea, alternating James Garner and Jack Kelly as its stars.

Now, like everything else on home screens, the multiple lead idea is being copied to the point where every show has so many heroes you don't really get to know any of them.

Whether western, big city police or private eye shows, it's all group activity.

Except for a few exceptions, it has become the day of heroes SWARMING into a room. When a doll needs help on "Precinct 87," for instance, she's surrounded by so many of the show's leads the scene looks more like Marilyn Monroe at a fraternity house tea.

TELEVISION ROTATES its stars like Kansas farmers rotate crops—and it's just as corny.

The physical demands of week-to-week television acting are so great, it is said, that young actors must be hired in teams. But what is so exhausting is a puzzle because even when they act, a majority of today's hardly move a facial muscle.

Richard Boone and Raymond Burr, twice the age of most television actors today, are notable exceptions who prefer to say, "I'll do it myself and no help, thank you."

Perhaps Michelangelo and Lindbergh and Washington would have used the same words. But Madison Avenue would have turned thumbs down on them. They would have had trouble attracting sponsors even for one-shot specs.

CLIFF Robertson is a ventriloquist and Edy Williams a showgirl during "Twilight Zone" at 10 p. m. Friday, channel 2.

Rick Nelson Regrets He Can't Play Football

By JAMES BACON

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Rick Nelson soon will be 22, girls, and unmarried—but that's not his big regret.

"I'm a pretty happy fellow the way I am," says the handsome youngest son of Ozzie and Harriet. "The only regret I have is that I never had a chance to play college football."

Rick, a natural athlete, was a promising end at Hollywood High School but he never had the chance to go to college, despite a B average. It just isn't realistic for a bobby-sox idol to hope for a normal collegiate life.

RICK NELSON

Rick's buddies are all college or Los Angeles Rams grid stars. And he comes by his love for the game naturally. Ozzie was once a quarterback for Rutgers.

"I know Dad would have liked either Dave or me to play college football but what are you going to do when you're either acting or singing all the time?"

Ozzie is the first to admit that college for Rick is not realistic. When he makes public appearances—such as he will do this summer—at the state fairs, girls mob him.

RICK USES his football buddies to run a new kind of interference for him. Else his clothes would be stripped off him.

What if the success bubble would burst?

"If I'm not too old, I might go to college but the way the series keeps going, it looks as if it will go on until it's called 'Rick Knows Best.'"

Rick has been on the Nelson family show since he was eight. He will be 22 on May 8.

Meanwhile, his love for football even extends to girl friends. One of his best girls is Chris Harmon—daughter of Tom Harmon, the alltime Michigan great grid star.

SCOUT FLINT LEAVES 'WAGON TRAIN'

★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★

Bob Horton's Five-Year Ride Ends Without Fanfare

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Bob Horton, the scout named Flint, has dropped off the "Wagon Train" after a five-year ride.

How does he feel?

"Older, wiser, richer and full of enthusiasm."

Bob was relaxing at his Laurel Canyon home. I asked him to enlarge on the four elements.

"Older? The calendar takes care of that element, the less said about it the better (he's a vigorous 37) . . .

"Wiser? I've learned how a big outfit operates in this business. I once read an article by Kirk Douglas in which he said an actor is nothing more than a commodity in Hollywood.

"I found out that is true. As long as you are a studio's commodity, they are interested in you. After the relationship is over, you mean nothing to them. Friendship doesn't count for a thing.

* * * *

"FUNNY THING — I didn't look for any special celebration on my last day on 'Wagon Train.' But some of the crew said rather apologetically that they wanted to give a party for me, but the management of Revue, offspring of the giant agency MCA wouldn't allow it . . .

"Richer? I feel enriched by the friendships I made during those five years — with the crew members, not the executives. I respect the crew, and I think they respect me.

"Yes, I'm richer in money, too. It has been a very profitable engagement. I'm not fabulously rich, but I am well enough off to be able to pick and choose. For instance, I turned down a lead with Rock Hudson, not because the money wasn't right but because they wanted to tie me up in the future. I'm not going to do that again."

* * * *

THE FOURTH element — enthusiasm — stems from Horton's view of the future. He has a brand-new deal with NBC that ties him to the network for 10 guest appearances on different shows each season. They may well include "The Virginians," the 90-minute western which NBC will throw against "Wagon Train," on ABC next season.

"But I won't be a regular on 'The Virginians,'" Horton declared. "I won't do any regular series for at least a year. If I do decide on another series after that, NBC will put up the money for me.

A ham at heart, Horton hits the road this summer to play "The Man" in Chicago, Ill., "Pajama Game", in Atlantic, Ga., and Charleston, Tenn., "Oklahoma" in Columbus, Ohio, and Pittsburgh, Penn., and possibly "Brigadoon" in Kansas City, Kans.

BOB HORTON

'Tonight' Show

Bill "Jose Jiminez" Dana, Louis Nye and Pat Harrington Jr., all former members of the old Steve Allen gang, will serve as hosts for NBC-TV's "Tonight" show June 25-29.

Station Rejects TV Special

NBC-TV's affiliate station in San Francisco refused to carry the network's recent "Special for Women" feature titled "The Indiscriminate Woman."

Executives of the local station issued a statement saying:

"It is our opinion that the portrayal of sex is too vivid for television."

The program dealt with promiscuity.

DALE ROBERTSON CLAIMS CHANGES 'KILLED'

'Wells Fargo' Nears End of TV Trail

By JOSEPH FINNIGAN

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Television's "Tales of Wells Fargo" ends this year when Dale Robertson parks his stagecoach and unloads the last trunkful of money hauled safely despite marauding bandits.

For six years, Dale has been like the local postman, hauling "Wells Fargo" dough through thick and thin, facing adversity and coming out smelling like a rose. Hardly anything stood in Dale's way.

DALE ROBERTSON

Robertson overcame everything except the vagaries of a fickle television medium which doomed "Wells Fargo" to end this year.

* * * *

"IT'S BEEN dropped," said Dale, who has two more shows to complete this season. He looks at the situation "with mixed emotions."

"It's kind of like seeing an old friend die," he added. "I've never regretted working an hour of any day on this show. But I'm looking forward to what we'll do in the future.

"In 16 years, I've never known what it is not to work in this business. We had a gobd career in motion pictures. Before the series I made 42 pictures."

Television's masterminds fooled around with "Wells Fargo" this year, changing the program's format. The cast was increased. The show was lengthened from 30 to 60 minutes and switched to a new time slot.

* * * *

ALL THIS, Dale believes, did the show more damage than make-believe holdup men he encountered.

"I think the thing that hurt us most was moving up from Monday to Saturday," Dale said. "Had we known they were going to switch that time slot, we would never have changed our format. The changes were too much."

Dale's earnings from the show and pre-series movies have made him independently wealthy. But Robertson doesn't intend to sit back "and whittle," as he puts it.

* * * *

"WE'RE going to pick up up where we left off before the series started six years ago," he said. "I'm going back into pictures and will do 'The Thousand Guns of Justin Malloy.' We were planning to do this picture before the series began."

When cowboys unhitch "Wells Fargo's" horses for the last time and put the stagecoach away, Dale will be thinking of new friends he met along television's make-believe trail.

"In the last six years I've shook hands with thousands of people and signed thousands of autographs," he estimated. "And I knew a lot of those little people never saw pictures in which I appeared before 'Wells Fargo' because they weren't born yet."

'Westerns Need Women'

pendence, with the pioneering spirit.

"Above all," she added, "they should let a woman be a woman and use her warmth, her feminity, sensitivity and guttsiness."

* * * *

JUDY IS NOT unqualified to talk about what she feels are writing needs in television—scripts.

For two years she was an assistant to the story editor—a job she frankly admits her mother got for her—of "The Loretta Young Show."

During this period she discovered two things:

1. A great admiration for writers.

2. She couldn't write.

"I would sit down in front of a typewriter," she said, "and the first thing I knew, I was editing before I was writing."

So she turned to her first love—acting.

"I really wanted to be an actress ever since I can remember," she said.

"And the most important advantage of being the daughter of an actress was to realize that acting is a lot of hard work."

In 1957 she went to New York where, according to her, producers were more inclined to take a chance on an unknown.

But not enthusiastically inclined.

Judy put in her apprenticeship sweeping out a little theater and selling tickets at the box office.

She studied with Agnes Moorhead. She got a part as an extra. She got a four-line role on a Kraft Theater television program. She landed a running role in a TV serial. She was on her way.

* * * *

"MY STEPS in the business have been very slow," she said. "But I'm in no rush."

To be a successful actress, Judy believes, a girl must have 10 per cent God-given talent and 90 per cent desire.

"If a girl feels she has that 10 per cent, she should first decide whether she thinks it will be worth the heartaches and decisions," said Judy.

"Certainly, if she's going to be married, she must consider whether she can do both well, have an acting career and be a wife."

Judy is the wife of TV director Joe Tinney. They have a 3-year-old daughter, Maria.

Judy claims that marriage is her most important career. It's a claim that's been heard before, but I like the way she puts it.

"Supposing I've had a long, hard day at the studio," she said. "When I leave there, I must cut that off.

"I must walk into our house as my husband's wife."

Pan and Fan Mail

I agree 100 per cent with J. Paul Gleason about namby pamby "What's My Line?". I never saw such a mutual admiration society as on that panel.

Who cares about Cerf's publishing or Mrs. Gable's show on Broadway or pouter pigeon Martin?

The poor guest panelist must have words stick in his throat with whomever he has to introduce.

No one laughs at Bennett or John but themselves. As Gleason says, half-hour lost and nothing gained.

If you like it, you keep it.

John B. Bush, Long Beach.

I don't watch it often enough to dislike it.

I am just one of many that enjoyed last Monday's "Hennessey" show.

Although I'm an avid Soupy Sales fan already, his guest appearance was excellent.

Not only did the story show his ability to be a comedian, but it brought out the wonderful person he is.

I agree with Jackie Cooper in saying, "Soupy's a guy that loves people and wants people to love him."

I think he's accomplishing that, too.

Peggy Morrison, Seal Beah.

In your case, Peggy, it's obvious.

You really call a spade a spade—good for you.

We need more men like you who can see things for what they are and who aren't afraid to say so.

If the moral decline is to be arrested in this country, I'm afraid a few more of us are going to have to voice our opinions.

Thanks for yours.

Helen Hermestroff, Long Beach.

Thanks for yours.

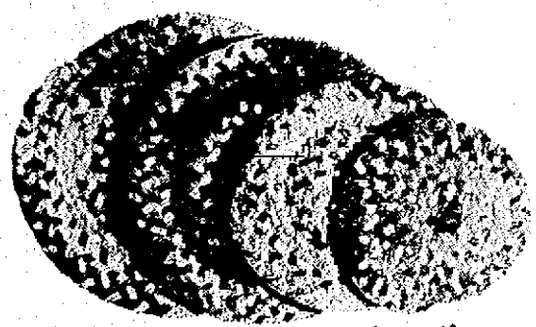

GEORGE MAHARIS goes to Joanna Moore's rescue when she jumps off a yacht during "Route 66" at 8:30 p. m. Friday, channel 2. The sequence was filmed at Catalina Island.

Everybody loves a WARM BATH and a PROFESSIONAL MASSAGE

NOW YOUR WHOLE FAMILY CAN ENJOY BOTH FOR ONLY A FEW CENTS A DAY!

IMAGINE! a Trained Masseur at your beck and call 24 hours a day! That's what you'll have with a

Jacuzzi WHIRLPOOL BATH

Never before could your family enjoy professional whirlpool massage in the home bathtub. Before the development of the portable Jacuzzi, whirlpool massage was available only at clinics and expensive health clubs. Now your entire family can enjoy whirlpool benefits, in your home, for a few cents a day. It offers long lasting relief from daily aches, pains, nervous tension and fatigue.

Water massage is not a new idea. Ancient civilizations — the Romans, the Greeks, the Japanese — used water and water baths for relaxation and for the treatment of many human ills. The healing and curative powers of warm, agitated water were well known.

Today, throughout Europe and America, better hospitals, clinics, health spas, and private clubs provide whirlpool water massage for those who can afford it.

Now you and your entire family can enjoy the same beneficial water massage in your home bathtub — every day, several times a day. You can whirl away sagging tiredness, feel like new again with a Jacuzzi Whirlpool Bath.

HOW IT WORKS You simply set the Jacuzzi unit into the bathtub and fill the tub with water. The unit starts automatically.

In the morning, use cooler water and full force of the Jacuzzi to wake up the blood stream, the brain and the ambition.

In the evening, use warm water and gentle hydromassage to calm jittery nerves, massage away pain, and prepare you for deep restful sleep.

Use the Jacuzzi 15 to 20 minutes each time. You determine whether you want vigorous massage for stimulation or gentle massage for relaxation.

You relax in the tub of water. Like many tiny fingers, the moving water filled with millions of vibratory air bubbles massages every part of your body.

Change the massage pattern to suit yourself. Adjust the unit for vigorous hydromassage or gentle whirlpool bath. Unit maintains water temperature.

DON'T SUFFER NEEDLESS PAIN

Many everyday aches and pains may be unnecessary. Hydromassage provides heat and massage at the same time to stimulate local blood circulation. It relaxes and brings temporary relief of minor pains associated with

OUR COVER

Welcoming a new Ramona to the cast of the Ramona Outdoor Play has become old hat for Maurice Jara, who will appear in this year's dramatic classic for the 12th time as the ill-fated Indian hero, Alessandro. This year's Ramona, appearing in the role for the first time, is Hollywood movie and television actress, Pamela Grey. The 22-year-old beauty is the 12th girl to play the role in the pageant's 35-year history. On our cover Jara and Miss Grey pose in a scene from the play. On Page 7, Hal Wiener takes you behind the scenes of the colorful classic, which opened yesterday in the Ramona Bowl at Hemet, to show how the everyday citizens of the little town prepare for their unique presentation.

NEXT WEEK

Now that Spring is more than just a dream, it's high time to start thinking about making those long-hoped-for improvements about the house—adding a room or fireplace, building a shop in the garage, repainting a room or the entire exterior, and so on. Next week, Southland will offer a multitude of ideas for just this kind of fix-up in its annual Home Improvement Edition. Watch for it.

LA REINA RULE

WHAT YOUR NAME MEANS

Send your name to LaReina Rule in care of Southland Magazine, Independent, Press-Telegram, 604 Pine Ave., Long Beach 12, Calif., for origin, meaning and brief genealogy, for reply only in this column.

DEAR MISS RULE: Please give brief genealogy on WALTON — Mrs. E.W., E.J., Long Beach.

E.W., E.J.: WALTON portrayed an old "Walled farmstead" in 11th century Britain. Twenty-five villages called Walton are in various parts of England. The coat-of-arms of the Waltons of Essex has a red fleur-de-lis on a silver shield. The Rev. William Walton was among the first Massachusetts settlers in the 1600s.

DEAR MISS RULE: Have you information on RAMIREZ.—T. D., Long Beach.

T. D.: RAMIREZ, a family from Spain, is traced to a Gothic settler from eastern Europe who settled in Spain over 1,000 years ago. This outstanding person was known as Ragin-Mar, meaning "Family counselor." Spanish alteration of his cognomen produced Ramar, then Ramir. The Ramirez family (Sons of Ramir) were granted a coat-of-arms in old Castile. Their shield is silver, emblazoned in the center with a rampant lion standing by the trunk of a green tree. The border of the shield is decorated with a red band embossed with eight gold semicircles.

DEAR MISS RULE: Please explain STAR. — L.S., Bellflower.

L.S.: STAR had a variety of origins in early England. The early spellings of this surname were Ster, Sterre and Stare. Ster and Sterre mean "Star," and were derived from ancestral ownership of an inn called "The Star." The original of Stare, meaning "Starling bird" was the same, from a shop or an inn trademarked with a picture of a starling. John Le Ster was an Oxford resident in the late 1200s. The family coat-of-arms has a red heart below a red, fur-covered stripe on a silver shield.

DEAR MISS RULE: Would like history on LEONARD.—Mrs. I.S., Long Beach.

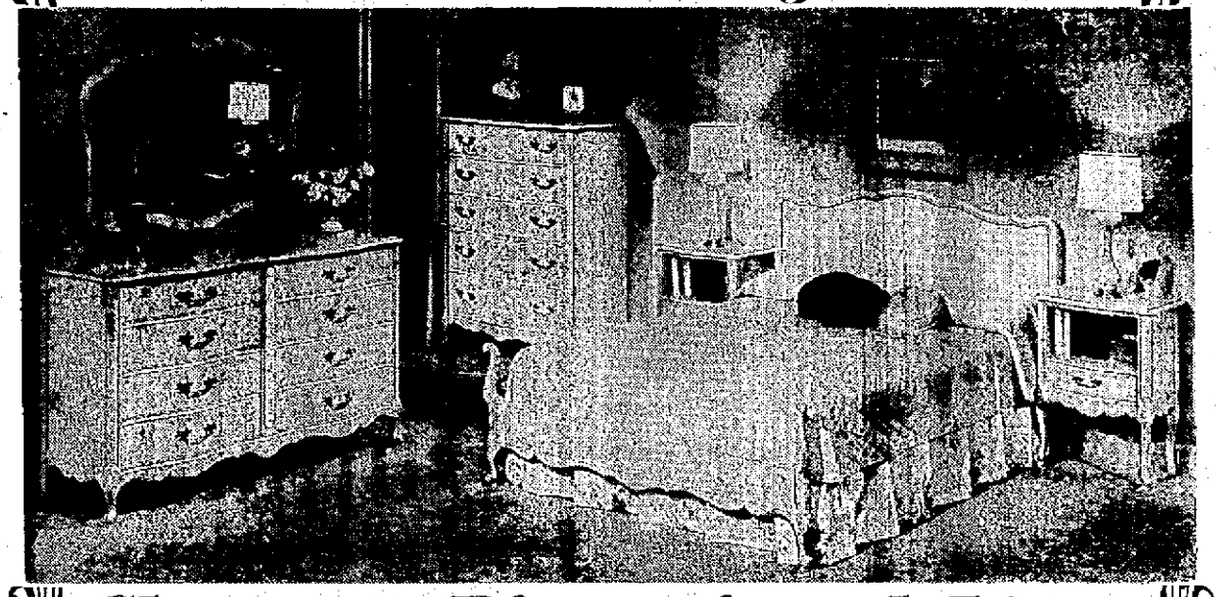

I.S.: LEONARD may be English or Irish. English Leonards are traced to a Saxon warrior ancestor called "Leon-hard" meaning "Lion-brave." Early records list William Leonard of Huntingdon in 1273. The English Leonard coat-of-arms has three silver fleurs-de-lis on a blue stripe across a gold shield. Irish Leonards Anglicized their name from O'Leannan, an ancient Gaelic cognomen for "Sons of the man who wore a cloak." The primary American ancestor was Henry Leonard who obtained a large land grant near Boston, Mass., in 1626, following his arrival there. Irish Leonards were represented by James Leonard of County Fermanagh who settled in Westmoreland County, Penn., in the mid-1700s.

DEAR MISS RULE: Would like the analysis of ROOD.—F.L., Long Beach.

F.L.: ROOD, linguists and philologists say, alludes to a family who lived by a wayside shrine that consisted of a "Rood" or "Crucifix" in medieval Britain. Old records list George Roode of Oxford, 1554. I find no coat-of-arms for Rood. Number of this family were 17th century settlers of New England.

Guide: Don't Push

By Harry Karns

Education Research Associates

HERE'S ONE of the ironies of life: Some parents, in their desire for their child to succeed in school and in his career when he gets out of school, push him so hard that he falls short of the mark he is capable of making.

Such parents need to learn the difference between motivation and push.

Excessive pressure by teacher or parent on the child tends to make him nervous and give him a feeling of inadequacy; these feelings distract him; the result is exactly the opposite from what the teacher or parent intended.

Normally, a child has a priceless, fresh enthusiasm. He is ready to go down the roads of learning that are opened to him.

But find out what his best speed is. Evaluate his ability and the stage of his development. Remember that these factors vary widely in the average elementary school class. Some students are as much as four years ahead of others. The student who develops slowly may eventually catch up with his more advanced classmate. Meanwhile, he needs guidance rather than a firm shove.

THE PARENT who really wants to help will provide an intellectual environment that creates respect for and interest in learning. The number of books in the home and the quality of the conversation have a direct bearing on academic achievement.

Don't merely scold. Open up new avenues of thought. If you don't want the youngster to waste away his precious minutes, provide him interesting and constructive experiences. Take him to art galleries, museums, libraries. Answer his questions.

But you may be sure of this: If you try to thrust an art, a career, or a book upon him, he will resist. In the end, the choices must be his. Otherwise, he will feel that something has been hung around his neck.

YOU CAN challenge his mind (but make sure the challenge is not too big). You can open new worlds of thought. You can guide and suggest.

If you do these things, the chances are good that you will produce a scholar.

If you depend on push and force, the chances are good that you will produce a rebel.

(If you wish assistance in helping your child to do good work in school, mail questions and requests to Harry Karns, Room 403, Independent, Press-Telegram, Sixth and Pine, Long Beach 12. Letters cannot be answered individually, but some will be answered in this "Grade Card" column.)

MEDICINE AND YOU

Find New Aid for Hemophiles

By Ben Zinser

Independent, Press-Telegram Medical-Science Writer

A TEAM of researchers reports the value of the cortisone-like drug prednisone as an aid in preventing the bleeding of hemophilia.

Harvard School of Dental Medicine researchers used the drug as an adjunct to plasma replacement in the treatment of 23 patients with hemophilia who underwent more than 40 oral surgical procedures.

Result: A decrease in the amount of bleeding after surgery. A firmer clot at the place of extraction. A shortened hospital stay.

The report is in the Journal of the American Medical Association.

Hemophilia is an inherited disease in which the blood fails to clot and abnormal bleeding occurs.

FOLLOWING a standard 10-minute presurgery scrub with surgical soap, researchers counted the staphylococcal bacteria count on a surgeon's fingertips.

Surprisingly there were more staph on the fingers after the scrub than before.

Possible explanation: Scrub procedures may force deep-lying microorganisms to the surface of the skin.

VA researchers in Albuquerque, N.M., who reported the findings in "Annals of Surgery," say that a five-minute soak in Zephiran chloride solution after scrubbing reduced staph count to what is considered a reasonably safe level.

MORE THAN a year and a half ago surgeons at St. Louis Children's Hospital were forced to remove 80 per cent of a 5-week-old boy's small intestine.

The child has survived and grown at a normal rate without nutritional defects, the surgeons report in "Annals of Surgery."

HOW LONG you boil an egg has no effect on its cholesterol count.

So says Philip L. White, Sc. D., secretary of the Council on Foods and Nutrition of the American Medical Association.

One egg contains about 340 milligrams of cholesterol, a fat-like substance that also appears normally in the body.

SLIDING should be banned in Little League baseball for boys 8 to 14 years old, insists Dr. Robert L. Larson of Eugene, Ore.

Dr. Larson, in an interview with Pediatric Herald, a doctors' newspaper, says that sliding is responsible for most major injuries in kid baseball.

Before a boy reaches high school age, he lacks the coordination necessary to master skill in sliding, Dr. Larson asserts.

ON THE ISLAND of Bali, men are the traditional attendants at childbirth, the World Health Organization reports. No one knows how the practice of "midhusbands" began.

Some observers have suggested that religion may be a factor. Bali is the only Hindu island in predominantly Moslem Indonesia. Yet in Hindu India most village midwives are women.

According to a report in "The Practitioner," one Balinese midwife—midhusband, that is—gives this explanation:

"You cannot trust women with important matters."

FACTS about baby weights, from a report in "Obstetrics & Gynecology:

Non-white babies weigh less at birth than white babies. Boys are usually heavier than girls. Second babies weigh more than the firstborn of similar sex.

Townsfolk of Hemet and San Jacinto again produce their famous play . . .

Curtain Time for Ramona

By Hal Wiener

"FIFTEEN MINUTES," comes the call over the loud speaker.

There is a flurry of excitement. Costumers, make-up specialists, and fitters scurry back and forth helping this girl into her gingham dress, and that boy to adjust his Indian wig.

It is time for the start up the long trail, from the cast house, to open the 35th anniversary edition of the famed Ramona Outdoor Play which opened yesterday and which will be staged again today and Saturday and Sunday afternoons, May 5, 6, 12 and 13, at the Ramona Bowl near Hemet.

The townfolks of Hemet and San Jacinto devote endless hours of work, preparing the 350 costumes, hundreds of wigs, boxes and boxes of make-up, the hundreds of other items, and props that go into this production. It's their show and theirs alone.

"Don't let your jeans roll down, because they'll show under your dress," one fitter cautions a girl of 14, making her first appearance in the play.

"Be sure to spread that blanket on the ground behind that rock. And do you have enough comic books? It's quite a spell before you're called on to pop up from behind that boulder. Now, you know your cue. Be sure to listen for it. On your way now," a motherly helper says to a young "Indian sprout" not over 8 years old, also making his start in the play as a rock Indian.

"This effort takes coordination from many different sources," says Ralph Freud, director, who is always calm, even in the face of many emergencies, which, for some reason, always seem to arise at the last minute.

"We've got a sell-out," says Kathleen Gilman, assistant director, who pops her head in the cast house door. "Now remember that change we made, in rehearsal last week, where you start up the hill after your farewell speech," she says to Robert Taylor, dressed in the flowing robes of Father Salvedierra. "There's no way to cue you, but I'm sure you have it right, now," and she smiles, as only Kathleen Gilman can, and leaves for the director's booth at the top of the amphitheater.

"This is it. Hit the trail, folks. Good luck. Here we go, Jose Arias, lead your musicians. It's all in your hands now. You're on," it was Freud's voice coming over the "squawk box" in the cast house, from the director's booth. The 35th opening of the Ramona Play is underway.

The cast house that was crowded a minute before is suddenly empty. The unsung heroes of this and the many productions that have gone on before, are alone, and have time to take a breather.

There is Berte Paisley, chairman of the make-up department, a resident of the San Jacinto Valley for many years, who studied art in the Los Angeles schools; Mable Hight, serving her 15th year on the costume committee, a long time resident of the valley, who is active in home economics work at the Hemet Farmers Fair; Eva Dunham, who has lived in San Jacinto for a long time, serving as director of the children of the Rancho; Mrs. Bernice Sly, who directs the Spanish dance group; Lewis Barksdale, who is part Indian, and directs the Indian dancers, who is active in Boy Scout work; Mrs. Norma Gibbel, chairman of the all important properties committee; and John Gilbert, who directs the chorus of the play.

GWEN SORENSON, stage manager, is like a right hand to both Freud and Kathleen Gilman.

"Things went very smoothly this year," says Grace Weed, who assists in the wig and make-up department. "Isn't that new Ramona (Pamela Grey) a sweet thing?" asks Myrtle Decker.

"There goes the bell, they'll be coming back soon Myrtle, have you enough of that No. 4 make-up? I think Maurice Jara (Alessandro) will need some additional touches. Alma, be sure to tell Fanchon Jennings to put a bit more eye shadow on," and busy Berte Paisley, who never seems to stop working, prepares to have things ready for costume changes, as cast members begin returning.

And so it goes for the next two weekends. Organized confusion, one person called it. But that's show business, and these people love it. They are already talking and making plans for next year . . .

Candid camera catches Miss Grey adding touches to make-up for play lead, getting helping hand from Grace Weed.

There's really no mystery why LBCC swim teams always win . . . it's the

Poppy Seed Caper

By Jerome Hall

IF MONTE NITZKOWSKI can come up with something to top his poppy seed caper, Long Beach City College is going to make it seven in a row.

Seven state junior college swimming championships in a row, that is.

The poppy seed caper and the leg shaving gimmick and the "runny honey" trick and a few other pieces of ingenious psuedo-psychology have made LBCC aquatics stars the most famous jaycee performers in the country.

Long Beach City College is to the two-year schools what USC, Yale and Indiana are to the four-year institutions—the best.

But if the Long Beach school is to maintain its position, the young coach is going to have to come up with a brainstorm between now and next weekend when the state finals are held at El Camino College.

NITZKOWSKI, who at the age of 34 has made a national reputation for himself and the school, is working on it.

This year's team has not compiled the impressive records and the victory streak of the recent teams Nitzkowski has produced, but there is hope for that seventh state crown in a row.

Last year's team didn't look like a world beater, either, until the state finals.

The 1961 Vikings lost the Metropolitan Conference meet by 70 points and as Nitzkowski says, "That's really getting clobbered." That's like losing a football game by five touchdowns. Then, in the Southern Cal championships, LBCC lost to the same team, Santa Monica, by only 21 points.

In the state meet Long Beach beat Santa Monica by 8 points and won the crown.

THE EXPLANATION is simple. Monte Nitzkowski is a master at underwater psychology.

"We build our entire season around the one meet, the state meet," says Nitzkowski. The reason is that when the four-year colleges hand out athletic scholarships, they check a boy's record in his toughest competition of the year. LBCC swimmers invariably achieve their peak performances in the state finals.

In addition to a training routine that puts the LBCC swimmers at their physical peak for the big finale, Nitzkowski has come up with some remarkable "assists" in his seven years of coaching the Vikings.

Like the time his team was on a road trip to Cal and Stanford. When bus connections became entangled, the boys lost most of the night's sleep before opposing Stanford, which had not lost a dual meet in 10 years.

NITZKOWSKI saw the need of a stimulant. So he rushed to a health food store and got some supplies. In the locker room before the meet he concocted his brew. He mixed orange juice with soya bean flour and sprinkled some poppy seeds over the top.

"Here," he commanded, "drink this and you'll win."

The boy entering the first race downed his and ran for the pool. "That kid did the best time in his life," recalls Nitzkowski. The weary LBCC team went on to hand Stanford its first defeat in a decade.

Later that season, USC beat Stanford and it was a big event in intercollegiate athletics. Nobody mentioned the accomplishment of the poppy seed kids.

Monte's next idea was for his swimmers to shave their legs. "I had a terrible time getting the first one to do it, as you can understand," says Nitzkowski. "But finally Butsy Wyre from Jordan High School agreed. Luckily, he did better than ever before that day. So all the kids on the team shaved their legs, and now its done all over the country. Now they even shave their heads."

Last year when Nitzkowski's team failed to win the conference title for the first time in five years, he recognized that drastic steps were needed. So he mixed a new potion and delivered a stirring lecture about its energy value.

THE POTION was wild flower honey combined with jasmine tea.

"I've read reports by doctors claiming there's value to drinking this combination," says Nitzkowski, "and I've read reports saying its just imaginary. But one thing I know: it did a good job."

City College swim teams have so dominated jaycee competition the past half-dozen years that they rated headlines only when they were beaten.

The current team is determined it will not make that kind of headlines in the state finals beginning Friday.

Even if they have to hold their noses and swallow a new Nitzkowski nectar.

When Coach Nitzkowski isn't fashioning championship swim teams, he is busy as school's men's counselor.

No magic potion to absorb through pool porthole, but Coach Nitzkowski peps up morale with such antics as this in which he offers an "elixir" to Terry Humphries. Anyway, LBCC swim teams have topnotch record.

COURTESY 1962 EXAMINATION

The Sign of a Taut Ship

By Vint Mader

THE TIME is a pleasant Sunday afternoon and the place is the waters off Alamitos Bay, where an outboard motorboat churns along as its owner and family enjoy their sea jaunt.

There is a hail from a patroling Coast Guard cutter. Coast Guardsmen board the boat. The pleasure craft is about to be inspected for compliance with the laws governing equipment and safety devices.

"So I guess here goes for a citation, sighs the owner, "I should have paid more attention to that auxiliary man and his checklist."

The man he is thinking about is a member of the United States Coast Guard Auxiliary, who offers a free "Courtesy Motorboat Examination" that exempts the boatman from a boarding unless he is observed in some glaring violation of boat-handling rules.

BOAT examinations are one of the busiest functions of the auxiliary's 11th District, headquartered in Long Beach.

A boat owner whose craft meets the auxiliary's staff requirements is awarded a decal —the sign of a taut ship, be it large or small. It is this large decal, showing through the boat's windscreen or cabin glass, that spares the owner routine boarding—because the auxiliary's courtesy checkup is more thorough than the law-enforcement inspection made by the Coast Guard itself.

For instance, there is no legal requirement that a small boat have an anchor and line, but no auxiliary examiner gives a decal until that elementary equipment is aboard.

"Too often the examiner finds a boat supplied with suitable anchor, but minus the line to throw it out on," says Cmdr. Richard H. Hagadorn, professional Coast Guardsman who is assigned to the 11th Coast Guard District as full-time director of the 1,100 auxiliary members.

LAST YEAR examiners from the 11th district auxiliary conducted about 12,000 of these safety checks—all at the invitation of the boat owners. The Coast Guard made 22,000 boardings in the district.

With the springtime upsurge of boating activity, the auxiliary hits its busiest examination season. Around marina moorings, at launching ramps and on the waters, auxiliaries who have themselves been rigidly examined on their qualifications will be talking about safety with thousands of boat owners.

They will be seeking invitations to give the courtesy examination. For it is only at the owner's request that an examination is made.

OF THE 12,000 boats examined in 1961, only about 4,000 qualified for the coveted decal.

The other 8,000 failed to meet the required standards in lifesavers, lights, warning signals, fire extinguishers, elimination of fire hazards and so forth.

Regardless of the great number of failures, the examiners report deficiencies only to the owners of the boats.

The checklist is given to the owner. The examiner does not even keep a copy of it.

While the examination program is the auxiliary's big contribution to the world of pleasure boating, the organization conducts many other activities around the calendar, both serious and social.

The regular meetings of all levels from officers of the district to general meetings of the local basic units—the flotillas—are as much social as business. The auxiliary elects all its own officers.

HAND-IN-HAND with this democracy and sociability goes informality; there is none of the Coast Guard's military organization and discipline. Members have an authorized uniform, resembling the Coast Guardsmen's and distinguished by a shield insignia, but wearing or owning it is entirely optional.

Boating outings are, of course, a major auxiliary diversion, including an annual

HOMES

Its Mood

Mediterranean decor themes the formal living room of the interesting home of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Amar.

By Stella George

ON A CORNER lot in the exclusive, quiet residential area of Bixby Knolls stands the stately, two-story home of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Amar, 4470 Olive Ave. It is the type of home that demands respect and attention, not only because of its gracious elegance, but because it is obviously not a typically California type of residence. It could be Mediterranean.

Curiously enough, however, the home has many features (not apparent from the outside) which lend themselves perfectly to the Southern California way of life. Among these are an enclosed barbecue room adjacent to the rear garden and a downstairs rumpus room furnished with casual rattan pieces in direct contrast to the formal upper rooms.

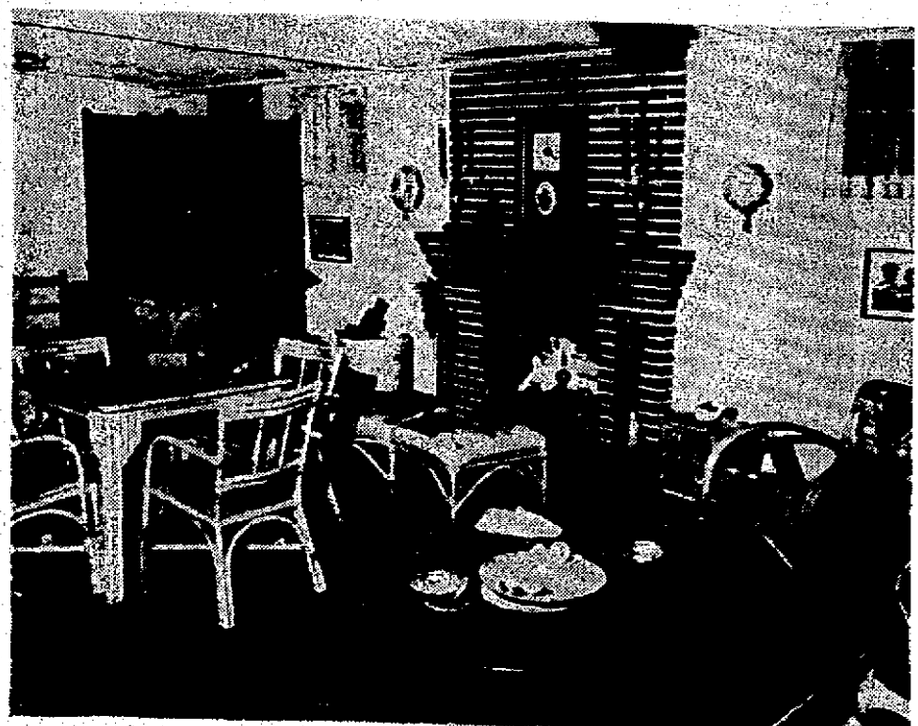

The home is built on a de luxe scale and includes a drawing room of large proportions, a dining room, study, out-sized kitchen, separate dinette, downstairs bedroom and bath, and, on the second floor, three large bedrooms, bath, spacious powder room, and a sewing or work room.

IN THE FORMAL entry, a tall French clock ticks softly in the corner near the winding staircase. Valuable pieces of bric-a-brac from all over the world are used as part of the decor and, in some cases, for definite and useful purposes. With professional adeptness and good taste, Mrs. Amar did her own decorating.

The decor is Mediterranean. Because this theme represents a blend of the best in so many countries, the end result is true elegance. In the case of the Amar home, the elegance is skillfully designed to produce a homey quality that is rare in many such surroundings.

Floor-to-ceiling drapes in the living room are topped with quilted cornices that match one of the couches. There are five different conversation groupings in the large room. Two chairs are covered in velvet, two others in silk with silver and red stripes. A broad mahogany breakfront in one corner holds countless small treasures in china and glass. Two small chairs, family heirlooms, in one corner date back to the 1880s.

THE FIREPLACE is framed in mirror above and to the floor on both sides. Twin Meissen candelabras adorn the mantel. An antique Syrian game table, inlaid with pearl, that unfolds for various games, stands in one corner. Carpeting is a forest green shade.

The dining room is gracious and formal — large enough to accomodate all the extras: china cupboard, tea cart, sideboard, and serving table. A large bay window in the room faces the rear garden.

The study, located to the left of the entry hall, features the finest in mahogany wall paneling. Furnishings are tailored; this is a man's room. Bookshelves are recessed behind the desk. The walls are decorated with trophies and awards. The comfortable couch and chairs are leather. There is a TV in one corner. A camel saddle, upholstered in an avocado shade similar to the chairs, serves as a footstool or magazine table.

THE DOWNSTAIRS bedroom is a room of sentimental charm, furnished with pieces which the Amars had when they were married more than 50 years ago. An adjoining bath also serves as a downstairs powder room.

In contrast to the old-world formality of some of the other rooms, the kitchen and dinette are as modern as jet age. Streamlined and sparkling, with pink perfection everywhere, the rooms were recently redesigned by top kitchen designer, Kay Langen.

Upstairs, the master bedroom is large enough to accomodate twin four-poster beds, five occasional chairs including Victorian Mr. and Mrs. chairs, a desk, television set, and chests of drawers, with plenty of room to spare. A mirrored dressing room adjoins the room at one end, a bath on another.

The guest bedroom is done in French Provincial style. The headboard of the bed is recessed into one wall, and the alcove is papered with flowers.

Another bedroom employs purple touches in the French decor. A small sewing room nearby is bright and cheerful with windows overlooking the back garden.

THE DOWNSTAIRS basement is a large and spacious play and entertaining area. At the foot of the stairs, a walk-in bar, handsomely paneled in mahogany, faces the rumpus room. The latter is furnished with blond rataan down to the smallest accessory. Fireplace and piano add to comfort and interest. Lights can be dimmed to add to the atmosphere when parties are on the program.

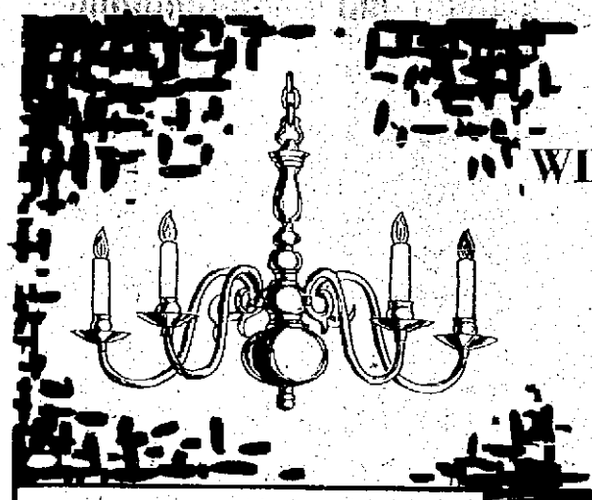

The barbecue room, adjoining the garden, is entered from the outside of the house. It is appropriately furnished and is equipped with all the extras required for its purpose. The garden is expectly landscaped with full grown trees, blooming flowers and carefully tended shrubs.

Two-storied, the home presents a stately demeanor in its exterior composition, a bit on the Mediterranean side.

Wildlife Gets Help

By Enola Chamberlin

ALTHOUGH wild creatures have always had to contend with man for their right to live, it has generally been because man killed on purpose. He killed for food, for hide, for feathers or because the animals threatened him in some way or another.

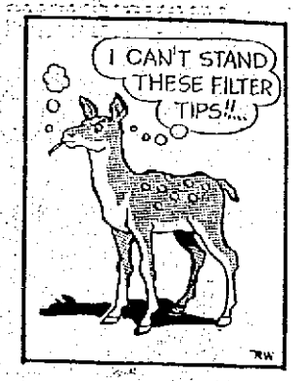

But now has come a time when these wild things are killed only because they are in the wrong place at the wrong time. And to give man credit, he is helping to prevent this slaughter whenever and wherever he can.

Cars on the highways take their toll of animals even so large as deer. In an effort to prevent these accidental killings signs are posted wherever deer abound, warning motorists to watch out for them.

FRESHLY SURFACED tar roads are a hazard to chipmunks and squirrels that may try to scurry across them. Even birds, no doubt mistaking the shine of the tar for water, drop down and become stuck. To keep these tragedies from happening the forest service often allots men to patrol the areas while the tar is fresh. These rangers drive the small animals back where they can. Otherwise they rescue them.

In Florida, where the tiny key deer like tobacco to their death, men scout the roads picking up cigarette butts which lure these elf-like animals into the path of speeding cars. Signs are posted asking motorists not to discard their cigarettes. At the time this program of keeping the roads clean was started these deer were so nearly extinct that 25 were all that could be found. But now, within only a few years the herd has increased to 125.

Migratory birds also come in for their share of protective care. Laws have been passed to protect many of them. In this category, the hawk deserves especial mention. These birds that do so much more good than damage were rapidly being killed off as they roosted in trees on their north-south flight. Now in many states it is illegal to shoot or molest them during their migratory months.

BUT THERE are accidental hazards to flying birds. Ordinarily bird flight is high enough that nothing man has ever built extends into their fly way. But low clouds sometimes cause the birds to drop down. Since most land birds fly at night so they can feed by day, any light in the sky can confuse them, and they may fly into a solid object that holds it. And so man puts out his high lights in deference to the winged travelers. From April 15 to June 1, when birds are heading north, the beacon light atop the Empire State Building in New York City is turned off. It is extinguished again between September 15 and November 1, when the birds are heading south.

Such consideration by man for wild life. Combined with our efforts at conserving birds that may prevent further extinctions such as the great auk and the passenger pigeon.

Recent research reveals fast new way to shrink hemorrhoid tissues, stop pain and itching—all without surgery. It's a combination of six modern medications in one complete formula: The Pazo Formula.

NEW, RELIABLE RELIEF. Pazo is the only leading formula with these six active ingredients to shrink and soothe hemorrhoid tissues. Research shows this new combination brings symptomatic relief even to long-time pile sufferers.

CLINICALLY TESTED BY DOCTORS: Pazo actually proves to do more than just shrink hemorrhoids. It also relieves pain and itching promptly, fights infection, promotes healing, and lubricates membranes.

Bus Tours Grow in Popularity

By Fred Taylor Kraft
Independent, Press-Telegram Travel Editor

WITH the first of its fleet of 500 sleek new Scenicruiser Service buses ordered for 1962 delivery now in service, Greyhound Lines appears to be stepping up its vacation tour planning.

These tours—long highly successful with Greyhound—already are rolling throughout the country, and more are in the works.

More than a few of the tours have new gimmicks which should give them added appeal to the vacationist.

For instance, there's the "Across America Escorted Tour" — starting from the West Coast with New York as the goal—which offers Americans the opportunity to see their own country, and at the same time enjoy this pleasure in company of visitors to the U.S. from Australia, New Zealand and other Pacific area countries drawn here by our own "See America" program.

DOM COPPOLILLO

Appointed manager for the western United States of Alitalia, the national airline of Italy, is Dom P. Coppolillo, with headquarters at 611 Wilshire Blvd., Los Angeles. One of the carrier's youngest executives, he has made travel his business since 1953.

TWO SUCH TOURS are now open, leaving Los Angeles on May 3 and May 31. Of 16 days' duration, the jaunts will move through Las Vegas, Grand Canyon, the Navajo country, Texas, Oklahoma, St. Louis, Chicago (two days), Detroit, Niagara Falls, and Washington, D.C.

Greyhound also has mapped 10 Seattle World's Fair Escorted Tours, each of nine days duration, with departures from Los Angeles scheduled May 9, 17 and 30; July 5 and 25; Aug. 8 and 22; Sept. 5 and 13; and Oct. 3.

Everything is included on these junkets—de luxe bus transportation, hotel accommodations at all overnight stops, monorail trip from downtown Seattle to the Fair, admission to the Fair and a complete land and water tour in and around Seattle. This trip includes the services of a trained escort who serves as guide and who relieves members of the party of such details as baggage handling at overnight stops.

EN ROUTE, scenic features will include an overnight visit in San Francisco and the scenic Mt. Shasta-Cascade area. Altogether, four nights will be spent in the Pacific Northwest and three full days in Seattle.

(In addition to the World's Fair tours, Greyhound again has planned a similar type of trip to the Canadian Rockies and the Pacific Northwest which will include the Seattle Fair.)

A series of four-day escorted tours to Yosemite National Park likewise is planned: June 12 and 26; July 12 and 24; Aug. 7 and 21; and Sept. 11. Included in the package are round trip transportation from Los Angeles by de luxe, air-conditioned coach; all meals en route and during the Yosemite stay; three nights in Yosemite with room and private bath; and escorted tours to points of interest within the park. As with the other tours, a trained escort will go along.

Any good travel agent can get you aboard the tour of your choice.

LARRY MACARAY, 1955 graduate of Long Beach State College and now a member of the art staff of El Camino College, will conduct a non-profit tour of 15 European cities — June 27-Aug. 9 — for the Danish International Student Committee. The nice thing about the tour, and one which should make it popular, is that it is planned to provide first-hand impressions, insights and facts about European culture, plus exciting bonuses such as a visit to Nymphenburg Castle in Munich, rides on the famed roller coaster with the fun-loving Danes in Copenhagen, and a steamer tour through the Greek Islands. Macaray now lives in Anaheim (P.O. Box 536).

REPLYING TO rumors that there is a shortage of rooms, the Seattle World's Fair asks prospective visitors to the exposition to apply for rooms through Expo-Lodging, Inc., Seattle 9, Wash.

"We have yet to refuse a reservation or change a date for any request for accommodation," Expo-Lodging chairman Ralph Lee told Canadian Pacific Railroad, which operates in the area.

Indian World to Display Art

By Winifred Layton

ONLY an arrow's thrust from the towering Wallowa mountain range, in the heart of the rugged Grande Ronde Valley of eastern Oregon, the third annual Indian Festival of Arts will take place June 22-26 in La Grande.

The setting, as well as the participants, radiates historical significance. Here the vacationist who is enamored by details of the Old West, the Oregon Trail, early customs of Nez Perce, Walla Walla, Klamath, Cayuse, Umatilla, Warm Springs and other tribes who inhabited the Northwest, will find a treat waiting.

REPRESENTATIVES of these tribes will play host to Indians from all over the North American continent who are, at least, one-half blood and who wish to compete for scholarships and other prizes. Featured entertainers, who are paying their own expenses to make the festival a success, will include Fred Beaver, baritone from Ardmore, Okla., who has studied voice in Italy, and the Indian choir of the Indian Presbyterian Church at Phoenix, Ariz., under the direction of Victor Manuel, a Pima Indian.

Among Northwest Indians participating as host entertainers are June Poitras, Klamath contralto who lives in Portland; Art Motanic, Umatilla baritone of Pilot Rock, Ore., and the Boy Scout dancers from the Warm Springs Reservation.

In the field of visual art, George Cochran, Cherokee artist of Eugene, Ore., will display portraits of outstanding Indians.

Indians will compete for scholarships and prizes in contemporary and traditional media, both visual and performing. Not only is the purpose of the festival one of brotherhood between races but an incentive for the red man to keep alive the beautiful traditions of his heritage.

TO REACH La Grande, situated 280 miles southwest of Portland, travelers will find U. S. 30, the interstate link between Portland and the East, a modern new freeway. The section crossing the Blue Mountains between Pendleton and La Grande is supposedly the only mountain freeway in the world, and is a part of the Federal Highway Program. At intervals it runs parallel with the Old Oregon Trail, designated by historical markers. For those desiring to travel from California through desert country the entire trip, the route through Klamath Falls to Bend is picturesque. Information regarding the many state parks, including some with overnight camping facilities, may be obtained by writing the Oregon State Highway Department, Travel Information Division, at Salem, Ore.

—Oregon State Highway Comission Photos

When only Indians lived in the Far West, Wallowa Lake centered Nez Perce realm. It's now vacation attraction.

AROUND THE WORLD WITH

DELAPLANE

"What documents do you need to drive in Europe? And do you save money buying a car and how do you ship it home?"

NOT ALL countries but some require an International Driving License — $2 — and two passport pictures at an AAA office.

The old carnet de passage, that involved documents at each border, is no longer needed, thank goodness. Whether you rent or drive, the place where you get the car should give you the right papers — the most important is liability insurance good in any country.

(The documents are not so easy in Iron Curtain countries. Better get AAA to advise you on those.)

Shipment home and import duty is usually handled by the seller. British Motor Corporation, for instance is handling all of it on the car I bought. It runs from $200 to $300 shipping with U.S. Customs charging you $100 to $200.

You still do better on a lot of cars than if you bought at home. However, on the Austin 850 I bought, I could do $135 better in the U.S. when you figure shipping and so on. But on the Austin-Healey, you do about $500 better in England.

On a Ford and Fiat you don't gain anything. You don't lose much either. You do very well on a Jaguar, Mercedes, Renault, Volkswagon, Triumph. The first two are a saving of about $600.

You should consider the gas mileage. Gasoline runs up to 90 cents a gallon — though in France and Italy you can buy cut-rate tourist coupons through the auto clubs. So I figure the $135 difference on my Austin 850 is recovered by its low gas consumption. And the fact I like it better than a bigger, hard-to-park car.

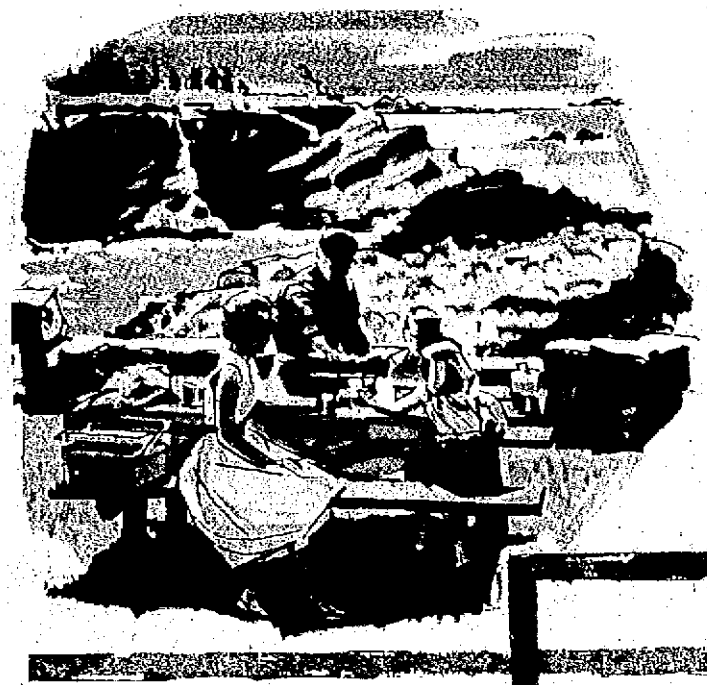

"... a hotel in London that has TV. We have to keep the children quiet."

NEARLY all London hotels have TV available at small rentals or free. Nobody seems to buy TV sets. They all rent. You'll find the yellow section of the phone book full of rental ads — about $1 a week. Only two channels though and only part of the day.

"... anything else I might need on the road in Europe?"

I find one of these travel kits with two Thermos bottles is a great help. You're always having a problem finding

Catalina Island's Fun-Sun Season Opens

By Sparky Saldana

CATALINA Island opens its summer season next Friday with a 3-day Spring Festival and, inaugurating the Festival, is the resumption of daily sailings to Avalon by the SS Catalina, long a favorite vacation vessel.

The Festival, which continues through next Sunday, will feature colorful pageantry, starring King Neptune and his court, a mammoth treasure hunt, parades, an array of marching bands and singing groups.

The opening of the 1962 season of fun-in-the-sun at Catalina, in addition, offers a wide variety of outdoor and indoor entertainment, including a boat and water ski show, a comic diving exhibition, brass band concerts, a gala King Neptune's Ball in Avalon's famed Casino, as well as dozens of other special events during 72 hours of weekend family fun.

JAY NORTH, television's Dennis the Menace, will be grand marshal of the parades, appearing as King Neptune Jr. There will be a contingent of movie stars and other personalities who will participate in the festivities.

Yacht clubs and boat owners from all along the Southern California coast will converge for a nautical rally in Avalon Bay. The boating fraternity will stage a dinghy parade, reviewed by King Neptune, and prizes will be offered for the best-decorated entry.

For the yachtsmens' safety, the U. S. Coast Guard will be on duty patroling the channel waters between the mainland and the island with picket boats from Friday night to Sunday afternoon.

There'll be a ceremonial bonfire and free marshmallow roast on Friday night, a bathing beauty contest Saturday afternoon and King Neptune's Ball Saturday night in the Casino, featuring a gala floor show and the selection of the king and queen of the Festival.

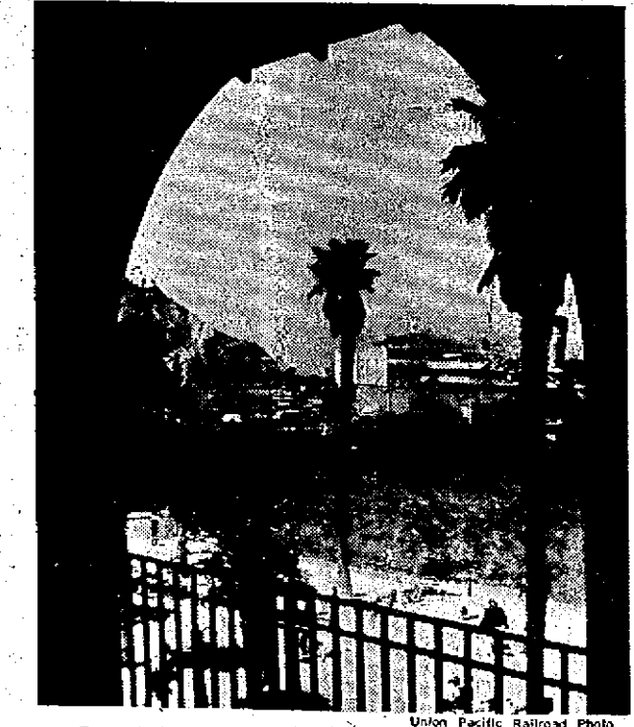

Gene's Photo and Rock Shop

Catalina Spring Festival director Bob Barton extends a welcome to Hollywood starlets, Patricia and Barbara Lyon as Avalon prepares to host the 3-day island fete.

THE S S CATALINA, known to generations of Avalon visitors as "The Great White Ship of Romance," has been completely re-decorated and re-painted during the winter. The 2,000-passenger ship again will feature the chic Fantail Room, a smart cocktail lounge, myriads of comfortable benches and a miniature ballroom near the vessel's bow. Stainless steel vending machines containing sandwiches and all sorts of soft drinks will be available on all decks. Catalina Cappy, famous sea-going clown, will be on hand for all voyages to entertain the children.

The S S Catalina will sail daily from her berth at the Catalina Terminal at the foot of Avalon Boulevard, Wilmington, casting off at 9:45 a.m. The return voyage leaves the dock at Avalon at 4:45 p.m.

water and you can fill the other one with coffee.

You could start out with learning to convert kilometers to miles: Multiply kilometers by 6 and forget the last digit. Example: 12 kilometers times 6 is 72 or 7 miles plus a few feet. A km. is ⅝ of a mile if you want to be exact.

"What was the name of that enormous night club and dance hall in Mexico City?"

You must mean "Waikiki" — where they had the sign: "Don't throw cigarette butts on the floor. The Senoritas are dancing barefoot." The Federal Governor, "Mr. Flowers and Fountains," closed that down. Too slummy for the Reforma. But any taxi driver can find you a half dozen like it off the boulevard, Rosa or Mil y Una Noches.

"How do you have a geisha party in Japan? What does it cost?"

It will cost you about $30 per person. You have to reserve room and geishas at a chai-dai — a tea house. (There is no such thing as a "geisha house.")

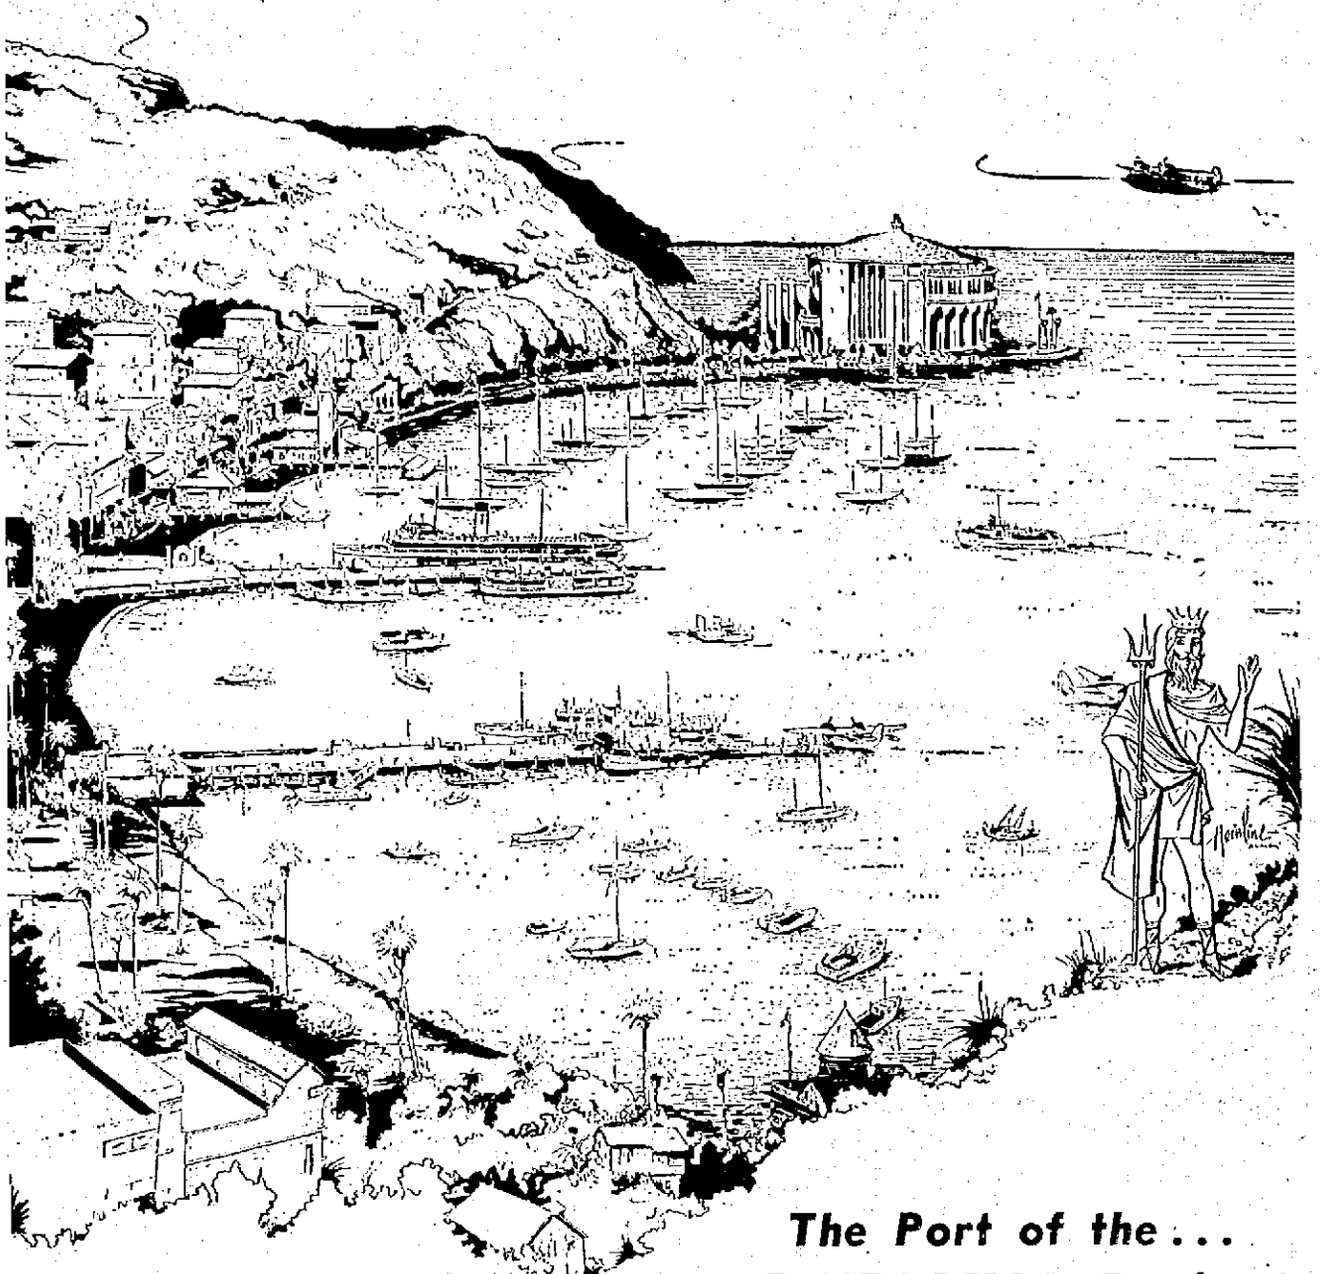

You'll need to be introduced probably. I think the desk at the Imperial Hotel in Tokyo could handle this for you. You might ask for Cho-ya in the Akaska district. Fashionable, wonderful and expensive. And worth it.

You Ask, We Answer

By Haskin

Q. Why are bands placed on cigars? T. M.

A. The early cigar manufacturers burnt their name and brand on the lids of cigar boxes, but this practice enabled unscrupulous people to use the boxes for inferior cigars. It was therefore decided to mark each individual cigar by pasting on it a small label or a star of colored paper, but when these burned they spoiled the flavor of the cigar. The removable paper ring was then devised.

Q. What is the place on the West Coast where monarch butterflies return regularly during migration? S. N.

A. For more than 100 years, monarchs native to the northwestern coast have migrated to a pine grove near Monterey Bay, in Pacific Grove, Calif. These winter visitors are protected by law, and a stiff fine or jail sentence is imposed upon anyone who molests them.

Q. How do stage magicians make people seem to float in the air? P. W.

A. As described in print some years ago, the secret of this trick is that the person who "floats" wears a specially constructed iron or steel corset, which is attached (out of sight) to a lifting mechanism. Some magicians have concealed the lifting mechanism in a hollow pole. One arm of the "floating" person rested on one end of the pole, thus concealing the rigid right-angled joint which connected the lifting mechanism and the body-supporting corset that held him in a "floating" position in air. The levitation illusion is a very old one, probably originating in India, and was once a specialty of the famed magician, Robert Houdin.

Q. Was Chief Justice Warren confirmed unanimously by the Senate? V.F.

A. About 40 Senators were present when the Chief Justice was confirmed by voice vote on March 1, 1954, and there was no dissenting vote.

Q. How does Dr. Hans Bethe, atomic physicist, pronounce his surname? Where was he born? D. U.

A. Bethe is pronounced BAY-te. Dr. Bethe was born in Strasbourg, Alsace-Lorraine, on July 2, 1906. He came to the U.S. in 1935, after teaching at universities in Germany and in England, and has been a professor at Cornell University since that year.

ARCHITECT'S Sketchbook

Simple and uncluttered modern design make it easy for anyone to make this vanity and stool at home.

By Ursula M. S. Dadras

FOR MANY young people, life's small luxuries often get crowded off the budget.

How many women, for instance, would love to have a bedroom vanity but have to wait until a dozen less glamorous necessities are bought (or paid for) first?

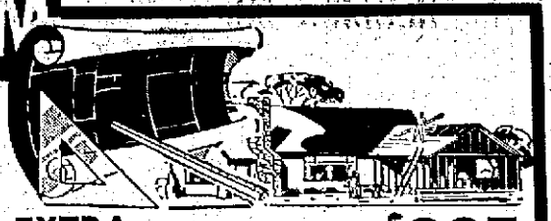

Do-it-yourself plans are available showing how you can make economically in your own home the luxuriously long and low vanity shown in the illustration. The graceful modern lines—without a single complicated curlicue—make it far easier to build than heavily decorated old-fashioned furniture.

If your handyman has trouble sawing in a straight line, you can have your lumber dealer cut all the parts to size. With the parts cut, assembly is quick and easy.

The vanity is 60 inches long and 18 inches deep. It's made of pine and easy to handle plywood. The tapered modern legs may be purchased ready-made with metal brackets which make mounting a cinch. The plan includes instructions for the neat and simple vanity stool.

TO OBTAIN PLAN, send name and address and 50 cents to Building Editor, Independent, Press-Telegram, Sixth and Pine, Long Beach 12, Calif., and specify Bedroom Vanity Plan S-55.

CLAUDIA'S LETTER...

a letter from the wife of Pontius Pilate

Claudia's Letter is an intensely dramatic document written by the wife of Pontius Pilate to Fulvia, a close friend.

Relive through an eyewitness the drama of the moments Claudia cannot forget... the intimate moments she shared with the unhappy man who condemned Jesus Christ to the terrible death that has become symbolic to all Christianity.

Rarely does the opportunity arise for one to possess such a magnificently compelling and inspiring message... carefully and dramatically transcribed against an accompaniment of full orchestra and choir, with music especially composed to enhance the literary beauty of the ancient manuscript.

This ancient manuscript was found in an "old-world" monastery where it was known to have lain among other archives for centuries. Theologians and historians agree it was an important discovery in the history of Christianity, since the letter is a first-hand account of many events which occurred during the birth of the Christian Faith.

Claudia's Letter is a recording you will hear not once and forget! You may forget her words... you'll never forget her message.

Claudia's Letter is more than a collector's item... a conversation piece; it is a rare thing, an achievement... an event... an experience. It is a golden thread in the vast tapestry of literature, art and music.

Dramatically Portrayed by MARJORIE LORD

Music composed & conducted by EARLE HAGEN

If you do not agree that CLAUDIA'S LETTER is one of the most inspiring and dramatic recordings you have ever heard, we will gladly refund your money instantly!

Apples Are for More Than Cider

By Mildred K. Flanary
Independent, Press-Telegram
Home Economics Editor

APPLES are becoming shinier and more efficient each day, but their claim to fame continues to rest on the wonderful foods and memory-tickling fragrances that emanate from them.

Apples may be fried, poached, stewed or baked, and used in a wide selection of recipes. Four selected recipes, featuring apple uses from sun-up to sun-down, for youngsters and oldsters, are presented below. Washington winesaps are suggested for use.

Clove 'n' Cider-Simmered Apples

4 apples, peeled, cored and quartered
16 cloves
¾ cup sugar
¾ cup water
Juice of 1 orange
1 Orange, thinly sliced
1½ tbsps. lemon juice

Insert one clove in each apple quarter. Combine sugar, water, orange juice, thinly sliced orange and lemon juice, bring to a boil. Boil one minute and lift out orange slices. Simmer apple quarters in this syrup until translucent and tender but not mushy—about 5-10 minutes. Chill in syrup. Add orange slices to apples and serve as dessert, salad, or meat accompaniment. Serves 4.

Apple-Banana Scallop

1 cup graham cracker crumbs
4 tbsps. melted butter or margarine
¼ tsp. salt
4 bananas, diced
4 apples peeled, cored and diced
2 tsps. lemon juice
⅓ cup brown sugar, firmly packed

Blend together graham cracker crumbs, melted butter or margarine and salt. Sprinkle bananas and apples with lemon juice and brown sugar. Add to crumb mixture, toss gently. Spoon into buttered ramekins and bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 25-30 minutes, or until apples are tender. Serves 6.

Apple Calico Salad

1 cup finely shredded cabbage
⅓ cup mayonnaise
½ tsp. salt
1 tsp. sugar
1 tsp. lemon juice
2 apples, cored and diced
½ cup halves, seedless grapes
½ cup diced celery
1 apple, unpeeled, cut in crescents
Few bunches grapes

Place shredded cabbage in a bowl. Blend mayonnaise with salt, sugar and lemon juice. Combine remaining ingredients with cabbage, add mayonnaise mixture and toss lightly. Serve immediately on crispy lettuce with unpeeled crescents of fresh apple and little bunches of grapes for garnish. Serves 4.

Apples, simmered with spice and cider and scalloped with bananas, are two interesting items for the table.

Freshest Apple Cake

2 cups sifted cake flour
2½ tsps. baking powder
¼ tsp. salt
1 tsp. cinnamon
1 tsp. nutmeg
¼ cup shortening
1 cup sugar
1 tsp. vanilla extract
1 egg
⅔ cup milk
6 cups sliced apples, peeled and cored

Combine and sift flour, baking powder, salt and spices. Cream shortening, add sugar and mix thoroughly. Add vanilla extract, egg and blend well. Add sifted dry ingredients alternately with milk, beating until smooth after each addition. Place apples in a greased 9x13 inch pan. Cover with cake batter and bake at 350 degrees F. for one hour. Serve with ice cream or whipped cream. Serves 10.

$5 for Your Recipe

TASTY method of preparing string beans is String Bean Casserole, winner of this week's $5 best recipe prize for Mrs. Charles Cox, 2518 W. Orange St., Anaheim. Mrs. Cox's recipe:

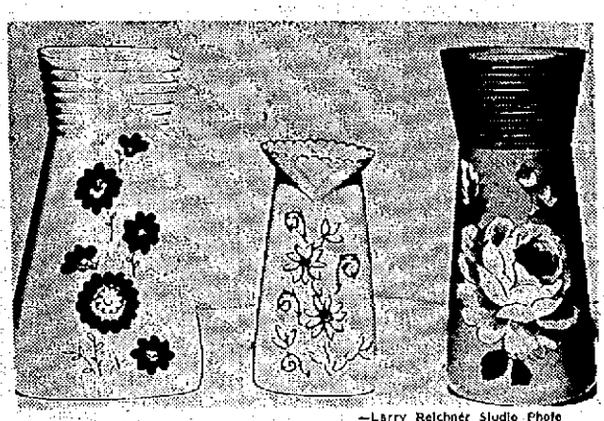

String Bean Casserole

1 qt. string beans, cleaned and cut in pieces
Sauce: ½ cup margarine
⅓ cup flour
1 med. onion chopped
2 cups milk
Add: ¾ cup shredded sharp cheddar cheese
⅛ tsp. tabasco sauce
2 tsp. soy sauce
1 tsp. salt
½ tsp. pepper
1 tsp. accent
1 4-oz. can cut mushrooms

Melt the margarine, add flour and blend. Add onion and milk and stir until thickened. Then add the cheese and other ingredients. Finally add the string beans and place in a casserole and sprinkle with chopped almonds. Bake in 375 degrees for 30 minutes.

What's your favorite recipe? For each recipe published in this space, Southland will pay $5. Men are urged to submit their recipes along with the ladies. Send yours, with name and address, to: Recipe Contest Editor, Independent, Press-Telegram, Southland Magazine, Sixth and Pine, Long Beach 12.

Detergent bottles lend their varied shapes to making of decorative vases, similar to those pictured above.

By Lorena Fleissig

IT IS NOT surprising that you ask yourself if you ought to throw away the colorful detergent bottles when they are empty. And so you save them hoping an idea will come along.

Well, you may make immediate use of them as vases. Since the detergent bottles come in all shapes and tints, you may acquire an assortment on which to use your imagination and materials.

To prepare the vase, the top is cut away with a kitchen paring knife. Simply push the point of the knife into the shoulder edge and slice it off all around. Of course the edge will be a bit jagged, so it must be trimmed off evenly with scissors.

The paper labels are soaked off and all the bubbles rinsed out of the bottle.

IF THE printing is directly on the plastic, try scraping back and forth with the knife held at right angle, then finish scouring with an abrasive pad.

Now the vase is ready to decorate. There are probably 101 ways to do this. The easiest is to cut flowers, birds, butterflies, etc., from wallpaper or greeting cards. Paste them on smoothly. The illustration shows a large pink wallpaper rose on a blue background.

Have some fun trying out your ideas. You might try making a design of flowers using watermelon and muskmelon seeds. Lightly pencil in the pattern first. Make a thick circle of white glue and let it become a bit tacky. Then simply lay the seeds on the glue and lay aside to dry.

FINISH WITH pen and ink and add a yellow dot to the center of the watermelon seed flowers. The muskmelon seed daisies were glued on a pink bottle and, when dry, painted with white. The scrolls are soft blue. It is dainty enough for a boudoir.

These containers make sturdy vases and after you've had the fun of decorating them you will have the fun of giving them away to friends or to the bazaar coming up. They are really worth saving.

You Saw Flexalum Patio Covers in Reader's Digest—
Why not enjoy them on your home?

Turn your backyard into a summer resort.

It may be just the resort you've always hunted for. (And what other resort can give you this bonus: a cooler, more beautiful, more valuable house?)

Begin with a Flexalum aluminum patio awning. At once, you've a big, shady setting for all kinds of fun. Bring out a table—and children's meals become picnics. Add a candle for al fresco dining yourselves. Set up an easel for your toddler. (Here finger-paints are no problem.) Throw a barbecue. (Here you can't be rained out.) For a really gala evening, give a dance here—string some lights and turn on the phonograph. (Flexalum awnings have no ugly nuts-and-bolts look to mar the effect overhead.)

Upkeep? Forget about it! Flexalum aluminum awnings take care of themselves. Their two-coat, baked enamel finish won't chip, crack, peel or rust. And only Flexalum rigid awnings—for patios, porches, windows and doors—give you this security: the Bridgeport Brass Company 5-Year Guarantee bonded by the Continental Casualty Company.

BOOK REVIEWS

Life on a Freighter

By Vera Williams
Independent, Press-Telegram Book Editor

KATHERINE Anne Porter, a master story teller, says 20 years of work went into her new novel "SHIP OF FOOLS" (Atlantic - Little, Brown, $3.50), a gripping, tremendous work likely to outlive all of her short stories.

It's about a widely assorted group of passengers on an ocean voyage, but the voyage represents life, and the passengers portray various aspects of mental and cultural development. Most of them, it must be admitted, are pretty seedy. The best is a nameless woodcarver in the steerage.

As the German vessel, combining freight and passenger service, moves in August 1931 from Vera Cruz, Mexico, to Bremerhaven, Germany, the characters unfold. Many, of course, are Germans returning to their homeland. There are the authoritarian ship's captain, a pompous professor, a brow-beaten German widow, a pre-Nazi publisher, a supercilious racemad woman who writes unspeakable things in her notebook, a German chagrined because he has married a Jewess, goose-stepping officers . . .

The ship's doctor, a member of the Junker class, finds himself betrayed into realizing his own falsity by a Spanish contessa being deported for political activity.

The four Americans are pretty bad, too. A boor from Texas, a disillusioned divorcee, a couple of painters who interminably fight and make up. The Spanish dancers specialize in prostitution, shoplifting and swindling. The steerage is full of peasants being hauled back to Spain because of a failure in Cuba's sugar crop.

Mercifully, a cast of characters is printed in the front of the book. If a reader gets lost, he can turn to the list, the same as in Russian novels.

The book is long, 497 pages, but it is not dull for a minute. Possibly Katherine Anne Porter writes about human beings and good and evil—principally evil — better than any other woman writer in America.

RICHARD FISHER

"Judgment in July," a new historical novel by Richard Fisher, takes place in the town of Deadwood in the Dakota Black Hills after Custer's Last Stand (Doubleday, $4.95). Fisher also is author of another fine novel, "The Very First Time."

"A FUNNY THING HAPPENED TO ME ON MY WAY TO THE GRAVE" by Jack Douglas (Dutton, $3.50) is an autobiography that gives another peephole look at Hollywood.

Douglas, a night club comic and comedy writer, has known the great and near great in show business — from Rudy Vallee to Bob Hope and Jack Paar.

Douglas pictures radio-television comics as insecure creatures who never are sure a line will be funny till it scores on the air.

MANLY WADE WELLMAN, author of "Giant in Gray," "They Took Their Stand" and "Candle of the Wicked," has written a new novel, "NOT AT THESE HANDS" (G. P. Putnam's Sons, $4.50).

Set in the American South of 45 years ago, "Not at These Hands" presents a very different view of Southern life from the decadence-and-degeneration formula readers have come to expect.

summer cruise to Avalon. More active members also turn out with their craft for all kinds of water events, including local regattas and international yacht races to Acapulco and Mazatlan. All their "duty tours" are voluntary.

Whenever there is an official Coast Guard patrol assigned to any event, the auxiliary is directly under control of the patrol commander. The Coast Guard delegates no authority to the auxiliary to give orders or enforce regulations.

MEMBERSHIP in the auxiliary is open to all United States citizens over 17 years of age who own a quarter interest or more in a motorboat (inboard or outboard), yacht, private plane or licensed amateur radio station.

The group consists, of course, primarily of boat owners, the 1,100 members having about 650 boats among them. However, it includes 50 "ham" radio stations and an air wing of 32 aircraft centered at San Diego.

Cmdr. Hagadorn says membership is wide open for uncounted scores of thousands of pleasure boaters in his district, which embraces the populous areas of Southern California, plus Clark County, Nevada (Lake Mead) and the whole state of Arizona. There is one landlocked flotilla in Phoenix.

At present, 80 per cent of the membership is from the Long Beach-Los Angeles metropolitan area.

"We're striving for more membership," says Hagadorn, "very hard as a matter of fact.

"We particularly want membership of people who have time to participate actively—those who have the interest, the qualifications and the time—but we welcome anybody who is a serious boatman."

Sled Dogs to Strut

By Eleanor A. Price

DOG FANCIERS gather at La Palma Park, Anaheim, today for the big spring unbenched show and obedience trial of Santa Ana Valley Kennel Club. Joseph Murphy of South Gate will select best in show. There will be other top judges on hand including Mrs. Millon Seeley, owner of the Chinook Kennels at Wonalancet, N.H. Mrs. Seeley will judge Alaskan malamutes, Siberian huskies, and Samoyeds.

Chinook Kennels is a real "dogtown" in which reside character dogs of older ages on down to purebred AKC Huskies and malamutes. So famous is this village of sled dogs that there is a project afoot to erect a National Polar Museum there, the purpose being to depict the true life of sled dogs in polar regions. Chinook already is the assembling place for dogs used in the antarctic, and Mrs. Seeley has been chief consultant for "Operations Deepfreeze." At Chinook there is a tablet dedicated to Adm. Richard E. Byrd and his sled dogs, and another tablet will be dedicated soon in memory of sled dogs that have given four-footed service to our armed forces.

Ch. Wonalancet's Baldy of Alyeska is the first Siberian Husky to win working group in a show and first of breed to be AKC registered in Alaska.

CHINOOK KENNELS are open to the public from May to late October and well worth a visit. Wonalancet is situated near Chocorua Lake and Mountain on the Chinook Trail road leading from Tamworth (5 miles). Children in particular are thrilled by the dogtown, for the animals are friendly, always ready to entertain.

Mrs. Seeley, oldest woman sled-dog racer and former Olympic racer, has many other interests centering around Chinook, not the least of which is loaning dogs to local children who learn to drive and later purchase their own dogs to race in the Junior New England Sled Dog Club. Mrs. Seeley is also completing her book, "Sled Dogs In This World."

Another big interest at the Anaheim show is the California Collie Clan sweepstakes featuring both shortcoat and longcoat collies. Judge will be Dr. Greathouse of Kentucky, president of Collie Club of America.

"TOURING With Towser," Gaines Dog Research Center, 250 Park Ave., is available for 25 cents, to travelers. Thousands of motels and hotels that will accept dogs are listed.

OPEN 5 NIGHTS MONDAY, WEDNESDAY, THURSDAY, FRIDAY AND SATURDAY 9:30 A.M. TO 9:15 P.M. TUESDAYS 9:30 A.M. TO 5:30 P.M.

'Instant Prints' Are New Feature

Special film material, exposed normally in a roll film camera, can be processed in 30 seconds in a new device.

By Irving Desfor

SPEED is the password as photography advances in this jet-space age, new devices speeding up and easing the tedium of taking, developing and printing pictures. Here are some new items:

A new method of producing a roll of instant prints without a darkroom was demonstrated by Anken Chemical & Film Corp., Newton, N. J. It requires a roll of special negative material and a unique portable processor.

The negative roll in the Ank-a-Matic system, as it is called, can be used in any camera which takes a 127, 120 or 620 roll of film. It is loaded and exposed just as conventional black-and-white film is done.

AFTER exposure, it is put into the processor along with a roll of positive print paper. The developer, in a three-ounce plastic container, is poured into its special compartment and is used only once. When the electric switch is turned on, the development process starts as the rolls of negative and positive materials are brought tightly together. In a few seconds they emerge from a slot, pressed together in one continuous strip.

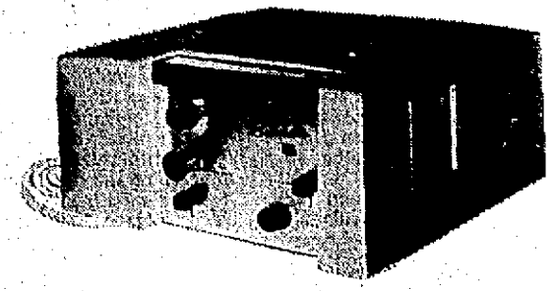

After 30 seconds they can be peeled apart. The negative roll is useless and is discarded. After drying, the roll of finished prints can be cut apart or accordion-folded to form a continuous snapshot folder.

A FAST identification method for 35mm slide fans was demonstrated by Viewlex Inc., Holbrook, Long Island, N. Y. In a few moments, a

After Spring Bulbs Are Gone

By Joe Littlefield

AFTER spring-blooming bulb plants have cast their fragrance and beauty into the garden scene, there are still other bulbs that come into bloom in late spring, summer and fall. are hybrid amaryllis, tuberoses, gladiolus, amarcrinum, pancratium, dahlias, and pink triumphant nerine.

The summer blooming bulb that continues to flower the longest of the all, from four to five months, is amarcrinum, a cross between two types of bulbs, the fragrant amaryllis and crinum. Amarcrinum is evergreen. The foliage reminds of corn leaves. Leaf ends are likely to freeze back several inches during frost.

Once the bulbs develop into a cluster of plants and start to bloom usually along in June, they'll continue to send forth tall and handsome new flower spikes topped with fragrant, pink, lily-like flowers. Because they don't all blossom at once, the cluster of a dozen or more buds on one stalk slowly continues to open over a period of ten days, sometimes longer.

Amaryllis is a member of the bulb family yielding late season bloom. A crossed cousin, Amarcrinum, is another.

THEY GROW in milder areas of sun, or partial shade. These bulbs are slowly becoming popular, but are not yet found at all nurseries. There are four wholesale sources where they may be obtained by the nurserymen. Bulbs are expensive, about $2.50 each, but they're worth it because they are a lifetime investment — provided the gardener keeps sharp lookout for possible mealy bug infestation.

One of the fall perennials that should be planted in sunny flower beds are chrysanthemums. Your nurseryman has well rooted young plants in plant bands or packs. They're a good buy now, in this size. Later, most mums will be sold in tin containers and prices will be higher.

Check with your nurseryman as to their season of bloom. Some mums such as the low, cushion mums flower early either in August or September. Northland daisy mums bloom a bit later. Then, along come the hardy type, pompom; later the large, spoon, and several other types. Two of the late varieties are Elsie Kramer and Treasure Island, both of pompon form. They start in December and overlap into January, if grown in milder areas.

BY SELECTING some mums that blossom early, some in mid-season, and some late, the flowering season may be extended four months or more.

After first cutting back new growth, thereafter pinch mums you want to grow bushy. Pinch tips out each time two or more sets of leaves develop after the previous pinching. You won't pinch those you want to grow into exhibition flowers, or the cascade low growers.

Tips on Gardening

GARDEN TIPS for the week . . . Begonia seedlings may be planted now. Stake the tender young plants and feed them twice monthly with liquid fish.

Caterpillars often show up on wisteria and on a few other favorites this time of year. Spray them before they get started. Ask your nurseryman what to use.

Plant annuals for late spring and summer bloom.

Container grown fuchsias should be fed and watered more frequently than those in the ground. Pinch the growing tips back, too, to promote bush growth.

Pot up pelargoniums and geraniums for bright color on sunny decks and terraces.

Plant fuchsias this month. You can use them in hanging baskets, in pots or in the ground.

Burpee Seeds Photo

Susan Learned displays Hawaii Marigolds, huge glowing orange flowers.

Bright Days

MARIGOLDS annually gain new friends among Long Beach area gardeners, bringing happier days to hybridizers who are now reapings their reward for years of tedious experimentation. The flowers, themselves, are brigtening days for those who grow them for their brilliant colorings.

Giant hybrid Climax marigolds are in the forefront of this floral beauty parade, among them Hawaii, a glowing orange, and Alaska, soft primrose pink.

Marigolds are best sown into the garden outdoors in the spring. Sow seeds thinly and cover with a quarter-inch of soil. Thin or transplant the seedlings when they are large enough to handle, watering them thoroughly an hour or so before transplanting them. Leave a saucer-like depression around each plant for holding water at later application. Plants should be spaced 1½ to 2 feet apart.

Newer hybrids embrace a wide range of colors, habits of growth, flower form and heights, as well as having been purged of almost all of their original odor that was objectionable to some gardeners.

Flower Show

Spring Flower Show of Belmont Heights Garden Club is set for 1 p.m. Tuesday in Wesley Hall, Third Street and Mira Mar Avenue. Plans include a musical program with Mrs. Doris Longfellow as soloist, accompanied by Mrs. Shelby Barnard, and a flower preparation talk by Mrs. Addie Keating. Anyone interested in gardening is invited.

Hostess committeewomen are Mrs. Nannie Woods, chairman, and Mmes. Mildred Hubbell, Mabel Wilson, Melissa Konnight, Nina Parr, Millie Allen and Edith Jackson.

By Dorothy Jonson

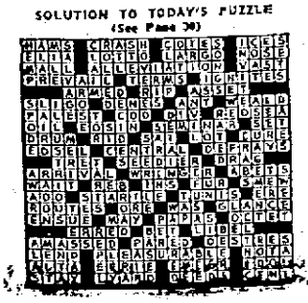

There are a few things we sometimes like to do in our gardens that can be done only at certain times. For instance, if you happen to want to transplant certain tender shrubs like bougainvillea or hydrangea, it should never be done while there is the slightest danger of frost.

And if you would like to plant a citrus or an avocado tree in your garden, now is a good time to do that, too.

In planting any kind of fruit trees, I like to warn people against a common practice of planting them too close to other shrubs or right in the middle of a lawn. Fruit trees, you know, require long, slow, deep, occasional irrigation, and so the method of watering them properly is very different from the way in which you would water your lawn.

Incidentally, now is the time to fertilize both avocado and citrus trees.

Book for African Violet Fanciers Revised

African violet fanciers will be happy to know that a full revision of Sunset Magazine's popular guide to the growth and care of these favorite plants has just been published.

Titled "How to Grow African Violets" (Lane Book Co., Menlo Park, Calif., $1.75) the book is profusely illustrated with photos and drawings. It relates in easy-to-understand language the newest information on techniques of culture, hybridizing, mutations, propagation and pest control. The revised edition contains a new chapter on species of the plant. The author is Carolyn K. Rector.

Golf Brand Crab-X kills summer crabgrass of any size

WHATEVER CRABGRASS PLANTS are in your lawn now—young and tender sprouts or old, tough plants with many runners...

THEY ALL SHRIVEL UP and die when super-powerful Crab-X goes to work on them. Sure death for all crabgrass!

No matter what their stage of development, crabgrass plants are doomed when Crab-X hits them. This no-nonsense killer has the extra destructive power it takes to wipe out even the big, hairy adult plants that many killers don't affect.

The recommended applications of Crab-X will produce excellent results for you any time from early to late summer. The first application knocks out the younger plants and weakens the old, tough ones. The second dose about a week later finishes the job on the big adult plants, giving you a crabgrass-free lawn.

Golf Brand Crab-X is easy to apply and won't harm desirable grasses—Kentucky Bluegrass, Merion Kentucky Bluegrass, fescues, bentgrasses.

Get Golf Brand Crab-X now and see how easily crabgrass can be eliminated!

title or commentary can be added to a slide with their Slide Scriber unit which can be projected on the screen along with the image. It can be left on permanently or can removed as desired.

It's all done with a novel unit which looks like a portable typewriter but is very light in weight. It can be used only on 35mm (2x2) cardboard mounted transparencies which are horizontal in format.

The unit is packed with sufficient supplies to inscribe 50 slides. Refills are obtainable after that.

ANOTHER item is one for 8mm movie fans to flip over because it eliminates the time lost and the inconvenience of reversing an 8mm roll of film after the first 25 feet have been exposed.

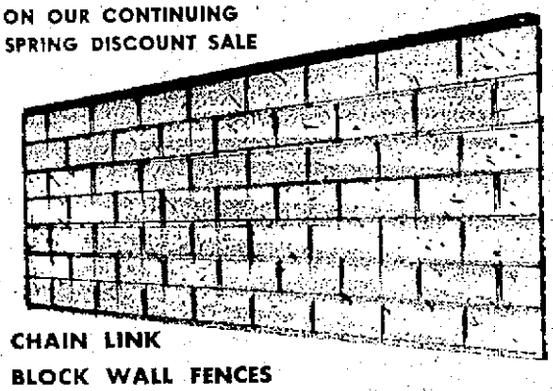

In a literally revolutionary move, the new Sekonic "Dual Run" movie camera has a film chamber which pivots around.

Other features: automatic single lens reflex zoom camera with a sensitive cadmium sulfide exposure meter; manual control if desired; f1.8 zoom lens with 11.5mm to 32mm range.

COLOR SLIDE and stereo competitions of Long Beach Camera Guild will be conducted at 7:45 p.m. Wednesday in Los Altos Library, 5614 Britton Dr.

HAROLD SOLOMON
Restful

AT THIS TIME of the year, with the perfume of spring everywhere in the air, city folk occasionally suffer from an overpowering desire to get away from it all, to visit a restful forest glen and be calmed by the sounds of a bubbling brook.

Perhaps this is why the large new dining room at Hoefly's 4911 E. Second St., has become so popular and has received such unstinting praise from its visitors. Owners Irving Solomon and his son Harold have brought a beautiful bubbling waterfall to Long Beach, making it unnecessary for their guests to trek out into the countryside in order to be calmed and soothed by the gentle forest sounds of nature.

Opened two weeks ago, Hoefly's Waterfall Room is a magnificent extension of the rear of the restaurant. With seating for nearly 150 persons, the room is dominated by the waterfall and tropical garden on the north wall. With 1,600 gallons of water pouring happily over stones and rocks each hour, it is at once cooling and refreshing to all who view it. Among the rare plants growing there are a stunted Japanese pine tree which is 40 years old but only 12 inches tall and a 20-year-old sago palm which is 10 inches tall. The Waterfall Room's long north wall is entirely of decorative stone, 8 to 12 feet high. Other handsome touches include diamond-tufted leather work and shutters on the south wall, and a daring color scheme of various reds, ranging from the rich wine color of the rug to cardinal and burgundy hues on the walls.

The food at Hoefly's, always wonderful, has never been better. Chef Charlie Cole has a master's touch in the preparation of prime rib au jus, which is $4.75 for a large luscious cut. Other splendid dinner items include charcoal-broiled steaks, $5.25, and sea foods, $3.25.

WALTER SCOTT'S

PERSONALITY PARADE

Want the facts? Want to spike rumors? Want to learn the truth about prominent personalities? Write Walter Scott, PARADE, 733 Third Ave., New York 17, N. Y. Your full name will be used unless otherwise requested. Sorry, the volume of mail received makes personal replies impossible.

Q. I heard that all of Elvis Presley's associates carry guns to protect their leader. Please check out this rumor.—D. Wheeler, DeSoto, Miss.

A. Two of Elvis' employees, Joe Esposito and Robert Smith, were recently indicted by a grand jury in Memphis for carrying pistols without permits.

Q. Has any Wave ever married an Admiral?—Janet Briskin, Springfield, Ohio.

A. Yes. Captain Winifred Q. Collins, former head of the Waves, married Rear Admiral Howard L. Collins last year.

Q. I am told that the press plans to boycott Roger Maris, the baseball star, this year. True or false?—Dean Brown, Cleveland, Ohio.

A. False. Maris says he plans to boycott the sports-writers.

Q. When I was in Rome recently, I mentioned something about the reported food poisoning which sent Elizabeth Taylor to the hospital. People howled at me. "How naive can you be?" one Italian asked. "It was too many pills because of unhappy love." My question is: Will Liz ever tell the truth about the men in her life?—Elaine A., Detroit, Mich.

A. When and if she ever writes her memoirs, Miss Taylor will probably describe in detail her relationships with Nicky Hilton, Mike Wilding, Mike Todd, Eddie Fisher, Joe Mankiewicz, Richard Burton, and other intimate friends.

Q. Is it true we plan to send a woman astronaut into space shortly?—Bill Townsend, Chicago, Ill.

A. Twelve women astronauts have passed the same tests given our men astronauts, but thus far James Webb, Chief of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, has not scheduled a flight for any woman astronaut.

Q. I read that the Democratic incumbent Governor of Michigan, John B. Swainson, and the Republican gubernatorial candidate, George Romney, are both Mormons? Is this true?—F. R., Lansing, Mich.

A. Gov. John Swainson was born a Mormon, his family belonging to the "Reorganized" church with headquarters at Independence, Mo., followers of Joseph Smith, founder of the Mormon faith. Since his marriage, however, Swainson has been a Lutheran. Romney is a member of the Mormon faith with headquarters in Salt Lake City, followers of Brigham Young.

Q. Two youths, Loeb and Leopold, kidnapped and killed a boy in Chicago in 1924. Loeb died in prison. Leopold was paroled in March of 1958. What has become of him?—Elsa Avila, San Ysidro, Calif.

A. Nathan Leopold shortly after his parole went to work as an orderly at the Brethren Service Hospital in San Juan, Puerto Rico. In February 1961, he married a San Juan widow, Trudi Garcia de Quevedo.

Q. I was told that Sir Laurence Olivier had gendarmes guard him against plastic bombs while working in Paris recently. Why does he rate more protection than French citizens?—D. Lund, Boston, Mass.

A. A request was made for six policemen to keep sightseers from disturbing Sir Laurence, Simone Signoret and others while filming Term of Trial. Because of increasing numbers of plastiqueurs, Paris authorities were unable to spare the gendarmes, so six "extras" were dressed for the parts and did a masterful job of keeping order around their charges.

Q. Rochester, the comedian on Jack Benny's show, had an adopted son, Billy Anderson, who used to play professional football with the Chicago Bears. What's happened to the boy?—L. Carlisle, Chicago, Ill.

A. Unfortunately, he's in the Los Angeles county jail, serving a one-year sentence for second-degree burglary. In 1956, after he had finished playing pro football, Billy Anderson was convicted of possessing and selling narcotics and was sentenced to five years in prison.

Q. Is the Connie Stevens-Glenn Ford reported romance for real, or just publicity? Ugh! He's old enough to be her father!—Elizabeth Eaton, Hayward, Calif.

A. For real.

Q. Edda Mussolini, daughter of the Italian dictator and wife of Count Galeazzo Ciano, had a lover who helped her escape into Switzerland during the last days of World War II. Can you identify the lover?—V. J., Atlantic City, N.J.

A. Marquis Emilio Pucci.

Q. Can you give me the immediate plans of George Chakiris, the lead dancer of West Side Story?—Mary Beth Lewis, Bethesda, Md.

A. Mr. Chakiris is currently filming Diamond Head.

ON PARADE

Night calls—whether doctors should make them or not—are a matter of concern to every family. To get the facts, PARADE Medical Editor Robert Goldman assembled a panel of six doctors (see photo below — that's Goldman at the right), requested their frank views. For the results turn to Should Doctors Make Night Calls? on page 4.

On the same pages you'll find a special offer of a new booklet to help you improve your family's health. It's a collection of articles published in PARADE over the years on relations between you and your doctor. In it you'll find candid, authoritative answers to many medical problems.

Correction concerning Mr. Ernest Modarelli

In the issue of PARADE dated January 21, 1962, there appeared an article entitled "The Untold Story—Our Government's Crackdown on Organized Crime." It was stated therein that Ernest Modarelli, at a time when he was police commissioner of the Town of West New York, N. J., had sent his police captain with a "$1,000 bribe" to "fix" someone's ticket. After a careful and further investigation into the facts, we have found no conclusive evidence to support such charge and it is with sincere regret to Mr. Modarelli that the matter was published. It has also since been learned that Mr. Modarelli has been vindicated by a jury of charges of misconduct in office.

SHOULD DOCTORS MAKE NIGHT CALLS?

Some do and some don't. Read their reasons

Dr. Clarence Dore: "The majority of needless night calls come from people who have no regular doctor . . ."

Dr. Samson Fisher: "Before the automobile, distance was a factor in night calls. Now it no longer is . . ."

Dr. George Robertson: "Under certain circumstances, a conscientious doctor will discourage night calls . . ."

by ROBERT P. GOLDMAN

SHOULD DOCTORS make night calls? Do people who phone a doctor at 1 a.m. really need him or are they just neurotics seeking a willing ear?

Recently, a New Jersey doctor declared that night calls are unnecessary, a waste of time. Almost any ailment, according to this physician, can wait till morning.

These remarks made many people hot under the collar. They also affected many doctors the same way—especially those who are accustomed to working into the early morning hours.

All doctors, of course, have strong views on night calls. To find out what they are, I interviewed a panel of six doctors affiliated with the Thayer Hospital, Waterville, Me., a typical medium-sized American community.

Doctors—most family doctors—do make night calls. They believe night calls are important to overall medical care.

However, they see some problems arising from making night calls. The Thayer general practitioners and internists made these two important points:

1 Many people don't know when or why to call a doctor at night.

2 Doctors want patients to understand the problems of night calls, when they will or won't come to the house, fees involved and other aspects.

When Calls Are Needed

When is a night call necessary? It is always needed, says the Thayer panel, in cases of serious accident, significant blood loss, and severe pain or discomfort.

"Patients have to use their judgment," adds internist Dr. George Robertson, "but a call also is justified if you have a chronic disease such as heart trouble, asthma or ulcers and fail to get relief from your usual medication."

Dr. Jacob Jackler, another internist, says he believes a patient may be justified in calling at night if he is extremely anxious, worried about his condition or that of a relative.

Some doctors disagree with him. "If patients call just because they're anxious, we'll be swamped," the panel commented. "Patients should call when they think they're in serious trouble and need immediate attention."

As far as pregnant women and children are concerned, doctors offer some rules of thumb. A call is expected if a pregnant woman goes into labor, bleeds or her "waters break." Many doctors expect to be informed if a child's temperature exceeds 101 degrees and the child is extremely uncomfortable.

A Silly Phone Call

Of course, doctors are accustomed to unnecessary calls. Dr. Clarence Dore, a general practitioner, tells the story of a woman who phoned around midnight. She demanded he come immediately. Asked for the symptoms, she refused to discuss them over the phone.

"Are you in pain, bleeding or have you broken a bone?" Dr. Dore asked.

"No," she replied, then added: "Well I guess I can see you in the morning."

The next day, she said she had called the previous night because her stomach itched and it bothered her. This was all that troubled her—and was the only reason for her distress call.

"You get a few like that," Dr. Dore says, "but fortunately not too many are from your regular patients."

The doctors explained that most practitioners instruct sick patients to call at certain times, especially if their conditions should change. "Panic calls," Dr. Dore says, "come usually from individuals who have no doctor—who fail to understand their ailment, and are alarmed by the slightest symptom."

Doctors admit they are griped by certain types of night callers.

A chronic offender is the patient who calls and yells "Come quickly, Mother is sick" and slams down the phone. Dr. Stanley Beckerman points out that the physician has little recourse other than to call back and "try to determine if Mother really needs the doctor."

Then there's the relative who calls and tries to describe symptoms. He ends up shouting at the patient, trying to elicit a clear description of what to tell the doctor.

"This is why doctors prefer to talk to the patient himself—if possible," says Dr. Samson Fisher. "Even the patient's voice can provide a clue to his condition."

The patient—or his spokesman—should relay the following information: the symptoms and signs, location of pain, if any, the nature of the pain and other pertinent facts. Has the patient lost blood, vomited? Has he taken drugs? Did he lose consciousness?

The doctor wants to know exactly why he's receiving the call.

This is important, explains Dr. Harold Willard, "because the doctor wants to know if he's really needed or if the patient is better off going directly to the hospital." Here, for example, is a typical situation:

A wife calls and wants the doctor to come immediately. She describes her husband's symptoms—shortness of breath, pain in the chest, pale complexion, vomiting, and perhaps fainting.

The doctor surmises a heart attack. He may order the patient to the hospital. Knowing the symptoms in this case has saved precious time—and maybe the patient's life. A house call would be a waste of time.

Night callers make significant mistakes that can easily be avoided, the Thayer panel points out.

Failures at Home

Many fail to take the patient's temperature—in fact, don't even have a thermometer in the house. Also, they "destroy the evidence"—blood, or other bodily discharge, before the doctor arrives. Such bits of evidence may be helpful in making an accurate diagnosis.

While patients may not as a rule exaggerate symptoms, they omit important facts. They tend to be vague about subjects such as how much they've been drinking, what kinds of food they have eaten, whether they've been overworking, overexerting. To patients with ulcers, high blood pressure, heart trouble, or allergies, these questions can be vital.

Most patients want the doctor to come to the house. They do not want to be "treated" on the phone. Some doctors are exasperated to find that a patient just wants to chat.

Dr. Dore once got a late-at-night call from a woman who said she wanted to know why she kept getting hungry at night. Dr. Jackler got a night call from a patient asking if he was going out of town. She was anxious and just wanted to make sure that another doctor would be available and "covering" him if he did leave town.

Are there doctors who refuse to make night calls?

Yes, a minority do refuse, says Dr. Robertson, and "they stick out like a sore thumb." These "daytime doctors" throw the burden of night calls on their colleagues. Patients soon learn which doctors make night calls and which don't. They steer toward those who do.

What do you do when a really sick patient calls and says he cannot reach his "regular" doctor? "We either make the call," Dr. Fisher points out, "or arrange for another doctor to go to the house."

Doctors do this partly as a favor to colleagues and partly because they feel some day the tables will be turned and the colleague will reciprocate.

I asked why there is a popular notion that young doctors make most of the night calls.

"They do make many," Dr. Robertson says, "because the young doctor, just establishing practice, is eager to make any calls he can. Also, some of the older practitioners seek out the younger practitioner to 'cover' them at night."

What about fees?

Dr. Robertson candidly admits fees are upped (after 9 or 10 p.m.) "to discourage night calls." There is a tendency to forget that the doctor is a human being who wants some time with his family, to socialize and to sleep, too.

Dr. Fisher declares, "Some doctors look at the increased night fee as extra payment for extra work, a sort of time-and-a-half for night work."

Night calls present hazards to the doctor's equilibrium and to his physical well-being.

Dr. Dore cites the type of individual who calls several doctors "just to make sure that one will get there." On a couple of occasions he arrived in a hurry—only to find another doctor already at the house.

At times, too, the panel believes, there is a definite danger in making night calls, especially in big cities. Not infrequently, doctors have been mugged and robbed.

When the phone rings late at night, what is the doctor's first reaction?

"Experience shows that about half the calls you receive at night mean one of your hospitalized patients has 'gone sour,'" Dr. Robertson said. "More often than not, you're prepared to rush to the hospital."

I asked if a conscientious doctor would ever discourage night calls. Here, the doctors reveal a serious personal conflict.

"There comes a point," they say, "when you have so much work, so many patients, that you cannot care for new ones efficiently. Additional patients mean that someone will be neglected.

"When that point is reached, the conscientious doctor actually performs a service for all the patients concerned by discouraging night calls."

A Compromise Plan

Actually, doctors who are always likely to be fighting fatigue and demands of conscience are finding ways to ease the night-call problem. In communities throughout the U.S., groups of two, four or more doctors work out "covering" arrangements so that one doctor will always be available for night calls.

Should the patient ask a new doctor if he makes night calls routinely? Yes, was the unanimous reply, and the patient should think twice about accepting a family doctor who does not make them.

Obviously, as the Thayer doctors point out, everything is not black or white when it comes to night calls. Even doctors disagree on some of the fine points. This much is certain: the patient must use his judgment. What can wait until morning—and what cannot wait?

The patient must decide because the initiative for the night call almost always resides with him. ■

PRINCESS GRACE

Why is she returning to Hollywood?

by LLOYD SHEARER

MONTE CARLO.

BACK IN THE DAYS when Her Serene Highness, Princess Grace of Monaco, was a commoner, posing as a photographic model for PARADE, her father, the late wise and witty John Kelly of Philadelphia, told her, "There are two words no prudent woman uses—'never' and 'always.'"

From her dad, who rose from Philadelphia bricklayer to multi-millionaire, Grace Kelly accepted and retained that bit of advice, which is why when anyone asked her during the past six years, "Will you never again star in another motion picture?" or some variation thereof, Princess Grace made sure not to use the words "never" or "always."

She always hedged with, "I am much too busy with my husband and children," or "I have left that all behind," or "I am afraid my movie-making days are part of my past."

But the truth is that ever since her marriage to Prince Rainier, the former Grace Kelly has retained a Hollywood press agent, has kept in communication with the film colony and had talks with her agent Jay Kanter of MCA. Film stars shooting on the Riviera have always been welcomed by Princess Grace and her show-business-minded husband.

Urge to Come Back

In addition, as proven by Hollywood history, it has been an unwritten rule in this industry that no actress can resist the lure of a screen comeback. And that applies even to the great Garbo, last of the holdouts, for whom several producers are preparing comeback vehicles.

The announcement a few weeks ago, therefore, that Princess Grace was returning to Hollywood this summer to star in* Marnie *for Alfred Hitchcock came as a surprise to no one.

What is surprising, however, are the reasons offered for Grace's comeback.

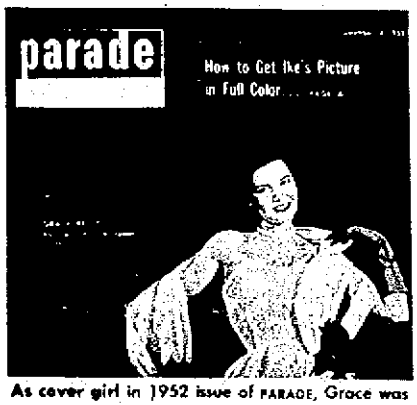

There are two sets of these, one emanating from the Princess and her entourage, and the other from the people of Monaco.

Because she is now, at 33, well versed in the ways of royal protocol, Princess Grace deferred to her husband in explaining her comeback decision. Treating the entire affair in a jovial, light-hearted manner, Rainier revealed that like former President Eisenhower, he, too, is a golf-addict, in fact loves to spend his vacation playing golf. "The Princess does not," he pointed out, "so this is really my little holiday treat. While she is making her film, I will play golf.

"I know," he added, "that she would very much like to see whether she can still act as well as she used to. After all, she spent many years of time and effort in establishing her screen career, and then she gave it all up for marriage to me."

When asked if the Princess might not be fed up with life in Monaco or simply bored, Rainier quickly denied it. "She has many interests here," he declared, "our children, the Junior Girl Guides, the Red Cross, many interests. But I think," he went on understandingly, "that every talented woman derives satisfaction from doing a creative job, a piece of work which she can pursue enthusiastically. And that is why she wants to act—if only temporarily—in another film."

When I asked Grace's press attaché at the palace whether money might have been a motivating factor in her planned return to Hollywood—Grace will receive at least one million dollars for the film—he laughed. "Of course not," he said. "She will give all the money to a charity for children. She is doing it merely as a divertissement . . . a diversion. Right now we do not know whether she will take the children to Hollywood or not. But it is merely a divertissement approved by her very understanding husband."

As cover girl in 1952 issue of PARADE, Grace was brunette, and was 10 lbs. lighter than she is now.

According to the Monegasques, however, Grace Kelly Grimaldi is departing Monte Carlo "in the year of the blow-up with Big Charlie."

The "Big Charlie" referred to is Charles de Gaulle, President of France, who doesn't like Prince Rainier on a personal basis and would just as soon force his abdication.

By making Monaco a virtually tax-free principality, Rainier has attracted so many people that land in Monaco, much of which he owns, has tripled in value.

Now what de Gaulle contends is that Monaco is being protected by France, that the Monegasques enjoy most of the privileges of French protection and neighborliness and that Prince Rainier and his subjects should pay their fair share of taxes.

What De Gaulle Wants

In addition, de Gaulle wants the right to countersign Prince Rainier's decrees. Three years ago Rainier suspended the Constitution, dissolved the elected Parliament of his little 370-acre country, banned all political meetings and began to rule by decree. Three weeks ago he restored the old constitution of his vest-pocket principality. He also proposed that Monaco have its own "flag of convenience" and that Monte Carlo become a free port attracting a tremendous amount of trade and tourist business, all of which would detract from France.

De Gaulle quickly snuffed out these proposals and at one point threatened to throw a cordon of troops around Monaco and cut off its supply of water and electricity.

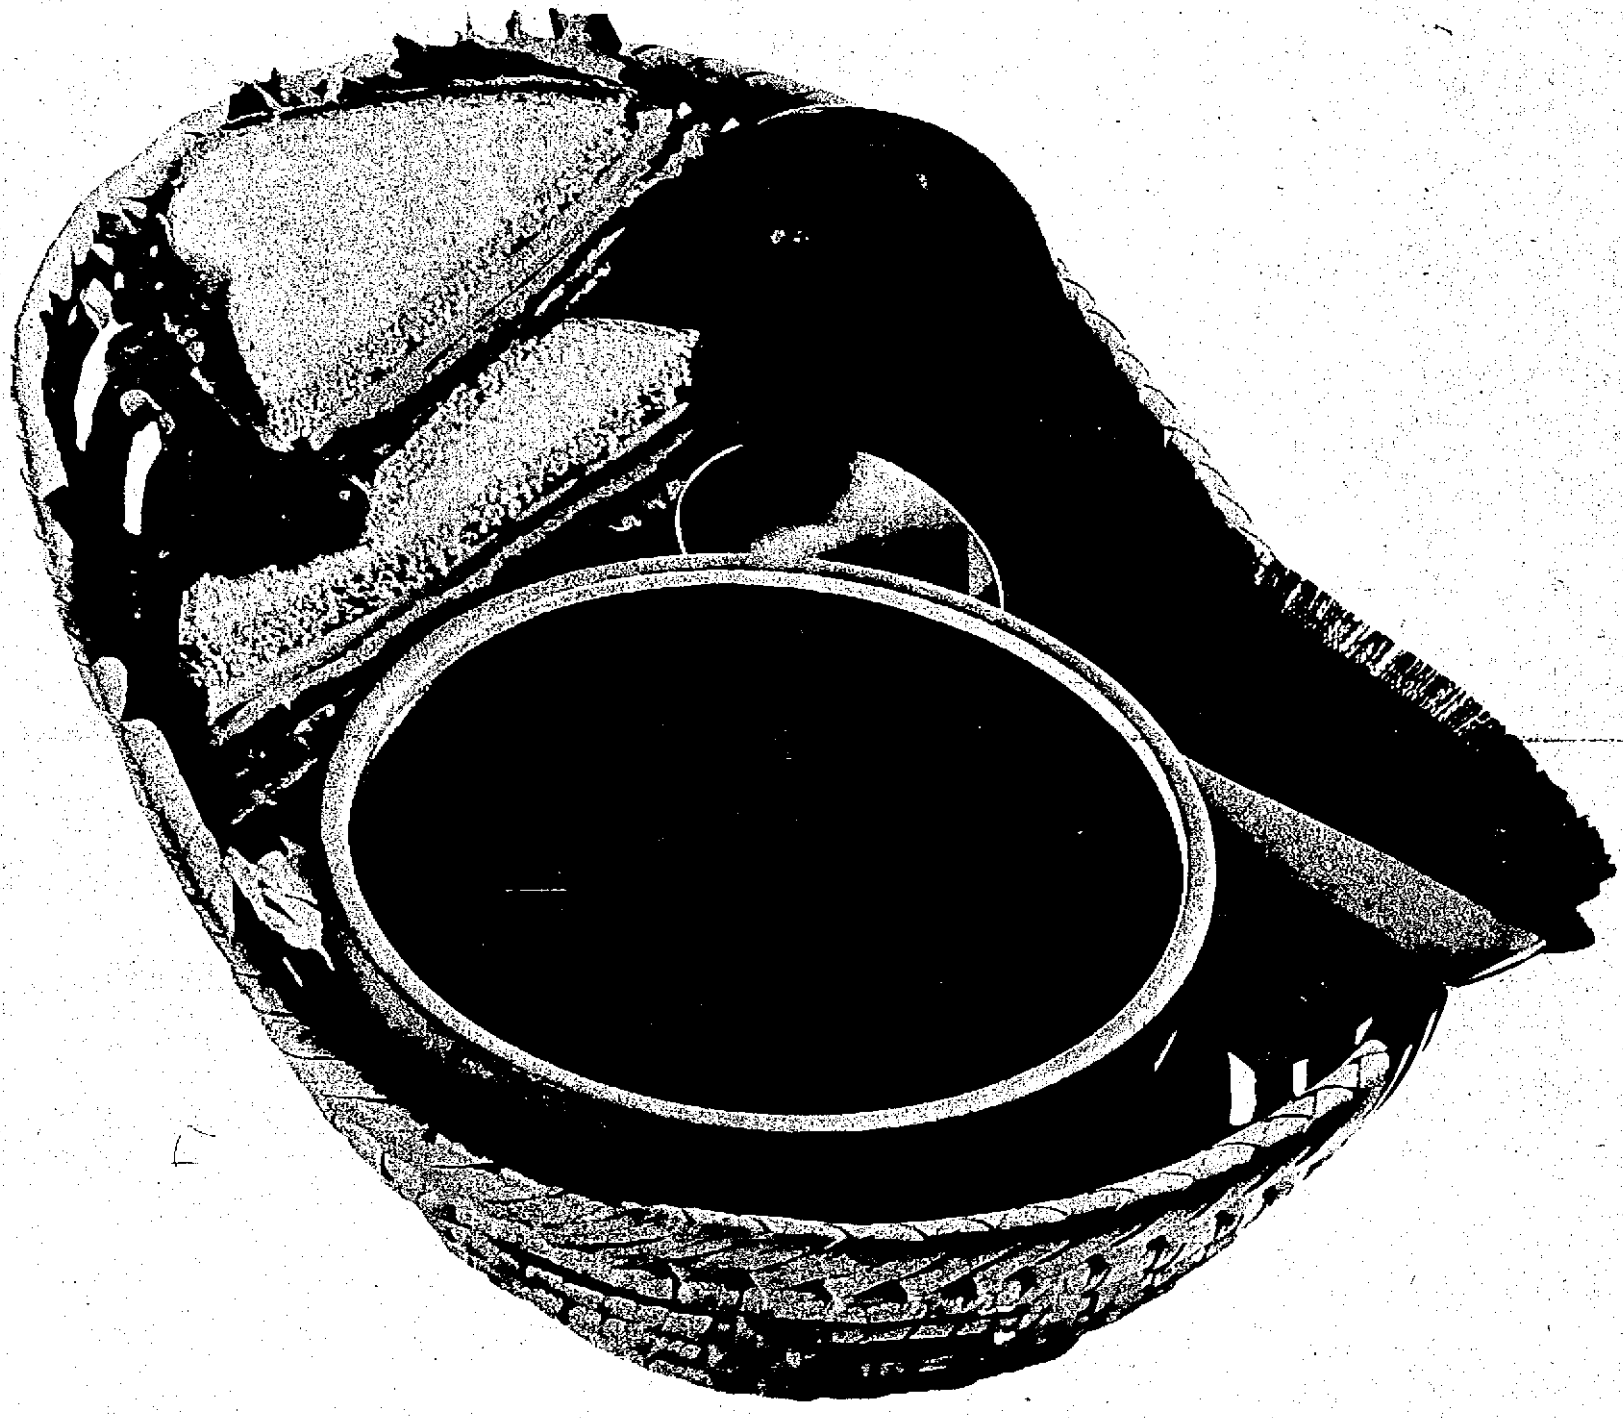

Eventually the French president relented but he has made it no secret that he regards 38-year-old Rainier as an autocratic upstart.

Another bone of contention between these two is Emile Pelletier, French-nominated prime minister of Monaco and a personal friend of de Gaulle who had chosen him for this soft, tax-free $35,000 per year job. Recently Rainier fired Pelletier and de Gaulle fumed.

Most Monegasques are frankly appalled at these developments. If French taxes are imposed upon them, they will scream bloody murder and accuse Rainier of ruining their tax-free principality.

Many of them do not like Rainier—they accuse him of being petulant, autocratic and dictatorial, although they do admit he is a great promoter—and they suggest privately that he abandon his throne and let a regency rule for his son Prince Albert, the heir apparent born March 14, 1958. They insist that Rainier is personally unacceptable to de Gaulle and that practically any other leader can get them a better tax deal with France.

Rainier at this writing has asked de Gaulle for a meeting to settle French-Monegasque disputes and claims he will give his people a modern constitution. Many of the more cynical Monegasques say the promise is merely an attempt to win them to his side in the fight against de Gaulle.

As for Her Serene Highness, Princess Grace, they say she knows all about the trouble in Monaco and wants to get out to Hollywood with the kids. Some of the older Monegasques say it is unbefitting for a Princess to act in films but many others insist she has a perfect right to do what she likes best.

Says one hotel manager, "The way things are going, who knows how much longer she will remain an active princess?"

The facts concerning Princess Grace's comeback vehicle are: She has never renounced her screen career and from time to time her agent Jay Kanter has sent her story properties she might be interested in.

Grace Takes a Job

"Six months ago," says Jay Kanter, "I sent her a copy of Marni, the story of an English girl who spends her life lying and stealing and avoiding love until the real thing accidentally comes along. I told her Alfred Hitchcock owned the property. Grace and Hitch have made several films together, and I felt that was an added attraction. Sure enough, Grace sent word back that she'd like to do the film some time this summer. Since we handle both her and Hitch, it was a cinch to work out the deal."

Director Alfred Hitchcock, who also described Grace as "generating wholesome sex appeal and sexual elegance" and said of her, "There is nothing more exciting on the screen than an iceberg that is about to explode," may find it a bit more difficult to direct Princess Grace this summer than he did Grace Kelly in 1954 when she shot To Catch a Thief on the French Riviera.

Back then, I remember Hitch waddled up to her one morning and in a particular two-shot with Cary Grant, said, "Darling, we need a little more sex in your eyes."

Surely, one cannot demand the same thing in the same way from a young woman who has been a Princess and a Serene Highness for the last six years.

Watching them shoot Marni this August should prove an interesting experience—interesting indeed.

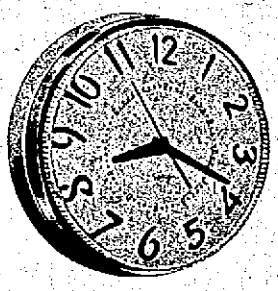

Grace talks with director Hitchcock on film set in 1954.

LADIES IN A WHIRL

DID YOU EVER HEAR of a woman's club without officers, dues or social affairs—whose members never 'meet' but merely hover together? That's the way it is with the Whirly-Girls, shown on this page. The nation's first organization of women helicopter pilots, they'll be hanging around Washington this week during their annual three-day hovering.

The Whirly-Girls have been chopping along since 1955. Their aim, according to "den mother" Jean Ross Howard, is to promote more heliports and dramatize the role of women in flying. Members include Janey Hart, wife of Michigan Sen. Philip Hart, who has volunteered as an astronaut; Massachusetts Aeronautics Commissioner Charlotte Kelley; Edna Gardner Whyte, who learned to fly at 50. The girls now are recruiting junior members. One member recently taught her daughter, 15, to solo in a plane and a helicopter. Any day now, the girl will learn to drive a car. —TREVOR ARMBRISTER.

PARADE OF PROGRESS

Seeking new ideas? Try these by PETER DRYDEN

Fiberglas chaise: Here's a tough molded sun lounge guaranteed never to sag. Its mirror-like surface won't snag clothes—and it needs no maintenance beyond occasional wiping. 6-position headrest, foam pad. Details: DuCor Div., Florida B & B, Dept. PP, 250 W. 24, Box 636, Hialeah, Fla.

Versatile can-opener: This conveniently portable can-opener opens any size can—and has snap-in attachments that make it a knife sharpener, drink mixer, and all-purpose whipper. With wall storage rack, electric cord: $29.50. Ronson, Dept. PP, 1 Ronson Rd., Woodbridge, N. J.

PARADE'S SPECIAL INTELLIGENCE REPORT

RIO DE JANEIRO. Veteran observers here claim a revolution is inevitable. Brasilia, the new inland capital, is rapidly becoming the world's largest ghost town. Former President Juscelino Kubitschek has become one of the world's richest millionaires. Graft and corruption are endemic, sweeping the country at every level. Brazilian politicians have deposited tremendous sums in Swiss banks.

The situation here is similar to the one which existed in pre-Castro, pre-Communist Cuba. The U.S. may pour limitless funds into this bankrupt nation in an effort to save it from Communism and anti-Americanism, but all of it will go down the drain unless the character of the nation's leaders changes.

For example, a mayor of Sao Paulo while campaigning for office told the people, "Sure I steal, but I also achieve." Brazilians claim that Janio Quadros, the President who resigned, is personally honest -- "but drunk with power and sex." Things here look terrible.

BEIRUT, LEBANON. Women are taking over the white slavery run in the Near East. Interpol, the international police organization, reports that this constitutes the single largest headache in trying to crack the existing vice ring.

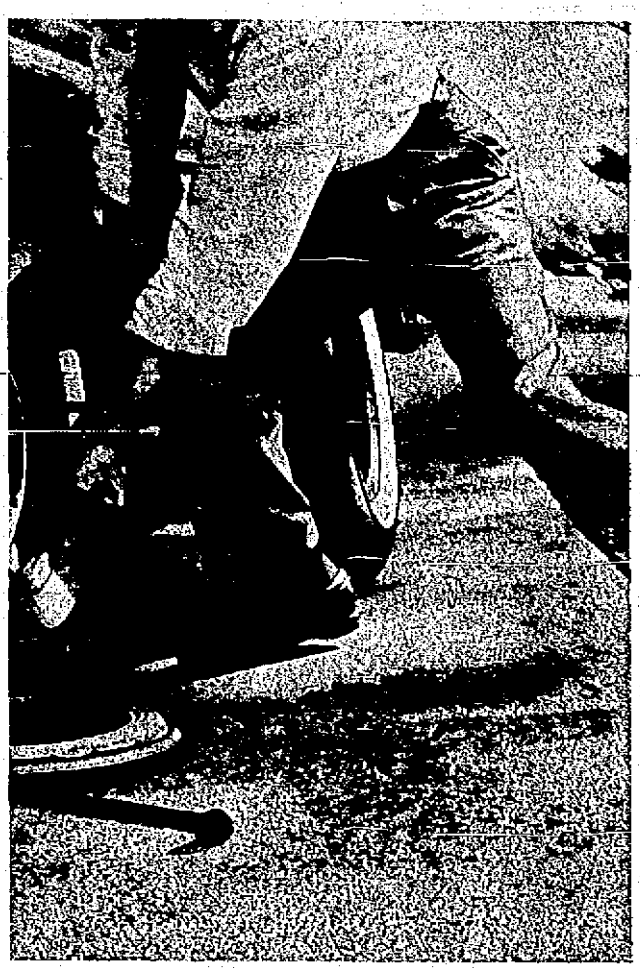

Here's how the system works: Lebanese and Syrian women recruit girls from France, Austria, and Germany. Under contract these girls "sell" themselves for a specific period of time, usually from a week to six months.

The girls come to Lebanon and from here are sent to rich protectors in Saudi Arabia, Kuwait, and Qatar. They stay with their buyers for agreed periods of time, then have the option of renewing their contracts, being sold to another buyer, or returning home.

The woman agent who arranges the deal receives 20 per cent of the selling price plus a bonus from the buyer if the "merchandise" turns out to be exceedingly attractive.

TOKYO. Each year 220,000 new residents move into Tokyo, a city which cannot care for its present population of 10,000,000. The government is frantically trying to find a solution to the problem since Tokyo today doesn't have enough housing, transport or water to maintain decent standards. One solution: have the government develop a group of suburbs within a 100-mile radius of Tokyo.

BARCELONA. Biggest demonstrations yet against Dictator Franco are currently under way in Spain. At Barcelona University recently, a $2500 portrait of Franco was ripped to shreds, a dummy hanging from a gallows put in its place. Franco's police have been court-martialling students for writing "Liberty and Democracy" on classroom blackboards.

A man needs Jockey support

Jockey is for men. Made from 13 separate pieces to give the support and protection every man needs

A man needs a special kind of support. And only Jockey builds a brief from 13 separate, tailored pieces to give that support — plus real male comfort.

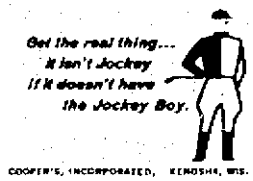

Other manufacturers have tried to imitate it, but they've never even come close. Jockey tailors 13 pieces of closer knit, combed cotton into an exclusive design that fits the male contour right to give maximum support and comfort.

No other brief has such a firm, long-lasting waistband to hold the brief up for constant support. And, no other brief has the Jockey assurance of no-gap security.

You can pay less for briefs. But you'll wind up with less. Less comfort. Less wear. And certainly less support.

Be sure to get the real thing . . . get the Jockey support a man needs.

BASHIR AHMED, one of the world's best known camel drivers, is turning out to be one of America's most promising ambassadors-at-large. The 48-year-old Pakistani, who came to know the U.S., and vice versa, when he was the guest of Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson last October, is creating more good will for the U.S. along camel row than foreign aid. Everybody here from the donkey-cart driver to the sweeper tells and retells the story of how Bashir, the common man, was treated like a king in "Am'rika." Bashir says, "Am'rik'ns are wonderful, they treated me better than my mother." I went to Pakistan to find how Bashir's life had changed since his great adventure in the U.S. I also wanted to know if he was still the same charming fellow Johnson picked up on a hill here last May.

Now he wants an education—for his sons

I found Bashir fully as clever as his news clippings indicate. Many people in the U.S. doubted that an illiterate man like Bashir could speak so eloquently. When asked about his poetic answers, Bashir told me: "Do you think only educated people have brains? God gave us common people brains too."

Bashir's American visit may have changed his life, but not his address—one of the worst slums in Karachi. His hut, made of burlap scraps, straw matting and wrapping paper, is a far cry from his $30-a-day room at the Waldorf Astoria Towers in New York and the guest room at Lyndon Johnson's ranch in Texas. Bashir lives here with his wife and three of his four children in a community made up of 800 Moslem families, refugees from India after the 1947 partition.

Bashir's hovel is different from the others in that it has a table piled high with a suitcase, a Pan American overseas bag, souvenir of his 15,000-mile flight to the U.S., a box that once contained a Kissy doll, and gift clothing from the U.S. Another souvenir is a supermarket cart, which Bashir uses as a baby buggy.

The camel driver returned from the U.S. with a new interest—politics. Despite the fact that he can't read and can write only his name (he learned how in the U.S. so he could sign autographs), Bashir is a candidate for election to the Provincial Assembly in Lahore, a 150-member body akin to a state legislature. He is also president of the newly-organized City Railway Colony Social Welfare Organization, a community-improvement group. Bashir admits he can't really afford to be a politician, but he feels it's more important to do something for the people.

"I'm a poor man myself, but as people want me to contest the election I will do so," Bashir says with all the aplomb of a drafted candidate.

Prestige Up—Pay Down

All this may enhance his prestige and celebrity status, but it has diminished his take-home pay. B. J. (Before Johnson), Bashir made 25 rupees (about $5.50) a day picking up loads of coal and wheat from the railroad terminal near his hut. He was able to save about five rupees daily.

Now, with little time to drive his camel, Bashir pays a jobber four rupees a day to do his hauling. Bashir's main occupation is learning how to drive the red pickup truck sent to him as a gift from Ford.

I went with him once when he was having a particularly hard time with his driving lesson. While he can do figure-eight turns, he has a heavy touch with the brake pedal. After a sudden jolting stop, he turned to me in exasperation. "This truck is for engineers and big officers," he said, "it's not for a man who has to labor to earn his living."

Bashir intends to go into the carting business with his truck—but he will also keep his camel. The camel cart hauls more. Such a "fleet" will make him a real entrepreneur in the eyes of his Pakistani neighbors.

Until recently, Bashir had no idea of what an education could do for a man. His philosophy was that of millions of other Pakistanis—that it was "not his lot" to be schooled. It's good fortune to be educated, but if you're not, you're not.

Bashir's visit to America changed this view. "I wanted to earn enough to keep my family happy, but I see now that it is not enough. I am a camel driver because I have no education. I use my hands, but now I want my sons to be educated in 'Am'rika', so they could earn a living with greater ease and less toil."

Bashir has a more traditional goal for his five-year-old daughter. "In my country it it not necessary for girls to be so learned," he said; "I am sending her to a religious school and I would like her to read and write, but more is not necessary."

Shoes and a Pilgrimage

If Bashir had his own Aladdin's lamp, he couldn't have done as well for himself as he has in the last year. With Vice President Johnson's help he's fulfilled the Moslem's sacred dream of visiting Mecca. His wife and four children now have shoes, American-made clothing and he owns a Polaroid camera, which he doesn't yet know how to use, also a portable transistor radio and a wrist alarm watch. The watch, with the Golden Rule inscribed around the dial, is his most prized possession, because Johnson gave it to him. The Vice President also taught him how to tell time.

When Bashir talks about the watch, he closes his eyes in reverence, and says, "This watch is my heart, it was given to me by a friend."

Bashir also closes his eyes when he talks about "Am'rika" as if to capture the sounds and sights of the admiring crowds, the subways, the friendly faces. "I almost feel like an American," he said proudly. "I was made a citizen of San Antonio and they gave me the keys to all of Kansas City. Your country is first class."

Bashir's children pose all dressed up in their American best outside their hut in Karachi.

Bashir's immediate neighbors are proud of him. They renamed the little shop in the square "Bashir Chowk". Others are jealous. When Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy rode a camel recently led by Bashir, the whisper was out that Bashir borrowed the camel. Detractors said his camel was "too mangy."

The upper class, which didn't want Bashir to go to the States because they feared he would make a fool of Pakistanis, are still angry that a "nobody" got all this publicity. "Oh, him again," they say.

Everybody Says 'Salaam'

The man in the street, however, takes warm pride in Bashir—loves to hear Bashir's stories of America—and identifies with him. One told me: "He's not my friend, he is not my relative, but I tell you Bashir Ahmed is a good man. Nobody asked his name before he went, now people come to see him. It was time to change his luck. Now when he goes, everybody says 'salaam, salaam'. He no pride man, he simple man."

The account of how the uneducated camel driver was plucked from anonymity to become a friend of a great American named Johnson is the most popular living fairy tale in Pakistan today. As for Bashir himself, his real-life adventure has just begun. ■

Bashir comes home to hut made of burlap and straw, a far cry from luxury he has seen.

Golden waffles with maple jelly

by BETH MERRIMAN Parade food editor

Any time is waffle time—breakfast, brunch, supper or snack time—because crisply-tender, golden-brown waffles are so versatile that they can be served as a main dish or dessert whenever you please. Be sure the waffles you make are really perfect. Use this recipe for Best-Ever Waffles to give your family a treat. And don't fail to try the brand-new recipe for Maple-Jell to serve with the waffles. Just 3 ingredients—made in a jiffy, but don't ignore the setting period—this takes a full 3 days.

BEST-EVER WAFFLES

2 cups sifted cake flour
3 teaspoons baking powder
¼ teaspoon salt
2 egg yolks
1¼ cups milk
⅓ cup melted shortening
2 egg whites

Mix and sift flour, baking powder and salt. Beat egg yolks until light. Combine with milk. Add milk mixture slowly to dry ingredients, stirring until batter is smooth. Add melted shortening. Beat egg whites stiff, but not dry; fold in. Bake in hot waffle baker. (Follow manufacturer's directions for using baker.) Makes 6-8 waffles.

MAPLE-JELL

1 tablespoon lemon juice
1 bottle (12 oz.) maple-blended syrup
1 bottle liquid fruit pectin

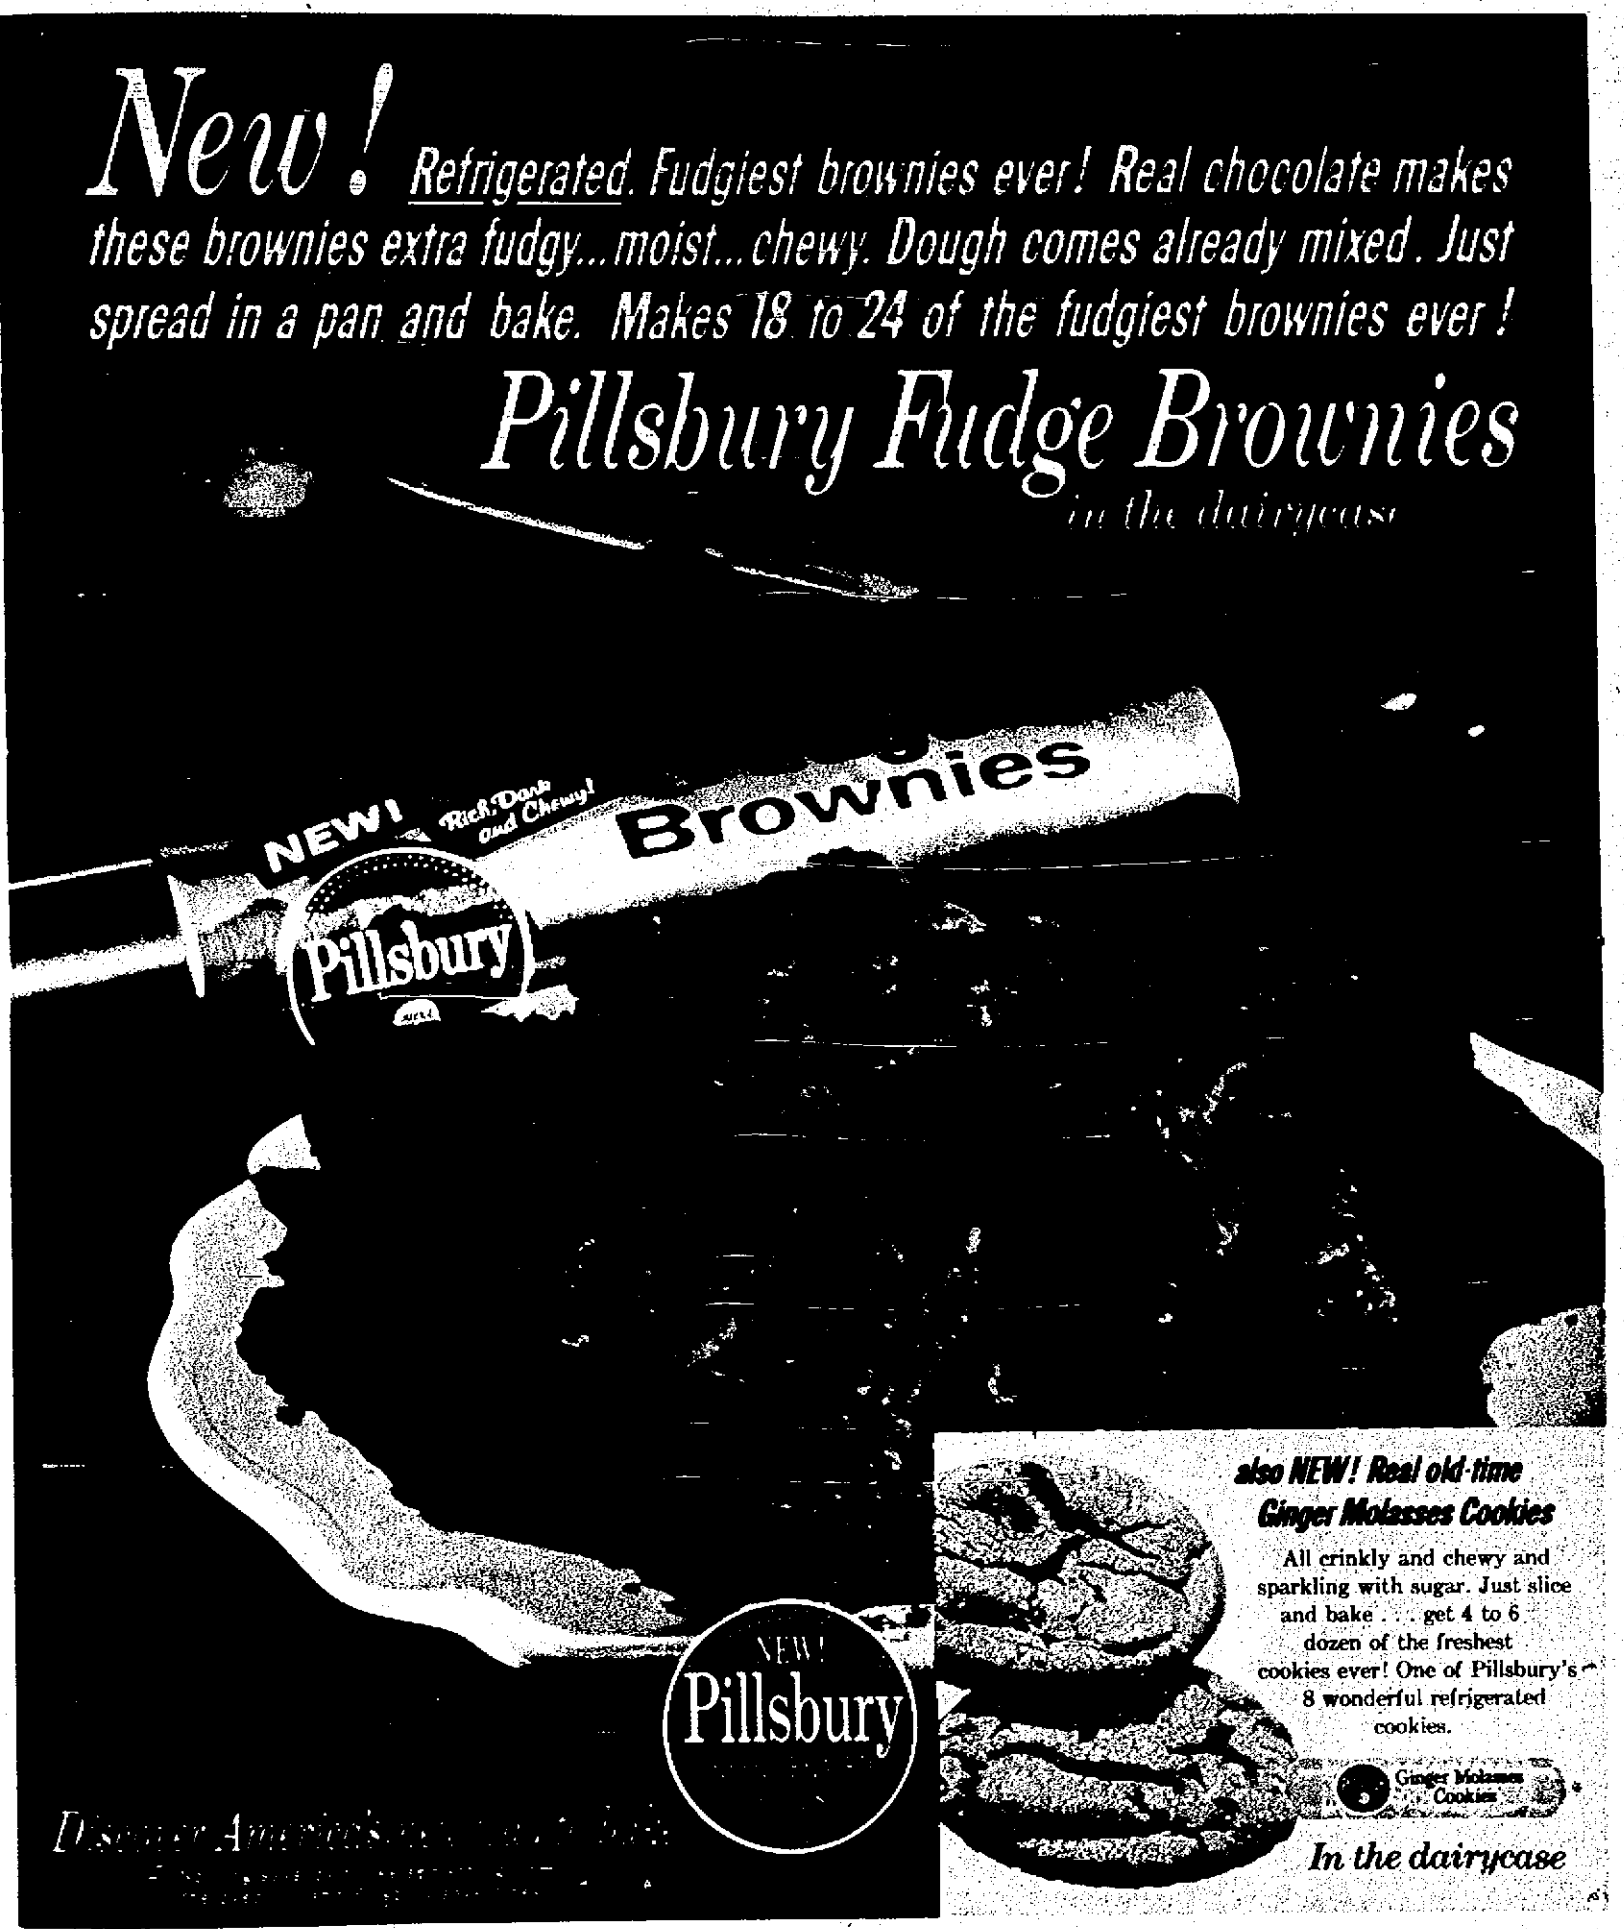

Place lemon juice in medium bowl. Pour in maple-blended syrup and fruit pectin; stir well. Pour into 2 sterilized 8-oz. jelly glasses. Cover at once with tight lids or seals. Let stand at room temperature 3 days to set. Serve as an accompaniment to waffles or other hot breads or with meats.

IS THERE SUCH A THING AS A SPECIAL LAXATIVE FOR WOMEN?

So many women are asking this important question.

The answer is—yes. A remarkable new medical discovery called Dioctyl Sodium Sulfosuccinate has now made possible a special new laxative for a woman's sensitive system. We call it Correctol®.

Correctol works two ways. First, its miracle ingredient takes advantage of the natural moisture in your system. Second, its mild laxative acts gently but most effectively. Working together, Correctol's two active ingredients give a woman more natural relief than any ordinary laxative can.

Correctol is recommended any time in a woman's life, even during and after pregnancy.

Try gentle, hospital-tested Correctol . . . bearing the Good Housekeeping Seal. Ask your druggist for Correctol.

'OUR MIRACLE BOY'

Rodney's 'legs,' big brother Steve, carries him to yard. Rodney recently lost his sense of balance, can't walk.

Rodney Brodie, born a Siamese twin, made medical history 10 years ago. How is he today?

by SID ROSS and ED KIESTER

FERRIS, ILL.

TWO LITTLE GIRLS, aged 3 and 4, every day swarm over Rodney Dee Brodie. Their favorite brother is 10 and far bigger than they, but he is never too busy for Julie and Jill. He reads them nursery rhymes or builds with their blocks, and when he finishes they shower him with kisses.

Yet the remarkable thing about Rodney is not that he reads and plays, but that he is alive at all. As PARADE readers may recall (PARADE, July 26, 1953, We Risked Our Babies' Lives), the son of Royt and Marjorie Brodie was born a Siamese twin—joined at the head to a brother, Roger Lee. In a history-making operation, the two were separated in 1953, but Roger fell into a coma and never woke up.

Thus, Rodney Brodie is the only known Siamese twin ever to survive such surgery.

Today Rodney, at 10, is a frail, friendly boy, loved by his family and popular with playmates. In many ways, his life is not too different from that of any other 10-year-old. He reads and writes and loves to draw. He attends "school"—a teacher comes to his house every day and he greets her with his favorite song, a quavering Good Morning, Dear Teacher. He watches TV a lot and he peppers strangers with questions—"Do you go to school?" . . . "What do you do?" . . . "What do your mother and father do?"

Of course, Rod has had to be a "fighter" since the day he was born. His history is one of setback and gain. Recently, for instance, he unaccountably lost his sense of balance and now cannot walk unaided. Bone grafts in his skull never have completely "taken," so that a flap of skin is all that covers the top of his head. He is small for his age and moves slowly, but his dark eyes are alert and intelligent.

Brave Rodney Brodie, 10, attends home classes with teacher Margaret Swain (l.), smiles from family gathering (above). Rodney, a dedicated student, is in his fourth year of school.

Rod spent the first five years of his life in hospitals, with only rare visits home. When he finally came home to stay in August 1956, he had a lot of catching up to do.

"He could tell you how to use a stethoscope or an X-ray machine," Mrs. Brodie says. "But he didn't know the difference between a brother and a sister, a car and a tractor, or an apple and a potato. He'd never had any experience with any of these things and he had to start learning at the age of 5."

He also was starved for companionship, but his seven brothers and sisters immediately provided that in quantity. "We just love Rodney," says Linda, 15. The neighborhood children feel the same way. In summer, the yard of the rambling white house is full of children.

Rodney usually sits in the sandpile or on the swings and watches them. He cannot always keep up with them, but they always include him in their games. They even mock-wrestle with him, being careful not to bump his head.

Rodney and His Friends

Actually, Royt and Marge Brodie wish the other children would be a little less solicitous of Rodney. The children are so eager to be nice that they do many things for him that he could do for himself. "Rodney learned to be dependent in the hospital," his mother says. "We'd like him to be more independent, strike out more for himself."

Rodney doesn't talk too much to the other children. He saves most of his conversation for Jill and Julie and for his favorite playmate, brother Kevin, 7. Rodney's idea of happiness is to sleep with him. Conditioned to early hours in five years of hospitalization, he used to wake up at dawn and then rouse his brother by tickling his feet or blowing in his face. Needless to say, Kevin's feelings did not jibe with Rodney's.

What's an Operation?

Rodney has no clear conception of his past. "I don't 'member the hospital," he told PARADE. "I just 'member being home with my brothers and sisters."

"He never has asked why he can't play like other kids," Marge Brodie says. "All he asks is why he has no hair on the sides of his head. We tell him he had an operation when he was a little boy and won't ever have hair there. He doesn't know what an operation is but it seems to satisfy him."

Rodney, meanwhile, seems a happy boy, looking forward eagerly to school every day, reading his books, thinking about the future. "I don't know if I can play ball when I grow up," he says, "but I would like to drive cars and trucks."

"We'd be lost without Rod," says his mother. "He's one of us, an important member of the family. He's not special—we just let him be Rod, the same as the others are whichever ones they are. We love them all the same."

The whole "miracle" case remains mystifying to doctors, who do not know what to expect from Rodney from one day to the next. For every hurdle Rodney Brodie overcomes makes medical history. ■

CACTUS CURTAIN

MILLIONS upon millions of spiky fingers like those above are the latest barrier between the Communists and the free world. Nicknamed "bayonet grass" or "maya grass," they are now being planted by Cuba's Fidel Castro regime around the 45-mile perimeter of the Guantanamo Bay U.S. naval base in eastern Cuba. American military personnel call them "the Cactus Curtain."

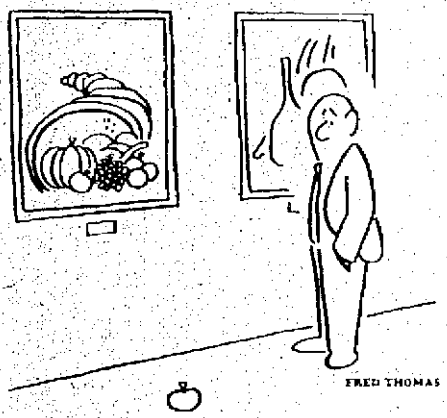

Like Russia's Iron Curtain and Red China's Bamboo Curtain, the 15-foot-deep screen aims more to keep insiders in than outsiders out. The sharp, saw-toothed leaves could inflict a nasty gash on anyone caught in them. Yet rumors are rife that escaping Cubans already know how to come through safely. Whether the curtain is iron, bamboo or cactus, freedom finds a way.

Cuban militiamen water sharp-leaved barrier on Guantanamo boundary.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Jack Carter, originally from Brooklyn, is a comedian who started out in show business as a Shakespearean actor. Since this start placed him on a starvation diet, he decided to eat better and became a comic. After World War II, he went into TV, was M.C. of his own show, Cavalcade of Stars, then did guest appearances on the Ed Sullivan, Perry Como, Pat Boone, and other variety TV programs. Jack has played all of the nation's leading supper spots, the Desert Inn in Las Vegas, the Chez Paree in Chicago, the Copacabana in New York. He is married to actress Paula Stewart. Here are some of his favorite one-liners.

My wife kept nagging me to live in a more expensive apartment. Now she's getting her wish—the landlord raised our rent.

Every morning I read the obituary notices before I get out of bed. If I'm not listed, I get up and shave.

ANECDOTE OF THE WEEK

Soviet Premier Khrushchev once told a joke that laid an egg. It so troubled him that he told Eric Johnston, the American movie mogul, about it months later.

On Khrushchev's visit to Belgrade, he had regaled Yugoslav President Tito with a story about animals who took refuge in the hills to keep away from mankind.

One day, they became bored and decided to find out what was going on in Belgrade. First they sent the dog to reconnoiter. He returned quickly and reported, "They put me on a leash and wouldn't let me bark. It was awful."

Next the cow set off. She also came back mooing with dismay. "Before I got inside the city limits," she said, "they started milking me."

Finally the jackass went down to Belgrade and didn't return for days and days. When he eventually rode up, he was in great spirits, kicking his heels. "Belgrade is great," he said. "They made me President."

Khrushchev laughed uproariously at his own joke, but Tito received it with a glare as cold as a Siberian winter. Relating the incident later to Johnston, Khrushchev confessed mournfully: "I think I hurt Tito's feelings." ■

Why do A-1 used cars get extra attention from your Ford Dealer?

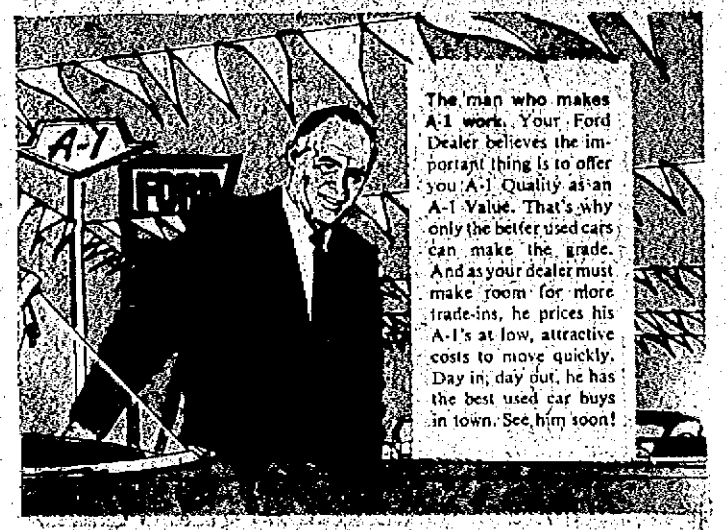

Because he believes in treating his customers in a way which will keep them as customers, Your Ford A-1 Used Car Dealer is in business to stay. Someday he is going to want to sell you a new car, and that means the used car he sells you today must be satisfactory. That's why only trade-ins of superior quality receive the special processing that makes them A-1 used cars.

The quest for quality. Not every trade-in qualifies for the A-1 sticker. Before any used car is accepted as "A-1" it must be inspected, road-tested and reconditioned if necessary. Thus, used car specialists can spot any real faults or even trouble that's "brewing"—and have an opportunity to catch it in time! This means you are not likely to buy other people's problems.

Cars for sports . . . or spinsters! Right now, your Ford Dealer is selling more new cars than ever before . . . resulting in a record number and variety of trade-ins. So he has an unusually large choice of popular makes and models standing on his used car lot. Today is the very best time to find preferred A-1 quality to match the make, the model and money you have in mind!

The man who makes A-1 work. Your Ford Dealer believes the important thing is to offer you A-1 Quality as an A-1 Value. That's why only the better used cars can make the grade. And as your dealer must make room for more trade-ins, he prices his A-1's at low, attractive costs to move quickly. Day in, day out, he has the best used car buys in town. See him soon!

REPORTS PACIFIC A-BLASTS 'WENT OFF PERFECTLY'

Hosmer Tells Calif. Reactor-Site Plan

Rep. Craig Hosmer, R-Long Beach, said Saturday in Honolulu the Kennedy administration is giving "serious study" to a proposal to create a nuclear power reactor site on Camp Pendleton near La Jolla.

Hosmer stopped off in Honolulu en route to Washington after inspecting nuclear tests sites at Christmas and Johnston Islands.

He told Honolulu newsmen the first two U.S. atmospheric tests in the Pacific "went off perfectly." They will cause no danger to any place or anyone in the world, he said.

Rep. Hosmer, a member of the Joint Congressional Atomic Committee, said that setting aside sites such as Camp Pendleton as national nuclear power reactor reservations would "encourage public and private power industry to go nuclear."

The proposed reservation at Pendleton would be one of several in the nation, under the Hosmer proposal, which included a series of recommendations "to get the nation's nuclear power program off dead center."

The Marine Corps site is one of the most logical areas in the nation for a nuclear power reservation, Hosmer said.

He noted that the camp occupies many thousands of acres of land along 20 miles of coastline.

Hosmer, the first congressman to view the current nuclear series, said the tests were proceeding so well "they should be finished on or before schedule. This assumes the weather will remain good. It looks good so far."

The United States plans to detonate approximately 30 nuclear warheads in a two-to-three-month period. Before going to Christmas Island last Wednesday, Hosmer indicated the tests would be

Chiefs OK Talk at the Summit—if

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy and British Prime Minister Macmillan agreed Saturday that they are ready to consider holding East-West summit conferences if assured of useful results, but they said conditions are not ripe for summit diplomacy now.

British and U.S. informants said following day-long talks at the White House that the two leaders generally agree there should be East-West diplomatic contacts at many levels including, when productive, the summit.

They specifically agreed that U.S.-Soviet discussions on the possibility of a German settlement could be continued.

Informants said this decision was reached after Kennedy gave Macmillan a report on conversations held here during the past two weeks by Secretary of State Dean Rusk with Soviet Ambassador Anatoly F. Dobrynin.

Kennedy and Macmillan felt their summit policy agreement was in line with views expressed by Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev in a Moscow interview about 10 days ago. Khrushchev told American publisher Gardner Cowles that he thought advance preparations should be made to give prospect of successful results from a summit conference.

Kennedy and Macmillan were reported to be thinking of the possibility of more than one summit conference provided conditions were suitable. However, informants declined to say that what they had in mind was a series of top-level meetings although the report opened that possibility.

The British and American government chiefs met for about two hours Saturday morning. They lunched together at the White House and spent another two hours in conference Saturday afternoon.

They decided to continue their talks today, and a joint statement once scheduled for issuance late Saturday was delayed until sometime this afternoon.

Official word from the morning session was that the two leaders had dis-

Father Excommunicated

LONELY WALK TO THE ALTAR

BRIDE SUZANNE MARIE RICAU LEAVES DAD AT CHURCH DOOR

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Pretty Suzanne Marie Ricau took a long, lonely walk down a Roman Catholic church aisle Saturday to become an April bride after leaving her excommunicated father at the church door.

Jackson G. Ricau, a top officer in the pro-segregation South Louisiana Citizens Council, said church officials would not let him accompany his daughter to the altar railing.

But he later entered the church to witness the ceremony.

Ricau was one of three Catholics excommunicated by Archbishop Joseph Francis Rummel of New Orleans on April 16. The others were Mrs. B. J. Gaillot Jr., and political leader Leander H. Perez Sr. The excommunication edict said they ignored the archbishop's "fatherly counsel" by defying his order to desegregate parochial schools next fall.

Ricau and his blonde, 20-year-old daughter—the eldest of eight children—drove to St. Francis Xavier Church in suburban Metairie and he took her up the steps. He kissed her on the cheek and she then entered the slate gray building—alone.

After his daughter walked down the aisle and met her bridegroom, Donald A. Boudreaux, at the altar railing, Ricau entered the church and slipped into a first row pew beside his wife.

N.Y. Brush Fire Burns 14 Homes

Hundreds Forced to Flee; Twenty Reported Injured

GLENS FALLS, N.Y. (AP)—Fourteen houses were destroyed Saturday by a wind-driven brush and forest fire that raged into a suburban area of this city of 18,000.

Approximately 20 persons were reported injured.

Hundreds of others were forced to flee their homes and a public school was opened to provide them with food and shelter.

• • • •

A SPOKESMAN for the State Conservation Department said the fire finally was contained Saturday night behind wide lines cleared by bulldozers. It still continued to flare up in spots, however, and fire companies remained on guard.

At the height of the fire, more than 1,000 firemen and volunteers were battling the flames. Fire-fighting equipment was rushed to the area from as far away as Lake Placid, nearly 100 miles north of Glens Falls.

Fire coordinator Leslie Hillis said that 14 houses officially were reported destroyed but that the number might be higher.

• • • •

THERE WAS no immediate estimate of the loss.

The fire was the most disastrous of hundreds of brush and forest fires that have broken out in the state during the past week.

The Conservation Department spokesman said it burned about 500 to 600 acres in an area three miles long and a one-quarter to one-half mile wide.

It swept through the hamlet of Bennettville and into West Glens Falls.

• • • •

THE FLAMES jumped the highway at several points and for a time forced closing of the four-lane expressway also known as Interstate Route 87.

All electric power was cut off in the area.

Glens Falls Hospital said four or five fire victims had been admitted. Another 10 to 15 were treated in the hospital's emergency room and others were treated at the scene.

The fire situation in New York State has been dangerous for a week because of extremely dry weather and unusually high temperatures. Fires have erupted in many parts of the state.

It was hot and dry again Saturday and the temperature here hit 90. The weather bureau forecast scattered showers for today.

Era Ends: Last L.B. Field to Be Residential Area

Work on a project that marks the end of an era in Long Beach started last week when ground was broken on the last large residential tract that can be built in the city.

The $40 million tract, El Dorado Park Estates, is located on 287 acres just north of Spring Street between El Dorado Park on the west and Norwalk Blvd. on the east.

Many large tracts have been constructed during the past 10 to 20 years and have in large measure accounted for the tremendous population spurts the city has taken.

• • • •

NOW THE LARGE areas of vacant ground are gone and aside from this one area most major development in the city will be in the form of high rise apartments.

Builder of El Dorado Park Estates is S & S Construction Co., owned by David and Nathan Shapell of Beverly Hills who have built more than 1,200 homes in the past in this city including College Park and College Park Estates in east Long Beach.

The tract site has been scheduled for development for many years, but engineering problems—primarily drainage—delayed operations.

• • • •

BERNARD E. McCune, general manager of S & S and a former engineer in the city engineer's department, said that with the "splendid cooperation" of the city these problems have now been solved.

"We are spending more than a half million dollars on drainage facilities," McCune said, pointing out that the firm is building a cement drainage channel on city right of way which will not only drain the tract area but will also drain El Dorado Park just to the west.

The area where the "walled community" of 250 homes and 600 garden apartments will be located was annexed to the city by S&S about two years ago because of Long Beach's "cooperaton, low tax rates, schools, utilities, building codes and fine attitude regarding upgrading of major streets in the vicinity."

The new area will have a small commercial area at Norwalk Blvd. and Wardlow Rd. and has land set aside for a new elementary school—the Douglas A. Newcomb School, which probably will be ready for use in the 1963-64 school year.

Homes will range from two to five bedrooms, will be one-floor, split level and two-story. Prices will be from about $22,000 to $31,000. First unit to be built will contain 200 homes. Total development of the area will take about two years.

Boats Sink, 21 Die

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP) —A sudden storm swept the northern Adriatic Friday night, sinking two boats with a possible loss of 21 lives, Tanjug News Agency said Saturday. Most victims were youths.

Check the Clock-- It's Daylight Time

Daylight-saving time went into effect at 2 a.m. today.

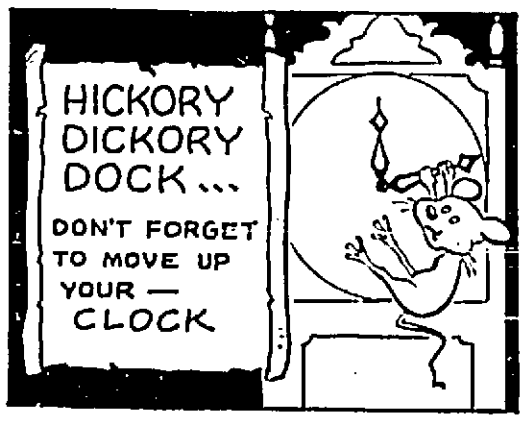

If you complied with the letter of the law, you set your clocks ahead to 3 a.m. when they reached 2 a.m.—and consequently lost an hour.

But you probably won't be prosecuted if you waited until you got up today to change the timepieces.

The lost hour will be regained next fall. But a measure on the June 5 ballot will determine whether it will be the last Sunday in September, as hertofore, or the last weekend in October.

If the October date is agreed upon by voters, it would bring the state into line with most other daylight-time states in the country.

And, by the way, if your newspaper is late today, don't blame the circulation department. Its an annual problem for the distributing crews when the paper goes to press on standard time and rolls off on daylight time—an hour late.

Anti-Red Riot Hits Havana

HAVANA, Cuba (AP) — Opponents of Fidel Castro's regime Saturday night staged a demonstration on one of Havana's busiest street corners but it was quickly broken up.

Witnesses said that several demonstrators were arrested. Police quickly moved in to crush the demonstration. Witnesses gave various accounts of the incident.

(Reports from Havana gave no indication whether only a handful was involved or whether there was an organized move.)

• • • •

THE LAST major riot in Havana erupted last Sept. 10 when a Roman Catholic procession suddenly turned into an anti-Communist demonstration. Before it was broken up, one man was reported killed and a score wounded in clashes with police.

The September riot developed into a free-for-all when a crowd of about 4,000 started to march on the presidential palace.

PAULING PROTESTS TESTS

JFK Honor Guest Joins Picket Line

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Nobel Prize-winning chemist who will be a dinner guest of President and Mrs. Kennedy tonight picketed the White House Saturday, but from a distance of a block away.

Dr. Linus C. Pauling of the California Institute of Technology joined the picket line of Women Strike for Peace, a group protesting the resumption of U.S. nuclear tests.

He was assigned a three-hour stint, from noon to 3 p.m. His wife also joined the picket line.

• • • •

DR. AND MRS. Pauling are among 175 guests, including 49 Nobel Prize winners, invited to a White House dinner to honor the scientists.

He said they plan to attend the dinner. Pauling won the 1954 Nobel Prize for chemistry.

The picketing had to be conducted on H Street, across Lafayette Park from the White House, instead of on the sidewalk in front of the White House on Pennsylvania Avenue.

Washington police barred picketing within 500 feet of the White House, because of the presence there of British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan. The 500 foot rule is invoked only when a distinguished foreign visitor is at the White House.

Coatless and hatless, Dr. Pauling carried two different signs. One said "no" and included a picture of an atomic explosion. The other read: "Mr. Kennedy, Mr. Macmillan: You have no right to test."

Pauling dropped out of the picket line to talk briefly on a park bench with a newsman.

BICYCLIST NABBED AS TIPSY DRIVER

The only thing unusual about Mrs. Marcella O. Sheppard's arrest for drunk driving Saturday was her vehicle.

It was a bicycle.

Police in Harbor City arrested Mrs. Sheppard after her bike collided with a car at 257th Street and Marigold Avenue.

Mrs. Sheppard, 39, of 1075 W. 253rd St., Harbor City, had been riding her bike on the wrong side of the street, but didn't collide with the car until she swerved to the right side, according to Officer James Gleason.

L.A.C. Says:

He Should Speak to His Brother

The President's brother in a speech prepared for the Associated Press convention this week was quite concerned over the image of capitalism as viewed in other countries. He said: "Capitalism has become a dirty word because it is synonymous with selfishness." He went on: "Many people in foreign lands believe Americans are interested only in material gain—that they are not interested in their neighbors—not interested in their communities and not interested in those that are less well off."

It may be this is the image of us among many people of foreign lands. But if anyone has added to this image recently it is the President himself. His ill-tempered tirade against the steel companies gave all the ammunition needed for those who would paint our capitalism as pure selfishness. We suggest that his brother, Robert, address his criticisms to his own brother in this respect.

In last Monday's New York Times, the President is quoted as saying, "My father always told me that all business men were S.O.B.s, but I never believed it til now. He did not use the initials—the raw language went out in the Times' European as well as American editions. We may be sure communists everywhere will see they are widely quoted—and he did say, "all business men."

We do not criticize the President for objecting to a price raise in steel. It is his privilege and possibly his duty. But here are some of the worldwide publicized words he used when he objected to the 3.5 per cent price raise to offset the 12 per cent rise in wage costs. He said it was "wholly unjustified and irresponsible defiance of public interest." He used the demagogic example of the Berlin crisis—"when we are asking reservists to leave their homes and servicemen risk their lives." He referred to a "handful of steel executives whose pursuit of private power and profit exceeds their sense of public responsibility who show utter contempt for the interests of 185 million Americans."

The President's brother suggests we send speakers throughout the world to tell the people the truth about capitalism. We assume these travelers would be picked from the intellectuals surrounding the Kennedy administration, one of whom is the long-time liberal who is reported to have written the President's speech. Just how even the most ardent advocate of capitalism could overcome the impression made by these remarks is hard to understand.

The President could have strongly stated his opposition to the increases—and stated he was asking Congress or the courts to take action. But he gave a demagogic speech which is grist to the mills so looked for by agitators—here and abroad—who picture us as ruled by a ruthless, selfish small group of capitalists who, as Khrushchev says, "grind down the people for their personal power and gain."

This writer did not find any such feeling among the common people he met in Europe a year ago. It was a time when this capitalistic nation had just experienced the Cuban invasion debacle. All we heard was "why did you start and then pull back from stopping communism in Cuba?" We recall the President's constant reference to our loss of world prestige.

The President's words at a press conference are heard and read by the masses of people in every country where their governments seek such words to undermine U. S. prestige. No traveling speaker can overcome such expressions. They will not even try when they are chosen by the people who write and express such views.—L.A.C.

Nixon Backs $470 Million School Bonds

By ROBERT WILCOX
Education Editor

Former Vice President Richard M. Nixon said Saturday that "the most effective way to avoid dictation on education from Washington is to do a better job of meeting the needs of education at home."

The candidate for governor assailed foes of federal aid to education who "vote against local and state bond issues and other funds needed to support a top-quality, locally controlled school system."

In what was described as a major address, Nixon endorsed the $470 million in state school-bond issues on the June ballot.

His speech concluded the two-day "California Conference on Investing Skilled Manpower for the 60s," sponsored in Los Angeles by the California Teachers Association and the National Education Association. Gov. Brown addressed the conference Friday.

Nixon described support for local and state financing of school programs as the only "effective answer to pressures for vastly increased federal aid and the threat of federal control."

The former vice president listed several "glaring weaknesses" which must be corrected, he said, if the state "is to maintain its position of leadership" in education.

"So long as we have our overcrowded classrooms and our high rate of student dropouts, we can not say California has the kind of education system which the first state in the nation deserves."

Nixon proposed an increase in the number of teachers and the more effective use of school buildings in order to reduce the pupil-teacher ratio. He said that teachers should be relieved of non-teaching duties wherever possible.

He warned against the possible downgrading of vocational and applied-education programs in connection with the dropout problem.

The gubernatorial candidate criticized the state for imposing more requirements on local school districts and "at the same time assuming a decreasing percentage of the costs." Every program the state imposes, he said, should be accompanied by an enabling act to pay for it.

He also called for the state either "to reassume a fair share of the cost of education" or to release tax sources to local districts so that they can pay for their own school systems.

"In many areas," Nixon said, "property taxes have been pushed to the limit."

He also recommended a thorough review of state aid to school districts to increase its equity and effectiveness.

In backing the state bond issues, Nixon said that "properly drawn, local school-bond issues also deserve support."

For students who do not go on to college and who want vocational training, he called for a "more adequate recognition" of their needs.

In conclusion, he told the audience that "we educate American children for a different purpose and a different end than do the Communists. We should not push the panic button with each new Communist achievement."

He urged rejection of the concept of "the isolated specialist." While specialists, Nixon said, "must and will have the best training in the world . . . they must have it in a well-rounded atmosphere of freedom and freedom's responsibilities."

$4.5 Million Anti-Erosion Plan Pushed

HUNTINGTON BEACH — The Army's Beach Erosion Board has approved a $4.5-million plan of offshore breakwaters and sand recovery to halt erosion and replace damaged strands.

Outlined here Feb. 14 by Col. William T. Bradley, district engineer for the U.S. Army Engineer Corps, the plan calls for the federal government to pay 67 per cent of the cost rather than the 61 per cent "formula" usually followed.

The board in Washington, D.C., agreed to the higher participation by the federal government after accepting Col. Bradley's explanation that government breakwaters at Seal Beach Naval Ammunition and Net Depot's Anaheim Bay caused much of the downcoast erosion.

• • • •

THE PLAN calls for a "detached" breakwater 2,600 feet long off Newport Beach, to check the littoral drift of sand, and trap sufficient sand each five years to replace eroded shores. It would cost an estimated $2,091,000.

Rebuilding the badly-eroded shoreline at Sunset Beach and Surfside Colony would cost an estimated $2,159,000, Col. Bradley's report said.

Replacement of sand — chiefly to be dredged from the Navy's Anaheim Bay, would create a beach 500 feet wide and 9,200 feet long. Col. Bradley's report said it would be a sturdy buffer against seasonal storms and high tides which eat away the Sunset-Surfside strand.

• • • •

APPROVAL by the Beach Erosion Board represents the first major hurdle for the ambitious plan of controlling the erosion which has ruined some beaches and is threatening almost all others from Newport Beach to Seal Beach.

It now goes to the chief engineer of the Army Engineer Corps, then to Gov. Brown, various federal agencies, and finally to President Kennedy.

Spending 'Lag' Hit by ADA

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Americans for Democratic Action (ADA) proclaimed its friendship with the Kennedy administration Saturday but condemned some of its economic policies.

Delegates to the ADA's 15th annual convention adopted one resolution calling for a "positive planned program for economic growth" and saying:

"The danger of inflation and of a drain of United States gold have been used as a rationale for contractionist policies which have retarded economic growth and threatened to defeat our broad national purposes."

• • • •

THE WORD "rationale" was substituted on the convention floor for the term "smokescreen," which was in the draft prepared by the convention's domestic policy commission. A delegate objected that the commission's term impugned the motives of President Kennedy.

Another resolution approved contained more specific praise and criticism of Kennedy administration policies.

This second resolution commended the administration for asserting that full employment was a top-priority economic goal, but said there had been "lack of vigor in seeking that goal."

"The administration is in fundamental error in giving lip service to the principle of a balanced budget and placing undue emphasis on the balance of payments at the expense of full employment," the resolution said.

• • • •

IT ADVOCATED an expanded public-works program and tax cuts for low-income groups.

Other sections praised the administration's proposals for a more liberal foreign-trade program and for stand-by authority to reduce taxes and increase public-works spending when a recession is threatened.

LET ME GO PLAY BALL
Joanie Ota tries to interest Wayne Tagashira in Shoki, a Japanese devil-chasing doll, but Wayne, who prefers wearing T-shirt and shorts to the handsome costume, shows he would rather be out playing baseball.

JAPANESE BOYS DAY MAY 5

Lad Shuns Devil Beater

Joanie Ota did the best she could.

And it wasn't really Wayne Tagashira's fault that he was frightened by Shoki, the Devil Chastiser.

Besides, this is America, and in America boys don't play with dolls!

For the background, you have to know that next Saturday, May 5, is the day of the Boys' Festival, the time above all others when the Japanese people rejoice in having male children.

DOTING PARENTS, grandparents, uncles and aunts and family friends present gifts to little boys, and many of these gifts are Japanese character dolls of tradition and strength.

Over their homes during the Boys' Festival the Japanese fly carp-shaped kites, one for each boy in the household. The fish, attached to bamboo poles, plunge in the wind and seem to be swimming strongly upstream.

On tiered stands inside their homes during the festival the Japanese display dolls and miniature helmets, spears, halberds, armor, drums to inspire their boys to strength.

IN FRONT of the stands are offerings of rice cakes and sake, the wine flavored with the leaves of iris to keep evil away from their men children.

Hanako Manaka, proprietor of the Azuma Gift Shop, 2070 Santa Fe Ave., last week arranged a Boys' Festival exhibit and invited the Japanese of the neighborhood to come to look at it.

Among the visitors were Joanie and Wayne, each 4 years old. Wayne wore a green, handsomely embroidered kimona, with flowing sleeves. (He prefers a T-shirt and shorts.)

JOANIE, WHO LOOKS exactly like a Japanese doll, came in kimono, obi, and an elaborate headdress.

For the photograph, Joanie was to hand Wayne the Shoki doll.

Wayne would have none of it.

"Take," pleaded Joanie.

"No!" wept Wayne and turned his back.

The Shoki, famed in Chinese legend, is represented by a fierce-looking warrior doll, a sword in hand to frighten away devils.

He also frightened a small 4-year-old Japanese boy, born in America, who went out to play ball after the Shoki was safely back on its stand.

Keaton Asks Probe of College GOP

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—Harry Keaton, president of the California Young Republicans, announced Saturday he has asked the YR general counsel, Don Lindeberg of San Diego, to investigate the recent turbulent convention of the California Young Republican College Federation.

The federation chose officers reported to favor Richard M. Nixon for governor. Delegates supporting Assemblyman Joseph C. Shell for the GOP gubernatorial nomination charged the convention was rigged.

Keaton told the YR board of directors he has asked Lindberg to look particularly into the federation's credentials committee to determine whether the convention was packed.

• • • •

KEATON, of Los Angeles, said Lindberg will report to the next board meeting whether there should be a trial board and hearings.

At today's sessions YR members from Orange County distributed a statement protesting refusal of the federation convention to seat delegates from Santa Ana Junior College and Chapman College.

They said that as a result, they will refuse to recognize the new officers, headed by Harold Phillips of the University of Redlands.

Keaton told the board:

"The duty of Young Republicans is to elect Republicans to public office, not to elect Young Republicans to Young Republicans office. All of these intramural contests are sapping our strength and must be recognized for what they are."

Daredevils' Blast Snuffs Sahara Fire

HASSI MESSAOUD, Algeria (UPI)—Rebel yells filled the desert around the Gassi Touil gas fields Saturday when "flying firemen" Red Adair won a double-or-nothing gamble and doused "The Devil's Cigarette Lighter."

With a 550-pound charge of dynamite, Adair and his assistants in "Red Adair and Co., Oil-Well-Fire and Blow-Out Specialists," snuffed out a six-month-old fire raging at the runaway GT-2 well at Gassi Touil.

Two days from now Adair plans to set off another blast to clear away damaged portions of the well head, followed by a third explosion to snuff out the fire reignited by blast Number Two.

Adair was planning to give up Gassi Touil as a bad job unless the blast Saturday morning did the trick. It did.

• • • •

ADAIR AND HIS three assistants, Coot Mathews, Boots Hansen, and former gridiron star Charley Tollar, had been directing preliminary operations around the GT-2 pit off and on for three months.

At 3:30 a.m. Adair drove out from Hassi Messaoud. He walked up to the edge of "No Man's Land." He checked the 10 asbestos-protected batteries of fire hoses trained on the well head 600 feet away.

About 8 a.m., a small truck arrived with the dynamite which Adair fixed to the front of a bulldozer.

At 8:30 a.m., everything was ready.

• • • •

ADAIR TOOK the driver's seat. The others climbed up to a small platform behind the bulldozer's scoop to help guide the dynamite-loaded lance-point to the foot of the pillar of fire.

All four wore asbestos suits.

At 8:35 a.m., Adair revved up and roared into the danger zone. The bulldozer and riders disappeared in water from the fire hoses.

Suddenly, Adair, Hansen, Matthews and Tollar appeared, running for their lives to a slit trench 450 feet away from the well head.

A flat, sharp crack shook the ground. The shock wave rolled over the waiting crowd.

The crowd flinched and looked away.

When they looked up, "The Devil's Cigarette Lighter" was out.

'Apollo' Program Contract Let

CLEVELAND, Ohio (UPI) — The General Dynamics Corp., San Diego, Calif., was awarded a $60,393 contract for carbide research by the Lewis Research Center, National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

The center, which has a staff of 3,700, is responsible for working on part of the Apollo program, which will send men to the moon.

WORLD NEWS BRIEFS

1 Slain, 11 Hurt in Muslim Riot

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Extremist Black Muslims battled police with guns, bottles, fists and feet early Saturday outside the anti-white sect temple in a riot that killed one Muslim and injured 11 men.

About 50 Muslims and an equal number of police were involved by the time the riot reached a climax at 12:30 p.m. It started an hour earlier with a seeming routine questioning of two peddlers, and concluded when police jailed nearly a score of the rioters.

Wounded by gunfire were Officer Frank Tomlinson and six members of the Black Muslim cult. Four of the latter were reported in critical condition.

A crowd of about 200 watched the battle. Dead was Robert Stokes, 25, Los Angeles, identified by Lt. Ronald Williamson as one of the black-suited cultists.

The cult advocates a separate "black nation" within the United States for Negroes despite public opposition voiced by local and national Negro leaders to its extremist stand.

Ayub Takes Lead

KARACHI, Pakistan (Sunday) (UPI)—Early returns in Pakistan's first "basic democracy" elections today indicated a vote of confidence for pro-Western President Mohammed Ayub Khan.

Many voters rode to the polls on camels, in jeeps or boats. Some tribal chiefs came on horseback, with rifles slung over their shoulders. The newspaper Morning News said today the parliamentary election was a triumph for Ayub, who is gradually restoring democracy to Pakistan following his military takeover in 1958.

Welk Show Star Marooned

COEUR D' ALENE, Idaho (UPI) — Jo Ann Castle, piano star of the Lawrence Welk television show, her husband and four Spokane, Wash., residents were marooned for nearly two hours on an isolated island on Lake Coeur D' Alene Saturday morning after their cabin cruiser struck a snag and sank.

200 Viet Cong Reds Killed

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—More than 200 Viet Cong Communists were killed last week, the government reported, as South Viet Nam's guerrilla war steadily grew in intensity.

The increasing pressure of American-supported government units, fanning out into Communist-infested sectors, brought bloody clashes daily in the jungles and dusty rice fields.

Dynamites Home, Slays Self

FAYETTEVILLE, N.C. (AP)—A dynamite blast ripped apart a two-story home near here early Saturday without injuring the eight sleeping occupants. Police who went to question a suspect a few hours later found he had fatally shot himself.

Police theorized that Larry Williford, 34, a contractor, brooding over a former friendship between his estranged wife and Grover Leo Draughon, 34, either set or tossed the dynamite under Draughon's home, then went to the home of his grandmother where he committed suicide.

Hosmer Tells Plan for A-Reactor Site

staged every two or three days.

"Nothing went wrong with the first two shots . . . they went off perfectly.

"That's quite a feat when one considers the billions of factors—scientific, military, weather—involved.

"These tests are so designed as to create the smallest amount of radiation fallout. They will cause no danger to any place or anyone in the world."

The blasts Friday and Wednesday were staged with devices dropped from airplanes.

Hosmer said he had only one possible criticism of the test series, "and that's not exactly valid."

He said he referred to the attention given to health and safety in the mid-Pacific testing zone. "It's so time-consuming it might be delaying the work. This, however, is indicative of the care and concern the United States gives to tests of this sort."

• • • •

REFERRING to the Camp Pendleton proposal, he said, "A small portion of this coastline would be ideal for such a nuclear reservation because of the availability of ocean water for condenser cooling.

"It constitutes practically the only Southern California location suitable for nuclear power reactors. It is close to heavy power load centers.

"Both the Los Angeles Department of Water and Power, a public utility, and the Southern California Edison Co., a private utility, are anxious to go nuclear but each has site problems. Both are severely restricted in the use of conventional fuels because of the Los Angeles basin's smog conditions.

"The withdrawal of the small portion of the Marine Corps base for a five-million kilowatt nuclear power reactor reservation would be in the paramount national interest and it can be accomplished without any serious hardship to the Marine Corps amphibious training program."

• • • •

HOSMER SAID other Southern California utilities which might be expected to join in the nuclear efforts would include Pasadena's Municipal Department of Power and Light and the San Diego Gas & Electric Co.

He said about $1.153 billion has been spent toward achieving economic nuclear power in the United States—some $271 million by public and private power companies and another $882 million by the Atomic Energy Commission.

"At the present moment our goal of leading the world in peaceful power production from the atom is in clear sight but the program is stalled on dead center," said Hosmer. "We need to do but a few more things, including setting up the reactor parks, to move ahead."

Atomic-Test Drops 'Right on the Mark'

WASHINGTON (AP)—High bombing precision is reported to be indicated in preliminary data on the opening phases of the Pacific nuclear tests.

The air drop from an Air Force bomber of a nuclear device on Wednesday, first shot in the test series, was described in some quarters as having been virtually perfect, detonating at precisely the point in mid-air which had been planned.

A second air burst of a device was made Friday, but there was no immediate indication of results on this drop.

• • • •

SINCE THE advent of the atomic bomb in 1945, dozens of test devices and actual bombs have been dropped by Air Force bombers, including the two combat shots on Japan.

With few exceptions, they have been on or satisfactorily close to the aiming point. Only two misses have been reported publicly. In the 1946 series at the Marshall Islands proving grounds, an air drop from a B29 exploded several hundreds yards wide of the target. In 1956, a 10-megaton device dropped by a B52 jet bomber was almost four miles off the intended bursting point.

Suzanne wanted it this way," the slim, greying Ricau said. "We talked it over and she told me that if I could not take her down the aisle to her groom, she would walk alone.

"And there were other factors to consider. I don't want to put my daughter's nerves on edge on the biggest day of her life. If I took the chance and defied the order, everybody—my wife, my daughter, our friends—would be tense fearing that something might happen to spoil what should be a beautiful day.

"Then, too, I don't want to appear hostile to the church. I consider myself a good Catholic. I've never been officially informed of the excommunication except through the newspapers.

"And after all, what goes on inside a church is the church's business. I'm not going to contest that at all. If they don't want me in there, then I shouldn't be in there."

By in there, he meant as a participant in the wedding ceremony.

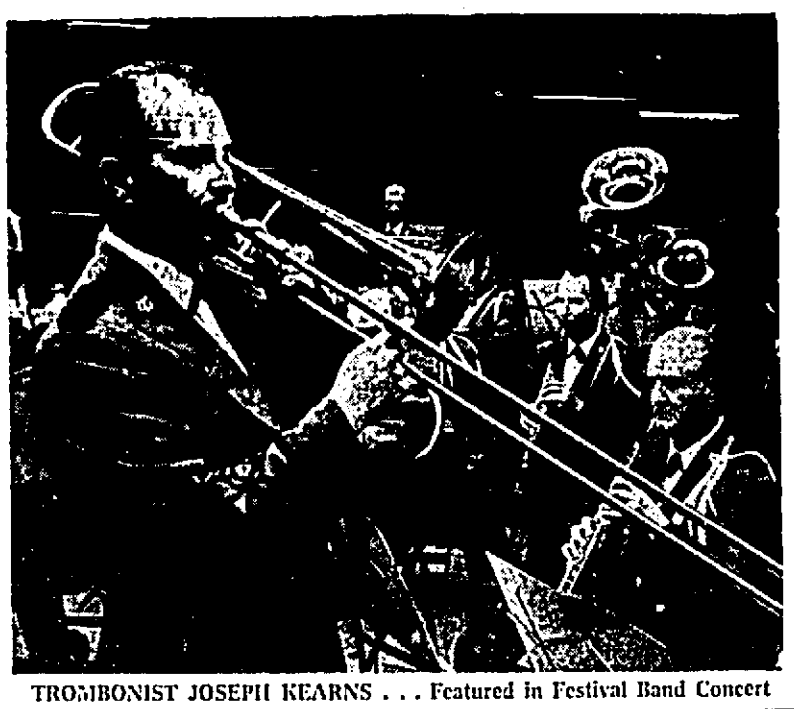

The refusal to let him accompany his daughter, Ricau said in a typed statement, "clearly reveals how far the hierarchy will go to suppress a Catholic who is telling the truth about racial integration.

"The excommunication edict," the statement continued, "was obviously an act of desperation. It was, in my opinion, a spiritual bayonet designed to silence organized resistance to forced integration and to throw fear of further threats into the flock.

"The cruel edict, knowingly or unknowingly part of a plot to silence conservative activity, is creating widespread resentment among sincere Catholics and is hastening the collapse of the already crumbling forced mixing program."

The type of excommunication the archbishop imposed on Ricau, Perez and Mrs. Gaillot prohibits them from receiving the sacraments, bars them from a Catholic burial and forbids their acting as sponsor at baptism and confirmation. A statement from the archbishop's chancery said they lost their right to attend mass, but no attempt was made to stop Perez from attending mass last Sunday.

TROMBONIST JOSEPH KEARNS . . . Featured in Festival Band Concert

IN MUSIC FESTIVAL

Band to Present Modern Concert

By GEORGE ERES

Contemporary music written for bands will be showcased by the Long Beach Municipal Band, directed by Charles J. Payne, at 3 p.m. today in the Elks Lodge, 4101 E. Willow St.

The concert, fourth in the series of programs in the Long Beach Music Festival, sponsored by the Long Beach Music Council, will feature Long Beach-born trombonist Joseph Kearns, a member of the band.

Kearns will play two works composed by Fred W. Deyerberg, who until his recent retirement was composer, arranger, principal French-horn player and harpist with the Municipal Band. The works are "Episode" and "Autumn Nocturne" both written especially to display Kearns trombone virtuosity, Payne said.

• • • •

OTHER WORKS to be presented in the Festival Band Concert are:

"Conquest" by Alfred Newman, the theme from the film, "Captain from Castile;" "Chester," overture for band by William Schuman, based on a theme by William Billings, popular during the American Revolution; "Tango Lullaby," by Don Gillis; "Suite of Old American Dances," by Robert Russell Bennett, including, Cake Walk, Schottische, Western One-Step, Wallflower Waltz and Rag.

Musical impressions of works of art by Toulouse-Lautrec, Dali and Degas are the basis for a work by Henri Rene, "Passion In Paint;" "X-Minus-10," is a musical journey through outer space by Lionel Taylor, Hollywood composer; "Prelude and Rondo," two movements of a suite for band by Burnet Tuthill, awarded the Columbia University prize of 1947; "Modernistic Impressions," by William Reddie, musical director in Las Vegas, and Leonard Bernstein's "West Side Story."

The program is sponsored by the City of Long Beach and the Elks Lodge. Admission is free.

Chiefs OK Summit If Useful

cussed a wide range of issues, including Berlin and disarmament.

The reference to disarmament made by White House Press Secretary Pierre Salinger and British spokesman Harold Evans presumably covered the issue of nuclear weapons testing on which Macmillan is under considerable political pressure at home.

Macmillan is believed to have told Kennedy that, much as he regretted U.S. resumption of atmospheric explosions in the Pacific, he could not raise objection in the light of Russia's refusal to sign an enforceable treaty banning all tests. At the same time, Macmillan obviously faced greater need than Kennedy to make clear his continued interest in halting all tests if possible.

• • • •

MACMILLAN, who reached Washington late Friday after a visit to New York, talked with Kennedy in private in the President's office for an hour. Then they moved to the larger cabinet room and were joined by a group of advisers including Rusk and British Ambassador David Ormsby Gore. Rusk was leaving Saturday night for conferences in Britain.

Macmillan lunched at the White House, and the conference continued during the afternoon. His turn to play host came later, with Kennedy invited to be his dinner guest at the British Embassy.

It was following the adjournment of the hour-long session in the cabinet room that Salinger and Evans announced that the talk had covered "East-West relations with particular emphasis on Berlin and the future of the Geneva disarmament talks."

NATO to Get U.S. Arms Data

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dean Rusk is expected to offer the NATO allies this week detailed information on the numbers, types, general capability and potential use of weapons in the U.S. nuclear arsenal.

Kennedy administration leaders are reported to hope that such information will be reassuring to Allied governments in Europe and thus help to ease the pressure from some countries—particularly West Germany — for quick creation of NATO's own nuclear weapons force.

Rusk, who left Saturday night on a globe-girdling trip, will attend a meeting of the North Atlantic Council in Athens beginning late this week. Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara also will be present. The availability of U. S. nuclear power for the defense of Western Europe will be one of the major issues before the council.

• • • •

RUSK DOES not expect that the issue will be resolved at the forthcoming session. The other 14 Allied governments in NATO are divided on what they think should be done. The United States has offered to help them create a nuclear force under control of the alliance, whose chief military commander is an American general. But the complex problems of how decisions on the use of nuclear weapons would be made are not yet close to solution.

In the meantime the West German government is pressing for some specific reassurances. One proposal from Bonn which the United States had considered and which some officials regard favorably calls for an American commitment that nuclear bombs and warheads stationed on Allied territory would not be removed without the consent of the government which has jurisdiction. The U. S. is known to have weapons in Britain, West Germany, Italy and Turkey.

Officials said that actually the United States has already given extensive information to the 15-nation NATO council, including data on the numbers and locations of nuclear weapons committed in the European area for the defense of NATO.

Science Proves Smash Hit at World's Fair

By PAUL WELLS

SEATTLE (AP)—If there was ever any doubt that science has drama, fascination and strong human appeal, the Seattle World's Fair dispelled the notion in its first week.

Science, the keynote of this Century 21 exposition dedicated to man in the space age, has been a solid smash, with the beautifully housed federal exhibit during the largest crowds.

But popular as science has been, the famed 600-foot space needle and the high-speed monorail have proved to be equally strong drawing cards.

So have food and frivolity, drama and the dance.

Just how good is this first U.S. world's fair in 22 years? Has it lived up to expectations, both in what it provides and early attendance? What are the surprises, the weak spots?

AMAZINGLY, the pre-fair hyperbole and press agentry superlatives have not proved to be too overdrawn. Upwards of 1,000 newsmen and women who viewed the 74-acre grounds and its exhibits with a critical eye last opening weekend were generous in their praise. So were several disinguished visitors, including the Shah and Empress of Iran and Sir Julian Huxley, noted British scientist.

Attendance the first four days of 160,765 was mildly disappointing, but changeable spring weather and scare stories of expected crowd and traffic jams cut down the turnout.

To a man, ranking officials of the fair have no qualms.

"We've got a winner," said Joseph E. Gandy, fair president.

"No question this will be a tremendous success," said Ewen C. Dingwall, general manager.

SUCH expressions from these hometown men might have been expected, but an old pro at the game, George Whitney of San Francisco, director of concessions, predicted unequivocally "this will go down as one of the best smaller world fairs in history."

Although science has provided the harmony of theme through federal, state, domestic and foreign exhibits, there's plenty of more down-to-earth stuff for both the high and lowbrow.

Wage Pacts in Aircraft Eyed by JFK

By GEORGE J. MARDER

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Next on President Kennedy's anti-inflation firing line is the aerospace and aircraft industry.

Management and unions in those companies can expect the White House to pressure them for non-inflationary contracts in the wake of Kennedy's steel price rollback. In fact, the heat has already been applied. Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg warned the unions the government could not tolerate a strike

The President stoked up the pressure a bit higher by pointing out at a recent press conference that the public interest is very definitely involved in contract negotiations. He let it be known that he would let the people involved know what the public interest is. He did that in steel — but not until the major compaies had raised prices.

• • • •

THE government has a much more direct interest in aerospace and aircraft. In steel its greatest concern was the falling-domino effect wages and prices might have had as they spread through the economy. The President said a steel price increase would have endangered his efforts to keep other unions and firms in line.

It would have been difficult, if not impossible, to get other unions to exercise restraint if steel prices had been allowed to rise.

But in the aerospace industry the government is the big buyer. It takes most of the production. In some companies, the government is the 99 per cent customer.

• • • •

THAT means an inflationary contract would immediately sock the government, and, through it, the taxpayers. In fact it might be more difficult than in steel to keep the costs from being passed along, whether or not the new contracts were inflationary.

In any negotiated cost-plus contract, all wage costs are immediately relayed to the consumer — Uncle Sam. Only in fixed-price contracts would there be any possibility of increased wages granted under new contracts.

About 300,000 workers are involved, and the negotiations might justify present complications not encountered in steel. For one thing, the unions have made clear they will ask for greater wage increases than were granted in steel, and greater than productivity increases might justify.

The have their demands on grounds they have some catching-up to do; that their wage scales are below comparable standards in other industries.

CHARLES MAY GET 'CORRUGATED'

Future King to Enter School With Accent on Toughening Up Students

By EDDIE GILMORE

LONDON (AP) — A bus load of schoolboys wheeled into Parliament Square a few years ago, and the spiky silhouette of Westminster Abbey towered into view.

"That," said one of the schoolboys, a moppy-haired, chubby boy of 8 named Charles," is where my mother was corrugated."

Prince Charles meant that his mother was crowned there — or coronated, as some people put it.

As the Prince of Wales, Charles, now 13, is heir to the throne.

• • • •

NEXT TUESDAY the boy who will be king will go to Gordonstoun Boarding School where, in fact, he may come pretty close to being corrugated.

Founded by the German educator Kurt Hahn 28 years ago, Gordonstoun is a tough school where conditions that would alarm a West Point freshman are deliberately created in the strange, almost tribal rite of turning British boys into gentlemen.

• • • •

Sir Winston Churchill was schooled at Harrow.

Prime Minister Harold MacMillan was an Eton boy, like a half dozens members of his cabinet.

• • • •

GORDONSTOUN is not so snobbish as Eton or Harrow, but it's tougher. Situated in a bleak section of Scotland, it has fewer sons of the titled gentry than other elite private schools.

This is one of the reasons Prince Philip is said to have insisted that his son go to Gordonstoun. Queen Elizabeth had preferred Eton.

At Eton or Harrow and especially at Gordonstoun, part of the education calls for:

Taking icy baths or showers.

Sleeping on rough mattresses.

Going on hikes before breakfast.

Studying at old, splintered, ink-stained desks.

• • • •

STUDENTS who misbehave are beaten with walking sticks.

The Duke of Bedford's 17-year-old son, Lord Rudolph Russell, ran away from Gordonstoun.

Told that Charles was to be a student there, Lord Rudolph sympathized to a friend:

"My heart bleeds for him. I remember it with horror."

• • • •

YET, Gordonstoun was not too tough for Charles' father. Prince Philip was an above than average student and became head boy in his senior year. He also captained cricket and rugby teams.

Charles is not likely to match his father's record. In his elementary studies at Cheam school his marks were below average. He was pretty awful at English and mathematics. He was best in history and geography.

"They put me in the relay team," he told a friend, "and I lost a big race for them."

• • • •

IN HIS senior year, however, he captained the soccer team. Once during a match an opposing player yelled in the Royal Ear:

"I say, Fatty, get off my foot."

Last weekend, Prince Philip began teaching his son to play polo.

He's very good with a shotgun. Charles often practiced for hours when the Royal Family was at Balmoral Castle.

His manners are impeccable and he's thoughtful.

• • • •

CLOSE friends of the Royal Family say he saves pocket money and insists on personally buying presents for his parents and other relatives.

For a boy his age, he has amazing poise.

Charles gave a cocktail party last Christmas.

He drank fruit juice, but he supervised mixing of stronger drinks and preparation of snacks. Cooking fascinates him. He can bake a cake or make a pie.

Perhaps such unexpected interests as this convinced Prince Philip that rugged Gordonstoun is the place for his son.

It costs about $1,500 a year.

Planners Show Dallas Way to Solve Congestion and Blight

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — The Columbia University School of Architecture has proposed a new approach to solve the problem of blight and congestion in the American city, with specific applications to downtown Dallas, the school announced today.

Initially, the project proposed for Dallas would center in an area of 9.75 acres centrally located in the deteriorated portion of the central business district.

As proposed, the project would be carried out by private enterprise without governmental aid of any kind.

• • • •

THE CIA STUDY, with its subsequent recommendations, was commissioned by a group of Dallas businessmen headed by W. W. Overton Jr. in a dual capacity of entrepreneur and property owner and chairman of the research committee and member of the executive committee of the Central Business District Association.

The Dallas proposal involves construction of an initial "catalyst" project covering a six-block area, comprising the 9.75 acres. The project would include twin office towers, a department store, museum, shops, restaurants, recreational facilities, parking and storage space. A motor hotel is scheduled for second stage development.

• • • •

THE ECONOMIC practicality of the "catalyst" project has been tested by today's cost and market standards and has been determined to be feasible and realistic as a private enterprise undertaking, Columbia said.

Wagner Won't Run in New York

NEW YORK (AP)—Mayor Robert F. Wagner removed himself Saturday as a candidate for the governorship this fall against Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller.

Reports had persisted that President Kennedy might induce Wagner, the state's strongest Democrat, to try to upset Rockefeller, a potential Republican nominee for president in 1964.

Wagner told a news conference he had discussed the matter with Kennedy but that he was "never under pressure" and that the President "knew how I felt."

The mayor, elected to a third four-year term last fall, said he could not "walk away" from his city duties.

He added, in effect, that there was no need for him to run for governor—that there are "a number of outstanding Democrats who, running on a liberal forward-looking platform, can take the measure of Gov. Rockefeller."

Rockefeller, commenting on Wagner's announcement, said "the decision is up to him."

The governor previously had said he believed Wagner would be the candidate if the White House gave the go ahead.

Asked whom he thought now might be his November opponent, Rockefeller said: "It's up to the Democratic Party."

Wagner declined to express any choice for the Democratic nomination.

"I am not going to list any potential candidates or list any individuals at this time," he said.

Royal Children Win at Pony Jumping

WINDSOR, England (UPI) Prince Charles and his sister, Princess Anne, competed in a private pony jumping contest at Windsor Castle Saturday and both won rosettes in a special jumping course for youngsters.

The prince and princess tested their skill in most events to earn the rosettes, the colored paper roses awarded for a winning performance and which are pinned to the mount's bridle and later hung on the stable wall.

'Enter Fully Into Politics,' Mosk Tells Young People

Young Americans were urged to "enter fully into politics" by Atty. Gen. Stanley Mosk Saturday night when he addressed 250 California Junior Statesmen in the International Ballroom of the Lafayette Hotel.

"The continual infusion of youthful blood into our political system is actually what prevents hardening of the political arteries," he told the 48th semi-annual state legislative session.

Mosk said a few years ago many observers feared for the future of our government because they thought young people were not interested in public service.

* * * *

HOWEVER, he said, the fear is now passing.

"Such activities as the Peace Corps have revealed the strong desire of young people to serve their nation."

Mosk told the junior statesmen to remember "that we elect leaders."

He observed that legislators must not be "simply passive objects of the people's will," but must offer plans for approval or disapproval.

"THE CANDIDATE who fails in intelligent leadership during a political campaign," he said, "who panders to our lower instincts rather than issuing a call to new heights, does not indicate the qualities needed in a democracy's leaders."

The attorney general said he has found youth attuned to these needs and young people he has spoken with over the years expect such leadership as a matter of course.

Attending the two-day legislative session with the 250 Californians were representatives from Arizona and a delegation from Washington.

* * * *

"NO AMERICAN can rise above politics," Mosk told the session, "if he ignores politics he only sinks below politics."

He noted that the American genius has been called political.

"Our nation's greatest achievements have been in the political realm: the Constitution, the Emancipation Proclamation, the great social advances, the Marshall Plan.

"Our greatest heroes are politicians: Washington, Jefferson, Lincoln, the two Roosevelts, Wilson."

U.S. Scientists Differ on Tests

By WALTER T. RIDDER
Chief, I. P-T Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON — With the resumption this past week of nuclear testing by the United States, the question arises of precisely how much good the tests actually do. There is a vast difference of opinion on that question among those scientists who have studied the matter.

Some of the scientists who are close to the White House maintain that there is no scientific need for the testing. They say there are good and sound political reasons why the tests should be resumed and they are indicating that President Kennedy's action in ordering new tests were based largely on political, not scientific, grounds.

The argument of these scientists is that the United States now possesses a clear lead in nuclear weaponry; that the United States now has incalculable "overkill" power, that is the power to kill more people than is necessary to achieve an objective; that the tests can merely result in learning how to kill even more people that you don't have to kill, and that little if any new knowledge can be gained from the exercises.

WALTER T. RIDDER

Most of the above arguments are hotly opposed by another group of scientists, who also have access to the President's ear. They contend that while the U. S. does now possess atomic superiority, continuation of unilateral Russian tests would soon bring the Soviets on a par with us.

Secondly, they argue the tests are necessary to produce a more sophisticated weapon, one in which the "overkill" potential, instead of being increased, would as a matter of fact be reduced.

They argue further the tests can be extremely useful in finding new ways of packaging the nuclear bombs and of the means to deliver them. They also state that only in atmospheric tests can the bomb bursts be effectively studied and thus give mankind more knowledge of the forces with which he is dealing.

The layman is caught between the arguments of the experts. Most of us can let the scientists happily argue the question, but the President, of course, had to make a decision.

• • • •

TO TEST or not to test? The suspicion here in Washington is that the President decided to test because he had no acceptable alternative. As long as there was the remotest chance that something might be learned from the tests, he could not permit the Russians to burst their bombs without loosing our own.

Whatever doubts he and his scientific advisers might have had about the efficacy of the tests, the Russians, in effect, left him no choice.

The fear that the Russians might be learning something new, that they might through their experiments catch up with us or even outstrip us would have had had political effects within the United States and would certainly have caused considerable queasiness on the part of our allies.

In effect then, the President's decision to resume testing was largely a political decision, based more upon the exigencies of the cold war than upon the scientific reasons for the explosions.

Red Cross Cautions on Stings of Insects

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The American Red Cross Saturday warned persons allergic to insect stings to take extra precautions as warm weather approaches.

It said the sting of a bee, a wasp, hornet or yellow jacket could be the "sting of death" for persons who suffer an allergic reaction known as anaphylactic shock. This could result in asphyxia.

It suggested that those who know they are subject to shock should ask their doctors for an injection of serum which gives year-round protection. The serum was developed by a Cornell University specialist, Dr. Mary H. Loveless.

The Red Cross said it has been shown that immunity to stings lessens with each sting. It added that when a victim stops breathing, artificial respiration is immediately necessary. Mouth-to-mouth respiration is best because it is quickest, and speed is essential.

The bee always leaves its stinger in the victim, and it should be removed at once, the agency said. Wasps, hornets and yellow jackets can sting repeatedly.

Algae May Give Life Saving Aid for Space Travel

AZUSA (UPI)—A tiny green single cell aquatic plant, commonly known as algae, may be the life saving companion of future astronauts, says an Aerojet-General scientist.

Thanks to a new breakthrough in the care and feeding of algae, man's potentially harmful waste gases in space travel can now be used to give him life-sustaining oxygen plus an aesthetic benefit.

Algae, commonly found on ponds or other relatively stagnant bodies of water, can absorb carbon dioxide which is found in the "used air" people exhale. It converts this gas to oxygen which man needs to breathe.

State Auto Population Still Growing

SACRAMENTO (AP)—Compared to a year ago, California has 372,000 more motor vehicles, 241,000 more drivers, and collected $9 million more in license fees.

Motor vehicles Director Tom Bright gave these figures as of March 31:

Vehicles registered — 8,102,169, including 882,000 trucks, 638,000 trailers and 64,500 motorcycles.

Licensed drivers—8,220,392.

Fees collected — $219,857,674, half of which goes to cities and counties for roads and streets.

Verdict Due in Murder, Arson Trial

POMONA (UPI)—Superior Judge James G. Whyte was expected to return a verdict Tuesday in the trial of Donald Roland Dana, charged with murder and arson for setting a series of brush and forest fires last year.

Dana submitted the transcript of his preliminary hearing as the basis of his trial. Whyte is hearing the trial without a jury.

Dana, 32, a former mental patient, is charged with eight counts of arson. He also is accused of murder because of the death of firefighter Michael Rushworth, 18, in the Sierra Madre fire Oct. 30.

U.S. Chamber Policy Makers Rap Price Controls

By STERLING F. GREEN

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Policy makers of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce declared Saturday their opposition to any direct or indirect wage or price controls except in time of war or grave threat of war.

The statement was one of a score of resolutions drafted by the chamber's policy committee for approval of some 4,000 delegates to the organization's 50th annual meeting starting here Monday.

President Kennedy will greet the delegates and guests at the opening session in Constitution Hall.

It will be his first speech to any business group since he quashed the steel industry's bid for a price increase. Many businessmen have criticized his mobilization of government power in that clash as an undue interference with free markets.

• • • •

BUT KENNEDY is expected to deliver a new appeal for cooperation between business and government in curbing inflation, fostering economic growth and enlarging foreign trade. He is expected also to renew his assurances that the administration harbors no ill-will as a result of the steel price battle.

Although former President Dwight D. Eisenhower regularly greeted the chamber delegates throughout his two terms in office, Kennedy did not appear last year. He did address the National Association of Manufacturers and many other business groups, however.

The proposed resolution against economic controls in peace time was not prompted by the power struggle between big steel and big government but by the potentially explosive Berlin situation.

THE CHAMBER'S policy committee, headed by the president-elect of the organization, H. Ladd Plumly of Worcester, Mass., decided that the chamber's position should be spelled out in detail for presentation to Congress before another East-West crisis brings on demands for economic safeguards.

The proposed resolution says presidential authority to invoke wage, price or rent controls "should derive from Congress" and the enabling law should expire within two years of its enactment unless renewed by Congress.

Any freeze action, it states, should be applied simultaneously to wages, prices and rents.

• • • • •

"ALL WAGE, price and rent controls should be reviewed promptly and simultaneously upon the termination of the conditions that initiated their imposition," it adds.

The resolution is expected to get prompt approval at the chamber's final policy meeting Wednesday afternoon, as is another resolution which opposes collective bargaining by federal employes.

This clashes directly with Kennedy's policy. A recent presidential order recognized the right of employes' unions to bargain and sign agreements with federal agencies on grievances, promotions and other matters, not including pay. The order does not alter the historic ban on strikes against the government.

Committee for Hosmer Re-election Organized

By BOB HOUSER
Political Editor

Organization of a citizens committee for re-election of Republican Congressman Craig Hosmer of the Long Beach-Lakewood-Signal Hill-Dominguez 32nd District was announced Saturday.

C. L. (Slim) Fowler, Southland businessman, is chairman, Dick Sukman, retail executive, is vice chairman, Joseph Turner, West Coast shipping operator, is finance chairman. Mrs. Annette Brewer is treasurer.

Fowler said scores more representing both major parties will be included in the group to elect Hosmer to his sixth two-year term. He added:

"Craig Hosmer, through his ability, experience and seniority in Congress, his great activity and sincere interest in the problems of the area and the people here, is an outstanding representative.

"Among other things, Mr. Hosmer is a key member of the Joint Atomic Energy Committee and a leader in the field for atomic power for peaceful uses as well as for United States space exploration, defense missiles and armament.

"Our Congressman has worked diligently and tirelessly for many things good for this area, our state and nation. Among his numerous efforts has been his outstanding work to get the Naval Hospital for Long Beach, not to mention many more."

• • • •

FOUR IN 39TH PUSH CAMPAIGNS

All four Republican candidates for the East Long Beach 39th Assembly District seat (old 70th) issued campaign statements Saturday.

Alvin G. Miller asked Democratic opponents to explain "the weak stand taken by their party on the vital issue of narcotics, narcotic laws, penalties and rehabilitation."

Miller said the issue affects everyone, especially impressionable and immature teen-agers "who lack the judgment of understanding the evils of narcotics. This issue is of grave concern to me since I am a teacher and the father of six children or stepchildren, all in their teens or below. I intend to drive hard until our racketeers, hoodlums, pushers and others associated with narcotics are given their just reward, for the weak victims' help.

"I stand for strong help to our law-enforcement agencies to aid in curbing our illicit traffic in dope, and strong penal sentences for the violators. I have had enough talk, now how about some action?"

• • • •

GEORGE DEUKMEJIAN also took an apparent swipe at Democratic opposition—Bert B. Bond—in decrying "irresponsible statements . . . concerning the future of Long Beach as being 'at its limits'."

Speaking at a neighborhood coffee hour at 6220 Seaside Walk, Deukmejian said that rather than talk the city down and retard our growth with this kind of "narrow-minded opinion," we should look to recent reports which "definitely show that the general Long Beach area is entering a new era of development.

"Local construction projects are up $4 million, the number employed has increased 27,000, personal income has reached a new high, general retail sales have risen 1.5 per cent and over 5,000 new residents have come to our city. All of these facts coupled with the recent launching of Long Beach Promotion Inc., clearly prove that this area is on the move ahead."

ALVIN G. MILLER
Foe of Narcotics

Deukmejian said the philosophy that we have reached our limits "must not be put to work in Sacramento."

• • • •

CAPT. C. M. GARRISON, approved committee appointments of his campaign chairman Edward W. Gray. They are:

Commodore Schuyler Heim (USN, ret.), and Harold Brown, veterans; Walter Powell, insurance; Mrs. Mary M. Taylor, Mrs. Mildred J. MacDonald and Mrs. Marti Cannon, precincts; Dr. Lyman R. Vaughan and Dr. Paul W. Christensen, dentists; Mrs. Mary G. B. Tointon, teachers; Dr. Bernard L. Johnson and Dr. Oliver Nees, physicians; Bruce Nelson, CPA; Mrs. Nellie Combellack, Signal Hill; Norman G. Hovlid and M. J. Jensch, businessmen; Walhfred Jacobson, attorneys; Harold O. Gray, public accountants; Philip D. McCutchan and W. G. Nicol, real estate.

Garrison said these are experienced campaign workers "and I am sure they will be our foundation of a successful campaign."

• • • •

JAMES A. HAYES attacked the recently adjourned special session as a "do-nothing Legislature which has left citizens in a baffled state of wonderment . . . in puzzled consternation."

Despite Democratic majorities in both houses, said Hayes, "They managed to produce a blank record of nonaccomplishment, issue-dodging, buck-passing and log-jammed futility leaving no results or progress of any real meaning."

He said unless voters in great numbers act decisively to elect vigorous, constructive action-minded, practical public leaders, we can look for nothing better from the Legislature in 1963.

Among issues, out of some 50 before the session, on which Hayes charged inaction or lack of adequate action were "total and realistic reapportionment of the State Senate, more gas tax moneys for Southern California, workable legislation for poker control and an appropriate 'unloaded' state budget."

WOMEN SQUABBLE

Cow Subpoenaed in Battery Trial

EL CAJON, Calif. (UPI)—A cow, which apparently didn't mind in the least being chased from one farm to another by a bull, will appear in court Tuesday in the case of two women neighbors who came to blows over her.

Attorney John Brady, who subpoenaed the cow Friday, said the cow, unbranded and emaciated, had wandered into the ranch of his client, Mrs. Antonia Chikering of Potrero. He said she took care of the cow and claimed it.

Then along came a bull owned by Mrs. Hazel Copeland. He took a fancy to the cow and chased it onto Mrs. Copeland's property.

Brady said the two women met at their property line and argued over the cow. He said the words changed to blows and another neighbor, Herb Horsefell, entered the fray on behalf of Mrs. Copeland.

As a result of the conflict, Mrs. Chickering filed assault and battery charges against Mrs. Copeland and Horsefell. Mrs. Copeland countered by filing similar charges against Mrs. Chickering.

Brady said he had subpoenaed the cow because in settling the assault charges the court may also decide its custody. Since the fracas the cow has been impounded. The bull is not involved in the legal battle.

Brady added that prior to the cow incident, Mrs. Chickering and Mrs. Copeland had not been on the best of terms.

Demo Leader Warns of Over-Confidence

AKRON, Ohio (UPI)—National Chairman John M. Bailey warned fellow Democrats Saturday night against "blind hope and careless optimism" about next fall's congressional elections.

Bailey said in an address before a Jefferson-Jackson Day dinner, that while the Kennedy administration record had been "magnificent" both at home and abroad, "we can never assume that this means we can relax."

He said a recent public opinion poll showed that "more Republicans than Democrats had a reason for waiting to vote."

• • • •

BAILEY SAID Democrats must make sure that their voters cast ballots. "The President needs a Democratic Congress because the Republicans still have not learned how to move without dragging their heels—unless, of course, they are moving backward," he said.

Bailey said Republican criticism of Kennedy's actions in the recent steel price controversy was the latest example of the GOP "negative stance."

He said that in essence "they criticized him for acting like a President."

• • • •

BAILEY attacked Ohio Republican Rep. William H. Ayres of Akron for voting against administration bills, which Bailey said were in the public interest—such as aid to depressed areas, a housing bill and education legislation.

Rightist Triple Play Perils GOP Win, Boosts Goldwater

By WILLIAM BROOM
of L. P-T Capital Bureau

WASHINGTON — A conservative triple play—New York to Michigan to California—is arousing speculation about a double cross among liberal Republicans here.

The party's three gubernatorial candidates in those states, Gov. Nelson Rockefeller, automaker George Romney, and former Vice President Richard Nixon, are having troubles with their campaigns. All are rated prospective candidates for the GOP presidential nomination in 1964, provided they win this year.

Most of the Rockefeller-Romney-Nixon troubles are being attributed to conservative elements within their own party. Were all three beaten in the same election, Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona, the conservatives' conservative, would stand alone with a claim to national Republican leadership.

GOLDWATER, it should be emphasized, is not connected in any way with the monkey wrenches conservatives are throwing in the three big states. As chairman of the Senate Campaign Committee, he's fighting hard for GOP candidates of all persuasions in this year's races.

Nevertheless, problems with conservatives have brought a note of uncertainty into three races where prospects for Republican victories were considered excellent earlier in the year.

The state by state reports being circulated here are as follows—

New York: Gov. Rockefeller once was rated a solid bet for re-election. Republicans were forecasting a 750,000 vote win over any Democratic candidate. Right-wing Republicans, who regard the governor as too liberal, are busy organizing a conservative party which will run its own slate in November. Within the past week, Democrats have circulated results of a poll showing that Rockefeller actually trails the Democratic mayor of New York City, Robert Wagner, in a trial heat. Rockefeller officials say the poll is inaccurate and designed mainly to excite the reluctant Wagner. talking margin of victory, and the Rockefeller campaign hasn't generated the power it was expected to. (Saturday, however, Wagner withdrew from the race. See story on Page A-7.)

Michigan — A beautifully synchronized national public relations campaign projected Romney into prominence a few months ago. There were widespread predictions in Michigan that he was a cinch to end the Democratic 10-year hold on the governorship. Romney let it be known he was out to rejuvenate the Republican Party in the state, and thereby become a possibility for national leadership. Some of the glitter disappeared, however, when he was forced to seek an accommodation in the state's constitutional convention with conservative rural Republicans. It is they who have long held power in the legislature while Democrats held the governorship. Gov. John B. Swainson has moved up in popularity recently, while the Romney campaign has leveled off.

California — About a year ago, Nixon was leading Gov. Brown in public opinion polls by more than 10 percentage points. Two weeks ago, he fell behind for the first time. These are non-partisan polls with a generally good record for accuracy. At the time he entered the race, Nixon had beaten President Kennedy by 36,000 votes in California in the extremely close 1960 presidential race. Gov. Brown's candidacy, beset by problems in governing the big and complex state, was at a relatively low level. Nixon is meeting more opposition than he or the Democrats anticipated from Joseph Shell, a conservative GOP leader in the state legislature. Many Republicans, including staunch Nixon friends, are predicting Shell may roll up as much as 35 per cent of the vote in the primary race against Nixon.

Reshuffle Police in Scandal

DENVER (UPI) — Denver Police Chief James Slavin announced Saturday a complete reshuffling of the top command of the scandal-rocked department he took over early this year.

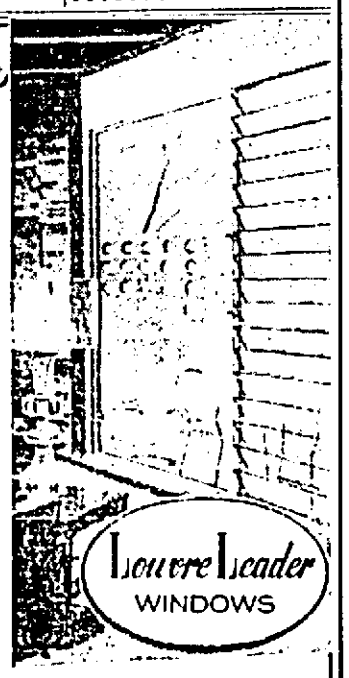

Slavin removed Capts. Walter G. Nelson, 46; Clifford V. Stanley, 55, and Robert H. Newbury, 55, as chiefs of the department's three divisions and replaced them with three veteran command officers.

It was the first top-echelon change in the department since one last fall by a state investigation. Fifty-one policemen have so far been charged with being criminals.

Slavin said the three new division chiefs would be James F. Shumte, 50, who will become division chief of detectives to replace Nelson; Roy M. Floyd, 51, division chief of staff services replacing Stanley, and Warner K. Reeser, 47, acting chief of uniform patrol, replacing Newbury.

THE WEEK IN REVIEW

'Go' From JFK Triggered Tests

By HARRY WILSON SHARPE

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A mighty blast high over the central Pacific last week signaled resumption of U. S. nuclear weapons tests in the atmosphere. There are many more to come.

President Kennedy figuratively pulled the trigger. He gave American weaponeers the "go" when Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev disdained a long-pending deadline for signing a cheat-proof test-ban pact.

The United States meanwhile scored its first landing on the moon with an unmanned, "crippled" Ranger-4 spacecraft—crippled because a technical flaw damaged its vital communication system.

• • • •

THE NATION ALSO OPENED a new era in international space collaboration. It joined Britain and Japan in two experiments, including the firing into orbit of the world's first international satellite. This latter was an Anglo-American venture.

Two highly secret satellites were lofted from the West Coast, apparently intended for defense purposes, and it was announced that the next U.S. manned orbital flight will come at Cape Canaveral in mid-May with Astronaut Scott Carpenter at the controls.

SCOTT CARPENTER

Russian spacemen were not idle. They launched the fourth experimental satellite in a current series on ways to land a man on the moon.

But dominating the headlines were the U. S. nuclear shots—the President's most forceful way of showing Khrushchev the United States will maintain its nuclear deterrent power, come what may, until Russia joins in an ironclad test ban.

Kennedy had said in effect that the deterrent will be maintained despite the anger of friend, foe, or neutral, or deadly radioactive fallout—anything, so long as Khrushchev maintains his present position.

• • • •

MOSCOW REACTED at the Geneva disarmament conference with charges Kennedy had brought the world "to the abyss of nuclear war." It indicated it would call for sanctions but found no backers outside the Communist bloc. Nor did Khrushchev carry out a threat to bolt the conference.

U. S. Ambassador Arthur H. Dean reminded the conference the United States resumed testing because it refused to be duped again by Russia as it was last fall when Khrushchev broke a gentlemen's agreement with the firing of more than 40 radiation-laden blasts.

Dean said no responsible government woul allow this situation to continue and expose itself to further betrayal by a hostile power whose declared objective is to "overwhelm and destroy us."

ARTHUR H. DEAN

In Washington Secretary of State Dean Rusk said the United States "regrets" the tests but not its decision to go ahead. He also cited Russia's cheat tests and said: "We aren't going to lose any time." The United States, he added, can never accept a test-ban treaty based on "blind trust;" that it would never place the security of the American people and the free world in the hands of those who operate in secrecy.

But he said the President will continue to press ahead for an end to the arms race, even while the American tests are going on.

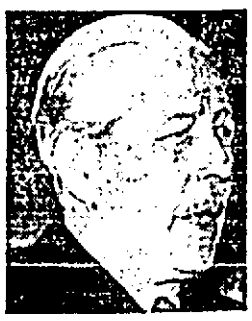

Rusk said meantime that he did not foresee an early summit conference, which Khrushchev wants. Nor did he foresee a formal NATO-Warsaw pack non-aggression treaty until the Kremlin recognizes the Allies have "absolutely no intention of abandoning their rights in West Berlin."

• • • •

HE TOLD REPORTERS the same applies to Russo-American guarantees against the spread of nuclear weapon know-how. The Allied position in Berlin will be given up, he declared, only when the Russians agree to let all Germans vote on their future and achieve reunification of their divided country. He said the United States was willing to let the East Germans "exercise local responsibility" over access to the city.

Rusk held another Berlin exploratory talk with Soviet Ambassador Anatoly F. Dobrynin before leaving for important defense treaty conferences in London, Athens, and Canberra, Australia.

President Kennedy returned from a Palm Beach vacation to greet British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan and began wide-ranging cold war strategy talks. Before coming to Washington, Macmillan addressed the American Newspaper Publishers Association in New York.

HAROLD MACMILLAN

America's spacemen and scientists were jubilant over their moon strike, saying the Ranger guidance system and booster package put the U. S. back in the race with Russia to land the first man on the moon. The Ranger-4 hit the backside of the lunar body Thursday morning after a 238,857-mile journey which began Monday at Cape Canaveral.

In other news spheres, a federal grand jury in New York indicted U. S. Steel Corp. and three other steel companies on charges of conspiring to fix prices and rig bids on sales to the Army and Navy and other buyers. The companies promised "a contest in the courts."

The Defense Department authorized resumption of government-paid overseas travel for military families. The ban was imposed during the Berlin crisis last fall.

Southern Democrats began a filibuster in the Senate to prevent passage of a bill to ban state literacy tests as a voting qualification in federal elections.

Buena Park Immortalizes Film Greats in Wax

MOVIELAND WAX MUSEUM scene shows Actress Gina Lollobrigida in dressing room trailer.

$1.5 MILLION MUSEUM

Famed Figures Debut Monday

Film stars from draped Greta Garbo to the barely clad Brigitte Bardot wax silently but eloquently in Buena Park.

Done in fine wax flesh tones, the luminaries of Hollywood now "hold that pose" indefinitely in the new Movieland Wax Museum, 7711 Beach Blvd., just north of Knott's Berry Farm and Ghost Town, in Buena Park.

The wax figures—65 of Hollywood's all-time greats, posed in scenes and roles from their most memorable pictures — will premiere Friday night.

• • • •

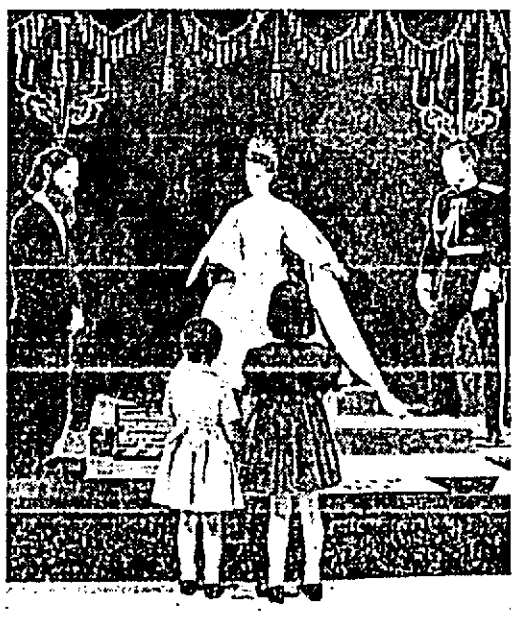

THE $1,500,000 wax hall of film fame, founded by Allen H. Parkinson of Long Beach, its president, eventually will house more than 200 figures. The sculptures are from famed wax studios in Hong Kong, Hollywood, Mexico and France.

The public premiere, starting at 9:30 p.m. next Friday, will run continuously until the following midnight, with all proceeds going to the Motion Picture Relief Fund.

• • • •

THE MUSEUM will open with all the glitter of a Hollywood grand premiere—searchlights, fireworks—all far enough away to keep the wax intact.

Stars who are scheduled to get long runs in wax in the show include Jean Harlow, Will Rogers, Charles Chaplin, Rudolph Valentino, the Marx Brothers, Clark Gable, Norma Shearer, Gina Lollobrigida, Tyrone Power, Cantiflas, Charley Chase, Harold Lloyd, Marilyn Monroe, Laurel and Hardy, William S. Hart, Pola Negri, Mary Pickford and Douglas Fairbanks—an entire Who's Who in films past and present, including 14 Academy Award winners.

FINALS IN L.A.

Area Sends 6 to Posture Contests

Six students from area high schools will be among 41 youngsters competing Thursday in the citywide finals of the 16th annual posture contest of Los Angeles City Schools.

The area will be represented best in the competition among senior high school boys, where four of nine finalists will be from local schools.

They are Bernard Fernandez, Narbonne High; Fred Hannon, Gardena High; David Hollingsworth, San Pedro High; and Todd Martella, Banning High.

• • • •

SHARON SCOTT, representing San Pedro High, will compete in the senior high school girls' division, and Linda Weiss, Fleming Junior High, will compete in the junior high school girls' competition. No area students reached the finals for junior high school boys.

Finals of the contest, which attracted more than 55,000 entries, will be held at Hollywood High School. Trophies will be presented the top three finalists in each classification, and a perpetual trophy will be awarded the winning school in each group.

Hallinan's Son Faces Citation

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The district attorney's office Saturday cited Patrick (Butch) Hallinan, 27, son of attorney Vincent Hallinan, for disturbing the peace.

Asst. Dist. Atty. Walter Varakin said the citation was the result of a fistfight between Hallinan and his fellow student at Hastings Law College, Ted Millar, 23. The fight took place Thursday in Golden Gate Park, the day after the pair got into an argument at a demonstration in civic center against the House Un-American Activities Committee.

City's Contract Rules Get Study

City charter advisers have begun a study aimed at streamlining numerous sections requiring competitive bidding for contracts.

A proposed new draft prepared by City Atty. Gerald Desmond's office was taken under advisement by the Charter Revision Committee, which scheduled another meeting next Friday on the same subject.

The proposal brings together in consecutive order sections widely scattered through the existing charter.

Deputy City Atty. Harold Lingle recommended that no change be attempted in the present exemption of contracts for professional services. Competitive bidding in this specialized field would often prove impractical, he said.

Under the draft, the current maximum of $3,500 on contracts completely exempt from competitive bidding is left unchanged.

Personal Finance Lecture Monday

Money and how to hang on to it will be the subject of Dr. Irving Pfeffer's lecture on "Putting Your Financial House in Order," at 7:30 p.m. Monday in Lecture Hall 150, Long Beach State College. Dr. Pfeffer is associate professor of insurance at UCLA.

Berserk Man Shot to Death

Arthur H. Hansl, 54, was shot twice and killed when he attacked a police officer with a long barbecue fork early Saturday at the door of his apartment at 269 Glendora Ave.

Police officers Douglas Bostard, 27, and Virgil J. Fogg, 24, answered a call from Hansl's neighbor in the apartment house, Robert Eugene Shuker, 33, who complained that Hansl had attacked him.

According to Homicide Detective Sgt. Robert Castillo, Officer Bostard was forced to shoot when Hansl advanced "toward the officers, jabbing at Officer Bostard with the barbecue fork." Bostard was wounded slightly in the abdomen.

Hansl, former Independent employe, had been undergoing psychiatric treatment, according to police.

Proposes U.S.-Russ Citizen 'Exchange'

MADISON, Wis. (AP)—Hospitality and curiosity are the keys to a university professor's plan to thaw the cold war by sending 200,000 plain American citizens to Russia for a 10-day visit while a like number of Russians tour the United States for the same period.

The "open cities" plan is proposed by University of Wisconsin professor of Slavic languages Edmund Zawacki, who already has discussed it with the State Department.

THE BUSINESS WEEK

Price-Fix Indictment Jolts Big Steel Again

By JACK LEFLER
AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—The steel industry took it on the chin again this week — this time through indictment of four steel companies, a trade association and five individuals on charges of conspiring to fix prices and rig bids.

The development came as the sound and fury of the two-week-old steel price increase warfare echoed. But there was no connection.

Indicted by a federal grand jury were United States Steel Corp., Bethlehem Steel Co., Erie Forge & Steel Corp. and Midvale-Heppenstall Co. Also charged were Open Die Forging Institute and five officials of the four companies.

• • • •

THE BIDS cited in the indictment were on sales of steel forgings to the Army, Navy, electrical companies and other buyers.

The Forging Institute was alleged to have acted as a "clearing house" for price agreements among the accused companies.

The Justice Department said it began investigating the case in April 1961.

The case against the steel companies appeared to parallel the indictment for price fixing and bid rigging of 29 electrical equipment manufacturers and 44 of their executives in 1960. The companies and executives were fined a total of $1,924,500 and seven executives were sent to jail.

• • • •

THE INDICTMENT returned Thursday had nothing to do with the steel industry's raising prices $6 a ton April 10, only to back down three days later under steamroller pressure from the Kennedy administration. However, steel pricing is under investigation by another federal grand jury.

News of the indictment sent steel stocks lower on the New York Stock Exchange. They had been declining all week on investor disappointment over first quarter earnings.

Steel company heads took the opportunity of reporting earnings to reiterate their need for relief from a profit-cost squeeze so that they could meet competition from other domestic materials and foreign steel imports.

• • • •

U. S. STEEL earned $55.8 million, equal to 91 cents a share, compared with $32 million in the recessionary 1961 first quarter and $112.6 million in the busy 1960 period.

U.S. Steel chairman Roger L. Blough said:

"Continuing intensive efforts will have to be made to increase the amount of income above that announced in the first quarter which only equals today's dividend declaration (75 cents) and a pro-rata share of the year's debt repayment, leaving no margin for reinvestment in the business."

Chairman Avery C. Adams of Jones & Laughlin Steel Corp., commenting on the price situation faced by the steel companies, said:

"Isn't it time for all of us to face up to the economic facts of life and examine the question as to whether any business, large or small, can coexist with a governmental policy which calls for a denouncement of anyone who doesn't submit meekly to economic edicts by government?"

• • • •

ADDING TO ITS tribulations, the steel industry found demand for its products continuing to slide since a new labor contract was signed three months ahead of the contract expiration date. The early agreement, providing 10 cents an hour in fringe benefits but no wage increase, was reached under pressure from President Kennedy.

Output last week fell to 2,138,000 tons, off 4.7 per cent from the previous week. Earlier hedge buying against a strike had ended.

Meanwhile, the automobile industry zoomed along on the crest of a tide of prosperity.

For the second week in a row, production hit the highest level of the year with an estimated 152,000 passenger cars turned out, compared with 146,215 last week.

• • • •

SALES IN THE middle 10 days of April totaled 214,850, highest since record April 1955, the year when the most cars in history were sold.

General Motors Corp. reported its greatest quarterly earnings for the first three months of this year. Its profits totaled $374 million, equal to $1.31 a share, on sales of $3.66 billion.

The cost of living, rising for the second straight month, reached a new high in March. The Labor Department's index moved up to 105 per cent of the 1957-59 average from 104.8 in February. The increase was attributed to higher prices for women's spring clothing, shoes, medical care, fresh fruits and vegetables, house furnishings and used cars.

• • • •

MACHINE TOOL orders rose in March from January and February levels. However, the total of $17,450,000 for the first quarter was slightly under the $172,550,000 for the like 1961 period.

Contracts for future construction in March spurted to an all-time high of $3,595,549,000, an increase of 26 per cent above March 1961.

Briefly around the business scene: American Motors discontinued production of its two-passenger Metropolitan model . . . Metropolitan Life Insurance Co. paid policyholders and beneficiaries $1.68 billion last year . . . Shoe production in March hit the highest monthly level in history—59,035,000 pairs . . . The music industry sold 410,000 band instruments last year, compared with 240,000 a decade earlier.

Aerojet Plans to Test-Fire 2 Big New Motors

SACRAMENTO (AP)—Plans to test-fire two huge solid-fuel rocket motors, each theoretically capable of almost three-quarters of a million pounds of trust, have been announced by Aerojet-General Corp., a firm that manufactures rocket motors and fuels.

An Aerojet spokesman said the firings would take place sometime in the next 2½ months.

The spokesman said the two 100-inch in diameter motors are being tested under a $4-million Air Force contract that includes developing new methods of steering large solid-fuel rockets.

The current record thrust for a single rocket motor is 600,00 pounds, set by another Aerojet motor earlier this year.

Union Oil Awarded Santa Barbara Lease

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—The State Lands Commission has awarded a gas and oil lease on a 5,653-acre parcel of Santa Barbara County tidelands to Union Oil Co.

The commission said that Union offered a bonus of $3,017,740 in addition to royalties. It was the highest of four bids received on the parcel.

Other bidders were Shell Oil Co., $513,000; Richfield and Tidewater Oil companies (joint bid) $250,334; and Standard Oil Company $170,327.

Powder Puff Fliers Draw for Places

TETERBORO, N. J. (AP)—Mrs. Pauline Glasson of Corpus Christi, Tex., has drawn the No. 1 position for the 1962 Powder Puff Derby.

The derby, an all-women transcontinental air race, begins July 7 at Oakland, Calif. It will finish 2,600 miles away at Wilmington, Del., July 11.

Race officials say the first pilot to take off normally enjoys advantages of time saved in refueling, particularly at the first stop.

Entries will be competing for a $2,500 purse plus 13 prizes for sections of the race and awards in many special categories.

Each plane will fly against its own handicap. Entries are restricted to stock aircraft of 85-400 horsepower.

Mrs. Glasson, has logged 11,000 flying hours.

Pabst Brewing Co. Sued for $990,000

CHICAGO (AP)—Emco Sales Co. of Los Angeles has sued the Pabst Brewing Co. of Milwaukee for $990,000 damages, alleging breach of contract. The U.S. District Court suit alleged that Pabst canceled a contract for two to three million flashlights to be supplied by Emco for a promotional campaign.

No Wheels for Autos of Future

By ROBERT IRVIN

SEBRING, Fla. (UPI) — In 10 years you will be able to buy a passenger car which has no wheels and will run on a cushion of air, according to a noted British automobile manufacturer.

Donald Healey of Warwick, England, says the long-range future for motor vehicles lies in aircars which speed along the highway an inch or so off the ground.

The 63-year-old engineer, who once went 205 miles an hour in an Austin-Healey sports car over the Bonneville (Utah) Salt Flats, acknowledged there is a lot of room for development left in the standard internal combustion engine in today's automobiles.

• • • •

TURBINE superchargers (in which air is forced into the engine under pressure) will be used more on regular passenger car engines, he said, and cited recent announcements by Oldsmobile and Chevrolet offering them on some models.

But Healey, here for the recent Sebring Sports Car races, believes air cushion passenger cars will be a reality "within the next 10 years." Before then, however, "tremendous difficulties must be overcome, he said.

"Ford is further along than we are," he said. "They have air cars already running on tracks. And Curtiss-Wright is developing cross-country air vehicles for the U. S. Army."

• • • •

THE MAIN problem in developing an air car, according to Healey, is propulsion. It's not too difficult to move an air car down the highway, he said, "but how do we get it up a hill?" One way would be a form of jet propulsion, he suggested.

Touching on other automotive developments, Healey said it was a definite possibility that cars would be made with all-aluminum bodies in the next three years.

In England, he said, there has been "an astounding drop in aluminum prices in the last three months. If the price drops more we may use it in complete car bodies."

Healey hastened to add that he was thinking mainly of limited production vehicles such as sports cars. For the major massed produced cars "it will still be steel for a long time," he said.

PATSY FINNEGAN STARS ON ICE

'Patsy' Star Skater of Ice Capades at 19

Nineteen-year-old Lynn (Patsy) Finnegan has been with the Ice Capades only three years, but she is featured in two of the big productions of the show which opens its run Tuesday in the Los Angeles Sports Arena.

She does a routine in "Brigadoone" and holds the spotlight in "Hungarian Rhapsody."

Miss Finnegan, a native New Yorker, has been performing on skates since she was 10. In 1958 and 1959 she was runner-up to Carol Heiss in the national and North American competition.

The Los Angeles run of the Ice Capades consists of 12 evening and 8 matinee performances.

Poles Enjoy Early Easter

WARSAW (AP)—Warm sunshine beamed on millions of Easter-tide churchgoers, shoppers and vacationers in Communist Poland Saturday.

Temperatures above 70 in Warsaw brought out a premature Saturday Easter parade of people wearing modest spring clothing. Many lined up at food stores and churches, symbolizing the Easter tradition of praying and feasting in Poland.

Soviets 1st Spaceman Schedules Japan Visit

LONDON (AP)—Yuri Gagarin, the Soviet Union's first spaceman, is to visit Japan next month. Tass said the leaders of the Japan-U.S.S.R Society were informed Gagarin has accepted an invitation for the second half of May.

Lecture Series Set on 'Child's Health'

"Your Child's Health," a series of public lectures offered for the first time by the Long Beach City College General Adult Division, will begin at 7:30 p.m. Thursday in the Mark Twain School auditorium, Centralia Street and Clark Avenue.

John Saylor, M.D., will open the series with a "Critical Analysis of Nutrition, Growth and Development." A former student at City College, Dr. Saylor is a graduate of Juniata College and Harvard Medical School. He was resident pediatrician at Seaside Hospital before entering private practice here in 1949.

Other speakers in the weekly series will discuss various health problems of children from infancy through adolescence. Topics will include infectious and contagious diseases, hereditary diseases, allergies and skin problems and the emotional effects of illness upon children.

Other admission-free programs this week:

MONDAY

Light on Dark Africa—Dr. Wendell L. Miller, "Capetown" (illustrated), 7:30 p.m., Hughes Junior High School auditorium.

Personal Estate Planning—R. J. Garnauss, "Insuring the Estate," 7:30 p.m., Jefferson Junior High School auditorium.

WEDNESDAY

Professors Rap Racist Schools

CHICAGO (AP)—The American Association of University Professors Saturday overwhelmingly recommended termination of all federal aid to colleges and universities maintaining segregation.

It also passed resolutions against tighter regulations on "Communist propaganda" sent through the mails, against abuse of discipline power, against faculty members and students taking part in peaceful demonstrations, against "social injustices," and for faculty control of college and university athletic policies.

Beatnik Party Raid Nets 45

SOUTH PASADENA (UPI)—Police and sheriff's deputies Saturday raided a beatnik party in a normally quiet neighborhood here and arrested 45 persons on suspicion of violation of state narcotics laws.

When the officers raided the apartment and found the party going full blast — complete with goatees and leotards.

Thirteen officers seized 1,000 assorted pills, two ounces of marijuana and several hypodermic kits.

Librarians Slate Spring Breakfast

L. A.-P-T Los Angeles Bureau

More than 600 librarians and their friends — literary gourmets whose special dish is children's books — will gather Wednesday, May 16, for the 20th annual Spring Book Breakfast of the Los Angeles County Library.

The breakfast, which begins at 8:45 a.m., will be in the Statler Hilton Hotel, Los Angeles.

Mrs. Mary Rogers Smith, coordinator of children's services, arranged the program, which will feature 10 experts in children's literature. Nine are authors and one teaches children's literature in college.

The authors are Mrs. Edna Sorenson, Virginia Newell, Paul and Beryl Scott, Leo Politi, Don Freeman, Mrs. Carol Eyrie Brink, Ruth Robbins and Fred Gypson.

Mrs. Dorothy McKenzie, professor of children's literature at Los Angeles State College and founder and chairman of the Southern California Council of Children's Literature, will deliver the keynote address.

HOURLY CONFUSION

You Can Use Two Clocks in Oregon

By JAMES J. DOYLE

PORTLAND, Ore. (UPI)—Asking what time it is in Oregon this summer could bring a lengthy answer.

The person you ask may not like what time it is and decide to move it up an hour or back an hour, depending on whether he is an advocate of Daylight Time or Standard Time.

Five counties are permitted to go on Daylight Time legally. The rest of the state is supposed to stay on Standard Time. But some people don't like the idea of being left out, so they turn their clocks ahead anyway.

That was the picture last summer and it is expected to be the same this year.

MULTNOMAH COUNTY and four contiguous counties are permitted under a 1961 Oregon law to go on Daylight Time. But last summer other political sub divisions turned the clocks ahead without legal authority. The result was a crazy quilt of time zones.

In a number of towns, the schools went fast, while the city government remained Standard—or businesses remained on Standard while the city government went for fast time.

So far, four of the counties permitted to move the clocks ahead as of April 29 have voted to do so. The fifth was expected to go along.

THE MAIN opposition to Daylight Time in Oregon has come from Grange and theater lobbies. They have a vociferous backing of other persons, not organized.

Because of such opposition, the 1961 Oregon legislature failed to pass a memorial to congress advocating a uniform time. But the same assembly did pass a bill permitting the five counties in the greater Portland area to use Daylight Time if they wanted. They did.

The legislature also referred the matter to the electorate in the November general election. That will decide the matter for 1963.

Meanwhile, petitioners are trying to get a Standard Time measure on the same ballot. If they succeed, the measure will run side by side and if both pass, the one with the greater number of votes will win.

Clothing Sales Show Eastertime Splurge

NEW YORK (AP)—Mothers went on an Easter shopping splurge this week but slowed down their purchases of home furnishings, Dun & Bradstreet Inc. said.

The business news service agency said heavy purchases of children's wear and millinery helped push the volume of retail sales far above the level of a year earlier.

In 1961, however, Easter fell earlier than it does this year. This partially accounts for the comparatively sharp year-to-year increase this week, estimated by Dun & Bradstreet to be 20 to 24 per cent.

Italy Picks President Wednesday

ROME (AP) — The young Italian republic will elect a president Wednesday—without a single campaign speech.

The election is by 854 members of Parliament.

An issue is whether President Giovanni Gronchi should succeed himself, setting a two-term precedent. Two terms mean 14 years.

Although Italy's constitution allows the president almost no policy-making power, politics is a factor. The legislators will have to decide whether to name a president who favors or disapproves Italy's new experiment with a government slanted to the left. Premier Amintore Fanfani heads an alliance which depends for parliamentary majority upon the pledged support of the Socialist left.

IT IS CONSIDERED unfitting to engage in campaign oratory, but debate has been going on behind the closed doors of party meetings.

A two-thirds majority is required for election on any of the first three secret ballots. After that a simple majority elects.

In the past the winner has always emerged as a dark horse, his strength not even hinted in early vote swapping. Gronchi polled a meager 30 votes on the first ballot seven years ago, and won hands down on the fourth.

Although there are no avowed candidates, it is known that Gronchi, now 74, would like another term. Opponents have cited only one objection—the precedent of a second term. Gronchi, a member of the dominant Christian Democrat party, advocated the government's slant to the left.

FOREIGN MINISTER Antonio Segni, 71, is another possibility. As a right-of-center Christian Democrat, he has been suggested as a counter- balance to the leftist trend.

Giuseppe Saragat, 63, has support as a candidate who would let another party into the presidency. He is a Democrat Socialist.

The job pays $20,000 a year.

Airliner to Launch Daily Nonstop L.B.-S.F. Trips

WESTERN'S PROP-JET ELECTRA BRINGS NON-STOP SERVICE HERE

By LEE CRAIG
Military-Aviation Editor

The first nonstop commercial passenger service to be offered between Long Beach and San Francisco will begin Monday when a Western Air Lines Electra prop-jet lifts from a Municipal Airport runway, headed for the Bay City.

Aboard the big four-engined Lockheed will be a score of civic leaders, headed by Mayor Edwin W. Wade, who will ride the inaugural flight in celebration of the boost both to the city's prestige and to the convenience of the Long Beach area's air travelers.

The 95-passenger Electra's all-coach flight will leave Long Beach daily except Sunday at 8:56 a.m., arriving in San Francisco at 10:09 a.m.

• • • •

THE RETURN TRIP will leave the northern city at 7 p.m. and arrive here at 8:15 p.m. each day except Saturday.

Western Air Lines officials indicated a favorable response to the service would result in addition of another daily flight within 60 to 90 days.

Western also has announced inauguration of nonstop schedules, beginning today, between Los Angeles International Airport and Sacramento, with through flights north to Reno and south to San Diego. This route will be served by 20 flights weekly, also with Electra prop-jet aircraft.

The line expects delivery of three new Boeing 720B fan jets this summer, which will bring the Western fleet up to seven 720B's, two Boeing 707 turbojets, 12 Electra II prop-jets and 16 Douglas DC6Bs.

Western, founded in 1926, the oldest continuously operated airline in the United States, recently announced an estimated profit of $1,070,000 for the quarter ended March 31, highest in the company's history.

OPEN HOUSE AT LONG BEACH PUBLIC SCHOOLS

Record Throng to See Schools in Action

By ROBERT WILCOX
Education Editor

A record 115,000 adults will begin inspecting 77 Long Beach schools Monday with the start of the 43rd observance of Public Schools Week.

The throng, school officials reported, is expected to top last year's turnout by more than 15,000.

Long Beach City College is gracing for 10,000 visitors Monday night when it presents a vocational arts exhibit at its Business and Technology Division, 1305 E. Pacific Coast Hwy. The college's six adult divisions also will welcome guests the same night.

OPEN HOUSES are scheduled Monday at the Long Beach Unified District's two special schools —Tucker for the physical handicapped and Nightingale for the mentally retarded.

Tuesday is "Elementary Night" when more than 70 parents will descend on the district's 54 grade schools to view displays from science to patriotism.

The grade schools will conduct minimum-day sessions, releasing pupils at 2 p.m. to prepare for the avalanche of evening visitors.

VARIED programs are scheduled Wednesday night at the district's six senior high schools which expect to host 10,000.

Attractions will range from Jordan's annual Art Show to an ROTC display at Polytechnic.

The 14 junior high schools take over Thursday night when 25,000 adults will tour the facilities and witness displays and demonstrations ranging from social studies to physical fitness.

Schools Week Slate

The Long Beach Unified District's Public Schools Week open house schedule:

Monday, City College; Tuesday, elementary schools; Wednesday, high schools; Thursday, junior high schools.

All events will start at 7 p. m. and conclude at 9 o'clock.

ALTHOUGH the open house events will be held from 7 to 9 o'clock each evening, Supt. Douglas A. Newcomb has issued an invitation to the general public to visit the schools in the daytime to watch them in operation.

Special programs planned during the week by many service clubs and other organizations will stress the celebration's theme — "The Public School — America's Heritage and Strength."

IN INVITING the community to participate, Newcomb said:

"Everyone has an important stake in the public schools. When we develop our educational system — expanding it and making it stronger—we cultivate the greatest of our natural resources — the people of America."

Orlo R. Peugh, chairman of the Citizens' Public Schools Week Committee, stated:

"Public Schools Week is an annual reminder of our responsibility to lend support to the Long Beach Unified School District in its education of our 80,000 youths and adults."

'THE WRITER AND THE SPACE AGE'

Fourth Annual Writers Conference Set for Lafayette Hotel May 17-19

The fourth annual Long Beach Writers' Conference, presented by the Long Beach City College General Adult Division, will be held May 17-19 at the Lafayette Hotel.

Events of the three-day conference will include two luncheon programs, a dinner, and panel sessions on non-fiction, drama, the novel and short story, poetry, television and motion picture writing. Speakers and panel members will include a number of noted professional writers, critics and publishers' agents.

Featured speakers for the May 18 dinner program will be novelist Sylvia Wilcox, screenwriter Allen Rivkin and TV dramatist Stirling Silliphant. Theme will be "The Writer and the Space Age."

ATTENDANCE AT ALL conference sessions will be open to the public on payment of a single $1 registration fee, exclusive of luncheon or dinner reservations. Printed programs and reservation forms are now available at all offices of the LBCC General Adult Division.

Director of the conference for the fourth successive year is Mrs. Alice C. Wright of the GAD staff. Co-sponsors and cooperating agencies include the Independent, Press-Telegram, the American Association of University Women, Long Beach Writers' Club, National League of American Pen Women, California Federation of Chaparral Poets, Presidents' Club of Long Beach and the California Writers' Guild.

ALSO THE LuValean Poetry Club, the Long Beach Women's City Club, the Long Beach Public Library, Buffums' Book Dept., Lafayette Hotel, Long Beach Convention and Visitors' Bureau, Herald-American Newspapers, Enterprise Publications and the Associated Student Body of the LBCC General Adult Division.

Local participants as panel moderators will include Malcoln Epley, executive editor of the Independent, Press-Telegram; Frank B. George, supervisor of Audio-Visual Services, Long Beach Unified School District; H. D. Cooke, chairman of the English Dept. at Long Beach City College; and Dr. John H. Green, professor of theater arts at Long Beach State College.

City Automation Study Ordered

By GEORGE WEEKS

The City of Long Beach is launching a two-year program toward keeping pace with new developments in automation.

It won't be visible in many muncipal functions: old-fashioned manpower will still carry out such duties as police and fire protection, rubbish collection and the like.

But accounting, record-keeping and data processing methods may be revolutionized for the second time in 10 years, according to Samuel M. Roberts, head of the Department of Administrative Management.

Modernization of the system is considered especially timely in Long Beach because of the imminence of the huge offshore oil development.

• • • •

THE FIRST step was taken last week in the authorization of a $20,000 contract with a nationally-known firm of consultants, Booz, Allen & Hamilton, which has carried out similar assignments in more than 100 cities for public and private clients.

In its initial stage the contract calls for analysis of present data processing work and determination of future requirements. From this study will be developed specifications to manufacturers for computer equipment. Also to be determined are the relative economies of a central system as against several smaller ones.

After the 10-week survey by the consultants, the second phase will involve the evaluation of equipment proposals to be submitted by manufacturers, followed by the planning and installation of the new machines. Manufacturing and assembling the various components to fit the city's needs will probably take 18 months, Roberts said.

• • • •

"OUR GREATEST need is flexibility," Roberts added, "because of the variety of work handled — everything from 325,000 utility and rubbish accounts to complex oil and subsidence-control data."

One problem with the present equipment is storage. In recent years some 7 million punch cards have accumulated—many of them containing basic city information. Much of this will be transferred to magnetic tape under a modern system.

The city currently spends $7,500 per month for rental of punch-card and tabulating machines. The battery of equipment, some of it obsolete, operates 24 hours a day in the Municipal Utilities Building at a total cost of $270,000 per year, including a staff of 30.

• • • •

ALTHOUGH this installation is the largest in the general business category in the Long Beach area, it still can't handle much of the data that can be processed through newer machines, Roberts said. And once the offshore oil development reaches a busy stage, the current system will be obsolete.

Business computer assemblies in the range soon to be required by the city will cost between $7,000 and $10,000 per month in rental charges, Roberts estimated.

In addition to the City Council, the Harbor and Water Boards have approved the consultants' contract. Both of those departments will share in the cost.

Beach Combing with Malcolm Epley

GOOD morning. In fast time. If you haven't turned the clock ahead, do it now. We're saving daylight again.

It's a tribute to our system of public communication that this twice-a-year one-hour switch takes place in our state with so little confusion.

A few may forget and here and there a publicly displayed clock may not be changed for a few days, but everybody knows about the time change.

Also, it's a tribute to wise public policy in California that we have a Daylight Saving program on a statewide basis.

Things aren't that well ordered in some other places. In my former home state of Oregon, for example, DST is a raging issue. Some communities have it and others don't, with some hectic results. Some visitors up there last summer reported they found time differences in a single community. Oregon now lies between two DST states—California and Washington—which adds to its confusion and the confusion of visitors.

Farmers have kept Oregon from going DST. But it's just a matter to time until it moves into line with its neighbors.

ON THE March anniversary of the L.B. earthquake, a story here told about an incident at Seaside Hospital, where Dr. Sterling Pillsbury was presiding at a birth when the 1933 shake came. The item related that the baby was a girl, and that a few minutes before the quake hit, the father was standing in the delivery room on a piece of flooring that fell away in the temblor. He moved at the doc's suggestion, and thus his life was saved. In my piece, I asked if the girl born at that time was still around.

Today, I have the answer. Comes a letter from William C. Boynton, 2823 Santez Dr., Pomona, identifying himself as the father. The daughter, Betty Lou, is now Mrs. Clifford McQueen, and she lives at 7402 Shirley Ave., Reseda, Calif. Her husband runs a carpet co. in Tarzana. Writes Boynton: "I imagine Dr. Pillsbury has delivered many a baby since that time, but I doubt if he ever came so close to losing a father."

WITH the advent of TV to hospital rooms (in modern hospitals, rooms are wired for the picture boxes and patients operate them from bed) people who visit friends and relatives in the sick rooms may not be so welcome as in the past.

Dr. Chet Moore has sent me a note about a major hospital in Scotland where the patients asked that visiting hours be reduced. They complained that the big crowd of evening visitors interfered with their favorite TV programs.

NOT MUCH is gained by reporting prices of "The good old days" but modern readers always seem interested, even though frustrated.

So I'll pass along the prices shown on a Southern Pacific diner menu sent to this desk by a reader.

In 1939 you could get an economy plate dinner on the S.P. for 35 cents. The menu: baked fish fillet or swiss steak with country gravy; vegetable, potatoes, dinner roll, blackberry cobbler and beverage.

And that reminds me of another price item from New Orleans, which I visited last week. Across the street from my hotel was an oyster bar where I could get oysters on the half shell, 41 cents for half a dozen.

Naturalists' Art Works to Be Shown

An exhibition of paintings and drawings of North American wildlife, produced by the late Allan Brooks, British Columbia naturalist-artist, will open Wednesday at the County Museum in Exposition Park.

The exhibition, titled "Bird and Mammal Paintings," comprises 27 illustrations for books.

YMCA Fund Drive Workers to Meet

Instructional meetings are on tap this week for volunteer workers who will carry the YMCA's $1.196 million "Buildings for Youth" campaign to the public here May 10-29.

The citywide campaign seeks funds to build a family-type YMCA building in Los Altos, complete the renovation and expansion of both the North Long Beach and Downtown YMCAs and build an all-purpose gymnasium at the Lakewood Y.

LOS ALTOS campaigners will hold a dinner meeting Monday at 6:30 p.m. at the First Congregational Church in Los Altos, with Robert Volland and Verne Upton co-chairmen.

Monday at 8 p.m., Lakewood section workers will gather at the Lakewood YMCA under the leadership of William Burns. Tuesday at 4:30 p.m., Hale Young will assemble the downtown campaign group at the Downtown Y.

Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. at the North Long Beach Y, Tom Norcross will preside.

L.B. Courts Bid Public to Open House

Long Beach area residents have been invited to view and hear American justice in action, by visiting their local courts Tuesday.

All municipal and superior courts in the Long Beach County Building at 415 W. Ocean Blvd. will hold open house as part of the annual celebration of Law Day.

A special program is planned from 7 to 9:30 p.m., when mock trials will be staged and lawyers will guide visitors through the courthouse.

Actor Lederer to Speak Here

Deadline for making reservations for the Saturday luncheon at Long Beach State College when actor Francis Lederer will be the Drama Day speaker is Monday.

Fee is $2—$1.50 for students—which includes luncheon and events.

Reservations should be mailed to Council of Living Theater, care of Drama Department, Long Beach State College, 6101 E. Seventh St., Long Beach, 4.

Blood Pressure Seminar Set

Three doctors will discuss high blood pressure at a seminar beginning at 2 p.m. Wednesday in Pacific Hospital of Long Beach, 2776 Pacific Ave.

Lecturers will be Drs. Donald A. Adams, John Ferrar and Robert E. Rockney, all of UCLA Medical School.

All doctors in the area are invited. The program, which includes a dinner meeting, will continue till 8 p.m.

Car Hits House, Motorist Killed

Thomas H. Mathewson, 35, of Compton was killed Saturday night when his car leaped a curb and slammed into the side of a house in the Torrance area.

Mathewson, of 316 Oak St., was dead on arrival at Harbor General Hospital.

The car rammed a hole in the wall of the house at 20614 S. New Hampshire Ave. Mathewson was alone. No one in the house was injured.

$1 Million Research by VA Here

Medical research at the Long Beach Veterans Administration Hospital has become a million-dollar industry.

This was disclosed by Robert L. Somerville, coordinator of the hospital's medical research programs, in a talk to employes.

Just 11 years ago, he noted, Congress appropriated $1 million for the entire research program in the VA.

Now, this year, a half million dollars has been ticketed for the Long Beach hospital alone. Another half million will come to the local hospital via grants.

• • • •

FOR THE ENTIRE VA research program, $27 million has been set aside. Several million more will go to VA labs in grants.

There are 7,175 persons involved in VA research, investigating a total of 7,097 projects in 141 VA hospitals across the land.

At the Long Beach hospital, more than 100 projects are in the works. The VA research program here has 59 full-time employes. The payroll for Long Beach research personnel totals $1,561 daily.

CIVIL WAR RUNNER

Frogmen Probe Wreck of Sunken Vessel

The Modern Greece, a blockade runner from the Bahamas bringing war supplies to Wilmington, N. C. was sunk early in the morning of June 27, 1862 off Corncake Inlet on the lower North Carolina coast.

Nearly 100 years later Navy frogmen, including a Long Beach man, are delving into the deep, taking Civil War period weapons from the wreckage.

• • • •

IRONICALLY, the Modern Greece actually was sunk with solid shot by the Confederate shore battery for fear the Union ships might explode her large cargo of gunpowder.

Spring storms this year thrashed the Atlantic seaboard, and waves and tides occasionally exposed her hull.

• • • •

ENTHUSIASTIC over the report that a ship's hull had been reported where the Modern Greece went down, 10 Navy frogmen including Chief Gunner's Mate Senior Peter Stephen Aiken of Long Beach recently volunteered to dive into the wreckage.

AIKEN

The divers found the ship resting on her stern, the bow angled toward the surface. Most of the superstructure was gone. Pipes in the boiler room were badly twisted, indicating an explosion.

• • • •

SCHOOLS of fish played around the wreck, which was nearly covered by knife-sharp barnacles.

The divers brought to the surface 40 rifles, 15 12-pound Whitworth shells, bayonets, metal sheets believed to be armor plating and 13 170-lead ingots for bullets. Some of the rifles were .57 caliber English Enfields.

Most of the loot will be placed in the Fort Fisher Museum, not far from the place where the ship went down.

• • • •

AIKEN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Aiken, 117 Termino Ave., for three years has been bomb disposal instructor at the U. S. Naval School, Explosive Ordnance Disposal at Indian Head, Md., 30 miles down the Potomac from Washington, D. C.

The frogman is a brother of Lt. Cmdr. Robert Adam Aiken, in charge of submarine repairs at Honolulu. Three years ago when Robert was named commander of the USS Segundo, he was the youngest submarine skipper in the U. S. Navy.

67 CLUBS SIGN UP

Thousands to Enter L.B. Hobby Show

Thousands of the top hobbies in Southern California will be shown off here May 10 to 13.

Long Beach Hobby Show, which opens then in Municipal Auditorium, has signed up entries from 51 individuals and 67 clubs. Clubs range in membership from six to [illegible].

Mrs. Lois Delano, show manager and city Recreation Department employe, forecast an attendance of more than 50,000 persons. Admission is free.

• • • •

AMONG THE exhibits will be collections of dolls, bells, ceramics, postmarks and pitchers; models of racer cars, antique cars, model cars, trains, planes and ships in bottles; wood work in stage coaches, wagons, gavels, wood turning, inlayed wood, carved wood, mechanical farm equipment, and art and craft work in needle point, petit point, textile painting, basketry, water colors, oils, sketching, dry flower arrangements, pot holders, rug braiding, paper craft, and special demonstrations.

The 19th annual show this year is booked to capacity and overflowing with entries. Some latecomers are being turned down, and urged to apply for the 1963 show.

"There seems to be a lot of interest in hobbies. I am sure I could fill an auditorium twice as big as the auditorium here," said Mrs. DeLano.

• • • •

THE SHOW was started in 1934 as a two-day affair that drew only 2,600 persons. By the 1940s, attendance soared to the 40,000 mark. Since 1957, it has topped 50,000 each year.

The show is conducted by the City Recreation Department and assisted by the Hobby Clubs Council.

In addition to the exhibits, there will be shows from the auditorium stage during the four-day fete. Show-goers will be entertained by Long Beach Municipal Band, "Hobby Lobby" stage interviews, folk dancing, square dancing and magic acts.

Show hours are 2 to 10 p.m. on May 10-11, 1 p.m. to 9 p.m. May 12-13.

Learn to Tell Good Cause From Confidence Game

WHEN SO-CALLED MISSIONARIES collect funds on the promise of buying Bibles for the needy, but pocket 70 per cent of the donations as their commission, we think their operation may be accurately described as a con game.

Such a racket was reported this week in these newspapers in a series of articles by Vint Mader. Reporter Mader, concealing his newspaper connections, "volunteered" as a home missionary for an organization which calls itself the Western Missionary Army, Inc. As a Home Missionary, it was his job to go from door to door in a uniform with this spiel:

"We are asking for YOUR donation to help place FREE Bibles in the homes of the needy and missions overseas; a dollar places a Bible in a home that does not have the word of God."

ALTHOUGH MADER PURPOSELY mumbled and stumbled over his words, the generous, goodhearted public gave him money anyway. It's hard to beat free Bibles for the needy as an appeal to the finer human instincts.

Mader discovered that the "Army's" collectors get to keep 60 per cent of what they collect. Of the remaining 40, the crew chiefs take 10 per cent. Thus, only 30 per cent of the money collected goes to headquarters. The organization, Mader noted, was very vague about how the money is used. He observed no mailing of Bibles.

According to the Long Beach bunco squad, such "armies" collect about $1 million a year in the metropolitan area. The take from Long Beach, alone, is estimated at $50,000. There is no evidence of value received by society.

THESE CON GAMES siphon money away from bona fide charities and religious organizations. And when the public discovers it has been duped, the worthy groups suffer from being mistakenly lumped with the offensive ones.

We are not against door-to-door solicitations. Many fine causes, including Red Cross, Community Chest, and the March of Dimes, receive funds in this way. We do recommend that the public learn to distinguish the good causes from the con games. Meanwhile, there is need for legislative action in a field too long neglected. Those who collect from the public should give the public a precise accounting.

Bulldozers Poised on Potomac Bank

By the I, P-T Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON—Not even the banks of the storied Potomac River are safe from the tender blandishments of the developer, his bulldozers and tree choppers.

On the drawing board now—after a rather peculiar bit of re-zoning on the part of officers in Virginia's Fairfax County—are plans for a set of sky-scraping apartment buildings to be located on the 46-acre estate of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh D. Auchinloss.

Mrs. Auchinloss is Jacqueline Kennedy's mother, and the estate is where Jackie spent her girlhood. It is on a lovely portion of the Potomac called the Pallisades, just a few minutes from downtown Washington, and it is a neighborhood of large, wooded estates,a kind of nature's wonderland which caters to both birds and bird watchers.

TO SAY THAT the decision of the Auchincloss to sell their Merrywood estate to the apartment developer has shocked the area is to put it very mildly.

Residents claim, for one thing, they have been betrayed by a county supervisor who campaigned on an issue of keeping apartments from the McLean area. They see it as a strange sort of business when the Sheriff has acted as broker to the sale, collecting a fee. They fail to understand how Mr. Auchincloss, who is very wealthy, or Mrs. Auchincloss, who, as a member of the committee for a National Cultural Center, is apparently quite well versed on things to do with the national heritage, could possibly benefit.

And it has not just been a matter of a few wealthy landholders defending their own. Secretary of the Interior Udall has taken a stand against it. Nature lovers are inflamed. Mainly, the man in the street, who likes to look at trees, feels that it is still another victory in sight for asphalt and concrete over soil and greenery.

Needless to say, there are campaigns against completion of the sale. But as of now things look dark for the Potomac.

DEMOCRATS AREN'T THE only ones with polls showing that New York's Gov. Nelson Rockefeller isn't exactly a shoo-in for re-election. The Rockefeller organization's own polls confirm the evidence that Rocky would have a tough time in a race against Mayor Bob Wagner. Two explanations are being given by New York politicians for the unexpectedly poor showing. The state's conservatives are displeased with some of the governor's fiscal policies. Rural areas, tradional backbone of Republican strength, feel they've been given short shrift by the Albany administration. Also bothering the Republicans is the impact of the Rockefeller divorce. One organization man said, "we don't know how much it's hurt, but it's hurt us, that's for sure."

Old Scot's Theory Provides Devastating Political Cheer

WHEN A PRETTY, young cheerleader exhorts her classmates to "Kill 'em," it is doubtful—given the chance—that she actually would drop the pellets.

We fans pardon this pony-tailed little monster because we recognize the place of intermural demagoguery on the playing fields. The same thing happens at political meetings. A reporter, disconnecting his partisan wires, must view the excessive claims and charges of either party as he would view the puffery of a TV commercial for a mouthwash.

HOUSER

The reality persists that despite Don Drysdale's testimonial contempt, this country may actually harbor some national heroes who use "greasy, kid stuff" in their hair.

Dr. Arnold O. Beckman led the cheers Friday night at a Disneyland Hotel dinner gathering honoring GOP gubernatorial candidate Richard M. Nixon, his wife, Pat, and mother, Hannah.

Dr. Beckman's hyperbole was misleading, overdrawn and demagogic. But it was legitimate dialogue for a political rally and the most clever performance of late years.

A FORMER educator, Dr. Beckman donned a mortarboard and used a blackboard to give a physics lesson on the kinetic theory of gases, the life history of a molecule. He labeled three circles to represent molecules A, B and C.

He explained that heat increases the agitation of the molecules. Take for example Molecule B, Beckman lectured. It may, with heat, go off in this direction until it hits another molecule, then it changes course and darts back where it meets a couple more molecules and goes off in another direction.

And the motion of the molecule is unpredictable. This is called random motion. in science texts, it is called "BROWNian motion," Professor Beckman disclosed.

THE PHENOMENON was named for Scottish botanist Robert Brown (1773-1858).

"So you see Brown's behavior was described over 100 years ago and they even put his name on it," Beckman concluded.

Nixon was in good form too. In addition to more than 700 guests at the Orange County Nixon Committee dinner, he picked up 400 more listeners in another part of the hotel. He briefly addressed 400 members of the California Federation of Women's cluhs while the Nixon diners were finishing their dessert.

ONE EXCITED EMCEE, he reported upon returning, started to introduce him as the candidate "for Vice . . . er, for governor."

This reminded him of a Utah occasion in which his wife was being introduced. Said the emcee, "I present to you the next wife of the Vice President of the United States."

Said Nixon, "If that sounds funny here, you can imagine the impact it had with an audience in Utah."

Perhaps the soberest spot in Nixon's talk was his apprehension at the "economic illiteracy" reflected in poll at a California college which showed 60 per cent thought profits were a bad thing per se.

"This shows a failure to understand the real strength of America. You can't strengthen free enterprise with this present lack of understanding."

Trapper Ruined White House Campaign Against Squirrels

EDITOR'S NOTE: While Drew Pearson is on a brief vacation, his column is being written by his associate, Jack Anderson.)

WASHINGTON — In rummaging through the papers left behind by the Eisenhower administration, the New Frontiersmen have come across suppressed information which could cost the Republicans the wildlife vote.

Remember the uproar over the squirrels that got in the way of Ike's golf balls on the White House putting green? It was reported that anxious aides trapped and deported the pesky little creatures to Rock Creek Park.

Not so. The Democrats have uncovered evidence that the squirrels were not banished at all but were quietly liquidated. The Eisenhower staff even consulted experts at the Fish and Wildlife Service for advice on the best poison to use. As in the U-2 incident, Press Secretary Jim Hagerty was ready with a "cover story" in case someone noticed a decline in the squirrel population on the White House grounds.

Rather than bring down the wrath of wildlife lovers upon the President's head, Hagerty would simply claim a few squirrels had been removed to leafier and nuttier Rock Creek Park.

It became expedient to put out this story in the summer of 1955. But the astute Hagerty underestimated the outrage of squirrel lovers. They raised a national outcry against disturbing the squirrel life of the White House. Among Boy Scouts in particular, Ike's popularity dropped several percentage points.

What White House aides never learned until several weeks after the Great Squirrel Scandal was that their efforts had been in vain anyhow.

All the time they were trying to get rid of the squirrels around the President's putting green, a booby-trap designer named Don Glassie was innocently complicating the squirrel problem.

It seems that his wife, who loved birds more than squirrels, had the habit of sprinkling tidbits in a trough outside her window for her small feathered friends. But free-loading squirrels beat the birds to most of the goodies.

She appealed to her husband who, unlike the White House aides, didn't have the heart to poison the little furry fellows. Instead, he put his talents as a professional trap designer to work and built an ingenious squirrel trap.

The best place to deposit the trapped animals, he decided, would be the nation's most celebrated squirrel refuge: the White House grounds.

On his way to work mornings, he began emptying his trap through the White House fence. Then he would go to the office happy in the thought that he had not only helped out the squirrels but had added to the pleasure of tourists by keeping nature alive in the heart of Washington.

Thus Glassie added to the White House squirrel population as fast as aides could reduce it. They had just about decided that squirrels, like rabbits, must multiply at an amazing rate.

Then Hagerty's squirrel story hit the headlines, and both the Eisenhower staff and the humane trapper left the squirrels alone ever after.

NOTE—Some pessimistic officials believe the nation's capital, rather than going to the dogs, will be taken over by squirrels and starlings. No reliable census has been taken of the squirrel population, although they are known to have litters twice a year and seem to be thriving in the hospitable Washington environment. The Audubon Society estimates there are 210,000 starlings in the Washington area, most of them perched on the eaves of downtown buildings. These, too, are increasing at a horrifying rate.

Report on U.S. Steel Profits Tells Only Part of the Story

WASHINGTON—It's easy enough to bewilder the public with large figures about a company's profits, though in themselves they may be a sign of weakness instead of strength. Thus the country was told this week, in five-minute news summaries on the radio or in newspaper headlines, that the U.S. Steel Corp., had earned $55.8 million in the first quarter of this year. This sounds like a lot of money and promptly raises questions as to why a company which can make that large a sum in only the first quarter of a year should be asking for price increases on its products.

LAWRENCE

But precisely because of this superficiality or brevity of treatment, the American people aren't seeing the problem in perspective for the $55.8 million has to be divided into 58 million parts, as that is the number of shares held by the 325,000 owners of U.S. Steel Corp. Receiving 75 cents a share or $3 for the whole year, means the holder of common stock is earning less than three per cent on each dollar invested in 1959 when the stock sold for more than $100 a share. But nowadays an investor can buy bonds or keep his money in a savings bank and earn more than three per cent.

• • • •

SO, UNLESS investors see some hope of larger profits and dividends in the future, the free-enterprise system as a whole will face dark days, and state socialism will be brought nearer.

For there's a serious lesson to be learned from the U.S. Steel Corp. figures announced on Tuesday of this week. In the first place, out of the $55.8 million earned for the initial quarter of the year, $46.9 million was used to pay dividends on stock outstanding. Only $7.9 million was left for debt retirement and about $1 million for other purposes. But U.S. Steel actually had spent about $49 million of borrowed money for new plant and equipment in the same first quarter of the year. Hence, the outgo was far in excess of the income.

As a matter of fact, the company three years ago embarked on a program of modernization of plant and equipment costing $1.2 billion. It has about $265 million still to be spent for this purpose this year. It borrowed more than $800 million for the whole program and took the rest out of reserves.

This money, on the other hand, has to be paid back sooner or later. If a company can earn only enough money to pay its current dividend and provide for debt retirement on what it has already borrowed, it cannot very long keep up its renovation of plant facilities. The need for modernization is constant. That's why the price must be high enough to earn income which will pay back money spent and still give the investor an encouraging dividend.

• • • •

THE ADMINISTRATION is trying desperately to justify its course in interfering with the normal operation of American business—which is to get a price that covers costs and allows a reasonable profit. Today businessmen generally are perplexed because they do not see any economic sense to the formulas and proposals that are supposedly designed to stimulate industry. Instead, nearly every one of the steel companies, for example, is cutting costs severely and planning to lay off more workers. That's not a healthy situation because as the Secretary of Commerce says, steel is a kind of "bellwether" of the national economy.

Medico Says Wells Missed the Point

EDITOR:

I would like to comment on the recent article by Bob Wells entitled "Hippocratic Oath Reviewed." I think Mr. Wells missed the point of the Medical Association's recent meeting in San Francisco. A proposition was brought before the House of Delegates to boycott President Kennedy's program of medical care to recipients of Social Security should it pass Congress. The California Medical Assn. has a republican type of government. Members of the House of Delegates are elected by each of the component medical societies of the organization. Once the representative is elected, he then follows the dictates of his own conscience. This type of government is of course similar to the type which our federal government enjoys. As Mr. Wells noted, the proposition was put forth by one of the delegates from the Los Angeles County Medical Assn. However, it is unreasonable to assume that the actions of this delegate at all times represents the wishes of all the members of the Los Angeles County Medical Assn. It would be just as unreasonable to assume that Mr. Hosmer's actions at all times represent all the wishes of the members of this Congressional District.

• • • •

I THINK THE real point to be noted is that the majority of the delegates to the California Medical Assn. meeting refused to approve this resolution. I am sure that the majority of doctors will continue to treat patients in accordance with the basic precepts of the Hippocratic Oath, regardless of the political organization of medical care. The majority of doctors do object to a medical program which provides government-sponsored care for persons who have demonstrated no need for such care individually. I feel that the majority of physicians would object to a program financed by a tax levied on the working population to provide such care to people who have the means to pay for the care themselves. I think there is no argument about providing government sponsored care for people who are medically indigent. As you may be aware, the State of California, in co-operation with the federal government and the County of Los Angeles, has provided such care at the present time. Many physicians, including myself, who participate in this program provide care for people who may or may not be recipients of Social Security but who do possess a need for medical care for which they are unable to pay.

In summary, I think that the majority of physicians do follow the basic precepts of the Hippocratic Oath, and will continue to do so, whatever form medical care will take.

Feels Party Deserted Her

EDITOR:

The many Democrats who recently re-registered as Republicans have been accused of being "switch hitters and Birchers."

I have been a loyal and devoted Democrat since the days of F.D.R., and it was with a great deal of sorrow that I finally came to realize that the Democratic Party had deteriorated to the point that I can no longer support it in good conscience. I feel that I have not deserted the party, but that the party has deserted me, and its many loyal members who have for so many years had complete faith and trust in it.

All the people in the Long-wood Constitutional Republican Club are deeply concerned and loyal Americans. None are members of the Birch Society, but if our views point in that direction we'll have to blame it on the type of reading we've been doing. Such as "Questions and Answers on Communism by Cardinal Cushing," "J. Edgar Hoover's Works," U.S. Government publications including "The Crimes of Khrushchev, No. 1 to 3," "Communist Target Youth," "Psychological Warfare (brainwashing)" and "Communist Control on Religious Activity." These are just a few, for the list goes on and on.

Perhaps all the accusations that were made could have been avoided if we had left this reading material alone, and followed the party line like good little sheep.

Ben F. Marron Co. Offering Another of Their Well-Known Own-Your-Owns

Known for providing fine homes and apartments for more families than any other builder in California, The Ben F. Marron Co., is now offering another deluxe own-your-own of 10 units at 1227 E. First St.

These new units of one or two-bedrooms contain all of the fine features that have made "Marron built" a virtual brand name on fine own-your own apartments in Long Beach.

With two-bedroom units starting as low as $12,500, these new units have fully built-in kitchens with the finest of cabintry and hardware, certain to please any housewife. The apartments include all drapes and carpets.

Open House Today

Visitors to the open house at the units today will note many added luxury items included in all Marron developments without added costs. They will see how fine workmanship goes into each unit for Marron workmen do all the installation instead of subcontracting the usual custom of many builders.

For the past several years, all the Marron-built apartments have been bronze or gold medallion. These medallions are awarded by the Southern California Edison Co. for electrical excellence.

The late Ben Francis Marron, a native of Utah, began his building activities in Long Beach in 1923 in the Houghton Park area. Later he was the leading developer of fine homes in the Bixby Knolls and California Heights sections of the city.

Saw Apartment Need

Marron then foresaw the big need of fine apartments in Long Beach to house retired couples moving here to enjoy the climate and he launched extensive construction of big units on Carson St. and on Wardlow Road.

A son, Bernard Marron, joined his father after his education in architecture and designing and following the death of the Senior Mr. Marron in 1954, Bernard assumed active management of the company.

Under the guidance of Bernard Marron the concern has continued to be a leader in apartment construction and many of the city's most de luxe developments bear the Marron trademark.

Bernard does his own designing and he was a leader in offering complete built-in kitchen facilities to Southland residents.

BERNARD MARRON
Builder of Fine Apartments

Strives For Best

Believeing that "An apartment is the only way to live in Southern California," the builder strives to provide only the finest of features in each unit.

Sites of Marron-built apartments are carefully chosen to provide the residents with an appealing location. Many of the deluxe units will be found within a few short blocks of the ocean. Others are close to the downtown shopping area. Many others are in outlying areas for those who prefer to be away from the beach air.

Not all of Marron apartments are own-your-owns. Over half of the firms major apartment construction has been on contract for others.

This contracting business has been growing rapidly as developers note the success of Marron's own units.

Sell Out Early

Most of Marron's own-your-owns have been nearly sold out before construction was complete. Many units are sold from the blueprints even before construction starts, so well known and popular is the type of buildings by the firm.

The Marron Co. also does custom home building and has done considerable commercial building. Many de luxe medical units in this area are Marron built.

The biggest apartment development by Marron was the 38-unit Broadmoor at 528 Cedar Ave., which was completed in late 1960. In a prime location near the heart of downtown Long Beach, close to parks and the beach areas, the Broadmoor was designed for a maximum of privacy with some private patios and featuring the indoor-outdoor California way of living.

Each Stands Out

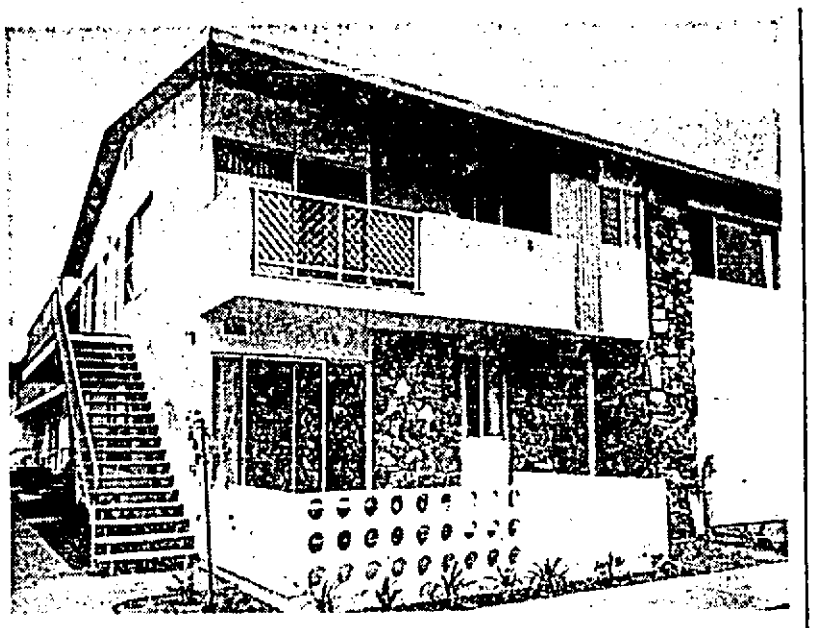

A secluded courtyard was provided the residents and there is a large recreation room and hobby room.

A reflection pool at the entrance keynotes the architectural design with an added touch of luxury.

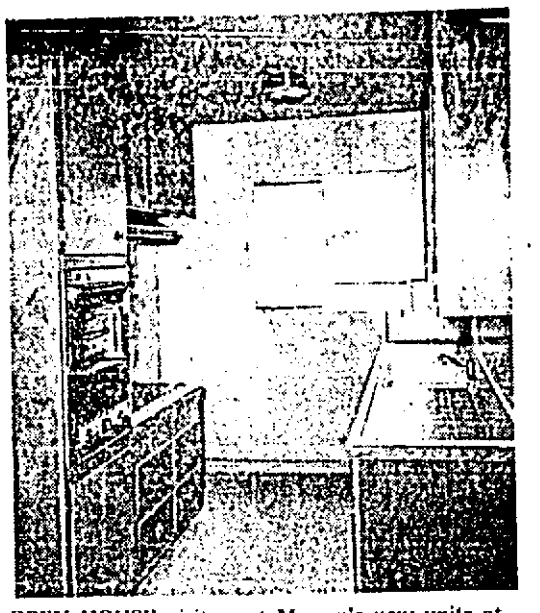

Each Marron-built apartment and home has some distinguishing traits in design given by the architect-builder to make them stand out from nearby developments. Stone and redwood paneling have been used in most of the developments but with diversity in styling so there is little duplication.

In his office at 1525 E. Wardlow, Bernard Marron may be seen with pad and paper, sketching his next "dream" development—more units of luxury living provided families in the Long Beach area at moderate cost but in a choice location and with those added bits of luxury for which the company long has been noted.

And he is always available to discuss plans for any custom home or commercial construction project anywhere in the area. There are 35 employes working full-time with Marron with many others available on call for any of his developments.

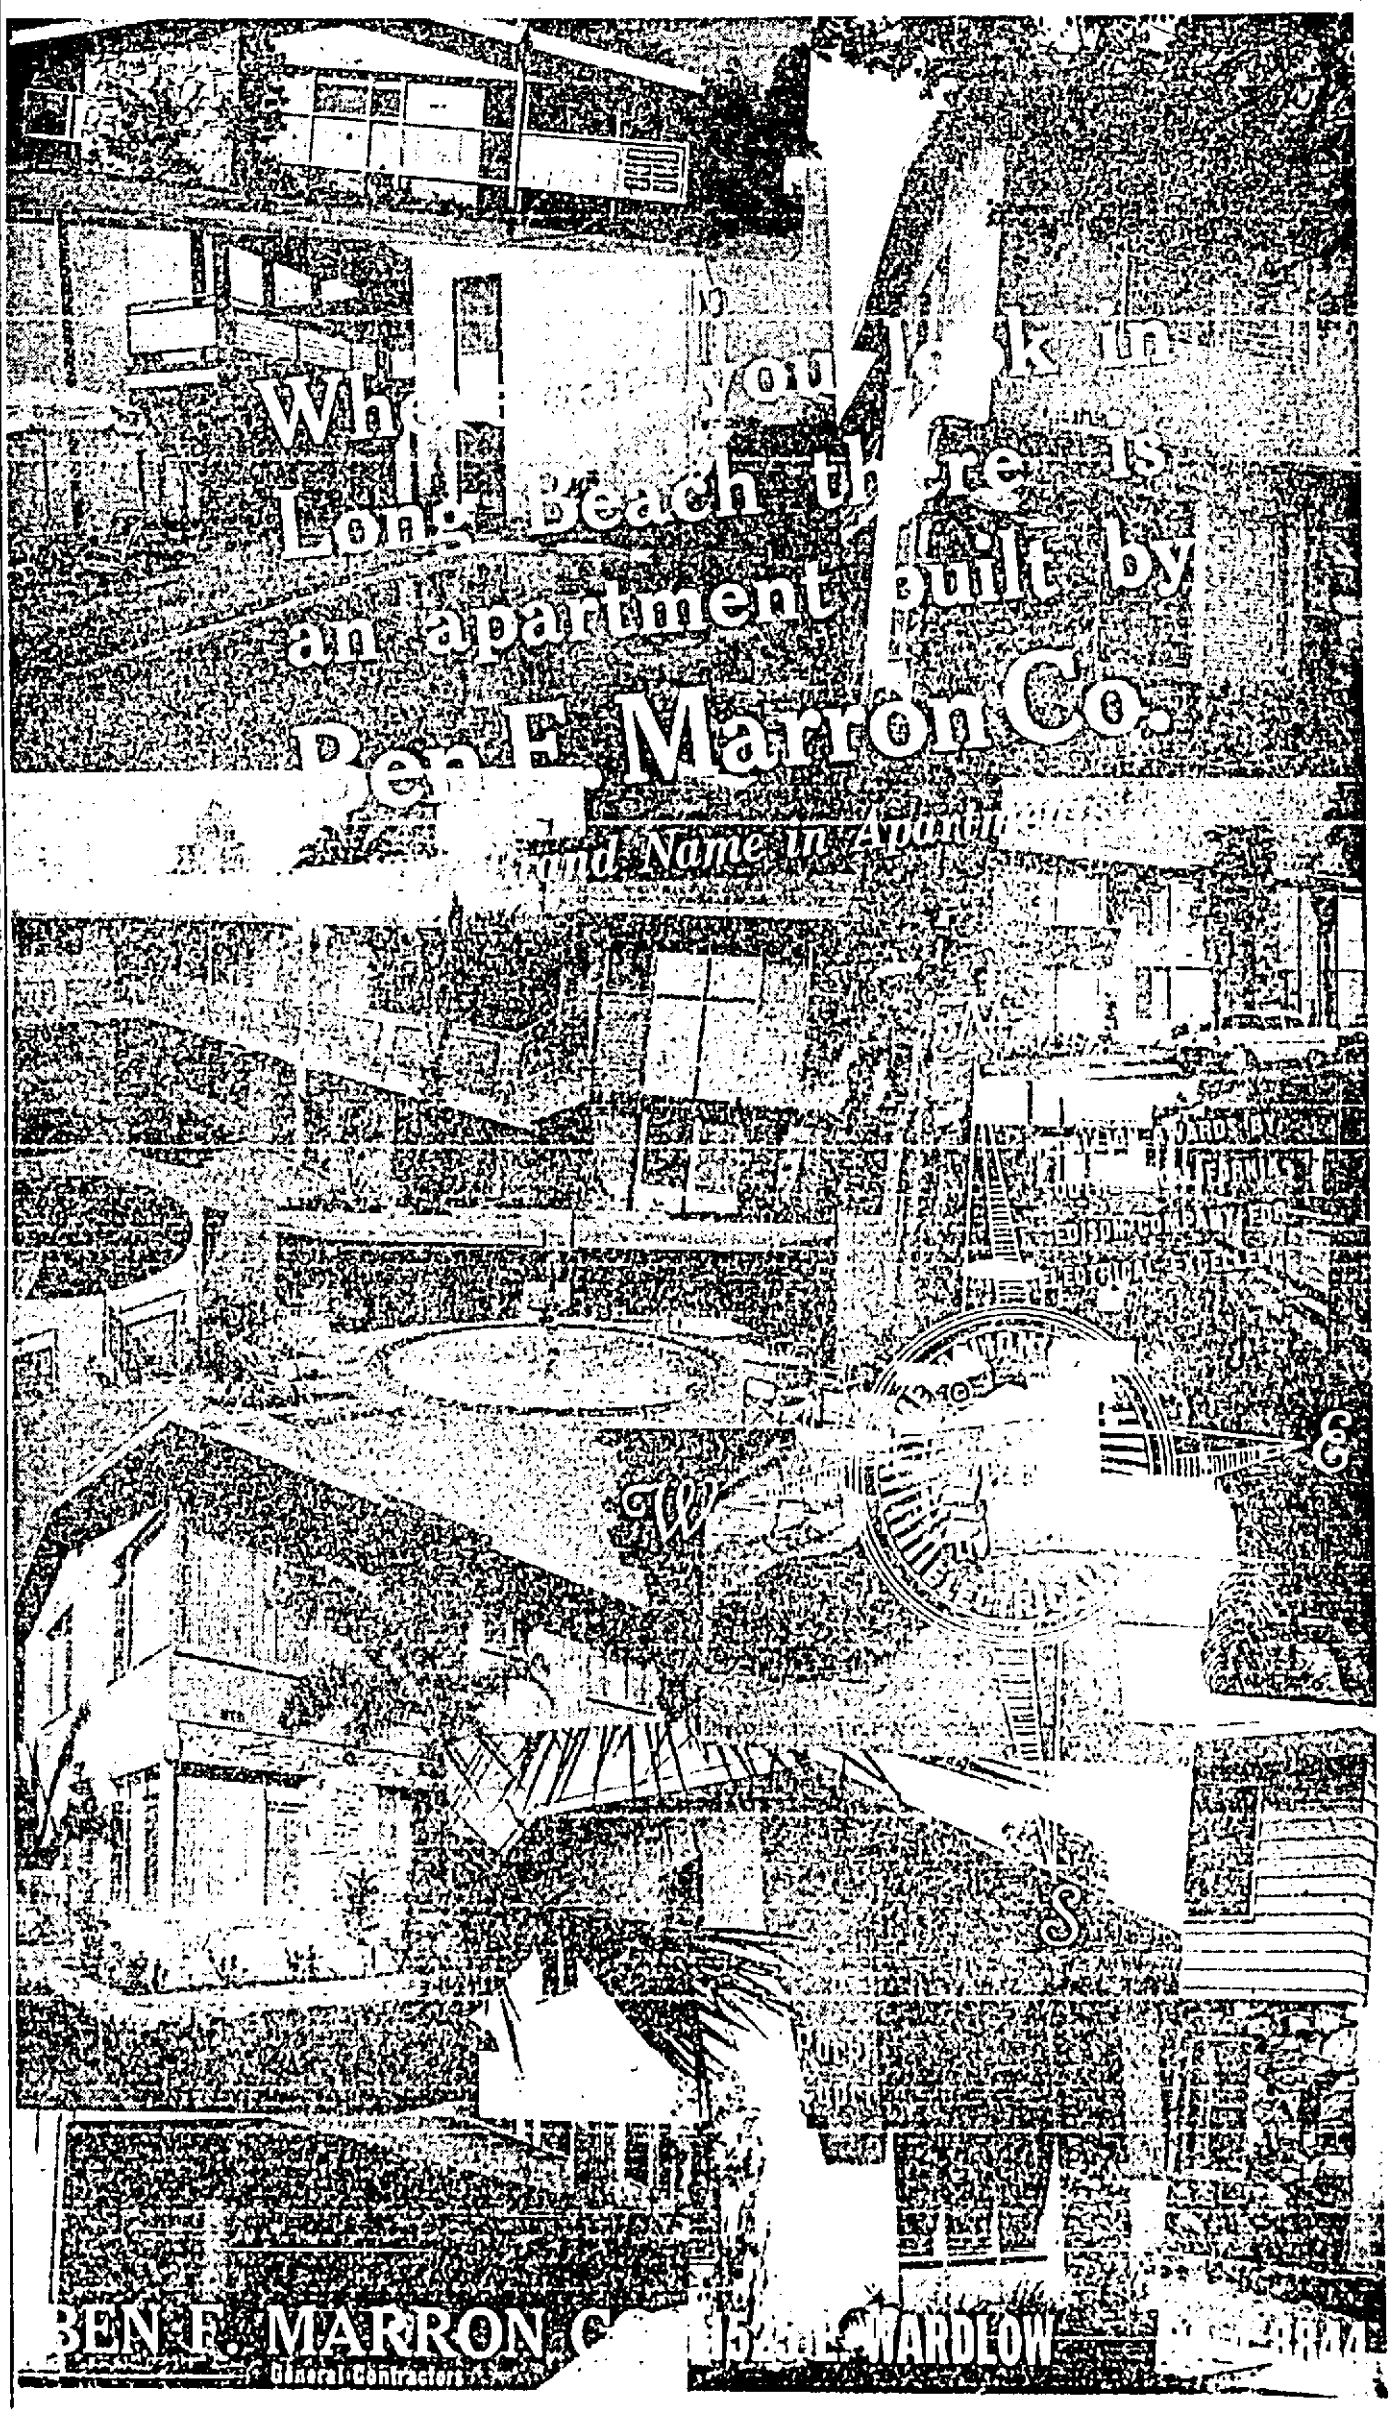

NOW SELLING is this 10-unit own-your-own at 1227 E. First St., the newest apartment developed by the Ben F. Marron Co., and has been awarded the Gold Medallion for electrical excellence.

OPEN HOUSE visitors at Marron's new units at 1227 E. First St. today will see appealing kitchens, such as this, in every unit. Designed to save steps, the kitchens have the finest of built-ins.

GOLDEN TERRACE at 3655 E. Ocean Blvd. is another of the fine developments in Long Beach built by the Ben F. Marron Co.

INTERIOR OF CHARM is noted in this lovely Marron-built apartment in the Los Cerritos district of Long Beach. Used brick wall has a huge modern, raised fireplace. Note the spacious feeling the room generates.

Church Rejects Sophia's Appeal

ROME (AP)—Oscar-winning actress Sophia Loren and film producer Carlo Ponti have lost another round in their long fight to be legally married in Italy, the land of no divorce, where they now face prosecution on bigamy charges.

A Rome Catholic Church tribunal, for the second time, has confirmed the validity of Ponti's first marriage in 1946 to Giuliana Fiastra, an Italian attorney who has sought annulment of the marriage. Two children were born of the union, Guendalina, now 15, and Massimo, now 12 years old.

That marriage went on the rocks in 1955, after Ponti already had begun guiding the glamorous Miss Loren on the path to world film stardom. Two years later, Ponti, now 46, and Miss Loren, now 27, were married in a Ciudad Juarez, Mexico, proxy ceremony. The producer had obtained a Mexican divorce, not recognized in Italy.

• • • •

LAST JAN. 17, Italian State Prosecutor Guido Guasco, assistant state attorney for Rome, disclosed he had requested that Ponti and Miss Loren be tried for bigamy.

The trial has not been pressed because Ponti and Miss Loren have been seeking annulment of their Mexican marriage because of the legal difficulties it caused them in Italy.

The situation is one that brought tears to Miss Loren's lovely eyes when she won the Oscar as the best actress of 1961.

No Italian official was willing to attend the Rome Oscar-presentation ceremony that was planned, and it was cancelled. Joseph Levine, American distributor of "Two Women," the film for which Miss Loren won the Oscar, gave her and a few close friends a brief glimpse of the statuette and then took it back to the United States, "for the inscription," he said.

• • • •

ITALIAN Entertainment Minister Alberto Folchi originally was to have presented it, but he suddenly developed an indisposition. So did other officials.

Italian Undersecretary of the Interior Egidio Ariosto, who once held Folchi's job and who Friday sharply criticized Elizabeth Taylor's recent conduct in Italy, said, when asked of the Oscar award ceremony:

"What could we do? After all there is a law on marriage in Italy."

The day after the cancelled ceremony Miss Loren tearfully left Rome for her Swiss chalet. Ponti already had gone to New York.

JOHN WILSON
Retired Educator

Former Principal Dies at 71

John Willard Wilson, veteran Long Beach educator and principal of Jordan High School 23 years, died Saturday in a Long Beach hospital at the age of 71.

Funeral service will be at 1 p.m. Monday at Mottell's & Peek Mortuary with Dr. Emerson G. Hangen, pastor of First Congregational Church, officiating. Interment will be in Green Hills Memorial Park.

Wilson, of 3435 Brayton Ave., served as principal at Edison Junior High School and Lindbergh Junior High School and was the first principal of Jordan High School. He retired July 1, 1956.

• • • •

AN ACTIVE civic worker, he was president of the Kiwanis Club in 1957, and was past president of the Masonic Club and honorary life member of the North Long Beach Lions Club and the Business and Commercial Club.

A Boy Scout worker for many years, Wilson held the Silver Beaver Award for Scouting. He was a member of First Congregational Church.

Surviving are his wife, Daisy S. of the Long Beach address; sons, John Willard Jr. of Long Beach; Lindley S. of Torrance and Robert C. of New York; daughter, Mrs. Kathleen Krogh of Long Beach; sister, Mrs. Anna Winkler, and six grandchildren.

Maytag Now in Control of Airline

Purchase of 250,000 shares of stock in National Airlines, which connects Long Beach and other California points with Florida and the East Coast, has made Lewis B. Maytag Jr. the line's largest individual stockholder.

Maytag becomes president and chief executive officer. The stock transfer was made at a board of directors meeting in Miami by George T. Baker, founder of the company, who remains as chairman of the board.

The 36-year-old Maytag controlled Frontier Airlines from 1958 until he sold it last month to a Nevada corporation. His first company, the Maytag Aircraft Corp., was founded in 1948 and has military fueling contracts, operating from 12 bases in the United States and three in Germany.

300 Aviators Excuse 'Goof' by Controller

WASHINGTON (UPI)—More than 300 airline pilots have signed a petition urging Federal Aviation Administrator Najeeb E. Halaby to show leniency toward a controller whose mistake endangered two airliners, it was learned Saturday.

The incident took place March 21 when the controller accidently assigned a United Air Lines Viscount and an Eastern Air Lines Electra to the same altitude for nearly 45 minutes while they were circling blind in a holding pattern near Washington National Airport.

The "go easy" plea included the signatures of Capt. James McClure, the Viscount pilot, and Capt. John Blankenship, who was commanding the Electra.

Pilots signing the petition, with exception of McClure and Blankenship, are based in the Washington area and most of them have had their flights "worked" by the same controller who committed the error.

• • • •

THE FEDERAL Aviation Agency had announced it would demote the controller one grade in his civil service status and transfer him to a smaller control center, reported to be Akron, Ohio. The demotion would reduce his salary about $600 a year.

"We believe the proposed action to be unduly harsh in light of the man's years of safe and dedicated service," the pilots' petition said. "We are not condoning errors of the type committed, but we are all human . . ."

Most of the names on the petition, which still is being circulated on crew bulletin boards at National Airport, are those of United pilots but they also include flight personnel from Eastern, Allegheny and Piedmont.

• • • •

THE PILOTS asked Halaby to intervene personally for the controller and urged the FAA chief to keep him at his present grade and station.

An FAA spokesman said Halaby would "study thoroughly" the pilots' request, which is believed to be unprecedented.

The spokesman said the petition was not the first evidence of pilot support for the controller who "goofed." He said numerous airline captains and copilots have phoned the agency individually in the controller's behalf.

Despite the wave of professional sympathy for the controller, there were no indications that Halaby will relent.

• • • •

THE FAA chief has privately and publicly expressed his regret that any punitive action has to be taken. He conceded the error stemmed from pressures generated by the nation's inadequate air-traffic-control system.

But Halaby also is known to feel that the incident and its aftermath must alert all controllers to the consequences of the slightest mistake.

It was understood that the controller will accept FAA disciplinary action in good grace and a complete understanding of the reasons. Halaby himself regards the reduction in grade and transfer not as a real demotion but temporary assignment to a job with less pressure until the man proves he is ready to return to a major control center.

New Satellite Up; Secrecy Veil Down

VANDENBERG AIR FORCE BASE (UPI)—The Air Force Saturday launched a satellite toward polar orbit—possibly of the Discoverer series—but followed its new pattern of releasing no details on the shot.

The Air Force announcement said only the satellite employed a Thor Agena B booster combination. This is similar to those used in the generally successful Discoverer series.

The Air Force declined to confirm orbit, or to give the time the satellite blasted from the launch pad.

LAUGHFEST AT COMMUNITY PLAYHOUSE

New Farce Spoofs Conventions

By VERA WILLIAMS

The theory is advanced, with fast lines and many laughs, in "Third Best Sport," which opened Friday night in Long Beach Community Playhouse, that conventions follow sex and baseball as America's favorite sport.

Anyone who ever has attended a convention will recognize characters and situations of "Third Best Sport," with corporation executives trying to mold recalcitrant wives in the corporation image, corporation executives on the prowl for girls, etc.

Vivacious, blonde Barbara Crooker dominates the stage as Helen Sayre, bride of the general manager of the Wagner Co., kingpin organization at the American Metal Founders Association convention.

Larry Gallery adroitly handles the role of Douglas Sayre, who decides that, after all, he wants his wife to be herself.

Competent performances are turned in by Clay Foster, as Dr. Jonas Lockwood, philosopher summoned to address the convention in a name-mixup when the convention really wanted Dr. Thomas Lockwood, an economist; Alvetta Kay, as the difficult wife of the big customer; Bill Hill as a dedicated corporation man, and Frank Keith as the customer.

Cast members making their first Long Beach stage appearance in this play are John McMillan as John Wagner, Darlene Chaffee and Elaine Herman as corporation wives, and William Clements as a corporation man. All are good. Bill Williamson as a bellboy treads the boards for the first time in any play.

Charlotte Shuman designed the set. Larry Johns directed.

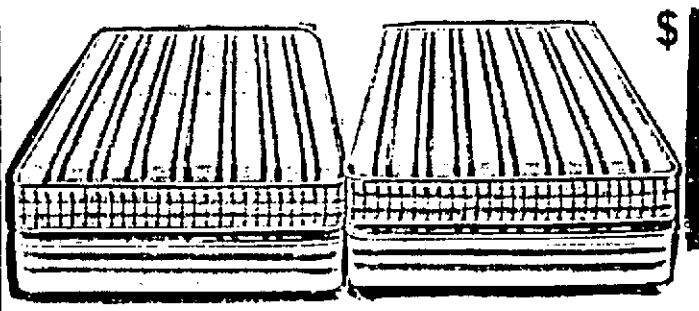

"Third Best Sport," 243rd major production of community, will be given Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights until mid-June.

YOUR CAREER WILL START with a good job obtained by reading the "Help Wanted" columns. Better check right now.

Austria Chief Due Wednesday

VIENNA, Austria (AP) — Chancellor Alfons Gorbach said Saturday night one objective of his visit to Washington this week is "to point out that Austria, although neutral, is not neutralist."

He declared that "the overwhelming majority of the Austrian people know no split of conscience between democracy and one party dictatorship."

Gorbach leaves Wednesday for Washington accompanied by Foreign Minister Bruno Kreisky. He will meet Thursday with President Kennedy.

Weapon to Kill Plants Reported Near Perfection

HONOLULU (AP) — Rep. Daniel K. Inouye, D-Hawaii, reports American scientists are perfecting "a horrible weapon" capable of destroying all the earth's vegetation.

The weapon is in experimental stages, Inouye told a dinner honoring him Friday night. He said scientists were seeking to perfect it so that it could be used in small areas with limited and controlled effect.

Report 2 Million Psychiatry Patients

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP) — More than 2 million men, women and children are treated for psychiatric problems each year in the United States, reports Dr. Jack R. Ewalt, director of the U. S. Mental Health Commission.

Ewalt based his statistics on a five-year survey recently completed by his department.

He pointed to a serious need for more research in the field of mental health saying the U. S. is spending far too little on mental health research.

Teresa Brewer Oddity in an Undressed Age

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—Teresa Brewer's a rather curious young lady in this Age of Undress—she hesitates to sing and dance in a top nightclub because some of the girls surrounding her occasionally might appear to be practically nude.

"I just don't know whether I should work at the Latin Quarter," Teresa, mother of four, said to me the other afternoon.

"Their shows are lovely. I enjoy them. But one of the songs I sing is 'When I Leave the World Behind,' with sort of a religious quality.

"I'm just not sure it would be wise."

• • • •

TERESA, 30 now, 5-foot-1, 102 pounds, brown haired but dyed red, earns as much as $30,000 a week for herself and act of six boys in Las Vegas or Lake Tahoe. The people around her wish she'd quit being such a home girl and begin acting wicked or something—because it'd be such good publicity.

But she keeps missing her cues to be bad.

"What sort of places do you go to when you're helling around when you're not working?" I asked her . . . and waited for a spicy answer.

"Oh, I don't do anything—I stay home," she laughed.

"Oh, wild parties?" I leered. "With movie star friends?"

"Oh, no, I don't know any show people," Teresa said. "Just with my sister-in-laws."

• • • •

TERESA and husband Bill Monahan live at New Rochelle with their brood — and Teresa is always lousing up the press agents intent on making her look like a sex-pot by claiming that she isn't sexy at all.

TERESA

"I'm not tall enough," she said. "Nobody's every called me 'lovely.'"

"Listen, Lovely," I said — ("Thanks," she smiled) — "what are your measurements?"

"Well," she said, "my head is bigger around than my waist."

"Huh!" I retorted.

"Yes, I have a 22-inch head and a 20-inch waist!"

It isn't that she's big-headed; she has an incredibly tiny waist.

• • • •

BORN IN TOLEDO in the heart of God's country, Teresa came to Broadway at 16 as a contest winner ("One week at the Latin Quarter"), wound up doing a year at the Sawdust Trail, became a recording star ("Music, Music" and "Ricochet"), and in '57 got in the middle of a hassle over being Perry Como's summer replacement.

Teresa, insulted at a director's harsh criticism, left the show—but she's done plenty of guest shots since.

She's one of the fleetest dancers living as well as being a great pop singer. Her energy is amazing. She frankly says she became a singer and dancer and cafe performer because, at 16, she didn't want to go back to school.

"But don't tell my kids that," she warned me, "I keep telling them I loved it."

• • • •

THE WEEKEND WINDUP . . . Charles Bickford, the Herb Polesies and other showfolk are starting a theatrical contingent near the Los Angeles Airport and Hollywood Park, at Playa del Rey . . . Latin ¼ showgirl Susan Grey shyly wears a smock over her revealing costume backstage, and one of the other girls sniped: "Oh, she'll do anything to attract attention!"... Polly Bergen'll use four college youngsters, making their professional debut, in her Las Vegas act.

The Queen of Iran wanted to see a baseball game here, and a N.Y. cop said "I hope she doesn't watch the Mets—it could give her the wrong idea about us" . . . Producer Joe Levine's film, "Boccacio 70," has three separate stories; he calls it "a sort of wide-screen antipasto" . . . Harry Balafonte said at the Jazz Gallery he hopes to make a movie in Israel . . . Veteran actor Horace McMahon won the VFW's Americanization Award.

Novelist Lee Cooley—former director of the Perry Como show—has a new book out, "God's High Table" . . . Warner Bros., will shell out $3 million to advertise "Music Man" . . . Vincent Price, star of "Poe's Tales of Terror," has become a cover boy — "Famous Monsters Magazine" will be his seventh.

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: A Taffy Tuttle type walked into a drug store (reports Quote), examined thermometers, and said, "I'll take this Fahrenheit one—I know the brand name."

WISH I'D SAID THAT: If all the practical jokers in the world were laid end to end—say, that's not a bad idea.—Carey Williams.

EARL'S PEARLS: The most self-possessed person in town is a 20-year-old at a Sweet Sixteen party.

Leonard Stern, producing an ABC-TV series, told his star, Marty Ingels, he'd get good billing: "In fact, they even promised to flash your name in the middle of the show before yours!" . . . That's earl, brother.

WORLD'S MOST TALKED ABOUT ACTOR

Richard Burton: Porcupine Personality

Editor's Note—Richard Burton left the cast of "Camelot," where he and King Arthur's wife had quite an affair, and promptly became involved in a triangle much less classic but far more quickly publicized. Despite the smoke from Rome, Burton insists his classic approach to the theater is matched by a classic attitude toward matrimony.

By EDDIE GILMORE

LONDON (AP)—Without a foot of his new movie being shown in public, Richard Burton has become one of the most talked about actors in the world.

Through a spectacular Roman friendship with the beautiful, baffling, four-times married Elizabeth Taylor, this accomplished actor has reaped a harvest of headlines.

Ironically, if he played Shakespeare for the next year—and stood on his handsome head while doing it—the volume of his news clippings would probably fall short of the total gleaned through his off-stage associations with la Liz.

• • • •

THAT IS, the associations — plus the rumors, speculations, announcements, denials, denials of denials and the varied happenings of these two flamboyant stars.

What brought this volatile twosome together was the filming of the movie, "Cleopatra," which has become almost as legendary as its original heroine.

With rumors of a Taylor-Burton romance reaching a shrill crescendo in early April, Burton would appear to have muffled them if not silenced them.

"But I am married," he told a reporter, "and I hope to remain so forever."

• • • •

THIS craggy-faced son of a Welsh miner is married to the daughter of a Welsh mine manager.

He and his wife Sybil have two daughters, Kate and Jessica.

Despite the distractions from Rome, their friends say they are well suited and happy in one another's company.

As an actor, Burton is a sort of odd-ball with a porcupine personality.

He's not easy to get at.

A child in Wales during the depression, he once said of those rough tough days:

"When I was a kid I was one of 13 children. During the bad days of the depression our whole family had to exist on a crown a week. Five shillings (70 cents). I've never forgotten it."

• • • •

SPEAKING of some of his earlier films, he said: "I've been in a lot of rubbish, you know."

But rubbish or not, his talents as a fine actor have stood out. A critic once said he seemed to be the whole hope of the English stage, adding:

"An artist who gives fresh vigor to the great but eroded tradition of classic acting."

Burton once threw away a big money Hollywood career to return to Britain and act in London's Old Vic Theater at $126 a week.

• • • •

BURTON came in for some criticism in Britain several years ago when he moved to Switzerland and became a Swiss citizen.

Some writers accused him of being a tax dodger, a charge he denied.

"I want to get something straight," he said on returning in 1960 on a short visit. "I do not live in Switzerland to dodge tax.

"I have lived there for four years for the sake of my wife Sybil's health. It was done on doctor's advice."

• • • •

BURTON makes no secret of the fact that money is a subject close to his heart.

Admitting that he had banked about $280,000, he was asked if he was content with what he had.

"It's enough," he replied. "Though it's tempting to try for a million pounds. I've thought about it a lot. All those noughts. Do you realize you couldn't count it if you had a million."

A million pounds is $2,800,000.

• • • •

NOW 36, Burton has a long future ahead as an actor.

He's been trained in the best Shakespearean theaters of Britain. Great praise has come his way.

He left the cast of "Camelot" in New York—where he had won resounding acclaim—to play Mark Antony in "Cleopatra."

Discussing his part in "Cleopatra," Burton told an interviewer:

"When they asked me to do it, the Antony part hadn't been written. So, I've just been standing around for Rex Harrison to be assassinated."

IN FULL camera view, actor Richard Burton kisses his wife Sybil as they leave a Rome night club.

Magnolia's 'Once in Lifetime' Has Room for Improvement

By ROBERT C. WYLDER

Kaufman and Hart's "Once in a Lifetime" opened this weekend at the Magnolia Theater. In its present state, once is about enough.

On opening night when I saw it, at any rate, it still had a long way to go to come up to the usual standards of the Magnolia. It was, in fact, rather a bore.

Not that there wasn't plenty of activity and noise sometimes, and plenty of potentially good performances. The trouble was that the play never quite jelled into a coherent whole. It was just a lot of people saying sometimes funny lines to one another in individual scenes.

• • • •

WHAT THE PLAY might be when it gets pulled together is a little hard to say. It seems to be a combination of a huge spoof on Hollywood and its denizens, but at the same time it participates itself in the kind of hokum it is satirizing.

At its best, with a fast pace and tongue in cheek, it is probably highly amusing. At something less than its best it is not.

The cast is in general good. Probably because we see them less often and because they do not have to fit so well into the total fabric of the play, the minor characters seem more distinguished than most of the major ones.

For instance, Ric Larson is a gem as a waiter who appears in only one scene, and Harriette Seekins is very funny as a secretary-receptionist. Both can—and do—exaggerate their parts out of proportion to their importance without risking the play itself.

• • • •

LEADING THE CAST as George Lewis, the genius who bungles into Hollywood success, Jerry Anderson is usually effective as the lucky dope. Sometimes, though, he has to work too hard at it, and the voice patterns get a bit monotonous.

Dawn Bender and Gordon Elliott play George's two associates and provide the romantic interest. Neither manages enough force to be very compelling.

Danealia Hill as George's protege sometimes displays a good deal too much force, almost blasting the other players off stage.

Carl Yates is amusing in what has by this time become a stereotype, the eccentric Hollywood producer. Ann Leverett plays a Louella Parsons type to perfection, and Lynne Leider is a silent star with voice problems.

• • • •

OTHERS IN THE CAST include Bennie Stevenson, Michelle Murphy, Diana Cummins, Vi Coulter, Paul Teschke, Gerard Billard, Arnold Rosenfeld, William Cataline, Irleen Carl, Hal Thompson, Rosemary Kundis and Lora Andrich.

John R. Williams directed, and he and Dick Hunter designed the sets.

"Once in a Lifetime" promises to be a lot better on subsequent nights than it was on the opener. Once the actors start working together and with the technical crew, the show ought to be smoother and more enjoyable.

Performances continue through May on weekends. Call the box office for reservations.

SIDEWALK SERVICE

SHOULD WORKING WIVES BE EXPECTED TO COOK BIG DINNERS EVENINGS AND SUNDAYS?

(Asked at Fifth Street and Pine Avenue.)

Pat Escareno, 5039 Falcon Ave., homemaker: I say No. Because they have so much work to do, they shouldn't have to cook.

ESCARNO KROVIOUS

Margaret Krovious, 735 Cedar Ave., homemaker: I think they should once in a while. Otherwise their family would suffer.

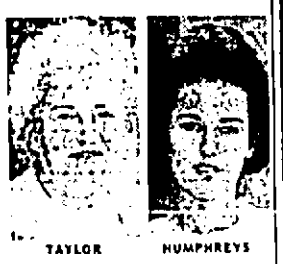

Irene Stott, 5823 Pavo St., drug store clerk: The wife shouldn't have to do it by herself. The family should work together. The wife, the husband, and the children if they are old enough to help.

STOTT LYDESEY

Penny Livesay, 6137 Ibbetson St., homemaker: Definitely not! No reason why the wife should do all the work. The husband should help his wife—or better yet, take her out to dinner once in a while.

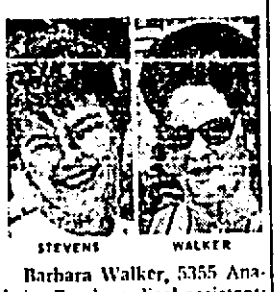

Ernest Taylor, 1010 E. Secnod St., salesman: It should be up to the family, whether or not they can afford to go out or get help.

TAYLOR HUMPHREYS

Loretta Humphreys, 3322 Barclay St., secretary: Yes—with help with the dishes!

Lois Stevens, 1041 Lime Ave., clerk: No. Make sandwiches. Then on days off make meals — extra large ones, seven courses if they want them.

STEVENS WALKER

Barbara Walker, 5355 Anaheim Road, medical assistant: Of course they should. I always did.

Miss Auto Skooter

Cathy Ross, 19, will represent the popular pump-em cars in the Nu-Pike Press Day Beauty Contest June 2 in the Nu-Pike Plunge. The ride, opened in 1946, has been patronized by over 5,000,000 slam-bam riders. Girls over 18 may enter the contest by writing the Long Beach Amusement Co., 201 W. Pike. Deadline is May 21.

County Budget Action Slated

L. A. P-T Los Angeles Bureau

The cost of government for Los Angeles County for the fiscal year 1962-63 begins to take form this week with the start Tuesday of the first steps toward adoption of the budget.

At 10:15 a.m. Tuesday, the county's chief administrative officer, L. S. Hollinger, will present his recommendations on the budget to the Board of Supervisors in the Hall of Administration in Los Angeles.

Under the administrative code, the board must approve the preliminary budget on or before May 5—in time for the auditor to arrange for its printing and for it to be made available to the public by May 28.

* * * *

DEPARTMENT hearings on the preliminary budget start at 2 p.m. Tuesday and continue Wednesday at 9 a.m.

On Tuesday, May 15, at 9:30 a.m., Hollinger will make his salary recommendations.

Salary hearings will begin Thursday, May 17, at 9:30 a.m. Adoption of the salary ordinance must be on or before May 31. It is scheduled to come at the regular May 29 meeting.

Supervisors, who must hold budget hearings before June 10, have scheduled them to start at 9:30 a.m. Friday, June 8. They will continue Monday, June 11, at 9:30 a.m.; Tuesday, June 12, at 10:30 a.m.; and Wednesday, June 13, at 9:30 a.m.

* * * *

THE ADMINISTRATIVE code provides that the budget hearings shall be continued from day to day until concluded, but shall not exceed a total of 10 days from the first hearing date.

The budget must be adopted in late June in order that it may go into effect on July 1, the first day of the 1962-63 fiscal year.

Last year's general county budget was $527,819,838—highest in the history of Los Angeles County. Hall of Administration observers are predicting a record this year.

Day Schedules Tour of 5 States

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Postmaster General J. Edward Day, who returned two days ago from a trip to Japan, will leave Tuesday on a week-long tour of five states.

A Post Office Department spokesman said Day will visit Seattle, Wash., Wednesday and Thursday for the dedication of a stamp commemorating the fair there; Des Moines, Iowa, April 28, for a Jefferson-Jackson Day dinner; Springfield, Ill., April 29 for the Boy Scout pilgrimage to Lincoln's Tomb; New Orleans, La., April 30, for the issuance of a stamp commemorating Louisiana's statehood anniversary, and Texas City, Tex., May 1, for the opening of a new post office.

Russ Protest U. S. Harassment of Ships

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Russia has protested to the United States against what it called harassment of Soviet ships passing through the Panama Canal.

Soviet Embassy Counselor G. M. Kornienko told the state department that "armed detachments" had been placed aboard some Russian ships and photographs had been taken of their radio and radar equipment.

STATE PAYS FOR NEW CENTER

City Sets Up Treatment for Victims of Alcohol

By BEN ZINSER
Medical Editor

A community alcoholic rehabilitation center financed by the state but operated by the Long Beach Health Department, has opened for business.

Located on the ground floor of the health department building at 2655 Pine Ave., the center will be open from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. daily, Monday through Friday.

Any resident of California 21 years old or older is eligible for the services of the center, Dr. I. D. Litwack, city health officer, said.

Harry Ladas, formerly health educator for the City Health Department, has been named full-time director of the center.

* * * *

LADAS SAID no fees will be assessed at the outset of the program. Later, he said, a small fee may have to be charged—but no one will be refused services if unable to pay.

Services available at the center will be outpatient medical and psychiatric treatment, counseling, psychological testing and follow-up checks by public health nurses. The center also will conduct a continuing education and information program.

For the time being, Dr. Litwack said, there will be no facilities for detoxification of the patients in the throes of an acute alcoholic episode.

"We hope to enlist local hospitals in providing emergency detoxification service," Dr. Litwack said.

No inpatient bed treatment will be provided, he added.

HARRY LADAS
Heads Alcohol Care

Dr. Harold W. Seifer, an internal medicine specialist, will be the center's medical doctor on a part-time basis. Other part-time members of the rehabilitation team will be Dr. Don C. Littlefield, psychiatrist, and Dr. Amalie Phelan, clinical psychologist.

* * * *

BESIDES LADAS, full-time staff members will include Miss Pauline Hubbard, public health nurse, and Mrs. Gertrude Poole, clerk.

Still to be employed is a full-time medical social worker.

Ladas said anyone desiring the center's services should go to the City Health Department and fill out an application blank.

During this first visit the patient also will be interviewed by a social worker or a public health nurse. He may see the doctor at this time, too.

The patient will receive a medical and psychological examination during the second visit. Laboratory tests also will be performed, and a chest X-ray taken.

Each week, at a staff conference, a treatment program will be outlined for each patient accepted for the program.

* * * *

PERSONS found to have organic disease will be referred to private doctors.

However, alcoholics found with attendant disorders such as malnutrition will be treated for these by the center doctor.

The Long Beach Alcoholic Rehabilitation Center is the newest of nine such facilities supported by the California State Health Department.

In preparation for establishment of the center here, Dr. Litwack and Ladas visited similar centers in San Francisco, Oakland, San Diego and Los Angeles.

Local health authorities have sought establishment of an alcoholic rehabilitation center for a long time. A survey conducted several years ago showed that Long Beach had the third largest alcoholic problem in the state and the fifth largest in the nation.

Masked Men Slay 2 Greek Cypriots

NICOSIA, Cyprus, Sunday (AP)—Masked men burst into a village coffee shop in West Cyprus late Saturday night, and killed two Greek Cypriots. A third man was wounded seriously.

Police set up roadblocks in an effort to stop the killers.

Tork Topples Vault Mark—16-2

By JOHN DIXON

Dave Tork, a pole vault also-ran with the audacious confidence of a Barbary Coast pirate, finally won a first-place medal.

The 27-year-old Camp Pendleton Marine lieutenant, consistent second-place finisher in big league competition, won the big prize Saturday by pole vaulting 16 feet, 2 inches at the fourth Mt. San Antonio Relays.

No man, beast or kangaroo has ever soared so high without a balloon.

Five hours and 18 minutes after the vault competition began, Tork surpassed Don Bragg's still recognized world record of 15-9¼, George Davies' pending record of 15-10¼ and John Uelses' recent vault of 16-¾.

It was no surprise to Tork, or to Independent, Press-Telegram readers whom he told exclusively three weeks ago, "16 feet is easy; I'll get it at anytime. I'm thinking about 17 feet."

Tork, a 14-1 vaulter at West Virginia U., was deadlocked with Gerald Pratt of Texas Southern and Davies, now of Arizona State, after surpassing 15-7.

But the tie didn't last long.

Davies and Pratt missed badly at 16-2. Tork was "over" on his first try, but scraped the bar on the way down. His second assault was a winner all the way. He cleared it with at least four inches to spare.

The 6-foot, 170-pounder held the fiber glass pole at 14-9 and used a 152-foot run for the big one.

Tork tried 16-4 three times but the inspiration had expired. He didn't come close.

A Marine for four years, Tork's previous best was 15-8¼ last month.

The vaulting began at 14 feet but Tork took his calisthenics on the sidelines until competition reached 15 feet. He made 15-0 on his first try, then 15-7. Then he was alone, except for 1,000 expectant spectators surrounding the catapult runway.

Tork's vault timing was perfect but the timing of the event was not.

He finished his acrobatics at 7 p.m., the same time that Al Oerter boarded a plane for New York with his "field athlete of the meet" trophy.

The voting was held at 4:30 p.m. No doubt a new pole poll would bring a two-foot silver trophy for Tork.

Oerter, a mammoth flying the emblem of the New York Athletic Club and winner of the 1960 Olympic Games discus, had a throw of 198-6, only a few blades of grass short of Jay Silvester's world record of 199-2½.

Oerter, who scratched at almost the last minute from the Penn Relays to compete at Mt. San Antonio against the finest U.S. discus field in history, had the best throwing series in history.

He had successive long ones of 190, 198, 188, foul, 198-6 and 190. Oerter's previous best was 194-2.

Another Olympic champion had a prodigious throw.

Hal Connolly, of the Pasadena Olympians, winner at Melbourne in 1956, skyed the hammer 225-½, within a few clods of his own world record of 230-9. No one else has twirled the 16-pounder so far.

The crowd's favorite event was the mile.

Jim Grelle, one of Mihaly Igloi's flock of "we run until it hurts" martyrs, became the fourth American and 30th anywhere to break the well-blemished four-minute "barrier."

Grelle followed teammate Bill Kozar through a 58.5 440, took the lead with a right-on-target 1:59.2 880, led by 25 yards after an adequately paced 3:00.8 1,320, and sprinted home without a tick left over—3:59.9.

The former Oregon collegiate king seemed to be

BUC BUBBLES . . . Sandy Tops Pirates for 4th Victory . . . AS KOUFAX ADDS WRAPPER

DON CLENDENON, lanky Pirate outfielder, blows a bubble at home plate while waiting for delivery by Dodgers' Sandy Koufax.

By GEORGE LEDERER

Earl Francis and the Pittsburgh Pirates jumped the gun on daylight savings time. Besides losing an hour's sleep Saturday, he lost the National League lead and a 2-hour and 39-minute ball game.

With two out in the ninth inning, Tommy Davis broke out of a mild slump to single home the run that gave the Dodgers a tense 2-1 decision.

Sandy Koufax became the National League's first four-game winner with his third complete game, although he admitted he "was laboring" in outlasting Francis. Until Davis' first hit in 10 trips dissolved the tie, Francis had not permitted an earned run in 17 innings this season.

The erstwhile leaders, who reeled off 10 successive wins against the Phillies, Mets and Colts, now have lost four of their last five games. The Dodgers have won three in a row.

• • • •

ENTERING the 2 o'clock doubleheader this afternoon, only one-half game separates the first four clubs. The deficit belongs to the Dodgers. The third-place Giants and second-place Bucs trail the Cardinals merely by percentage points.

Johnny Podres (1-1) goes against Bob Friend (3-1) in today's opener and rookie Joe Moeller (1-1) will be opposed by Alvin McBean (2-0) in what may be the nightcap, literally as well as figuratively speaking.

Lights were on from the fourth through the eighth innings Saturday before a ray of sunshine broke through for a ladies day crowd of 28,964. The paid attendance of 26,332 brought the eight-game Dodger Stadium total to 302,402, 111,519 ahead of last year.

DODGER OF DAY

KOUFAX

SANDY KOUFAX hurled six-hitter for fourth win of season as Dodgers nipped Pirates, 2-1.

• • • •

FRANCIS (1-1) and Koufax (4-1) dueled on even terms in everything except control. Koufax was the winner in that department but, oddly enough, the only walk he allowed cost him a run. Francis walked eight without damage and four times worked his way out of jams after intentional passes.

Pittsburgh scored with two out in the fourth inning when Johnny Logan drew a walk between singles by rookie Donn Clendenon and Don Leppert. Leppert, the only physically-fit catcher on the Bucs' staff, drove home the run after Logan's walk advanced Clendenon to second.

The Dodgers caught up in

BACK'S ON BEAM, BAT HAS STEAM

Tommy D. Fulfilling Prophecy of Stardom

By GEORGE LEDERER

For a fellow who enjoyed a successful spring, Tommy Davis' first regular season plate appearance was a bit unorthodox. It was at a luncheon prior to the Dodgers' third game.

Under the circumstances, his introduction by Dodger publicist Red Patterson also bordered on the unusual. "Gentlemen, I want you to meet the man who, in my opinion, will carry the Dodgers this season—Tommy Davis."

Davis was flabbergasted. "I didn't know what to say," he admitted later. That night Davis began to answer the way Patterson had predicted he would. He collected two hits and since then has failed to hit in only one game.

Looking back on the flowery introduction, Davis now relishes the role in which he was cast. "It gave me a goal and determination," says Davis. "I know I have to produce, I have to drive in the runs."

Since putting Tommy into the driver's seat, manager Walter Alston has kept him there against all types of pitching. "Now, if we can keep him keyed up and aggressive," says Alston, "there's no telling how much he'll hit."

Davis says, "if I have to go for the punch, I may not hit .300. But I'll go for the long ball only in certain situations. I'll settle for singles whenever there's a man in scoring position."

Through games of Saturday, Davis had batted with 20 men in scoring position and driven in 23 runs. During the first three weeks he has been at or near the top of the list in home runs (5) and runs batted in. Tommy's 24 hits amount to 49 total bases.

Davis already is one-third of the way toward his 1961 totals in RBI (58) and home runs (15) and one short of the halfway mark in doubles (13). His average is .385 compared to .309 in April last year and .278 for the season.

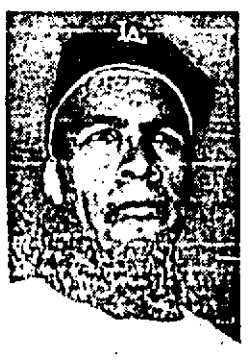

Improvement is due to a number of things, "No. 1," says Davis, "my back feels fine. I haven't had a bit of trouble since early this spring." A back injury early in July was aggravated in August and rendered Davis virtually useless for the last two months. He batted .155 in August and .156 in September.

"Hitting the ball with the right part of the bat and having a quicker bat," is Tommy's explanation for the improvement in power. "The power was always there, I just couldn't utilize it before.

"Maybe I tried to pull the ball too much last year. Now, I'm going with the pitch, but I'm still getting around on the fast ball and more often. I don't know if they know how to pitch to me. I haven't noticed a specific pattern. They just seem to move the ball in and out."

Alston, who at times thought Davis to be somewhat of a hypochondriac, is willing now to change his mind. "Maybe the bad back was his main trouble last year. What I've noticed most, though, is that he's more aggressive.

"Tommy has a tendency to be lazy once in a while. Down in his heart, he wants to play, win and bear down as much as anyone. But, unconsciously, he wants to relax. It's our job to keep him wound up."

DETROIT—Angel pitching, sorely in need of a shot in the arm, received it from the left one of Ted Bowsfield Saturday and then nearly lapsed into a state of unconsciousness.

Making his first start of the championship season and his first game appearance since April 5, Bowsfield was the miracle cure to manager Bill Rigney's pitching headaches as he turned in a classy six-inning stint before tiring in the seventh and leaving with a 7-4 lead.

However, just as the patient was climbing off the stretcher he became wild and Rigney almost became a shock victim. The Seraph skipper dipped into the bullpen four times over the final three frames before the Angels emerged with a harrowing 7-6 victory over the Detroit Tigers before 6,585 fans who braved forecasts of rain.

• • • •

IT WAS only the Angels' second victory in 10 contests at Tiger Stadium and only the second in their last eight games. Among other noteworthy statistics, it broke an eight-game Tiger victory string over the Angels and

Fly Straw Wins Chicado V

By MAC McGUIRE

C. J. Burnam's blaze-faced Fly Straw took advantage of the stumbling Alamitos Bar and had her white-stocking feet flying from the gate to win the $5,000 Chicago V. Stakes Saturday before 10,500 fans at Los Alamitos Race Course.

The 2-5 favored Alamitos Bar stumbled and hit his nose on the ground coming out of the gate, almost unseating jockey Danny Cancholа, to give Fly Straw all the opening she needed to burst across the wire for her second straight victory.

Second-favored Fly Straw paid $12.60, $4.60 and $4.20 across the board for her three-quarter length victory. Guy Purinton's No Butt was second for $5.80 and $5.20 and William H. Carter's Miss Jet Deck was third for $9.60.

• • • •

WESTERN STABLES' Alamitos Bar placed sixth in the seven horse field, the first time he has finished worse than second since the summer of 1961.

Fly Straw was clocked in 20 seconds flat for the 400-yard sprint, just a tenth of a second off the world record and the same time in which she won the Miss Princess last week.

Fly Straw stepped out on top with Midland Miss, No Butt and Miss Jet Deck in close pursuit. Canales Black made a brief run at them and about half way through the race he began to wilt and Fly Straw started to pull ahead of her three distaff rivals.

Jockey Efrain Garza hustled her along and she steadily pulled away from the pack.

• • • •

IT TOOK Canchola several strides before he could fully regain his seat aboard 3-year-old Alamitos Bar and by that time he was out of the race.

Jockey Ken Chapman fell from favored Bombay Miss as she came out of the gate in the fifth race. He was pronounced all right at the track hospital but was sent to have X-rays taken as a precaution. He was taken off his last three mounts of the day.

REVEAL Q-H WINNER SOON

Winner of "Name the Horse" contest will be announced later this week.

The contest, offering Independent, Press-Telegram readers a chance to name the quarter horse weanling out of Go Man Go-Triple Lady, was warmly received.

A flood of names arrived at the sports desk during the final few days and it will require some time to sift them and determine a suitable name and winner.

Sports Merry-Go-Round

By HANK HOLLINGWORTH

L. B. Cage Entry Cooking

Pearls from the Sunday pulpit:

. . . In response to the many interested fans who have inquired as to the progress of Long Beach's new entry in the American Basketball League, let me say now that everything is moving along at a highly encouraging pace, thank you. Complete financing has been assured and very necessary behind-the-scenes negotiations for a coach, general manager and players are moving swiftly. Until all preliminary factors are tied up securely, however, no definite names can be announced. (However, some surprises in the "name" department are forthcoming, I can promise.)

HANK HOLLINGWORTH

. . . Again in response to many questions, the Long Beach team will NOT be known as the Jets. An area - wide contest for everybody to join the name-the-team clan will be held before too long.

. . . Speaking of contests, the most fantastic I've seen in many years around the sports beat was the Name - The - Quarter-Horse event staged by the Independent-Press Telegram in conjunction with Los Alamitos Race Course. The contest concluded last midnight, but I have no idea when the winning name will be selected. Thousands of entries flooded the sports department and many, many hours will be required to sift through each letter and postcard. As we said when the contest opened, everybody wants either to own a race horse or to name one. (And wait 'til you see some of the names offered! They're dillies . . . and we'll include the best, and worst, in a future column.)

. . . Bob Pestolesi and Dick Perry of Long Beach State College already are deep in work for the first annual L.B. Invitational Basketball tourney in the new Arena next December. The event should be a corker, especially if Oklahoma State's defense-minded club meets the offensive machine from Drake. Both these clubs expect to be in the nation's top 10 (or at least 20) next season.

. . . University of Iowa also has expressed interest in the '63 tourney and is a definite possibility to invade Long Beach if the Hawks can work out their schedule.

MAYBE RED PATTERSON, the Dodger publicist, should send along a club brochure to Ed Sainsbury of the Chicago UP-I office. In describing Sandy Koufax after his 18-strikeout feat against the Cubs, Ed termed the handsome chucker ". . . a little southpaw." How LITTLE is a man 6-2 and 205 pounds? What does Sainsbury call BIG?

. . . I wonder when American League boss Joe Cronin wil get wise and put some handcuffs on his erratic arbiter, Ed Hurley. A red-necked type, Hurley gets in more trouble than the rest of the circuit's umpires combined. His needless meddling in Friday night's Angel-Tiger game should have drawn a reprimand from pudgy Cronin. As the second base umpire, Hurley had no business sticking his Irish schnozzola into the plate ump's feud.

. . . Also in the wondering department, when in heck is the A.L. going to do something about the rowdy fans in Detroit? There is no excuse for fans pelting opposing outfielders with beer cans, pop bottles and even liquor containers, but the irresponsible idiots in Detroit get away with this barbarism every year. Maybe a Tiger forfeit or two would curb the Motor City savages, eh, Mr. Cronin?

DANNY MURTAUGH looked like a Vic Tanny model (well maybe not THAT good) when he led his Pittsburgh troops into Dodger Stadium for this weekend series. Rigged like a butterball ordinarily, Murtaugh looked mighty streamlined on this visit. His explanation: "I haven't changed my diet. After winning the pennant in '60 I lived off the land's fat. After finishing sixth last year, I just worried my weight away in the off-season."

. . . George Agar, L.A. Blades' coach, told a Long Beach service club group this past week that sooner-or-later he was certain ice hockey would come to this city. Now, I wonder if George had to stand in the corner of Dan Reeves' office when the boss got wind of that statement of heresy?

. . . Agar was high in praise of Art Chapman, who would be general manager of any Long Beach puck franchise. Chapman, now director of Art Edwards' paint company's ice sports division, formerly coached the Blades' mentor.

. . . After Friday night's gasser, does anyone still want to argue that Don Drysdale will win 20 games this season? The new stadium was bound to help Drysdale and Don admitted the same after cutting down the Bucs. "For the first time since the Dodgers came to California, I can throw a changeup," explained Drysdale. "That's the advantage of throwing in a big park. Anybody could tap a slow pitch right out of the Coliseum, but they have to supply their own power in Dodger Stadium. And that's a big order." Onward, Mr. 20-gamer, onward.

Cards Vault to First Place

ST. LOUIS (UPI)—Lindy McDaniel came on in relief of Ray Sadecki in the ninth inning Saturday to protect a St. Louis Cardinal lead and help the Redbirds to a 5-4 victory over the Cincinnati Reds. St. Louis took over first place in the National League by percentage points.

McDaniel came in after Sadecki had walked Gordy Coleman who led off the ninth, and given up a double to John Edwards.

Jerry Lynch, a pinch-hitter, drove in a run with a sacrifice fly. McDaniel walked the next batter, but forced Leo Cardenas to ground into a game-ending double play.

• • • •

SADECKI, who picked up his first victory, was charged with four runs and all eight Cincinnati hits in the eighth innings he worked.

St. Louis was trailing 2-1 when they pushed across three runs on Cincinnati starter Jim O'Toole in the fifth inning. Minnie Minoso's two-run double off the glove of third baseman Eddie Kasko, was the big hit. Minoso went to third on the throw to the plate and scored on an error by Kasko.

Curt Flood drove in the deciding run in the seventh when he singled into left field.

• • • •

JULIO GOTAY, who had led off the inning with a double off Cincinnati reliever Jim Brosnan, scored on the hit. It was the 23rd straight game that Flood has hit safely, 11 of them this season.

O'Toole, who allowed four runs and eight hits in his six-inning stint, was charged with his third loss in four decisions.

Mays Powers 11-2 SF Romp

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Slump-ridden Willie Mays, coming up with a .207 batting average, exploded a bases-loaded home run Saturday which paced the San Francisco Giants to an 11-2 romp over the Chicago Cubs.

WILLIE MAYS
Clears the Bases

It was the sixth grand slam of Willie's career and capped a six-run blast against rookie pitcher Al Lary in the second inning. Juan Marichal, who went the distance for the third time to post his third win, kept the rally going with a run-scoring single.

Marichal had a shutout going until the eighth inning when Billy Williams smashed his third home run of the season with a man on base.

Lary, at 32 the older brother of Detroit's Frank Lary, gave up four hits and three walks while the Giants were working him over in the second inning. He was the first of four Chicago pitchers to work, with the only veteran being Barney Schultz, who finished up.

Lary took the loss, and now has a record of 0-1. Marichal gave up nine hits and struck out five.

• • • •

FOUR OF San Francisco's runs were unearned. A two-base throwing error by pitcher Dave Gerard let two across and set up another in the fourth inning. Then centerfielder Lou Brock muffed a fly to bring in another during the fifth. In the sixth, however, Brock crashed against the fence while making a great catch of Felipe Alou's smash.

14 Hits for Braves Rip Colts, 9-3

HOUSTON (UPI)—The Milwaukee Braves shelled four Houston pitchers for 14 hits Saturday night, including Mack Jones' first home run of the year, for a 9-3 victory and the most runs ever given up by the new National League club.

Starter Carl Willey was chased by the Colts in the fifth inning when Houston picked up four hits and two runs. Righthander Cecil Butler relieved Willey and blanked the Colts the rest of the way, striking out five and giving up only three hits.

The victory went to Butler, his first of the season, and Dave Giusti, the first of four Houston pitchers, was charged with the loss.

Eddie Mathews, Dennis Menke and Joe Torre each collected three hits for the Braves.

SWAP 5-RUN INNINGS

State Divides Pair With SF Valley St.

Long Beach State and San Fernando State traded five-run innings and victories in a CCAA doubleheader Saturday afternoon at Blair Field.

Jack Foley, 49er winner, had little difficulty in the opener, going all the way as his mates gave him an 8-0 margin after two innings.

In the seven-inning nightcap, Long Beach took another lead by getting all its runs—and all its hits—in the fourth, but the Matadors jumped on starter Bill Wilson and reliefer Bill Rose for five runs in the fifth, and the action was all but over for the afternoon.

The 49ers, who got 18 hits in Friday's 14-13 win over San Fernando, added 15 more in Saturday's first contest, but winner Matt Brletic had them eating out of his hand except for one inning in the second game.

Long Beach now is 6-6 in league play and 12-14 on the season after winning nine of the last 13 games.

Yankees Smash 3 Homers, Bury Nats

WASHINGTON (AP) — The New York Yankees powered three more home runs into distance points of the new D.C. Stadium in the same inning Saturday in dealing the Washington Senators their 11th consecutive defeat, 10-3.

Hector Lopez hit his first over the centerfield wall. Clete Boyer his fourth, eight rows into the upper deck, and Roger Maris his third off the facade in right. Boyer's was the longest by a righthander in the stadium.

All were off an old pal of the Yankees, Fred Green, who was bombarded in relief roles in the 1960 World Series.

Ralph Terry pitched a smooth 6-hitter in winning for the fourth time against one defeat.

Trade Locke for Phils' Ferrarese

ST. LOUIS (UPI) — Pitcher Bobby Locke was traded by the St. Louis Cardinals Saturday for Don Ferrarese of the Philadelphia Phillies.

A minor league player, to be named later, will also be supplied by the Cards as part of the deal.

Ferrarese, 32, was 5-12 last year. Locke, who was acquired by the Cards from the Chicago Cubs two days before the season opened, played for Cleveland last season and was 4-4.

Indians Nip Twins On Romano's Blow

CLEVELAND (UPI)—John Romano doubled home the winning run in the eighth inning Saturday to give the Cleveland Indians an 8-7 victory over the Minnesota Twins, despite a pair of Twin homers by Don Mincher, one of them a grand slam.

Mincher, put in the game when Vic Power pulled a leg muscle in the third inning, tied the score at 3-3 with his first homer of the game in the third inning. And his seventh-inning, bases-loaded blast off Frank Funk tied the score again at 7-7.

Other homers were hit by Harmon Killebrew of the Twins, his fourth, and Woody Held of the Indians.

WYNN

Man to Man

NO. 1

By JERRY WYNN

One can pass by Phil Bryson without a second look on the campus at Long Beach State College. A clean-cut, 21-year-old Long Beach youth of medium build, he is probably no different than hundreds of other students.

But put him in the water in the rowing shell of the 49ers, and Phil Bryson stands out like Jayne Mansfield on a life raft.

In a sport where spidery arms, strong as long, seem to become meshed with the oars they pull, Bryson unquestionably is the smallest man rowing in a championship eight. The average California oarsman is 6-2½ tall, 185 pounds, while in Washington and British Columbia, the tall timbers are seldom less than 6-5, 200.

Phil Bryson is 5-9, 158.

Are you conscious of being a little pea in a giant pod?

"Yes, the big man is the status symbol of a crew. At Washington, they won't let a man go out who is under 6 feet. Cal has a 5-11 stroke, but he has rowed for five years and went to a prep school in England. It wasn't so bad here last year. We had some other little guys. But this year our average is almost 6-2, 185."

Do you get kidded about your size?

"A little. I am the bowman, so up at Oregon State they called us the crew with a coxswain at both ends. But we beat them."

Why did you go out for crew?

"I had been a swimmer at Wilson High, but got tired of that. Two years ago, I saw the regatta at Marine Stadium, the big one in which Cal beat Washington. It was the first race I had ever seen, and I liked it. I decided then to go out the next season at State."

Had you ever rowed before?

"Only once. Mr. Archer, the Wilson swimming coach, took me out with him. I remember I had troubles. I caught a few crabs."

Crabs? Did they get in the boat?

"Catching crabs is the expression for rowing poorly. It's when your oar goes dead and you lose the stroke."

Have other members of the Long Beach State crew had more experience than you?

"No, most of them are new at it like me. None of us are physical education majors. Of our eight, we have three pre-med students, one physics, one math, one architecture and two engineers. I am studying civil engineering. Most of us are castoffs who didn't like their other sports, but wanted to continue in sports."

What is the status of the crew on campus?

"We are a varsity sport now. I think the students like us, but I'm not sure of the athletic department. On our last trip to Oregon, the school senate voted to give us $500 for traveling expenses. We chipped in $15 apiece, and Coach Lockyer took care of what was left. He always does."

Do you think crew members should get athletic scholarships?

"It might help and it might not. We do our own recruiting. It might help us get some guys, but it could take away some of the pioneer spirit. We need that."

Rowing is one of the most physically demanding of all sports. What satisfaction do you obtain from it?

"Its hard to put into words. You have to feel it. If the boat sits right and everyone swings together, you can feel the swing and glide. It gives you a lift. And one who stays out for crew must be dedicated and love it."

Do you feel that the accent on teamwork in rowing negates your individuality?

"No, I like it. We have no stars. No one is better than the rest. During a race, the coxswain never calls us by names, only the number of our oars. I am No. 1. In that way, we all belong to the boat. But we do know that if one person doesn't pull or tires, the whole boat suffers. We know we must win together or not at all."

Are you going to win the big regatta? (The Western Intercollegiate Rowing Championships, the biggest regatta ever held on the Pacific Coast, with crews from Washington, British Columbia, Oregon State, Cal, Stanford, UCLA, USC, San Diego State and Loyola, is scheduled for Marine Stadium, May 19.)

"We should be a contender or you might call us a darkhorse. Cal is going to be out to get us after we beat them up there. They're really good, and so is Washington."

And if the 49ers do win the big regatta, a large share of glory will fall to small No. 1, Phil Bryson.

SWIM TITLE TO VIKES!

Long Beach City College, spurred on by a national record by Terry Humphries, came from behind to win the Southern California junior college swimming championships at Santa Ana College Saturday night.

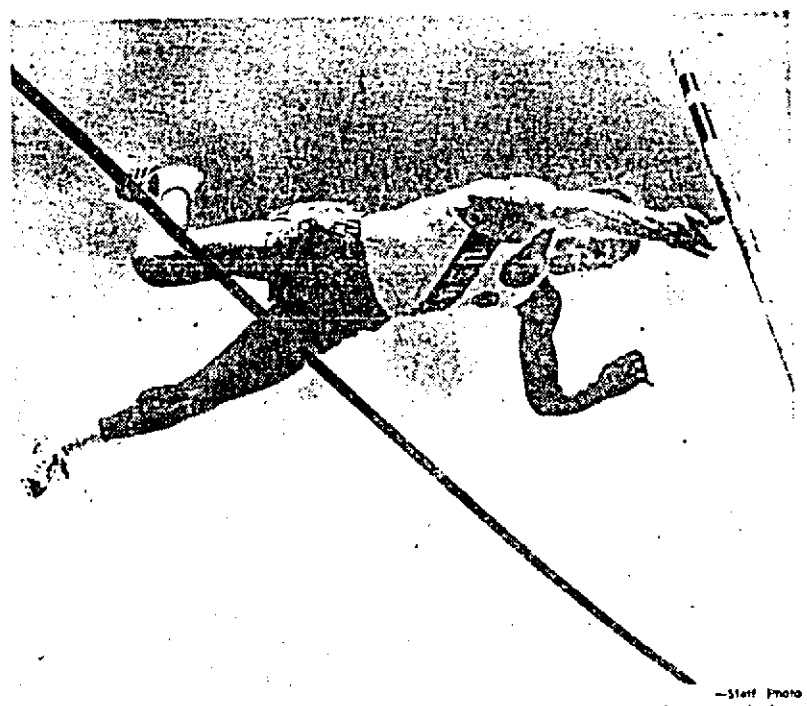

Trailing Santa Monica by one-half point through Friday, the defending state champion Vikings amassed a whopping 47 points Saturday for a grand total of 93. Santa Monica finished with 76½ points.

Long Beach won only one of the seven events Saturday but that was the one which shattered the national JC record. Humphries clocked 1:01.2 in the 100-yard breaststroke to clip two-tenths of a second off the previous mark.

Depth made the difference as the Vikes scored in five of the final seven events. Russ Robinett, Murdock Fraser, Casey Coleman, Bryant Brown, Donn King, Ed Holms, Russ Poe and Don Sutherlin all contributed to the Vike victory.

DAVE TORK of the U.S. Marines shows pole vaulting form that carried him to new world's record of 16-2 in Mt. San Antonio Relays Saturday. Here, he is clearing 15-6 in recent meet at Long Beach State College.

Grelle Joins Sub-4 Group

running out of time with 220 yards still left, but he covered the final furlough in 29.7.

The soap salesman puffed, "I didn't feel so good on the second lap, but I felt very easy and relaxed on the last one. I'm in the best condition of my life."

Igloi greeted him at the finish. Igloi's first words, accompanied by a pat on the back, were, "We'll start training hard for a better time Sunday."

Grelle's time was two-tenths faster than he ever ran before. He was voted "track athlete of the meet."

The relays were as stimulating as pep pills.

Most noteworthy was the national collegiate record mile of 3:07.5 by a band of Arizona State importees.

USC, only a few steps behind in 3:08.0, shared the old record of 3:07.6 with Abilene Christian.

Poly Qualifies 67 in Moore Spike Prelims

By DICK FULLER

As expected, Poly High showed the way in the Moore League track and field prelims on its own cinders Saturday. There were no varsity league records broken, however.

Poly qualified 26 in varsity, 22 in Bees and 19 in Cees to lead all divisions. Poly's grand total was 67, Jordan was second with 47.

Top efforts were turned in by Millikan's George Davis and Poly's George Alford. Davis ran a 1:57.2 half-mile and Alford clocked 9.8 in the 100 and 49.3 in the 440.

* * * *

WILSON'S John Yancy broad jumped 23-1½ to edge Poly's Marvin Motley (22-10½) to even their "series" at two wins each. Yancy also ran the low hurdles in the good time of 19.5.

Poly's James Miles set Bee league records in the hurdles (8.9 and 13.0) and Jordan's Tom Brosnahan tied the 100 mark of 10 flat. He also ran a wind-aided 21.5 220.

The finals are set for Poly Saturday.

Texas Southern Wins 'Only' 4 Drake Titles

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP)—Texas Southern, sensation of the Texas and Kansas Relays, was held to four titles and only two meet records were set in the chilly 53rd Drake Relays Saturday before a capacity 18,000 track fans.

In all, six marks were set and one tied in the two-day meet.

A modest 9.5 triumph in a heralded 100-yard dash was registered by Florida A&M's fleet Bob Hayes, just a little less disappointing than 16-foot pole vaulter John Uelses' also-ran performance Friday.

Texas Southern's talented squad from Houston, although failing to match its five triumphs in the Texas relays and six titles in the Kansas Relays, accounted for three Drake records.

PHILADELPHIA — New York University broke a seven-year drought and won two major titles in the Penn Relays Saturday—the sprint medley and the mile.

The Violets whipped to a 3:25.3 victory in the sprint medley, then became the first team since 1954 to break Villanova's stranglehold in the mile relay, winning in 3:12.9.

Michigan captured the 2-mile in 7:37.8, Abilene Christian took the 440 in 41.6, and Winston-Salem carted off the shuttle hurdles in 59.3.

Oregon Star Burleson in 4:02.5 Mile

EUGENE, Ore. (AP)—Dyrol Burleson, national collegiate mile champion from the University of Oregon, turned in his best effort of the year Saturday, but failed to crack the four-minute mark.

He was timed at 4:02.5 minutes as Oregon was on its way to a dual meet victory over Washington State, 98-45.

Three of Burleson's teammates were in the race to try to chase him under the four-minute mark for the fourth time in his career.

* * * *

VIC REEVE, Archie San Romani, Jr., and Keith Forman—the teammates—alternated the lead for three laps, but the pace was too slow. Burleson opened a sprint for the tape 300 yards from the end, and won by 15 to 20 yards. The lap times unofficially were 61, 61, 61 and 56.5 seconds.

The sun was out but the weather cool—54 degrees. The wind may have affected the race. A gentle three miles an hour at the start, it picked up midway in the race and was blowing 12 miles an hour as Burleson headed into it on the closing sprint.

EDMONTON TIPS COMETS FOR WL TITLE

EDMONTON (CP) — Edmonton Flyers won the Western Hockey League for a record third time Saturday night with a 4-2 victory over Spokane Comets in the seventh and deciding game of a best-of-seven series.

The Lester Patrick Trophy, emblem of the playoff championship, was presented to Flyer captain Chuck Holmes by league president Al Leader immediately after the game.

A large number of the 4,800 fans jumped to the ice and hugged and shook hands with Edmonton players.

One L.B. Winner in Trapshoot

Bob Davidson was the only Long Beach winner in first-day action in the ATA registered trapshoot at the L. B.-Dominguez Gun Club. Action resumes at 9 a.m. today.

McEwen Tops Nelson to Cop Drag Honors

Tom McEwen of Long Beach upset favored Jim Nelson of Carlsbad to win the gas eliminator title before 5,182 fans Saturday night at Lions Drag Strip. Nelson was bidding for his second win in a row.

The fuel eliminator event was won by Hank Clark of Norwalk beating Frank Cannon of Compton for the $500 purse.

Hogle Wins Ascot Sprint Car Race

Bob Hogle of Buena Park shook off Billy Cantrell on the 13th lap and went on to win the 30-lap main event sprint car race at Ascot Park Saturday night. Results:

3-lap trophy dash—Dee Jones, Bobby Unser, Frank Arms, 1:10.02.

Heat race winners—Cobb, Orr, 2:30.74; Louis Unser, 2:21.97; Cantrell, 2:21.06, Jones, 2:19.82.

Rams' Scholl Blanks Poly on Five Hits

By CHARLES HUFF

Millikan High moved into a second-place tie with Poly in the Moore baseball League as Barney Scholl blanked the Hares on five singles, 3-0, on the Ram diamond Saturday.

Both teams have 6-4-1 records and trail Lakewood (8-3) by 1½ games. Four games remain.

Scholl, whose earned run average dipped to 0.79, allowed three hits in the first inning but wasn't in serious jeopardy again until the sixth.

Millikan scored first in the sixth via a balk and added two more in the seventh on two errors and singles by Brian Stock and Mike Caldarella.

A FLOCK of millionaires are waiting for an answer from Floyd Patterson on a million dollar offer to withdraw from a scheduled title defense with Sonny Liston and instead match gloves with Archie Moore.

The $1 million guarantee was made to the heavyweight champion by Jack (Doc) Kearns after the New York State Athletic Commission had refused to issue a license to Liston.

Kearns put a condition on the offer that the match take place in San Diego, Moore's hometown, in September, "I've got a flock of millionaires ready to guarantee Patterson. We're all set if Floyd is," said Kearns.

MEANWHILE, Joe Kellman, millionaire glass manufacturer, offered to stage the Patterson-Liston bout in Chicago on one condition.

Kellman wants Patterson to contribute half his purse to a Boys Club in New York. Kellman said he would do the same for the Boys Club in Chicago.

SAN DIEGO — Stanford University scored an unexpected victory over the Long Beach State College crew here Saturday in a five-team race. It was LBSC's first loss.

Long Beach had come here with the reputation as a giant killer, having beaten the likes of Cal and Oregon State, and didn't figure to have much trouble with Stanford.

However, the Indians stroked ahead quickly and won by 15 feet in the time of 6:53 flat. State was clocked in 6:55 flat. Southern California was third, Loyola fourth and San Diego State fifth.

Stanford made it a clean sweep by winning the junior varsity and frosh races.

Contention Runs Deep in Derby

As things stand now, Sir Gaylord and Ridan probably will go postward in the Kentucky Derby next Saturday as the top two favorites.

However, the Derby shapes up as one of the most wide open affairs in years and at least a dozen colts—and perhaps the fine filly Cicada—have the qualifications to win the "Run for the Roses."

There hasn't been a field in some time in which the contention has run so deep. In addition to Sir Gaylord, Ridan and possibly Cicada, the other leading contenders are Sunrise County, Decidely, Royal Attack, Donut King, Sir Ribot, Admiral's Voyage, Roman Line, Prego, Endymion and possibly Crimson Satan.

Because of the deep contention, is this year's band of 3-year-olds a vintage crop?

It was thought so for awhile and may yet prove to be, but the consensus at the present time is that it will turn out to be a mediocre group which will take turns beating each other.

WHEN 1962 DAWNED, it was thought that it would be a "one horse year." Ridan, the undefeated 2-year-old champion of '61, appeared to be such a standout that he would win everything in sight . . . including the Triple Crown events—Kentucky Derby, Preakness and Belmont Stakes.

His potential was rated "unlimited." However, Ridan's stock took a plunge during the winter season in Florida when he found it difficult to stretch his speed over a distance of ground and suffered several setbacks.

He has steadily charged back into the Derby picture, though, and capped his preps for the classic Thursday with an impressive win in the mile and an eighth Blue Grass Stakes. It was a strong performance and he missed Round Table's track record by only a fifth of a second.

Trainer LeRoy Jolley has never given up on Ridan. He still thinks he has the best colt even though his breeding stamps him as more of a sprinter than a classic horse.

"A LOT OF PEOPLE PUT the knock on Ridan when they may not have realized how tough it is for some horses to make the transition from a series of sprint races to going a distance," Jolley says.

"It's just like asking a 100-yard dash man in track to suddenly go 440 or 880 yards. Ridan developed a sprint habit as a 2-year-old, but the more he has gone a distance this year the more he has become used to it."

On top of that, Jolley made several jockey changes in order to find the rider who best fit him going a distance. The big trouble as they tried to stretch Ridan out has been in trying to rate the headstrong colt in order to conserve some of his blazing speed for the stretch.

He finally called on Manual Ycaza and the fiery Panamanian appears to be the answer to the problem. He has been rating the colt perfectly in his last few outings.

MEANWHILE, SIR GAYLORD appeared headed for a certain sweep of the Triple crown following three stakes wins in Florida over fields that included Ridan. But an ankle injury interrupted his training.

There was some doubt in the minds of veteran turf observers that Sir Gaylord could come back in time for the Derby . . . not even when he reeled off an excellent 2:03⅗ work over the classic distance of a mile and a quarter last week.

However, after his smashing victory in Saturday's Stepping Stone purse, there is no longer any doubt that he is fit.

He won easily over Sir Ribot at seven furlongs in near-track record time and then finished out a mile and a quarter in a blistering 2:02⅕.

With Sir Gaylord apparently all right, Chenery likely will not start the filly Cicada. Although she has shown she can hold her own with the colts, he doesn't want her to run against them in such tough races as the Derby at this time.

Sunrise County is a definite threat . . . if he can stay on a straight course. He's the most erratic runner of them all and twice has been disqualified after winning such stakes as the Flamingo and last week's Wood Memorial.

SIR RIBOT MAY BE the best of the bunch that campaigned this winter in California. A "green" runner, he has great potential. A broken bone in his foot sidelined him last summer and he is just now starting to come on.

Another "darkhorse" California is Donut King. A ruptured blood vessel in his knee and then an infected heel caused him to get a late start in preparing for the Derby, but he is building up to a smasher. He must get a fast track, though. He hates mud.

Decidely, son of Derby winner Determine, appears to love a distance. He has a tremendous lick in the stretch, but he, too, is behind in his training after suffering from colic.

Royal Attack, winner of the Santa Anita Derby, is royally bred and must not be overlooked even though he has progressed slowly since his big win.

The best colt of 1962 could be one sitting out the Derby. He is Jaipur. His training was delayed so long that his handlers decided not to start him until the Preakness and Belmont.

SAM SNEAD . . . Still Nifty at 50

Snead, Palmer in Spotlight as TC Golf Starts Thursday

By JERRY WYNN

Man to man, it's Sam Snead vs. Arnold Palmer this week in the $55,000 Tournament of Champions at Las Vegas.

Although the 10th renewal of the famed Desert Inn golfest, Thursday through Sunday, has drawn a record field of 28, the spotlight will be focused on only Snead, the venerable defending champion, and Palmer, the mighty champion of champions.

Snead hit the $10,000 silver dollar jackpot last year with a maximum of artistry and a minimum of effort. He shot 68-67-69-69 for a 15-under par total of 273 and a yawning seven-stroke margin over the field.

Now just a few months shy of his 50th birthday, the old Slammer appears as formidable a title threat as ever during his near-legendary 25-year tournament career. He has the long game to scoff at the 7,200 yards of Desert Inn greenery, the strong game to withstand the winds that normally buffet the scenery, and the putting game to conquer swift greens known for their meanery.

What more can be said of Palmer than he proved again in the Masters that he is the king of golfdom. However, Palmer, like Snead before last year, never came to the fore at Las Vegas. Last year, he trailed Snead by 23 shots with a 296 that put him fourth from the bottom.

The oddsmakers are forgetting last year, and have installed the Pennsylvania Powerhouse a 6-1 favorite. Snead, strangely, is only 12-1 and rated behind three-time champion Gene Littler (8-1) and Billy Casper (10-1).

This is the year of upheaval in the tournament, which is limited to winners of major PGA events.

Entered are a rash of newcomers—Phil Rodgers, Butch Baird, Joe Campbell, Jack Cupit, George Knudson, Dave Marr, Bob McCallister, Gay Brewer.

Missing are a host of familiar stars—Art Wall, Ken Venturi, Gary Player, Tommy Bolt, Dow Finsterwald, Bob Rosburg.

Only four members of the original TC cast of 1953 are returning — Jerry Barber, Cary Middlecoff, Earl Stewart and Snead. Jackie Burke should have been a fifth, but he—a staunch foe of mixing gambling with golf in any proportion—turned down an invitation.

If one man deserved an entry, it was dapper Doug Sanders. He won six tourneys to qualify six times. And who would have bet on the chances of Sanders against the likes of Venturi and Wall a few years ago?

The tournament will be preceded by an exhibition Wednesday in which Snead will play with Phil Harris and two other celebrities to set a standard score for Amos Alonzo Stagg national golf day later this year. A fund is being established to fete Stagg on his 100th birthday this August.

As always, all proceeds from the tournament proper will benefit the Damon Runyan Cancer Fund.

Campbell Maintains Slim Lead

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—Joe Campbell shot a 2-under-par 69 Saturday to hold onto his lead in the $30,000 Texas Open with 204 for 54 holes as favorite Arnold Palmer fell two strokes back with a 70.

Campbell, the cigar-smoking blond from Pendleton, Ind., finished last in the same threesome with Palmer and Gene Littler, the National Open champion. The latter missed a chance to tie for the lead on the 18th green when he failed on a short putt.

Littler had a 68 that tied him for second place with the onrushing Doug Sanders, who swept over the 6,616-yard Oak Hills Country Club course with a five-under-par 66.

Winds Vicious at Crowley Lake

CROWLEY LAKE — Terrific winds almost whipped out the opening of trout season here and at other places in the Sierra Nevadas Saturday. The wind, which started Friday noon, kept anglers off all lakes until 11 a.m. Saturday.

Fishermen who towed boats from Long Beach and Los Angeles Basin were terribly disappointed but the Los Angeles Department of Recreation and Parks had to close Crowley for safety reasons.

Once Crowley was opened, more than 10,000 anglers took to the water. Two thousand others already were fishing from shore. A total of 2,504 boats, rental and private, were admitted to the lake.

The largest fish was taken from shore by an Anaheim boy, Terry Foster, 12, who resides at 847 Bellevue Road. He boated a brown trout of eight and three-quarter pounds.

Lester Watt of Torrance had the second highest fish, also a brown trout, of seven and one-quarter pounds.

CROWLEY LAKE'S OPENING ALWAYS is a three-ring circus, a sort of World Series of Fishing in advance of the full season, and this year's first day was no exception.

Strangers to California may wonder why Crowley Lake is so famous. Actually, it's not beautiful when compared to other lakes in this area. It's shores are more barren than most any other lakes at this elevation.

Lakes such as Mary, George, Mamie, Arrowhead and Twins in the Mammoth group are situated in the thickest of forests and offer splendid campgrounds, as well as numerous resorts.

Crowley, on the other hand, is in the middle of Long Valley, with few trees around it. No camping is allowed by the Los Angeles Department of Recreation and Parks, which operates the concession.

Few persons would want to camp on its shores any way, particularly at the time of year when the slightest breeze can blow through sixteen layers of canvas and send chills up and down your spine.

So then, what has Crowley got that other lakes have not?

THE ANSWER IS SIMPLE: FISH! Thousands of fish! Fish that grow like no other fish in the Sierra Nevada! One never knows what he will catch when he tosses a baited hook into Crowley. What he does know is that when he gets a strike, the fish, if landed, will go a pound or better. That's the main reason for the seven-fish limit here. Those fish must not weigh more than 10 pounds and one fish. But you can take three fish, regardless of size.

It's impossible to predict Sunday's total catch, so a comparison with the two opening days last year can not be made until later this week. In 1961, a record number of anglers took 72,144 trout. The average weight was one and one-eighth pounds; the total weight 401½ tons. That gives you a rough idea of what makes Crowley great.

What makes Crowley so good? The food in the lake. After the Owens River was dammed more than 20 years ago, biologists discovered that fish were growing faster in Crowley than anybody had ever thought to be possible, so they suggested a great planting program.

The LADR&P went along with the idea and thus was born the biggest fishing circus in the west, if not in the nation. The lake's season is purposely kept short —April 28 to July 31 this year—to preserve and maintain adequate fish life.

TO GIVE YOU AN IDEA of the fish which were planted in this lake after last year's close (July 31), we dug up the totals that follow: 411,592 subcatchable rainbow trout (survivors of that group weigh more than a pound each); 183,760 cutthroat trout (planted in 1960 as fingerlings; 66,000 eastern brook fingerlings (1960); 14,500 rainbow fingerlings (1960) and 100,000 Kamloops strain of rainbow trout.

In addition to those fish, the lake naturally has a holdover of fish from year to year. There are natural brown trout in the lake and those continue to propagate from year to year. I wouldn't be surprised to learn there are brown trout longer than a man's leg, but, indeed, it would be a most remarkable thing if somebody caught one.

If you never have fished Crowley and are planning a trip into this region of the Sierra Nevada between now and July 31, by all means make it a point to stop here for a day or more. There are plenty of campgrounds in the surrounding area, plus resorts from the rustic mountain type to the de luxe motels.

Weekend boat reservations are necessary for almost any time between now and Crowley's close, but arrangements may be made by writing to the L. A. Recreation and Park Department, 305 City Hall, Los Angeles 12. Rental rowboats and inboard motorboats are available.

LARGEST DOUBLE IN TANFO HISTORY

SAN BRUNO (AP)—Corolla scored a length and three-quarter victory over the favored Can't Sleep in the $11,000 Hillsborough Handicap Saturday at Tanforan — but the big news was a whopping $2,253.20 daily double.

It was the largest double in the track's history and topped the 1931 mark of $2,171.50.

AMBIOPOISE WINS

Sir Gaylord Nabs Derby Prep Easily

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Sir Gaylord wiped out all doubt about his fitness for the Kentucky Derby as he scored a smashing victory over three other Derby eligibles in the Stepping Stone Purse at Churchill Downs Saturday.

The Future Book favorite for the Derby, Sir Gaylord won by 1¾ lengths over Sir Ribot but was much the best. Green Hornet finished third.

Ridden by Ismael Valenzuela, Sir Gaylord laid in third and fourth places through most of the seven-furlong event and didn't make his move until the turn into the stretch.

Sir Gaylord then worked out the Kentucky Derby distance of a mile and a quarter in 2:02 3/5. His time for the Stepping Stone was 1:22 2/5, two-fifths of a second off the track record.

NEW YORK (AP)—Robert Lehman's Amhiopoise upset the favored Carry Back Saturday at Aqueduct, taking the lead near the eighth pole and winning the $85,800 Grey Lag Handicap by 2½ lengths.

Ridden by Bobby Ussery, the winner carried 115 pounds and paid $33.70, $9.90 and $6.20. Carry Back, toting top weight of 125 pounds and with Manuel Ycaza up, returned $3.40 and $2.80 after starting the even money favorite, Larry Adams rode Beau Prince, who had 115 pounds and was $10.80 to show.

The time on a fast track for 1⅛ miles was 1:49.

RUNDOWN

Long Beach — Former world champions on crusade to regain title . . . Boast great pitching with Jack Randell and Eddie Waymire . . . Fine hitting power and excellent defense.

Paramount — Led by Don Sarno and Ed Dewey, two of the greatest strikeout pitchers in softball . . . Good defense and balance, but short on hitting.

San Pedro — Defending champion . . . Outstanding balance . . . Ralph Sanguster may be league's best catcher . . . In need of pitcher to supplement George Pearsen.

Gardena — Former Huntington Park team. Bob Amyx and Richie Guy crown representing Escondido . . . Sharp pitching from R. G. Buncher but not much power to back him.

Oxnard — Touted to be one of best all-around players in pitching and hitting star Jack Newman . . . Team won't score much.

Lakewood — Suffered tremendous loss when Dewey went to Paramount . . . Ron Teaster and Bill Potts must carry pitching load . . . Ralph Sanguster Jr. and brother Gary will aid defensively.

Randall Carries Hopes of Hawks as Season Opens

By RAY CUNNINGHAM

Jack Randall is a practical man. No crystal ball for him. He uses a little, black handball.

And with it he could determine the outcome of the 1962 softball season which opens this week.

The great pitcher rifled the Long Beach Nitehawks to seven world championships, but when his arm went out last year so did the Hawks.

It has taken persistent drills on the handball court to get the wing flipping again, and now the Cerritos College math professor is as good as new.

The rejuvenation may mean that Joe Rodgers' Hawks could dethrone San Pedro as Western Softball Congress kingpin and once more make a move to the world title.

• • • •

THE NITEHAWKS begin their campaign Friday night at 8:30 at Park Ave. Field against Pomona. They go to Vista Saturday night and then play at San Pedro next Sunday night.

The Nitehawks will be stronger than last year. Magnificent southpaw Eddie Waymire, a 21-game winner, will team up with Randall. All-time all-America, Stan White has rejoined the team as a coach and will be a valuable aid to catchers Red Meairs, Corty Van Dyk and Art McCary.

The infield will have Larry Silvas, Cleo Goyette, Clint Herron and Nick Hopkins. The outfield has Roger Hull, Paul Peterson and Rickey Matis.

It looks as though the only newcomer who will make the Hawks is lefthanded pitcher-outfielder Carl Harris from Seattle.

Paramount and San Pedro loom as the Hawks' chief rivals. Lakewood strikeout star Ed Dewey has joined Paramount and should provide a strong combo with whiff champ Don Sarno.

Doug Ballard's San Pedro squad will be as tough as ever and is headed by one of softball's better batteries in George Pearson and Ralph Sangster. Dale Leach, Ben Breskovich and Ben Souders are outstanding hitters.

Of all the teams in the loop, Lakewood faces the most rugged task. It was a crushing blow to lose Dewey, and the absence of the big boy could be too costly. Adding to that, Dewey may get the starting call when Paramount plays Lakewood Thursday night at Mayfair Park.

OSCAR GREGORY
GENERAL MANAGER AND PARTNER of GLENN JONES
CHEVROLET
INVITES YOU TO MEET OUR PARTS & SERVICE TEAM

HARRY GIER

RALPH GIBBS

Harry was born and raised in Long Beach. He graduated from Long Beach Poly High in 1942. In 1947 he began his career in the automotive field with a local Chevrolet dealer. In 1950 Harry joined the Glenn Jones organization and soon climbed to the head of our Parts Department. In nine years we have experienced a 250% increase in parts sales and today carry nearly $100,000 in parts and accessories.

Harry's wife, Elsie Jean, and two charming daughters are pretty proud of his success as our Parts Manager.

In passing we would like to mention that Harry is active in the Paramount Lions and Paramount Elks. He is also a Past President of the Long Beach 20-30 Club. If you haven't already, come in and meet Harry. I'm sure you will appreciate him as we do.

Ralph is a native of that great state of Texas. And, as many Texans do, he moved to California in 1958.
Ralph heads up our growing Service Department and offers 17 years of experience in and about automobile service centers. He spent a number of years as a Factory Service Representative and managed the entire service operation for a chain of dealerships in Texas.
Ralph is a Past President of the Long Beach Motor Car Dealers Parts & Service Managers Club and has written many articles published nationally on automotive service operations.
His wife, Elizabeth, and son, Stephen, who by the way is a flight instructor in Orange County, are as enthusiastic as we are about the fine job Ralph is doing as leader of our most important department. Stop by and say hello, you will be glad you did.

Customer satisfaction is responsible for our continuing growth in our service department. To take care of the added flow of business we are increasing our service hours 60% and adding a new building that will increase our service floor space 35%.
Of course, we think such success does not just happen. It is the result of quality service principles as applied by capable personnel with adequate facilities and modern equipment. It comes from the extra benefits and superior service that our personnel and facilities can deliver such as quick appraisal of customer demands, accurate testing, and complete one-stop maintenance.

STARTING MAY 1ST OUR PARTS AND SERVICE DEPTS. WILL BE OPEN DAILY TIL. 9 P.M. SAT. TIL 6 P.M. CLOSED SUNDAY

IF YOU ARE SHOPPING FOR A NEW OR USED CAR AND HAVE NOT YET VISITED GLENN JONES CHEVROLET . . . PLEASE DO SO. YOU'LL FIND A RELAXED, BUSINESS-LIKE ATMOSPHERE THAT WE FEEL YOU'LL APPRECIATE. Angels Stave Off Tigers--

for lefty Don Mossi (2-2), he received his first defeat at the wings of the Seraphs after two triumphs last year.

The Angels rapped Mossi and ex-teammate Ronnie Kline for 10 hits—seven of which were extra base blows—and all their runs over the first six innings and then left the Tigers do the stalking.

The Angels were nearly caught in their own trap.

Bowsfield, overcoming a sore shoulder by hard work on the sidelines and a series of cortisone shots, started on a minor chord, yielding two runs on three hits in the first. After that, he was pretty much in control—walking no one and fanning two.

• • • •

AFTER allowing the two tallies in the first, he yielded another in the fourth on Steve Boros' single and catcher Dick Brown's double and then retired six in a row until Chico Fernandez, a .248 batsman last season, swatted a homer to open the seventh. That narrowed the Tigers' deficit to 7-4 and Rigney decided that Bowsie was just about out of gas—if such a thing is possible in Detroit.

Tom Morgan, with a week's rest, became Hurler No. 2 and Brown rammed his first pitch for homer No. 2. When pinch-hitter Vic Wertz singled, Rigney, looking for another medicine man, brought in Ken McBride who had lasted little more than an inning as Friday evening's starter.

McBride worked Morgan out of the jam, but when he walked two men to open the eighth Jack Spring became hurler No. 3. One out later, a single by Fernandez made it 7-6 and Ryne Duren became hurler No. 4 as the crowd chanted "we want more."

• • • •

FORTUNATELY, "The Flame" was glowing. Rapid Ryne fanned Brown and Charlie Maxwell to close the eighth and then struck out Al Kaline with the tying run on first in the ninth and whiffed Rocky Colavito after balking that runner to second to end a dramatic duel with the Detroit Adonis and the game.

The Seraphs sent Mossi's ERA spiraling from 0.75 to 2.35 with a long ball attack. Doubles by Eddie Yost and Ed Sadowski, following a single by Bilko, produced two runs in the second, and Leon Wagner's sixth home run following Albie Pearson's triple and Billy Moran's single, highlighted a three-run third which sent Mossi to the showers.

Kline was touched for a run in the fourth on a double by Pearson and single by Moran, and another in the sixth on Joe Koppe's first four-bagger.

• • • •

WAGNER'S homer, his fourth in the last five games, put him 15 games ahead of Roger Maris' record 1961 pace and tied him with Norm Cash, for the league lead. Pearson, with two doubles and a triple, raised his average 35 points to .271.

Angel Angles: In his report to league owners on Joe Cronin on Friday's chukaroo with Rigney and Joe Nuxhall, Hurler said he elected Nuxhall for the throwing a ball into the stands after umpire Ed Runge had fined him $50 for throwing at Norm Cash. That is not true. Hurler had tossed Joe out long before the ball was hurled into the stands. . . That was Nuxhall's last irate gesture before leaving the field. . . Sadowski's start was his first of the year. . . Rumors have the Tigers in need of a catcher. . . Earl Averill was put in the showcase Friday night. . . With his homer and double, Brown pretty well quenched those rumors. . . The Angels have hit four home runs in the two games here. . . They hit only four in nine games at Chavez Ravine. . . Gene Autry and Rocky Bridges were honored at the 21st annual Capuchin Fathers' Baseball Dinner. . . President Bea Reynolds flew in for the occasion.

Templeman in First Trial Spin for Indy '500'

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (UPI) — Practice for the 46th annual 500-mile Memorial Day auto race opened under threatening skies Saturday.

For the second consecutive year, veteran Clark (Shorty) Templeman, Seattle, Wash., was the first driver making a shakedown cruise around the 2½-mile oval under restricted speeds.

Templeman, fourth in last year's race, drove a new red and white four-cylinder roadster.

the sixth when one of three Pirate errors produced an unearned run. With two out, John Roseboro singled and scored from first base on Logan's wild throw. It was a two-base error for Logan, although first baseman Dick Stuart was partly responsible for the damage.

• • • •

STUART FAILED even to block Logan's low throw and the ball bounded to the edge of the grass. While Roseboro scored, Daryl Spencer advanced to second and set up the second intentional walk by Francis. Willie Davis accepted the free ticket and Koufax was called out on strikes to end the inning.

Francis and the Pirate strategy were at their best in the third inning, which began with singles by Koufax and Maury Wills. Trying to catch Koufax napping at second base, Francis instead caught shortstop Dick Groat. His pickoff throw hit Groat on the forehead and both runners advanced.

Francis now was confronted by three lefthanded batters in a row with first base open. What to do? He struck out Jim Gilliam and Wally Moon, both on low pitches, then elected to walk Duke Snider. No one could question the strategy after T. Davis fanned.

The winning rally began when Moon beat out a scratch hit off second baseman Bill Mazeroski's glove and advanced as Snider grounded out for the second out. Third base coach Leo Durocher called T. Davis aside to calm him and Tommy responded by grounding the game-winning hit between third and short.

DIS AND DATA—Koufax struck out six to bring his career total to 999 in 969 innings. . . Francis fanned in his first consecutive game in 16 NL starts. . . His only win in four decisions against the Dodgers was at Koufax's expense last June 29. . . Friday's opening game of the set was formed by W. Davis, who played Shorts. 390-foot drive with his back to the wall in the sixth inning. . . Most unusual assist of the year was credited to T. . . , who muffed a roller by Climber, but in so doing deflected the ball to Moon at first base.

Dodgers left 12 men on base, seven in scoring position. . . Don Hoak again was ejected. . . The Bucs' third baseman has a thick pulse in the morning.

ELECTRONIC DIV.
MEN & WOMEN LEARN
ELECTRONIC ASSEMBLY!
Wiring, Soldering, Lacing, Color Codes & Schematics
ELECTRONIC TECHNICIANS—Theory & instruments.
"Many other phases thorough qualifying for the ungrateful & well paying Electronics industry in many capacities."

IBM KEYPUNCH DIV.
"A most promising type of work with expert trainees in great demand. Slightly on the glamour side, this field includes keypunch, 024, 026 & 056 Verifier training."

PBX SWITCHBOARD
"The executive who has a well-trained receptionist can count himself lucky, indeed.
"PBX receptionists are not only thoroughly trained on live boards as operators, but are also given lessons in diction, charm, poise, grooming.
"Girls you never need to let your personality rest, if you are well trained"

MARKETING DIVISION
MEN & WOMEN
"Judgment and wisdom come from experience! This exciting field offers many opportunities for young men & women as cashiers, checkers, clerks & stockmen in the fast growing Food & Drug Industries.

OFFSET PRINTING
"This is a highly specialized course and requires on the average 3 to 4 months for completion. Learn Masking, Stripping, Camera, Plate Making & complete operation of presses.

INDUSTRIAL DRAFTING
Course which covers short cuts required by modern industry. This takes 12 to 18 weeks for completion.

THE CAREER STORY
"Our expert staff of experienced instructors with practical background are qualified to train you. The success of West Coast Trade Schools depends, of course, on the success of West Coast Trade School Graduates. Building successful careers is our business. Electronic Technicians
Development Lab

Interstate Electronics located in Orange County needs technicians to assist in prototype and production test work on our custom built electronics systems equipment.

A corporation of approximately 800 people has both prime and subcontracts and offers a diversified volume of work.

Qualified applicants can expect top salary which will equal if not exceed the going rate for Technicians in the greater Los Angeles area.

Technician 'A'

- 3 years minimum experience plus 2 years technical school.
- Must have 1 year's recent digital experience.

U.S. CITIZENSHIP REQUIRED

Interstate's product is a wide variety of digital type range instrumentation. The activity in the lab involves:

- Prototype building
- Product test and evaluation
- Trouble shooting
- Engineering assistance

The company's employee benefits and operating attitude are designed to make IEC a better place to work, with congenial and professional atmosphere.

FAMOUS FRANCHISE GRANT
NOW GUARANTEES SUCCESS
With Refundable Investment

QUALIFY yourself for one of the country's most highly coveted paint franchises. Operate your franchise in conjunction with another business on a departmental basis or establish a new career in retail selling by opening a new retail branch in this area. Immediate profits are a certainty through a unique advertising promotion, featuring a

FREE PAINT OFFER

Mary Carter Paint Co., one of the country's fastest growing paint manufacturers, offers these franchises with a sensational sales background. Over 700 retail branches in 30 states are now in operation. Demands for these franchises throughout the country are due largely to exceptional dealer benefits, such as: CASH AND CARRY RETAIL BUSINESS—STOCK TURNOVER IN EXCESS OF 10 TIMES PER YEAR—FREE DELIVERY SERVICE—EXCLUSIVE FRANCHISE GRANT—INVESTMENT REFUNDABLE—ORGANIZED SALES AND SERVICE PROGRAM—SPECIAL ADVERTISING AND MERCHANDISING PROGRAM THAT CREATES IMMEDIATE HEAVY CUSTOMER TRAFFIC—NO FRANCHISE FEE OR ROYALTY ON SALES—COMPLETE TRAINING PROGRAM ON THE SELLING OF MARY CARTER PRODUCTS. These dealer benefits help to guarantee your success and is one of the main reasons why Mary Carter franchises are under constant demand. This can best be illustrated by the fact that the majority of the trade areas throughout the United States have already been franchised. Your refundable investment amounts to $5,000 for inventory and $2,000 for operating capital. In some cases a lesser investment is possible.

This is an opportunity for you to own your own business with a guarantee of success. This may be the most important decision of your lifetime.

WHY YOU SHOULD LIST YOUR HOME FOR SALE WITH WALKER & LEE, INC.

It is natural for any salesman to think that the company he works for is the best company in its field. If he did not feel that way, he would be working for another company. However, we feel that Walker & Lee offers many advantages to the person interested in selling his home that the average broker cannot offer. Here are some of them:

1. LARGER SALES FORCE: Walker & Lee have 60 trained salesmen in the Lakewood-Los Altos area working exclusively on selling Residential homes.
2. MORE ADVERTISING: Walker & Lee does more advertising in the local and Los Angeles papers than any other Broker in this area. In addition it has developed a system of advertising over the years that brings results — based on past experience. (See our big Ad today in this section.)
3. SECOND TIME CUSTOMERS: During the last 18 years, Walker & Lee have sold over 40,000 homes to people living in the Long Beach and Orange County areas. It is natural for many of these people to see us first when buying another home.
4. REFERRALS FROM OTHER WALKER & LEE SALESMEN: With over 200 salesmen working in the six Long Beach offices and Orange County area, we are constantly getting customers referred to our office by salesmen who have customers who for one reason or another cannot or do not wish to buy a home in the immediate area where that particular salesman is working. The salesman then refers the customer to our office.
5. INDIVIDUAL SALES CONTROL MANUAL: Over the years Walker & Lee has developed a sales system which keeps you completely up to date on the progress being made on your sale of your home. You are kept informed of how many times your home is being shown, what the prospective customers are saying about it, and the price opinions of Walker & Lee and other salesmen in the area.
6. TRADE-INS: We have developed a workable system of trading homes whereby if you are interested in purchasing another home, we can take your home in on trade on the new one of your choice. Even if you are not interested in buying another home, this benefits you in selling your home because it enables us to sell your home to that buyer who has to sell his other home first.
7. FINANCING: Walker & Lee makes available to any buyer the best and latest methods of financing the sale of your home through first and second trust deeds and in some cases actually helping the buyer finance his down payment.
8. OUR SALESMEN: The secret of any selling organization is in its salesmen. Walker & Lee has a staff whose main objective is to find and train outstanding salesmen and keep them up to date in the best and latest methods of finding buyers and placing them in homes in this area.
9. WHAT'S IN A NAME? Because of its 15 Resale offices and over 40 New House and Tract subdivisions that Walker & Lee is currently operating, they are one of the best known names in the real estate field in Southern California. Because of the every day appearance of the Walker & Lee name before the general public, it is only natural for many home buyers to contact their local Walker & Lee office when seeking a home.

Last but not least, it will be our sincere and conscientious effort to give you absolutely the best service obtainable in finding a new buyer for your home and we will greatly appreciate the opportunity of being of service to you.

LOOKING FOR A HOME?

"I told you the man to see is from WALKER & LEE!"

GRASS HUTS?

We haven't sold any split level grass huts lately, but we can find one if you insist. Whatever you want, we probably already have it waiting for you. If we don't have—it won't take us long to find it. For your expert home finder . . . "the man to see is from Walker & Lee."

Here is a choice selection of 12 homes from 450 of our exclusive listings.

ROSSMOOR

BRITTANY GARDENS — 4 BEDROOMS AND FAMILY ROOM—Acrilan wall-to-wall, drapes and curtains, built-in range, oven and dishwasher, forced air, block wall fence, extra large garage. Nicely landscaped. Lovely neighborhood. Try $4,000 down. Owner will help finance. Call GE 3-7493—2060 Bellflower Blvd.—open evenings.

TO THE YOUNG IN HEART—We have a new listing on a beautiful El Dorado model with one extra den, carpets and drapes, slate entry and built-in kitchen. We invite your inquiry. Full price only $29,500 and terms to suit you. Hwy. 101 and Anaheim—GE 4-7426—open evenings.

IMMEDIATE POSSESSION! SUBMIT $3,000 DOWN on this big 3-bedroom and family room home loaded with extras. All matching appliances include washer, dryer, range, oven, dishwasher and refrigerator. Plus carpets, drapes, electric eye garage door opener and beautiful landscaping. Just listed and owner wants fast action. Call HA 9-5924 —Key at 3010 Woodruff Ave.

LOS ALTOS

3 BEDROOMS AND FAMILY ROOM — $2,900 DOWN—1¾ baths, fireplace, forced air, wall-to-wall carpets, drapes and curtains, covered patio, block wall fence, sprinklers front and rear. Newly painted inside and out. Choice neighborhood. Near schools and shopping. Call GE 3-7493—2060 Bellflower Blvd.—open evenings.

LAKEWOOD

PAINT A LITTLE—SWIM A LITTLE—You and the family can enjoy redecorating this 3-bedroom home with 15x30 pool. Walking distance to the May Co. with a price of $17,000, think of the money you will save! Call HA 5-1214 or come to 4100 Bellflower Blvd.

POOL HOME—JUST $16,500—This needs sharpening up but where can you match it for price and terms. This "Blue Haven" pool will bring you countless hours of enjoyment, 3 bedrooms too, so everyone can have one of their own. So if you don't mind sweating a little to fix it up you can then swim a lot. Call HA 9-5924—Key at 3010 Woodruff Ave.

WALK TO MAY CO.! JUST LISTED—2 and den or 3-bedroom home. Sink into lush carpets while entranced with the latest in modern decor and good taste. Huge patio slab with plumbing and electric lines all installed ready to be enclosed. Just $14,300 and you'll have first choice by calling HA 1-1211—Key at 5549 Woodruff Ave.

WORLD WAR II VETS—LAST CHANCE before your loan rights run out in July. This 3-bedroom, 2-bath home with rear living room and sliding glass door to covered patio is a top buy. Major shops and schools just a 5-minute walk. Your total payment including taxes with nothing down is less than you could rent it for. Call HA 1-1211 — Key at 5549 Woodruff Ave.

PLAZA AREA

SMART MODERN HOME—AIR CONDITIONED — Big 3-bedroom, 1¾ baths with floor-to-ceiling glass from living room and master bedroom suite overlooking the patio. Birch kitchen with built-ins and forced air heat. A real find at $19,950. Call HA 5-1214 or come to 4100 Bellflower Blvd.

"HAWAII BOUND" — Navy Commander transferred to "Alohaville." Must sell 3-bedroom and den home with pool. Covered patio for entertaining poolside. Forced air heat, fireplace, 2 baths, built-in range. $21,500 at $3,000 down! Come to 2265 Palo Verde or call GE 9-2134.

LAKEWOOD VILLAGE

A SWEETIE PIE KITCHEN—With golden ash cabinets, colorful formica drain boards, hood with exhaust fan, push back electric burners and oven. Two bedrooms and den located on a tree-lined street just a short walk from shopping, transportation and schools. Come to 2265 Palo Verde or call GE 9-2134.

ATTENTION GI

STOP IN TODAY AND WE WILL HELP YOU—Get your eligibility so that you can buy this nice 3-bedroom, 2-bath home with no down payment and only $100.21 per mo., including taxes and insurance. Key at Hwy. 101 and Anaheim, GE 4-7426 —open evenings.

MAY WE REMIND YOU:

. . . that, if one of the above homes does not fit your needs, one of the other 450 will. Call the Walker & Lee office nearest you.

Wife of Tourist Slain in Mexico Learns of Death

CECILLE ARNOLD

WAYNE ARNOLD

SAN DIEGO (UPI) — The blonde wife of a free-spending Canadian tourist learned for the first time Saturday her husband was slain in neighboring Tijuana while she waited in a hotel here for him to return from his "shopping trip."

Pretty Cecille Arnold, 20, who wed Canadian heir Wayne Arnold, Vancouver, B.C., last year, said she heard a radio report Saturday that a "tourist" had been slain in Tijuana. She didn't learn Arnold was stabbed fatally Thursday night until a saleswoman, Mrs. Lucy Lara, and a fellow resident of the hotel where she was staying broke the news Saturday afternoon.

• • • •

MRS. ARNOLD, insisting she had no idea police had been looking for her since Thursday to tell her what had happened, conceded she had begun to worry Friday. "I didn't sleep well the nights he was away and I prayed for him," she said. "I had a feeling last night . . ."

Ramon Flores Figueroa, a Tijuana taxidriver, admitted he killed Arnold but said he did it in self-defense. He claimed Arnold asked him for a "shot of narcotics."

"My husband had nothing to do with narcotics," said Mrs. Arnold, who told newsmen she and her husband were sweethearts from the age of 14. "Wayne was an ideal husband. I loved him and he loved me."

Mrs. Arnold said that on Thursday, her husband took a bus to Tijuana, leaving her $125 for expenses. He took $300 or $400, she said.

The couple departed from Vancouver April 20.

With exception of a shopping trip, Mrs. Arnold said, she spent most of the time in the hotel.

"Mrs. Arnold said she stayed in the hotel, didn't read newspapers, listen to the radio or watch television," said Lt. William Schenck. "We have no reason to doubt her story. She is a young girl in a strange city."

• • • •

ARNOLD TOLD his wife he was going to "buy her a purse and some other things," police said.

Another resident of the hotel recognized Mrs. Arnold and notified authorities who questioned her Saturday afternoon.

Mexico authorities Saturday agreed to release the body after some delay over confirmation of the identity. The British Consulate in Los Angeles had sought for more than a day to obtain the release.

Arnold inherited $100,000 last June and has spent $59,000 since that time, attorney David Chertlow said in Vancouver. Arnold married in July.

Chertlow said he had warned Arnold about his high living, and said "you will wind up dead if you go on like you are, probably knifed in some alley."

Khrushchev Greets Cuban Delegation

MOSCOW (AP) — Premier Khrushchev received Saturday a Cuban delegation which has arrived for May Day celebrations.

Tass said Khrushchev wished Osmany Cienfuegos and Joaquin Ordoqui, members of Cuba's integrated revolutionary organizations, "new successes in their heroic struggle."

Dick Eats With Liz, Then Sybil

ROME (UPI) — Actor Richard Burton went home for dinner with his wife Saturday night after an intimate seaside lunch with Elizabeth Taylor.

It was the latest chapter

Profile Story of Richard Burton Is on B-6

in the game of "Burton, Burton, who's got the Burton."

During Burton's lunch with Miss Taylor at Anzio, his English wife Sybil stayed home with their 4-year-old daughter Kate.

• • • •

TONIGHT, friends of the couple said, Burton and Sybil had a light supper at their villa, "seeking to work things out calmly and quietly." They did not elaborate.

Walter Wanger, producer of the movie Cleopatra in which Burton and Miss Taylor star, joined the Burtons for an "animated" after-dinner discussion, the friends said.

Several hundred yards from Burton's Old Appian Way villa, Miss Taylor was said to be spending a quiet Saturday night at home in the $3,000 a month villa she used to share with her estranged husband, singer Eddie Fisher.

• • • •

PHOTOGRAPHERS and newsmen watched Rome's nightspots for Miss Taylor or Burton, but by midnight neither had appeared.

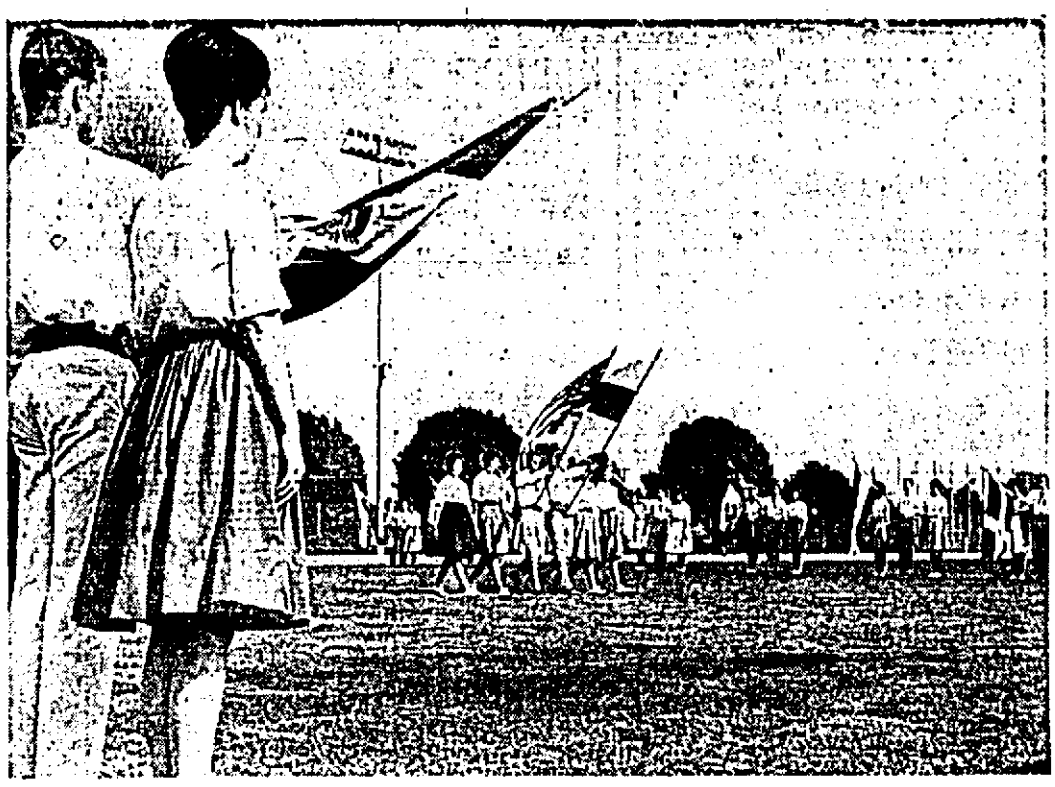

Liz stayed home Friday and nursed her bruised nose and cheek while Burton made an unexpected appearance in public with Sybil who had flown in from London, apparently to look into reports of the Taylor-Burton idyll.

Miss Taylor looked happy and unworried at the intimate seaside lunch at a restaurant near the $2 million movie set where she and Burton lunched earlier this week. They chatted with great animation while three of her children by former husbands lunched on the set itself.

Burbank Man Tops Navy Law Students

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — The Naval Academy announced Saturday Midshipman William C. Miller of Burbank, Calif., will receive the American Bar Association award as the senior who stands highest for the course in military law.

Miller, a graduate of Bellarmine-Jefferson High School in Burbank in 1958, has been named to the superintendent's list for honor students all four years and will be commissioned an ensign in the Navy at June graduation exercises.

PANAMA, U.S. FLAGS GO BY IN PAN AMERICAN CEREMONY IN LAKEWOOD SATURDAY

Savant Says Body Repairs Ray Damage

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — A government scientist disagreed Saturday with the belief that harmful effects from radiation accumulate in the human body over the years.

William L. Russell, principal geneticist at the biology division of the Oak Ridge National Laboratory, said latest experiments with mice indicate the body can repair radiation damage naturally if the initial exposure was not too great.

Russell told the closing session of the American Philosophical Society meeting that the experiments showed "for the reproductive cell stages most involved in hazards, a given dose of radiation spread over hours or weeks produces fewer mutations than does the same dose delivered in a few minutes.

"This upset a long-held tenent of radiation genetics. It indicates that at low radiation dose rates, some natural repair can take place, presumably before the initial radiation damage in the cell is converted into a completed mutation."

Russell said the studies also showed female mice were more sensitive to immediate and acute doses of radiation than males, but the males appeared to be more sensitive to prolonged exposure.

Lake Trestle Burns

PROMONTORY POINT, Utah (UPI)—A pre-dawn fire destroyed a portion of the historic Southern Pacific trestle that spans the Great Salt Lake Saturday, but the blaze was reported under control.

Parade to Climax Lakewood Fete

A steady stream of high-stepping majorettes, marching bands, precision drill teams and prancing horses will strut along two miles of streets in Lakewood's big Pan American Parade, starting at 2:30 p.m. today.

The 1½-hour-long parade, concluding event of the Lakewood's week-long Latin festival, will present 122 units in five divisions. A delayed TV showing of the parade is scheduled from 5 to 6:30 p.m. on Channel 11.

Grand marshal will be De-Lesseps S. Morrison, United States ambassador to the Organization of American States. Consular representatives of the Latin American republics will ride in convertibles.

The parade line of march will start down Bellflower Boulevard from South Street to Del Amo Boulevard, turn west on Del Amo to Faculty Avenue, and then north into the Lakewood Center disbanding area.

Rear Adm. W. H. Baumberger, USN, commander of Cruiser - Destroyer Flotilla Three, will review the parade, units from judging stands on Bellflower at Hardwick Street.

Truman Blasts Capehart at Indiana Demo Dinner

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (UPI)—Former President Harry Truman got the November senatorial campaign in Indiana off to an early start Saturday with a bare-knuckle assault on Republican Senator Homer Capehart.

Capehart hasn't been renominated yet, although he is certain of the nomination in June and the Hoosier Democrats are currently battling over their nominee.

At the Indiana Jefferson-Jackson dinner here Truman called Capehart "the Republican opportunist in whose hands the happy and honorable art of politics has become a dismal science.

"He is cunning and he is clever, but I challenge you to name for me one single measure bearing his name that offers any comfort and hope for working people or their families, for the aged, the underprivileged or the unemployed."

N. Y. Law Demands Seat Belts for 1965

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — All new automobiles registered in New York State beginning with the 1965 model year must have two sets of seat belts in the front seat.

Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, announcing he had signed a bill requiring the installations, said the new requirement would "provide a large segment of our motoring public with this life-saving device."

TV Actor's New Motel Hit by Raid

NEOSHO, Mo. (UPI) — Three persons were charged with gambling Saturday after a fight at a motel owned by movie and television star Bob Cummings in nearby Joplin, Mo.

Sheriff Tommy Harbit said two persons also were charged with illicit cohabitation. Cummings and his wife, at Joplin for grand opening ceremonies of the motel, were not involved in the fight which broke out Friday night.

John Rice, prosecuting attorney for Newton County, said several other persons were involved in the gambling and fighting, but got away before officers could apprehend them.

Charged with illicit cohabitation and gambling were Kenneth Faey and Wilma Cunningham, who said they lived both at Wichita Falls, Tex., and Muskogee, Okla.

Charged with gambling was John Blair, Camdenton, Mo.

Magistrate Ray England set bond at $1,000 for Faey and Miss Cunningham and $500 for Blair. A hearing was set for May 8.

The Bob Cummings Motor Hotel, located in the Newton County portion of Joplin in southwest Missouri, opened for business two weeks ago. Official grand opening is this weekend.

Jobs-Boost Plan Offered Sea Unions

Two ship-operating subsidiaries of Bethlehem Steel Corp. said Saturday they have offered maritime unions a program aimed at replacing foreign seamen with American seamen on American-controlled foreign-flag ships.

The two concerns are Calmar Steamship Corp., a domestic intercoastal carrier, which has facilities at Berth 25, Pier C, Port of Long Beach, and Ore Navigation Corp., which operates from the East in the offshore trade.

Calmar is manned by American crews.

Ore Navigation has foreign-flag vessels under its control and employs foreign seamen.

• • • •

THE PROPOSAL calls for union agreement on acceptance of technological advancements Bethlehem Shipbuilding Division says can make it possible to operate ships with crews 50 to 60 per cent of the size of the "normal complement" of vessels of similar tonnage and service.

A Bethlehem spokesman said the talks with unions involved have been going on for several years now and that there was "hope that agreements will be signed in the near future."

The plan calls for participating shipping companies to make available to American seamen, at American wages and conditions, two jobs or foreign-flag ships under their control for every job which technological improvements make unnecessary in the manning of their American-flag ships.

ORE NAVIGATION soon expects to be operating two 51,000 deadweight-ton ore carriers now building in German shipyards.

Robert J. Jurgen, president of Ore and Calmar, said "it is now technically feasible to operate a large bulk carrier with a total crew of 26 to 32 men. With such a manning scale, the normal spread in wage costs between American and foreign seamen is greatly reduced. In fact, a 50,000-ton bulk carrier with 26 to 32 American seamen can efficiently compete with a time-chartered vessel of similar size manned by a normal foreign complement of 50 men."

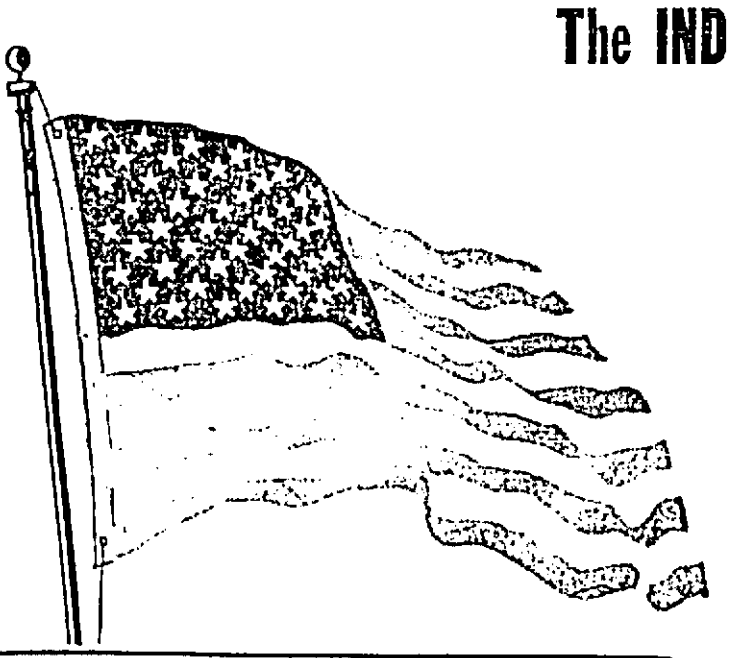

Under the program, Jurgen said, American seamen would gain jobs.

Unions with whom discussions have been held are the Seafarers International Union of North America, National Marine Engineers, Masters Mates and Pilots and Radio Officers Union.

TO BUILD BANK AROUND THIS!

A real traffic-stopper is this 44,000-pound vault door standing in a vacant lot at Indiana Avenue and Artesia St. In a few months it will be protecting money of customers of a Farmers & Merchants branch bank which will be built on the site. The steel door is 92 inches in diameter but when set in place will be so perfectly balanced it will move via the pressure of one finger. Brought here from San Francisco, the door will be positioned and the vault—and bank—will be built around it. Kenneth Walker, 3100 E. 65th St., and Galen Roth, 3132 E. 65th St., are dwarfed by size of door.

Construction Started on New Hospital for Long Beach Area

Construction of a $1,500,000 hospital to serve the west Long Beach-Dominguez and Compton area is well under way on Susanna Road, between Artesia Blvd. and Bort St.

To be known as Dominguez Valley Hospital, the facility will provide 109 beds. While it will be a general hospital extensive 24-hour industrial and emergency units will be provided.

The project is being undertaken by a group of Long Beach and Compton doctors headed by Paul Cardey, M.D. of Compton. Architect is George Kirkpatrick.

• • • •

ALREADY THE walls have begun to rise, giving shape to the rambling structure. While the mail address will be Compton, the hospital grounds are on the Long Beach and Compton city dividing line, said Vic Morgan, spokesman for the doctors.

An open staff is planned, permitting all doctors to admit their patients. A new concept of progressive care will be introduced by the hospital, Morgan added. "The program was developed to provide greater care and attention than possible before, and at a lower over-all cost to the patient," said Morgan.

• • • •

THE SURGICAL suite will consist of three major surgeries with separate cystoscopic room, fracture room, doctors and nurses lounges. A complete obstetrical unit will be a feature, plus an intensive care unit with the most modern electronic and mechanical monitoring devices for continuous reporting of the physical condition of seriously ill patients. Convalescent units will have wide window walls, sliding glass doors to landscaped patios. Patient controlled electronic beds will be installed.

Television will be available to most rooms and the building will be completely air conditioned with all air electronically filtered. Each room will have its own bath.

There will be a complete clinical laboratory, pharmacy, geriatric unit and orthopedic unit.

Government Affairs New Chamber Dept.

The plan of the Long Beach Chamber of Commerce to stimulate participation of local business people in political affairs, and to become more effective in representing business before legislative bodies, has reached full realization with the establishment of a new governmental affairs department, according to Harry Krusz, executive vice president.

Ronald L. Watson was recently appointed by Krusz as staff aid to the department. He will assist with promoting political-action courses which are now in operation by the chamber. Watson will also work with chamber committees which review all current legislation which affects Long Beach or its business interests.

RONALD L. WATSON
Heads Political-Action Move

• • • •

WATSON HAS been active in Long Beach civic affairs and organizations. His education at Long Beach State College was in political science and business management.

Co-chairmen of the chamber's political-action program are George R. Johnson and David Selcer. Goal is to stimulate interest of local businessmen in political affairs, and to furnish them knowledge on all aspects of government and how it functions.

The chamber will cooperate in setting up a one-night, 6-weeks study group for any local firm or organization. Individuals may enroll in courses now being formed.

'Free Bridge' Always Cost

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Seven large bridges over the Mississippi River link Missouri and Illinois at St. Louis and an eighth will soon be built.

One of the bridges is known as "The Free Bridge" —but it isn't.

The city built the bridge and intended it to be used without cost after bonds had been retired. The bonds have been paid off but the city has never removed the tolls.

The new bridge will be free.

Los Altos Site for Unimart

Plans for building a big Unimart Membership Store at Bellflower Blvd. and Stearns St., directly north of the Los Altos Shopping Center, were announced Saturday.

Located on a 12-acre site the store will represent an investment of $3 million.

The big vacant tract, of some 22 acres, was purchased several months ago by Montgomery Ward & Co., but plans for erecting a store there did not materialize.

• • • •

UNIMART'S construction will start this fall and completion has been tentatively set for spring. Developers of the shopping center will be Hilp and Rhodes, Inc.

Unimart, which was merged with Food Giant Markets last year, will erect a 100,000 sq. ft. building which will include a full-size supermarket with groceries, meats and produce, and a completely stocked department store.

Adjacent to the store will be a 12,000 sq. ft. house and garden center, and a service station.

Income for Workers Up

LOS ANGELES — California's marked economic progress is reflected in the striking growth of personal income in the state, Cecil J. North, president of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co., told members of his company's field force at a meeting here.

"Total personal income last year by Californians ran 50% more than six years ago, contrasting with 35% more for the entire United States," he said.

"Per capita income in the state set a new record of $2,500 in 1961, well above the national average of $2,300. In early 1962 and late 1961, earnings of the employed factory worker in California were running at a new high level between $110 and $112 a week. The average for the full year 1961 had been around $108.50 a week — a new annual record and more than one-quarter above 1955."

• • • •

NORTH POINTED out that the Los Angeles-Long Beach area has close to 2.5 million non-farm employes, and has continued its growth into 1962. "Much of this expansion in employment over the past year," he said, "has been contributed by factories engaged in making electronic, metal, machinery and allied products. From 1955 to 1961 total non-farm employment here has grown by one-fifth."

Life insurance owned by the people of California is equivalent to 16 months of their income, compared with only 12 months six years ago, the insurance executive noted.

North disclosed that his company's current investments in bonds and stocks in California amount to almost a $556 million.

OPEN HOUSE THURSDAY

Will Give Visitors Bank Teller's View

Long Beach residents will be given a teller's view of a bank Thursday when Bank of America holds an open house preview of its new Willow-Daisy branch.

The evening's activities will begin at 6:45 when bank officials and local dignitaries hold a colorful opening ceremony. Manager P. A. "Phil" Carey will be presented a gold key to the front door of the branch by Ralph E. Windsor, vice president from the bank's Southern California headquarters.

Among those taking part in the ceremony will include Robert Crow, councilman from the Seventh District; Joseph Kennick, district assemblyman; and Donna Kelly, Miss "Welcome to Long Beach."

Culminating the program will be the launching of a space capsule. The plastic capsule will be attached to a large cluster of helium-filled balloons which will carry it into the evening sky. Inside the capsule will be a scroll instructing the finder to return it to the branch in exchange for a $25 savings bond.

• • • •

VISITORS WILL then be invited to enter the branch for a behind-the-counter tour of the modern building. During the 7 to 9 p.m. open house the patrons will view the massive vault, glass-topped windowless teller counters, safe deposit boxes, and night depository.

The new branch is located at 600 W. Willow St., on the southwest corner of Willow Street and Daisy Avenue.

Report Heavy Sales for Cambridge Park

APPEALING HOME

Spacious living rooms, carpeted with wool or nylon, and terrazzo entryways are found in all Cambridge Park homes in Orange. Located on Cambridge north of Fairhaven, all homes have been built to meet the Balanced Power concept.

Cambridge Park, located in the Orange-Tustin area, is now one-third sold, it was announced by Don Schug, developer.

An exclusive suburban location for family living convenient to schools and shopping, is cited by sales agents as a prime reason for these brisk sales. Immediate occupancy is still available with a choice of five different color schemes and distinctive stylings. Three model homes are open at Cambridge Park, located on Cambridge Ave. just north of Fairhaven in the city of Orange.

• • • •

THE HOMES are a short distance from both the Santa Ana and Newport freeways, making it convenient to employment opportunities and industrial parks. Both parochial and public schools are close by with Chapman College just a few miles north. Santiago golf course lies adjacent to Cambridge Park on the south.

Both three- and four-bedroom models are available from $24,400. All have family rooms and two baths.

Offer Rental Units to Senior Citizens

The combined attractions of a Western "Ivy League" cultural environment, scenic beauty and a unique flat rental residence plan are attracting retiring senior citizens in ever-increasing numbers to Claremont Village Green.

Daniel Alvy and Seymour Sohn of Danmour & Associates, the developers, said more than 50 per cent of the original 119 one and two-bedroom homes on the 8½-acre landscaped site have been occupied since the formal opening.

Village Green is located in the heart of Claremont, a "city of trees" and headquarters of the five Associated Colleges — Pomona, Claremont, Scripps, Harvey Mudd and Claremont Graduate College.

RESPONSE to the Village Green rental plan has been so enthusiastic that Alvy and Sohn are negotiating for the purchase of nine additional adjoining acres. If negotiations are completed, the community eventually will be doubled in size.

Claremont Village Green is the first non-sectarian retirement community in Southern California operated as a private enterprise on a flat monthly rental basis without membership, life-lease or "buying-in" provisions.

Rent includes full privileges in the Village Green community buildings, hobby shops and recreational areas "which are operated entirely without a social director or coordinator," according to Alvy.

Many of the residents of Village Green were recent home owners in Southern California communities. A high percentage of the residents are retired or retiring professional people.

Montgomery Park Second Unit Now Selling

Proof of the exciting popularity of these spacious new homes offering the rare and desirable combination of rural charm and "downtown" living convenience is that the first unit was sold out in only six weeks and second unit is now ready to go.

Montgomery Park, on Harbor Blvd. just south of Bolsa Ave., within the city limits of Santa Ana offers three different "family engineered" floor plans priced from $15,950. For just $395 a non veteran can live in an area with all metropolitan facilities such as public and parochial schools, churches, modern shopping marts. Employment opportunities are to be found within minutes of its central location, yet homes are comfortably removed from urban congestion and noise.

• • • •

THE SOUTHLANDS' fabulous recreation and entertainment centers are close by—Disneyland, Knott's Berry Farm, beach and mountain resorts—all just a short drive over fast, lightly traveled routes.

"The location, plus the low purchase price, plus the fact that the homes have three and four bedrooms, nine exteriors to choose from, hardwood floors, and two-car garages, plus front landscaping and fences is the reason for the fantastic appeal of these homes," said sales manager Dick Murray of Farrow Real Estate.

"Easy financing is another big feature when we can offer homes to vets with no down payments and keep monthly payments to as little as $88.35 including principal and interest."

Montgomery park has many extras found only in the finest homes: Kitchens with built-in Wedgewood-Holly ranges and 21-inch king-sized ovens, silent waste disposals, forced-air heating, glass lined water heaters, sliding glass doors, custom birch cabinets with deluxe hardware, and accoustic finish ceilings.

Butler to Talk

Speaker for the North Long Beach Real Estate Club Thursday morning will be Howard Butler, Realtor, who will tell of his experiences while serving on committees of the Long Beach Board of Realtors. "Four Years of Grievances" will be the subject. The club meets at Mayo's Restaurant, 5925 Cherry Ave.

Another Sherwood Sellout Now Near

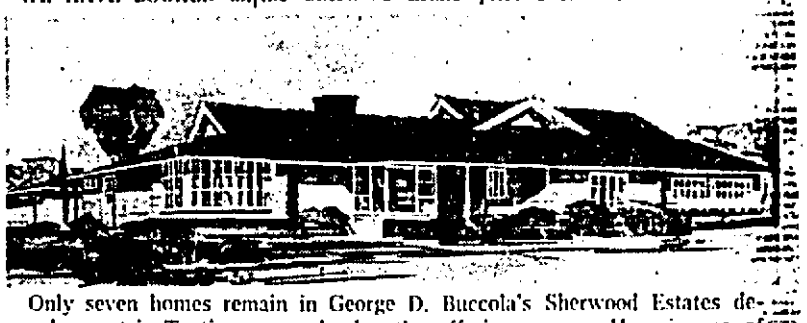

George D. Buccola, award winning developer of "Sherwood Estates" in Orange County, announced that only seven homes remain in his latest development in Tustin.

The Tustin development, located off 17th St. on Yorba just east of Tustin Ave. features 37 four and five-bedroom, three-bath, one-story, story and a half and two-story homes, with living areas from 2150 to 2500 square feet.

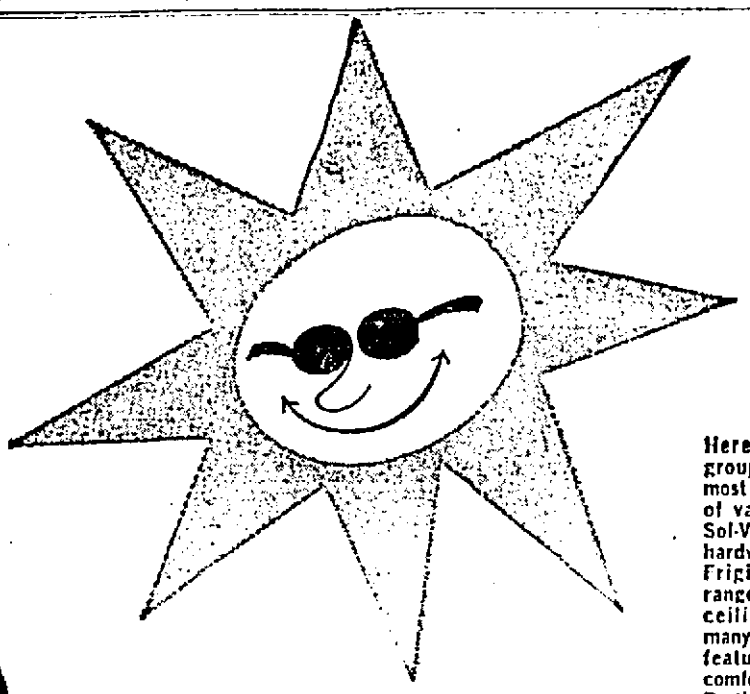

When asked why Sherwood Estates enjoy such great sales acceptance, Buccola said, "Perhaps I can best answer that question by quoting many of our customers."

• • • •

"WE HAVE LOOKED all over Orange County, and nowhere could we find so much quality and spaciousness in the Sherwood Estate price range of $26,700 to $29,950, so quite naturally we decided that the best buy was a 'Sherwood Estate Home.'"

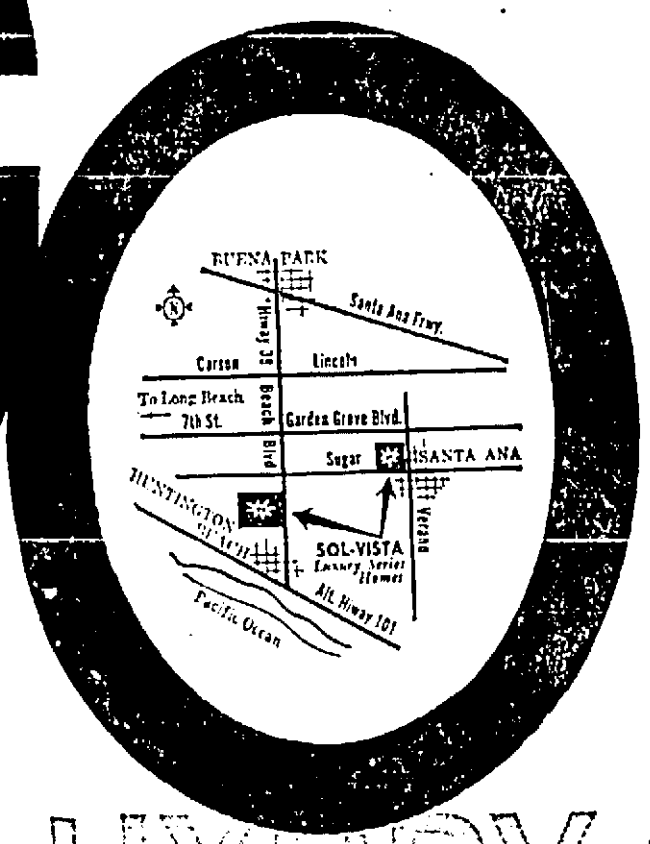

Only seven homes remain in George D. Buccola's Sherwood Estates development in Tustin, so popular has the offering proven. Here is one of

Park Pacifica Previews Big Luxury Homes Today

IN PARK PACIFICA

Today's preview showing at Park Pacifica in Buena Park introduces a diverse selection of contemporary and conventional residences sparked by such attractions as sunken living and family rooms and indoor planters.

Preview showing today at Park Pacifica, Emblem Homes' community of luxuriously appointed residences in Buena Park, presents a selection of contemporary and conventional architectural elevations, designed with three bedrooms, a family room and two baths, according to Koblentz & DeLancy, sales agents.

Situated in Buena Park, "Gateway to Orange County" at Holder and Orangethorpe, homes in the new community offer such attractions as step-down living rooms and family rooms, hardwood block floors, ornamental interior planters, aluminum-framed sliding glass doors, forced air heating and baths with ceramic tile, pullman lavatories and stall showers.

* * * *

KITCHENS are expected to be focal points of much visitor and buyer interest. They are equipped with built-in double gas oven with separate broiler and counter top range, built-in fully automatic dashwasher, range hood with filter, covered fan and light, decorator-finish ash cabinets and superamic tile countertops.

Veterans have a total "move in" of $199 and in addition to convenient conventional loans, non-veterans have 35-year FHA loans, Koblentz said. Full prices are from $19,350 to $20,200.

Park Pacifica is reached from Long Beach by driving east on South St., which becomes Orangethorpe, to Holder St., then right to the model home area.

Vet Needs Only $88

Financing is still the "good news" at Huntington Hills, "Sea View" community in Huntington Beach, W. D. McCaffrey of Sales Co. explained, for the luxuriously appointed homes are available to veterans for a total "move-in" of $88 and non-veterans have choice of conventional loans or 35-year FHA terms.

Full prices, McCaffrey said, are from $17,500. An exciting "special" among all of these homes which are now ready for occupancy, are two residences complete with pool and patio, that are priced at $20,990.

HUTINGTON HILLS presents a widely diverse selection of handsome exterior designs. Plans are flexible and offer choice of three and four bedrooms and two baths. Each home has an inviting entry with handsome slate floor, a family room and big two-car garage.

Highlights among the many fine home features list fireplaces, gleaming oak floors, mahogany wood paneling throughout, sliding walls of glass to the patio garden area and forced-air heating.

From Long Beach, Huntington Hills is reached by driving south on Pacific Coast Hwy. to Huntington Beach, then left on Beach Blvd. (Hwy. 39) two miles to the community.

Golden West Estates Offering Large Home With Twin Patios

CHEERFUL ENTRANCEWAY
Here is a view in the living room of a Golden West Estate in Huntington Beach looking toward the entranceway patio. This model home has two separate patios.

An unusual floor plan with two separate patios is popular with buyers at Golden West Estates in Huntington Beach, said Jim McCarthy, vice president of McCarthy Co., co-builders with Sant Construction.

One patio serves as an enclosed front entranceway to the home, while the other offers outdoor seclusion at the side. The master bathroom has direct access to pool area. A lift-up boat door in the rear of the garage permits use of the garage as a cabana for the pool area.

The interior of the home features a separate formal living room and a separate family room which is distinct from the dining area. The plan is available in five exteriors, among them an authentic Spanish styling.

• • • •

"THE LIVING AREA in this Golden West plan may be inexpensively combined with the family room simply by removing the wall between. The front patio may also be economically incorporated to make one large living area, ideal for entertainment. To further expand the home, it's easy to add a room in the large side patio," said Jack Chase, sales manager.

Buyers may choose from 22 distinctive exteriors. Priced from $17,600, the homes are offered with 5¼ per cent, 35-year FHA terms featuring down payments from $800, GI no-down-payment terms, and conventional terms with down payments from $695. Trade-ins are accepted.

Buyers may take advantage of an unusual lay-away plan which permits them to reserve any home with a $100 deposit while they build up to their down payment.

From Long Beach, the homes may be reached via Seventh Street east to Golden West St., then right to the furnished models.

Plans to Build Fontana Plant

CHICAGO—Pipe Line Service Corp., a subsidiary of Amsted Industries, is planning to build a plant at Fontana, Calif., to apply plastic and bituminous coatings to steel pipe for protection against underground corrosion.

The plant will cover about 60,000 square feet on a 15-acre site immediately adjacent to the Kaiser Steel Co.'s Fontana pipe mill.

Cigarette Taxes Boost U. S. Revenue

WASHINGTON (UPI)—U. S. smokers paid enough in cigarette taxes last year to meet the cost of the U. S. Space Agency's fiscal 1963 program, with enough funds left over to buy 40 Atlas missiles, the Tobacco Institute estimates.

'Law Day' at Realty Meeting

Reg F. Dupuy, program chairman for the Long Beach Board of Realtors, announced that Tuesday's breakfast meeting at the Crown Cafeteria will be "Law Day."

We will honor our three board attorneys—M. Ross Bigelow, Donald E. Grisham and Lawrence Lackman and also Judges Charles Smith and Joe Raycraft.

The program will consist of 15 minutes by the Franklin Junior High band directed by Jack Kroesen and a 15-minute talk by Dr. William Melchior, director of curriculum of the Long Beach Unified School District.

Tries to Quiet Noise of Building

NEW YORK (UPI)—Amid the clatter of New York's billion-dollar construction boom, there's one builder trying to muffle the noise.

Fisher's Brothers, now putting up a 40-story office building here, has replaced rivet guns with high tension bolts and has padded the slides of the dirt chutes with plywood and foam rubber.

Location Appeals to New Home Buyers

Location is one of the important considerations when selecting a home today, stated S. V. Hunsaker, prominent Southland builder and developer.

This is one reason the Lakewood East Sunshine homes have received better than average buyer acceptance, according to Hunsaker. These homes are located only minutes to the prime metropolitan industrial area and within easy driving distance to Southland major resort and recreational spots.

• • • •

OFFERING the home buyer the most popular of architectural planning, built-ins, and modern materials designed for lifetime satisfaction, these attractive homes have three bedrooms, two full baths, family room, large two-car garage and may be purchased with a down payment of $195.

Lakewood East Sunshine homes offer the home buyer many quality features such as wall-to-wall carpet, forced-air heat, metal sliding windows with screens, and ample closet space. The ultra-modern kitchens are equipped with built-in range and oven with hood and exhaust fan, disposal, Formica counter tops, plastic vinyl tile, and natural finish cabinets.

Home buyers who are seeking quality homes, centrally located, are invited to inspect furnished models daily from 10 a.m. to 7 p.m. on Del Amo Blvd., just west of Pioneer Blvd.

BUILT BY HUNSAKER
Quality construction, combined with efficient floor plans, is stressed in Lakewood East Sunshine Homes such as this by builders S. V. Hunsaker & Sons.

Sol Vista Opens Another Unit of Homes in Huntington Beach

CHARM IN EVERY ROOM

This appealing kitchen in a Sol Vista home in Huntington Beach shows how Alco-Pacific builds charm in every room. A new unit of the Luxury Series of homes has been opened.

Alco-Pacific Construction Co., builders-developers of Sol Vista Luxury Series Homes, has opened another new unit in Huntington Beach, one of the fastest growing areas in Southern California where the population surge is being matched with growth in industry.

"Sol Vista Homes in Huntington Beach are in a most desirable area, close to beaches and other recreational and service facilities. The development is constantly luring those seeking a prestige residential community," according to Irving Solomon, executive vice president of the firm.

In addition to location, Sol Vista offers the buyer quality construction and originality in design. One may choose from 23 exterior elevations and five floor plans. These homes have three and four bedrooms with two baths and are priced from $18,150 with minimum FHA down payment. VA terms—no down payment (except costs and impounds) Cal-Vet and conventional financing is also available.

A MASSIVE brick or stone fireplace — of floor-to-ceiling design — is included in every Sol Vista Home. Kitchens have all-electric Frigidaire built-ins, natural grained ash hardwood cabinets and are color coordinated. A Frigidaire dishwasher is also included in the price.

Sol Vista Homes have hardwood floors throughout and are heated by forced air heat with thermostat control.

Other important but less visible features include Johns-Manville fiber glass home insulation, a lighter, softer, blanket insulation faced with reflective foil, acoustical ceilings, and American Standard Plumbing fixtures.

• • • •

SOL VISTA is near established schools and churches, close to thoroughfares and existing and proposed freeways. It is only a few minutes from shopping areas.

The development is on Hwy. 39 (Beach Blvd.) three miles south of Garden Grove Blvd. Model homes are also conveniently located in Santa Ana on Sugar Street just west of Verano. They are open daily from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. and until 6 p.m. Saturday.

Sol Vista developments are also in Riverside and Santa Maria. For free brochure and information write or call: C. LaFaye Co., Inc., 16601 Beach Blvd., Huntington Beach.

Pet Mynah Bird No Politician

OMAHA (UPI)—The first rule of politics is to know when to keep your big mouth shut. Jasper couldn't get that through his head so he was fired from the mayor's office.

It just isn't good politics, says Mayor James J. Dworak, to greet women visitors with a raucous "Oh Boy," and a lusty wolf whistle. What made it worse was that Jasper stayed out of sight and left the mayor and his two male assistants to face the music.

Jasper, formerly Mayor Dworak's pet mynah bird, now resides at the Omaha zoo.

CHARM-FILLED HOME
Here is the interior of one of Dutch Haven's newest homes offered in Unit 20. The large living room is a feature of all Dutch Haven models.

Officials of Luxury Homes, Inc., creators of Dutch Haven communities, announced they are extending the preview of Dutch Haven Unit 20, on Edinger Ave. near Bolsa Chica at Huntington Beach, to accomodate the overflow crowds that have been thronging into the area to view the new subdivision.

This is Dutch Haven's 20th community to be successfully opened within the Southern California area. Present sales and traffic records indicate that it may soon develop into Dutch Haven's fastest-selling and most successful community.

• • • •

A SPOKESMAN for Luxury Homes, Inc., said that the new unit's location in the highly desirable Huntington Beach area is proving highly attractive to many buyers who have previously been unable to secure such a premium location at such moderate selling prices for both quality homes and property.

Just a few minutes away from Unit 20 are excellent facilities for boating, surfing and picknicking. Major department stores will soon be opened, is close by and schools are immediately convenient.

Dutch Haven homes are three to four bedrooms with family room and up to two full baths. Prices start at $14,950, with $95 move-in cost to veterans on VA terms. Cal-Vet terms and FHA loans at 5¼% interest rate are also available.

• • • •

MONTHLY PAYMENTS begin at $79.63, including principal and interest. There are no hidden charges, second mortgages or balloon payments.

"American Home Series" residences are being featured exclusively at Unit 20. Buyers have a choice of award-winning floor plans, all of which have unusually efficient room arrangements, spacious closet and storage areas and an oversized garage with additional storage space for larger items.

From Long Beach go east on Seventh St. to Bolsa Chica, then right to models.

Many Homes Already Purchased in Del Webb's New 'Sun City'

SUN CITY—Anyone 50 or over, or nearing that age, is invited to look into the prospects of future retirement in the Webb Corporation's new Sun City in Southern California.

Construction, in top gear for weeks now, on this $20 million retirement community, is being pushed for an early June grand opening. Exclusively designed for "an active way of life" offered and already accepted in three other Sun City communities built by Webb in Arizona, Florida and at Bakersfield.

The site chosen for the newest Sun City is a 14,000-acre area of Menifee Valley just 25 miles south of Riverside. It is situated on U. S. Highway 395 between Riverside and San Diego. It is countryside consisting of rolling hills and valleys, small villages and ranches. Enjoying a warm hospitable climate, with summer temperatures softened by cool ocean breezes.

• • • •

SUN CITY IS ideally centered for California's recreational attractions and the mountain playgrounds of Lake Arrowhead and Big Bear are just 52 miles away. Los Angeles is 75 miles and Palm Springs 62 miles. Capistrano and the ocean beaches just an hour's drive.

Six model homes are nearly completed and a Webb Corporation bus takes visitors on tour of the project. Home prices start at $11,950 to $17,650 and many border on the golf course fairways. Cooperative apartments are also available from $10,950 to $15,750. Many have already purchased homes which can be acquired by cash, FHA or conventional purchase methods.

The "active new way of life" for a resident of Sun City will be provided by a community center which will have arts and crafts buildings, a Town Hall seating 700 for plays or meetings. A fully equipped kitchen in the Town Hall will lend itself to club style or "pot-luck" meals.

A complete shopping center will have a full variety of stores including a bank and Sun City's own post office.

Information about Sun City can be obtained by writing to the Webb Corp., Box 678, Perris, Calif. And visitors are welcome every day.

Garden Park Estates Offering Two-Story, Five Bedroom Home

BIG LUXURY HOME
Two-story luxury homes are presented at Garden Park Estates on Knott Avenue and Garden Grove Boulevard. Discriminating home shoppers will find a range of plans that will answer the spatial needs of every size family. The new two-story dwellings have five big bedrooms, and the one-story homes are designed with choice of three or four.

Popular Garden Park Estates now presents selection of two-story luxury homes designed with five spacious bedrooms, officials of the community at Knott Ave. and Garden Grove Blvd., report.

These new residences give Garden Park Estates the added distinction of a range of flexible plans to meet the palatial needs of families of virtually every size, for the one-story residences offer three and four bedrooms, family rooms and dining area, and two baths.

Master bedrooms, which with two other bedrooms and an attractive bath, are on the second floor, have their own fireplaces. On the first floor the other two bedrooms occupy a separate wing for the maximum of quiet, and the living room (which also has a handsome fireplace), the dining room and the appliance-equipped kitchen are in the opposite wing. In the entry a stately staircase rises to the second floor, and the first floor bath in this center hall plan, is convenient both to the bedrooms and to the living area.

• • • •

"FOUR WAY" financing is still available, officials said. This includes veterans terms of nothing down except impounds and closing costs with monthly payments from $98.50 including principal and interest, or Val-Vet loans. Non-veterans have choice of conventional or FHA loans. Full prices are from $17,600.

Highlights among the many fine home features include fireplaces, sliding walls of glass, forced-air heating, baths with colored plumbing fixtures, pullman lavatories and Italian mosaic tile, and sound construction with lath and plaster walls and ceilings. Quality detailing extends to concrete driveways for the large two-car garages.

Furnished models are reached from Long Beach by driving east on Seventh St. past Long Beach State College to Knott Ave.

College Educations for Children of War Victims

Ten thousand California youngsters under the age of 18, whose fathers died as a result of military service will be eligible for a college education, it was noted by Mort Webster, manager of VA's Southern California Regional Office.

"This fine educational opportunity offered by the VA is available for children of veterans who died of service-connected causes," Webster said. In the Southern California area, Webster estimated 7,000 youngsters will become eligible in the next year or two.

Generally, the young people must be between 18 and 23 years of age, and the VA offers up to 36 months of classroom study and each orphaned youngster will receive an allowance from the VA of up to $110 for each month of school.

• • • •

"WHILE THE EMPHASIS is on college and university work, this is not just a college program," Webster said. "Training in a wide variety of schools above the high school level is also permitted."

"We want eligible youngsters to come to us," Webster said. The VA is prepared now to counsel and process applicants for the upcoming fall semester.

Talk on Low-Price Housing

A proposed low-priced housing project will be the subject of a talk by Merrill Butler, Jr., president of the Butler Harbour Construction Co. in Los Angeles, at a meeting of the Appraisal Division, of the California Real Estate Association to be held in Room 333, Biltmore Hotel in Los Angeles Thursday, it was announced by Gene Hoffman of Long Beach, chairman.

The proposed program is free enterprise's answer to government - owned housing for low income groups, according to Hoffman.

Butler's firm has completed and sold nearly 2,500 homes since 1955. Butler is a graduate of USC with a degree in civil engineering. He is currently serving as president of the Home Builders Association of Los Angeles, Orange and Ventura Counties.

Appraisers interested in attending the dinner meeting may make reservations through the California Real Estate Association, 117 West Ninth St., Los Angeles 15; MAdison 7-0128.

Fair-Priced Homes Find Ready Sales

"The best salesman in the world can't sell a home for more than it is worth," says Mildred Stanley, Long Beach Board of Realtors representative of the National Institute of Real Estate Brokers.

Mildred Stanley

Mrs. Stanley was quoting part of the information in the March bulletin of the Institute entitled "Selling Sellers Successfully." The booklet explains the advantage of a seller listing his property at a realistic price.

• • • •

"A HOME priced within 5% of the fair market value is 10 times as likely to sell as one priced within 15 to 20%," Mrs. Stanley said. "There has to be a sound reason for an owner to dispose of his property before he can be counted on to act reasonably and decisively. Where a seller's motive is weak, a realistic offer is difficult to obtain."

"The price problem is something anyone selling any product encounters," stated Mrs. Stanley. "Persons selling cars or clothes can do little to solve the price impasse but realtors can and should influence sellers to price their property realistically."

Begins Crack Down on Illegal Sales of Out-of-State Lands

By BILL BOYARSKY

SACRAMENTO (AP)—The state real estate commissioner has launched a campaign against illegal land promoters who sell out-of-state subdivision lots from booths at county and district fairs.

Commissioner W. A. Savage said the efforts are directed against subdividers of distant and isolated land who offer lots without filing a report with his office.

It's against the law to sell subdivision property in California without such a report.

If the state finds the promoter's claims are fraudulent, it can refuse to issue a report.

• • • •

WITHOUT A report, the prospective buyer has no way of learning the true condition of the land. And often, officials say, the land bears little resemblance to the promoters' lavish promises.

"We've learned that these fairs are good productive spots for these operations," said John E. Hempel, assistant real estate commissioner.

He mailed letters to officials of every fair in the state telling them what to watch for when a land developer asks to open a booth.

He said the officials are being told of the need for the reports and that every salesman working in the booth must have a California real estate license and a permit to operate a branch office at the fair.

• • • •

THE STATE already has cracked down on one firm which operated at a recent Sacramento sports show.

Promoters of a Colorado subdivision were ordered to stop selling or offering lots after more than 100 persons complained they had won lots at a drawing and then had to pay $39.50 handling charges on the land.

Hempel called the firm a "hit and run operation" which had "left town with the money" before the state could take action.

Convention Utopia!

...for business

We're off to convention! Wining and dining, reunions, touring the countryside, hotel room caucuses, elegant banquests, sports events, the whole punctuated with gavel rapping—visions of all these dance through delegates' heads as they pack for the big get-together.

Their destination could well be Long Beach, dubbed the "Convention City" for good reason. Last year there were 150 conclaves here ranging from little clambakes of 50 to huge regional and national affairs drawing eight to 10 thousand.

Behind all the fun and games and speeches, a vast and complicated piece of machinery is in action. Housing, entertainment, trips, facilities for meetings, all have to be planned. And at the Long Beach Convention Bureau, headed by Howard Jones, they know all the gambits for making visitors comfortable, happy and free from major problems.

* * * *

MAYBE THIS IS why they have two conventions going simultaneously, as is the case next weekend when annual statewide meeting of Pilot Club (about 500 expected) and District 11 semi-annual conference of Altrusa (about 300 attending) will find members converging here the same weekend at the Lafayette Hotel.

These clubs have a great deal in common. Both are international classified service organizations for executive business and professional women. Altrusa has 16,500 members in 500 cities; Pilot has 13,000 members in 430 clubs, and both are found dotted here and there in cities all over the world.

Altrusa's main local philanthropy is the Community Rehabilitation Center on E. Anaheim Street, and Pilot's service projects include many service hours to Veterans Hospital as well as furnishing a wing of Long Beach General Hospital.

WITH SEMINARS and elections behind them, where do our delegates hie themselves? They have a bewildering choice, so it's each to his own taste. For those from inland there's a real live ocean close at hand. Touring the harbor on "Princess" or "Shearwater" sniffing the crisp salt air, passing battleships and great freighters, is always a thrill.

Gourmets may try seafood spots and restaurants with marine views. You just can't find 'em in Arizona. Or they may go farther afield to Beverly Hills and Hollywood famed dining spots and nightclubs where they'll maybe spot a movie star or two.

They can find wares from all over the world at the Farmers Market and, for atmosphere, there's old world Olvera Street. They can see the marvels at Marineland, and of course there are the meccas for practically everyone, Disneyland, the gay and

Set for Light-Hearted Luau

Vivid print sarongs and muu muus will abound at the Elks Club on Saturday when Ebell Juniors, their husbands and guests, assemble for a light-hearted luau serving as a finale for a busy club year.

Delicate orchid trees and bowls heaped with colorful fruits will center tables for a Hawaiian buffet to be served at 8:30 p.m. Gene Walsh and his orchestra will play for dancing from 9:30 p.m. to 1:30 a.m.

Numerous pre-luau affairs have been planned. Among those bidding guests to their homes are Dr. and Mrs. John Sewak, Messrs. and Mmes. Keith Card, Ken Ragland, Robert Lindsay, William Anderson, Jim Shirley, Ray Green, Alan Kenady and John Turley.

• • • •

Still wondering what the Juniors are sampling in picture? A prospective luau sent them scurrying to cook-books and they unearthed several goodies (some from a member in Hawaii—others from those who've visited the Islands). Herewith are two.

HAUPIA

(Cocoanut Pudding)
3 cocoanuts (save milk)
1 cup sugar
Cornstarch

Grate cocoanut and pour 1 qt. water over it. Let stand for short time and squeeze liquid through a strainer. Measure and let boil. Add sugar. For each cup liquid add 1 tbsp. cornstarch which is first mixed with cocoanut milk and then added to boiling liquid. Pour into pan and cool. Refrigerate and cut in squares for serving.

LOMI SALMON

1 lb. salt salmon
5 large ripe tomatoes
1 large onion (or finely chopped green onion)

Skin salmon, cut into pieces and soak. Change water repeatedly until not too salty. Shred in pieces and put in bowl with cubed tomatoes and sliced onions. Squeeze all ingredients through fingers until in small pieces. Serve ice cold.

Mattie Paine Named Year's Citizen

By MARY NETH

A vital grey-haired lady in pink flowered hat invaded the all male domain of Exchange Club this week—to walk off with one of the city's most coveted awards.

Mattie M. Paine, who retired from 42 years of teaching 14 years ago (and has been busy ever since), was named Citizen of the Year by the club at a luncheon in Lafayette Hotel.

It was the first time in the history of the Long Beach service group, comprised of top civic leaders and business and professional men, that a woman has been so honored.

But, though Miss Paine was a feminine newcomer to the club's 10-year-old award roll, she wasn't a stranger to many of its members.

She numbers several of them among "her boys." They are men she taught during her years from 1906 to 1948 as a member of the local school system.

• • • •

HARRY FULTON, as chairman of the awards committee, introduced Miss Paine and the luncheon speakers, her former students and fellow workers.

They included Mrs. Ruth Craig Merrill Rawn, a member of Miss Paine's Poly High class of 1911; County Supervisor Burton W. Chace, who belonged to her Adelphic Club at First Congregational Church; Russell R. Johnson, former dean, Long Beach City College; Margaret Kracke, League of Women Voters, of which Miss Paine is an active member, and Mary Bell, who represented Retired Teachers.

All agree that throughout her years as teacher, high school and college dean of women and civic leader, Miss Paine has been a vivacious woman who accomplishes what she sets out to do—and doesn't compromise along the way.

• • • •

SAID DEAN Johnson, "Back in 1927, City College was a young institution, suffering growing pains and struggling to find its way. Then, as dean of girls, Miss Paine was the college's conscience—and as such, like any conscience, was at times difficult to reckon with.

"Where the welfare of the students was at stake, there were no half-way solutions for her. She wouldn't let things slip by—she kept at us until a problem was solved."

Supervisor Chase first met Miss Paine when he came to Long Beach as a young bachelor. "I joined the Adelphic Club in 1923," he said. "It was a dynamic service group and Miss Paine, as its leader, really knew how to keep us boys working for high goals."

EXCHANGE CLUB'S 1962 "Citizen of the Year," Miss Mattie M. Paine, was greeted by friend of long standing, Supervisor Burton W. Chace, at award luncheon Wednesday. Her work as teacher, administrator, club and church woman (from 1906 to today) was honored. She is first woman to receive award presented annually since 1953.

Mrs. Kracke, who represented the League of Women Voters, added to the accolades by saying that Miss Paine is one of any club's rare finds: A member who continues to put out the work year after year.

Miss Paine herself had the final say.

Displaying a lively sense of humor, she glanced over the Exchange Club membership and remarked, "I always wondered what would become of those boys I taught."

"Sometimes I wasn't too sure. I used to have to scold them more than the girls—really lash out at them. But, perhaps they didn't turn out too badly after all."

ALTHOUGH delegates will be criss-crossing paths over the weekend, they share the same objectives, and probably the Altrusans on the golf course will be saying "Too bad the Pilots aren't here," and the Pilots out on their harbor jaunt will no doubt be wishing the Altrusans could have come along.

And here are bouquets to tireless organizers and conference chairmen: Helen (Mrs. Lloyd) Smith of Pilot and Eva Miner and Mary Lou Sipprelle of Altrusa and their umpteen hard-working committee members Happy convention!

Convention Schedules

Pilot Club's plans are as follows: Friday, champagne reception for head state officer, Governor Lucy Grimmesey, Sacramento, with floor show by husbands (co-Pilots). Saturday, morning business session; luncheon with Ivy Priest Stevens, former U.S. treasurer, as speaker; afternoon harbor tour; installation of Arlene Saltz, Los Angeles, as new governor at evening banquet. Sunday, workshops luncheon featuring Mrs. Ruth Cunningham, San Gabriel, first vice president of Pilot International, as speaker.

Altrusa's schedule for hostessing 53 clubs from California, Arizona, Nevada, Mexico and Hawaii is as follows: Friday luncheon with welcome by Mayor Edwin Wade; Seminars presided over by Mrs. Margaret F. Albert of Tucson, Ariz., district governor; luau and dinner with speaker, Mrs. Lucile S. Alexander of Jacksonville, Fla., first vice president, Altrusa International. Saturday, banquet with Marsha Hunt, Beverly Hills, speaker on refugee problems. Tours of harbor and city and golf tournament are on agenda. Sunday morning memorial service.

Speaks on Making Ends Meet

Money—and how to hang on to it— will be the topic of a lecture Monday at Long Beach State College.

Dr. Irving Pfeffer, associate professor of insurance at UCLA, will speak on "Putting Your Financial House in Order" in Lecture Hall 150.

With the assistance of six students, Dr. Pfeffer will show models for family financial planning at six income levels. He also will discuss wills, social security, family protection, whether to rent or buy a home, mortgage insurance, educational funds, investments and retirement plans.

• • • •

THE LECTURE, which is free to students and the public, is sponsored by the LBSC department of home economics and family living in cooperation with the Industrial Arts Club.

SIGNAL AWS HONOR GOES TO STATE COED

Valerie Holwerda achieved a signal honor for herself and for Long Beach State College last week when she was elected vice president of Intercollegiate Associated Women Students, Region I.

Her selection came at the IAWS regional convention on the California campus at Berkeley. She was one of six LBSC delegates to the confab which drew representatives from 60 schools.

As one of four regional vice presidents serving under the national president, Valerie will be the coordinator of IAWS affairs for colleges and universities in 13 Western States.

Valerie is a social studies major, a member of Delta Zeta, is currently secretary of the campus AWS group, and lives in Rossmoor.

She is the first LBSC coed to be elected to such a high AWS post and, if our information is correct, is also the first member of a California state college delegation to be thus honored.

Congratulations, Valerie Holwerda.

ATTENTION, Old Grads: the annual Alumni Golf Tournament will be held next Sunday at the Los Alamitos Country Club. Tee off time is noon. Submit applications to the Alumni Office at the college, or contact Bob Hoting, 3559 Charlemagne Ave.

About 150 graduating seniors from 40 high schools are expected to attend AWS "High School Day" next Saturday.

The program, in the Chart Room from 2 until 4 p.m., includes greetings by Dean Lois Swanson, introductions of AWS officers and an explanation of the AWS program, a fashion show of campus wear, a brief tour of the campus, and refreshments.

Contract in Diamonds

Playing at five diamonds North will draw trumps and eventually take two club finesses. The second will work and he will make his contract.

The chances are, however, that every intercollegiate pair landed at the simple contract of three no-trump on the bidding shown in the box.

Three no-trump is not as easy a contract as five diamonds. West opens the king of spades. South should duck and win the spade continuation.

Next, he should lay down the queen of diamonds, then lead a diamond to dummy's king. At this point things will have taken a nasty turn for the worse. If he leads another diamond, his own eight spot will block the vital fifth diamond trick.

HOW CAN he make that fifth diamond? He has to find a parking spot for one of his two diamonds and the parking spot must be on a spade. He leads a spade from dummy and discards one of his diamonds. West takes the rest of his spades, but now South has his nine tricks.

Of course, if West had started with six spades South would have been set, but in that case he could not have made his contract anyway.

Foundation Has Meet Delegate

Mrs. Millard Nicholas, president of Long Beach Exceptional Children's Foundation, will be that group's delegate to the 12th annual convention of the California Council for Retarded Children next weekend in San Bernardino.

Registration opens Friday at California Hotel for the "Western Round-up of Tomorrow's Plans" themed convention. Session workshops are planned on summer camping, state hospitals, public relations and an all-teacher panel on education.

A high light will be Sunday's breakfast meeting when Dr. Richard Koch, CCRC research chairman, heads a panel on the "Diagnosis and Treatment of Mongolism."

WILD WAVES SAY . . .

By Iola Masterson • I, P-T Women's Editor

IT WAS fiesta festive and ole ok Saturday aboard the Mexican cruise ship Acapulco as she set sail for her home port Acapulco.

Mary Jane and Chuck Walker, Phyllis and Harold DeLance and Shirley and Howard Jones were all given a bueno viaje send-off by countless friends. Countless because in the milling throng of passengers and guests who tried to keep track?

For the Walkers the trip celebrates their 25th wedding anniversary. They had a you-all come see us off party in the ship's Continental Room for 100.

The DeLances are noting a 20th anniversary — (the actual date is May 3rd, the day they arrive in the resort city).

As for Shirley and Howard, well they're just keeping up with the Joneses.

THERE'S nothing like a good old annual meeting to bring out the good new hats. And when Assistance League had its lunch and report session Monday at Lafayette the room was a sea of flowers, leaves, ribbon, straw, and silk chapeaux. Oh, it was bloomin'!

Lorraine Fulton was glamor-pretty in a hot pink picture hat. Ruth Dougherty can throw her elegant marigold yellow hat in my door anytime she's "threw" with it. Louise Voigt donned a sensational flowered bonnet for the day.

Doris Wood wore a crisp, fresh and fetching green and white topper while Margaret Rockwell's all white pillbox was chic and uncluttered. Other milliners of merit were those who hatted Dixie Millie (beige, with flower petal crown) and Dorothy Dunlap (a sophisticated green with orange band hat).

Although hatless, Ina Harris did some spotlight stealing with the best tan, to date, of the season. She built it on a spring vacation visit to Palm Springs with husband, Willie.

NEED FOR sudden surgery socked Gale Evans into Harriman Jones week ago Friday; sacked her plans for Easter Sunday festivities. She's probably home by today, though, and all's well that ends well. Husband "Cec," his daughters assured him, was a very fine foster bunny in mother's absence.

PROJECT: Find Time. It took scientific calculation for those two race horse entrepreneurs and club women, Gladys Hayden and Patty Twining, to arrange a convenient week to travel to Hawaii with husbands, Jack (Hayden) and Ned (Twining).

The gals wouldn't go before St. Mary's "Day at the Races" Wednesday. Oh, heavens, no! After all, what would "Petco" (their very own quarter horse) think of them, even although he wasn't personally involved in "Day." Then, naturally, they will need to be in town May 7 for Nightingales Installation, President Gladys must be present to give back the gavel. Later in May? Well, shucks, that's when "Petco" will make his debut at Tanforan.

So they left Thursday, will return May 6.

LAST Sunday Eddie Frank flew up to Seattle where he was to be a big chief in the meeting of the American Institute of Interior Designers. He was one of two main speakers Tuesday. The other was the prime minister of Denmark. Well, hoo hee!

Incidentally, Eddie's new house, currently being built on a canal front in Naples, has been selected as a case study house for Arts and Architecture Magazine. I don't know what it all means but it impresses me no end.

THE ROARING 20's roared again last Saturday at Petroleum Club. Particularly for those members who knew them well.

Preceding the costume party dinner dance Margaret and Bob Irwin hosted cocktails in their home. Margaret, as well as Avis Dudley and La Vern Huey discovered they were all wearing dresses they had purchased abroad during the fringe and flapper era. Marian Ten Eyck wore a dress saved from her trousseau. Which is a credit to their slender, slender ways.

The men broke out in a rash of bright jackets and wildly banded sailor hats. My informant was strangely silent on whether or not the boys had managed to get into THEIR original stuff, though. How's the old waistline, fellas?

"MOST ELEGANT yet" was consensus of opinion of localites who regularly count the Cardinal's Ball at the Beverly Hilton as a social highlight of the spring season. Marilyn and Doug Graham (Marilyn has been a patroness for the five years of the affairs existence) had at their table Monday Elinor and Joe Ball, Helen and Dr. Bob Heebner and the Graham's daughter and son-in-law, Mardel and Tom O'Brien.

Preceding the ball the Balls entertained at cocktails in their suite at the hotel. And for a very special reason. It happened to be their 31st wedding anniversary.

DECIDING to have a just-for-fun cocktail party, Betty and "Bix" Bixby gathered about 50 friends together Thursday, giving everyone a chance to catch up on conversation before summer vacations start scattering them all over the globe.

Then the next night, with Tina and John Bihy, Betty and "Bix" were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Douglas at their Mandeville Canyon home with others of the men (and their wives) who served as crew on the Goodwill during the 1959 Honolulu race. Piece de resistance of the night was to be viewing the complete color movies of the trip, narrated by Preston Foster. Parts of it have been on TV but they had never seen the whole kit and kaboodle before.

Scouts at the Ready

Senior Girl Scouts from 33 Mariner troops will gather Friday at Marine Stadium for the annual Mariner Gam, yearly troop camping event which enables Senior Girl Scouts to demonstrate proficiency in particular skills.

The three-day meet also affords an opportunity for representatives from neighboring councils to participate in an out-of-door living situation. Gathering will be girls from councils including Long Beach, Santiago, Newport, Whittier, Alliso Grande and Green Willows. Long Beach Trailblazer troops have been invited as guests.

The event is entirely girl-planned. Senior Scouts have been meeting in committees regularly for five months during which time details of the outing have been developed.

• • • •

THE GAM will be open to the public Saturday from 9:15 a.m. until noon. Skills scheduled for that period include rowing, canoeing, paddleboard races and form events. Visitors also will have an opportunity to tour the camp sites. Other events which the girls will participate in include a Scout's Own, land skills, knots, charting, first aid and swimming events.

Members of the Gam steering committee include Myna Hastings, chairman, and Carol Duhon, Karen Whipple, Phyllis Supencheck, Barbara Mulvey, Sherry Stark, Joan Hammond, Suzie Tisdale, Diane Carnef, Diana Horn, Gail Muneo and Susan Williams. Mrs. Fred Wagner is adult advisor of the committee.

SEAWORTHY SHIPS manned by seaworthy sailors will be order of things next weekend when Senior Girl Scouts from 33 area troops converge on Marine Stadium for annual Mariner Gam. Getting rowboat from land to water for event is concern of Mary Hancock (left), Dianna Horn.

Ralph Clock Troth Told

Dorothy Gershenson

Announcement has been made by Mr. and Mrs. Harry Gershenson, University City, Mo., of the engagement of their daughter, Dorothy, to Ralph Clock, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Harriman Clock, Long Beach.

The prospective bridegroom is grandson of Mrs. Ralph H. Clock, Long Beach, and the late Judge Clock, and Portia Terry of Sierra Madre and the late Dr. Roy A. Terry.

THE BRIDE-ELECT received her B.A. last June from the University of Colorado, Boulder, where she was secretary of Pi Beta Phi sorority. She did graduate work at Washington University, St. Louis, last fall and currently is teaching in the Kirkwood, Mo., school system.

Mr. Clock, who was on the water polo and swim teams at Poly High, was graduated from the University of Colorado School of Engineering, where he was president of Phi Gamma Delta, an officer of Chi Epsilon, civil engineering honorary fraternity, vice president of Interfraternity Council and a member of Blue Key and American Society of Civil Engineers.

A late July wedding is planned.

Pair Plans Rite in East

Nancy Gordon Follett's engagement to William B. Sweningsen has been announced by her father, Rev. Hubert G. Follett, assistant rector of Christ Church, Stratford, Conn.

The bride-elect, whose mother is the late Louise Riley Follett, will graduate from Gaucher College, Baltimore, Md., this June.

Her fiance, son of Dr. and Mrs. S. William Sweningsen, Long Beach, attended Pomona College for two years and was graduated from Stanford School of Engineering where he was a member of Phi Kappa Sigma.

He is affiliated with the American Rocket Society and the American Society of Mechanical Engineers.

The wedding will take place July 7 in Stratford, Conn.

Tea to Celebrate Founding

PAUSING IN FOYER of beautiful new home of Mrs. Thomas Shaheen (right) are provisionals in Children's Memorial Hospital Auxiliary (from left) Mmes. Bert Bond, John Roggeveen and Ernest Lockwood, who will attend tea in Shaheen home on Monday. Day also will honor members of auxiliary guilds and presidents of other organizations who further guild work of supplying medication and hospitalization for needy youth.

Hospital Group Greets Neophytes

The spacious new home of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Shaheen, 4681 Virginia Road, will be setting Monday afternoon for the annual Founders Day tea of Auxiliary to Children's Memorial Hospital, the group's only non-fund raising party of the year.

More than 250 guests, including new provisionals, Nightingales and members of Fiorella and Northern Lights Guilds, and presidents of Emblem Club 106, Spinsters and Bachelorettes, are expected.

GREETING guests and introducing new members in the receiving line will be Mrs. Harrison Moore, president; Mrs. John Kelly, president-elect; and Mmes. Ralph Eusden and Harry Witz, founders.

Provisionals being welcomed into membership are Mmes. Robert Kibler, Ernest Lockwood, John Roggeveen, Leonard Albrecht, John Lower, Vincent Bailey, John Williams, Bert Bond, Donald Baker, Oscar Contratto Sr., and Walter Wolf.

Hostessing duties will be assumed by Mmes. Joseph Kellogg, Dwight Sigworth, Charles Sander, Howard Dumm, Verne Holmes, Spyros Douglas, Leo McCreary, Frederick Jensen, Robert Dilday and Robert Whiteman.

THE AUXILIARY was founded in 1946 for the purpose of supplying medication and hospitalization for needy children. It contributes a minimum of $1,500 monthly to this cause, and will, in May, make its final payment on the original pledge of $56,000 for the Children's Wing of Memorial Hospital.

Ellen Schumacher Is Bride of D. F. Baker

Ellen Schumacher, well-known director of volunteers for Memorial Hospital, became the bride of Dan Franklin Baker during a recent candlelight ceremony in the sanctuary of First Baptist Church.

Mrs. Dan Franklin Baker

She wore a street-length gown of pale pink chiffon over taffeta with matching net crown hat and a single strand of pearls, a gift from the groom. She carried a white orchid surrounded with pink camellias.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother, P. W. Schumacher.

Mrs. William Meents attended her sister as matron of honor. Completing the wedding party were Don McArt, best man, Dr. Richard W. Nixon, Dr. Leo Goodman-Malamuth, Dr. John W. Wills and Tom R. Gilliam, who seated the 400 guests.

• • • •

THE BRIDE attended Lindenwood College in St. Charles, Mo., Arlington State College, Arlington, Tex., and currently is taking night classes at Long Beach State College. She is a member of Altrusa, PEO and Order of Eastern Star.

Her new husband received his B.A. and M.A. from Indiana University and worked on his doctorate at Michigan State University. He holds memberships in National Association of Education Broadcasters and Western Speech Association.

Following a honeymoon in northern California, the newlyweds are residing at 2015 Pine Ave.

Floral Fountain

Copper and enamel fountain by Dextra and Charles Frankel is one of exciting works at California Designers' show currently at Pasadena Art Museum. Water plays from blown glass flower stamens.

California Designers' Show Huge Success

By VIRGINIA LADDEY

Refinement and richness mark the hundreds of objects in "California Designers 8" which continues at the Pasadena Art Museum until May 6. If you have a home, patio, apartment, or terrace, or ever will, you'll be inspired by this show which, according to the N. Y. Times "firmly establishes the Golden State's leadership in design influences."

Furniture, fabrics, pots, patios, toys, tapestries, trucks, and tools only begin the list of items exhibited. Some are commercially produced, others are artist crafted, all are creative. Many, such as garden furnishings in cast concrete, are inventions that could only follow mastery of the technical aspects of today's materials.

• • • •

THREE WORKS particularly captivated us. "Working with Water" by Dextra and Charles Frankel is a large rectangular fountain filled with floral forms like a burgeoning garden. Each of these provides an avenue for playing water. Except for several stamens of blown glass, the whole is of copper in various shades of verdigris. How appropriate it would be if this could be viewed by a wealthy philanthropist who wished to donate something fabulous for the grounds of the Long Beach Museum of Art!

June Ray Laury's hanging panels are ingenious departures from an ancient and humble art. Of fine cotton in harmonizing shades, they are hand-appliqued and embroidered. One of these, a five-panel room divider, illustrates the parable of the Wise and Foolish Virgins. The wise are in shades of beige and apricot, each with her lamp held high. The reverse side, in blues and purples, are the sad ones. Wit, beauty, and exquisite sewing characterize these.

• • • •

MALCOLM Leland is the designer of a cast concrete screen wall. The blocks curve in and out in baroque pattern making not just a functional and decorative wall, but handsome sculpture which captures a marvelous play of light and shadow.

The LBSC Art Faculty is well-represented by Ken Glenn, Robert W. Ramsay, Tom Ferreira, Mary Jane Leland and Robert Trout. The work of California designers is not just "decorative accessories," rather it creates environments for richer living. Designer-crafts are moving away from both adamant Puritanism and stark simplicity toward exciting finesse.

Show Films at Libraries

"Romeo and Juliet," a magnificent 16mm color picture of Shakespeare's classic, will be shown at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday at Ruth Bach Branch Library, 4055 Bellflower Blvd. and Thursday at Dana Branch, 3680 Atlantic Ave. The public is invited.

Miss Alice Appell, assistant librarian in charge of branches, will introduce the programs.

Filmed in Italy, the picture takes full advantage of the Italian countryside. Castles, marketplaces, costumes and monasteries are depicted and sensitive performances are given by the cast which includes Lawrence Harvey, Susan Shentall, Flora Robson, Mervyn Johns, Bill Travers, Enzo Fiermonte, and Norman Wooland.

Jazz at Shrine

Modern Jazz Quartet will appear at the Shrine Auditorium next Saturday sharing billing with Julian "Cannonball" Adderly, his quintet, and Ernestine Anderson, young jazz singer.

'Reynard' Will Head Trio of New Plays

A trio of plays will open May 6 at the Off-Broadway Theater, 211 Lime Ave., and run four successive Sunday nights at 8 p.m.

The first, "Reynard," is based on medieval animal legends and was written by Bernard Wilets. It introduces Reynard, the fox, as a sort of picaresque hero who outwits and overcomes the various more conventional animals.

Medieval humor tends to be broad and earthy and Wilets has tried to preserve this feeling. Also, in a highly religinus age, it tended to be sacrilegious in a good-natured sort of ways.

• • • •

THE LEGEND of Reynard has been widely used as subject matter, as for example in a Stravinsky one-act opera and by Goethe in a novel.

Jon Terry will play Reynard; and filling other roles are Bob Hanrahan, Richard Moore, Dave Kettles, Marge Norton, Loren Means and Vern Thomas.

Playwright Wilets is the composer of two operas as well as other music. He was librettist and stage director for "The Zodiac" composed by Arnold Freed which was presented at Millikan High School under auspices of the Ford Foundation, as well as "Aurelius," a one-act play also performed at the Off-Broadway.

• • • •

SECOND PLAY will be "Minus Three" by Walter Crockett written orginially as an avant garde television fantasy about a circus animal caretaker and his charges.

Third play is "Any Time You're Ready, Mr. Freed" by Dixie Rinehart, a farce having to do with a typical Little Theater director and his actors.

BERNARD WILETS

Symphony to Play

One of the most important concerts in its history will be played by the city's own orchestra, the Long Beach Symphony, next Sunday at 8:30 p.m. in the Municipal Auditorium.

This will be the final event of the second annual Long Beach Music Festival and will be a concert of American music. Over 200 musicians will perform, including the 90-piece orchestra and the 120-voice Schola Cantorum of Long Beach City College.

Lauris Jones, conductor, will direct a program of brilliant American music of interest to every American who is proud of his country's developing leadership in this international world of the arts.

• • • •

WELL-KNOWN local actor Marvin Cloyd will be narrator for "Lincoln Portrait," a stirring orchestral vignette of the great president, composed by the dean of American composers, Aaron Copland.

The family lineage of our vast nation will be shown through the varied rhythms of "Dance Overture" by Paul Creston with its colorful square dance, Spanish and other regional tempos.

John Browning, one of the finest American-born pianists, will perform Concerto No. 2 in D Minor by Edward MacDowell. This well-loved work will display the fine technique of the artist who has won such major honors as the Leventritt Award, top-ranking American competition previously won by Van Cliburn.

• • • •

THE CHORUS, directed by Wayne Gard, will perform Stravinsky's "Symphony of Psalms" honoring the 80th birthday of the most famous of living contemporary composers. Two pianos will be featured also.

Triumphant climax will be Howard Hanson's "Song of Democracy," with its challenging choral finale, "Sail thy best, ship of Democracy."

Tickets for this impressive concert may be obtained at Humphrey's Music Store or the Long Beach Symphony Association, 5336 Applan Way. Special rates are available for groups.

Play at UCLA

Beginning a four-week run at UCLA on Thursday will be "The Child-Buyer" adapted by Paul Shyre from John Hersey's latest novel. The play is directed by Shyre, here from New York, and will be taken by him on a national tour following the UCLA showings.

It will be performed in Humanities Building on campus and play nightly to June 3, with no performance on May 14.

Major & Minor Notes

L. B. MUSIC FESTIVAL IS CULTURAL STRIDE

By RACHEL MORTON
L. P-T Music Critic

With "the flowers that bloom in the spring, tra la" (The Mikado) come a rash of spring music festivals. Both the flowers and the festivals are equally welcome and both bring beauty and new inspiration.

Ojai Festival opens in Ojai Valley on May 18 and continues through the 20th. The Aspen, Colorado, Music Festival has an eight week season beginning July 6, and Carmel Bach Festival will celebrate its 25th anniversary from July 20 through the 29th.

Our own Long Beach Music Festival is well under way and this coming week will find us in full swing of interesting musical events. This afternoon at 3 p.m. in the Elks Club, Charles Payne will conduct the Long Beach Band in a program of contemporary music.

Tuesday night at 8:15 in First Congregational Church an organ recital will be given by Richard Purvic of Grace Cathedral, San Francisco.

• • • •

IN THE Little Theatre of Long Beach State College on Wednesday night at 8:15 a concert of the compositions of Knut Nystedt of Norway promises to be interesting with outstanding musicians performing.

A highlight of the Festival will be the concert by the celebrated soprano, Eileen Farrell, in the Municipal Auditorium, Thursday night at 8:15; admission only to Community Concert ticket holders.

At the Museum of Art on Friday at 8 p.m. a concert by Mu Phi Epsilon Sorority will feature Iris Eshelman, contralto; Laura Griffing, violin; Harriet Payne, viola; and Katherine Shreves, cello.

• • • •

FOR A GRAND finale there will be a joint concert May 6 with the Long Beach Symphony, Lauris Jones conducting, and the Schola Cantorum, Wayne Gard, conductor. The famous pianist, John Browning, will be soloist with the orchestra playing the concerto for piano and orchestra by Edward MacDowell. Marvin Cloyd will be the narrator.

This is sumptuous musical fare and bespeaks cultural strides for our city. Let us avail ourselves of this opportunity and so encourage bigger and better music festivals for the future in Long Beach.

Honors Reaped by Artists

Editor's Note: In the absence of Elise Emery, arts' pages editor, this column is being written by Betty Wentworth.

Dick Swift, assistant professor of art at Long Beach State College, became a two-time winner at the U. of Illinois' Biennial of Religious Art. His intaglio-woodcut, "Genesis," won the $250 purchase award for "best in show regardless of medium." Another print received honorable mention. He previously won the best in show award in 1960.

Richard A. Johnson, watercolor teacher for the Seal Beach Artists' League, has been honored with a membership in the American Watercolor Society. He and Mrs. Johnson are presently visiting New York attending the society's exhibit there. He also teaches advanced oils at the Seal Beach Art Center and is having a one-man show currently at Bank of America, Seal Beach.

Pamela Mason just won best in show at the Greek Theatre exhibit for "Girl in Green." She received first place in still life and second in portrait and figure.

Cay Drachnik reports from Viet Nam where her husband is on duty that she has just won third prize in an exhibit there that included entries from free China, Japan and Korea.

Darwin Duncan has a current show at Huntington Beach Bank.

• • • •

OPENING next Sunday at the Pacific Coast Club will be an exhibition by Ben Messick with a reception from 2 to 5 p.m. The 25 works will include casein and oil paintings, pastels, lithographs and mixed media. Show will continue to June 1.

Messick has had 69 one-man shows and has exhibited in over 350 competitive shows. He is widely known for his poignant clowns and his skillful lithography. He is a fellow of Royal Society of Arts of England and listed in "Who's Who in American Art." His works are in numerous museum and private collections, and he is also known as a gifted teacher.

Reception for Elaine Malco takes place today from 1 to 5 p.m. at the Pacific Coast Club. Her current show of paintings and sculpture will continue through Friday.

• • • •

WORKS OF FOUR graduate students at Choulnard's, Otis Art Institute, UCLA and Long Beach State College, went on exhibit Friday at Downey Museum of Art, in a show aptly named "Introduction." Ralph Tarzian, 7220 Metz St., chairman of the art department at Dominguez High School, Compton, is the LBSC student represented in the show.

He is working on his master's degree, and is currently doing a large architectural sculpture six feet high and 10 feet long made of welded auto hoods and fenders and called "The Matriarch." This is to be installed on the LBSC campus at the end of the semester.

The show will be on Tuesdays through Sundays from 1 to 5 p.m. until June 4.

• • • •

"THE WATTS Towers Story" will be told with slides, film and discussion at the Westside Jewish Community Center in Los Angeles on Tuesday at 8:30 p.m. History of the unique artistic and architectural creation of Simon Rodia will be presented as part of opening reception for the May art exhibition of 50 collage creators at the Center.

• • • •

SEEN FOR the last time today at Long Beach Museum of Art will be Ward Koury's ceramics, Lorser Feitelson's oils, Marquis and Stoller architecture and Scalamandre textiles.

During the week various galleries will be temporarily closed for installation of exhibits opening May 6. Scheduled are "Arms and Armor of Old Japan" lent by Southern California Token Kai, a review of Arts of Southern California—Architecture, which has recently completed a five year tour of the nation, and the Long Beach Art Association's 38th annual spring juried exhibition.

• • • •

RECEPTION tonight from 8 to 10 p.m. at the Veltman Gallery, 5604 E. Second St., will open show of paintings and drawings by Norbert Jobst.

Pennario in Recital

Leonard Pennario will appear next Saturday at 8:30 p.m. in Wilshire Ebell Theatre in his only Los Angeles recital of the year. One of the Southland's most popular and busiest pianists, he is on the final lap of his 16th coast-to-coast tour of leading American cities.

On his program will be a Mozart sonata, Chopin etudes, "Kreisleriana, Schumann; a Debussy group and the Prokofieff Sonata No. 2. Tickets are on sale at all Mutual agencies and the Wilshire Ebell box office.

Duncan to Speak

Raymond Duncan, brother of the late famed Isadora, will be presented in a "dramatic discourse" Tuesday at 8:30 p.m. at Pasadena City College. Duncan, a philosopher, artist, actor and craftsman, is being jointly sponsored by Pasadena Society of Artists, the college and art museum.

Farrell Will Appear Here

Eileen Farrell, soprano artist of television, opera, and the concert stage, will be presented on Long Beach Community Concert series Thursday at 8:15 p.m. in Municipal Auditorium Convention Hall.

She has received the highest critical praise for her magnificent voice, flawless artistry and immense versatility. Her performances have been hailed with enthusiasm both on the stage of the Metropolitan Opera and in her appearances as a blues singer.

Many honors have been awarded her. Among them honorary doctorates from the Universities of Hartford, Rhode Island, Wagner College and College Conservatory of Music of Cincinnati.

The series is open to subscribers only.

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

He Takes the Scenic Route

DEAR ABBY: Do they sell donkey blinders for men? I need a pair for my husband. He never watches where he is driving. Instead, he's busy gawking at the women along the streets. He drives about ten miles an hour to be sure he doesn't miss anything. He's come close to a lot of accidents. How can I make him keep his eye on the road?—THE WIFE

ABBY

DEAR WIFE: Even donkey blinders would be useless for this breed of donkey. If you can't get his mind off the "scenery," take the wheel. If he doesn't like it, let him trot.

• • • •

DEAR ABBY: Our daughter is going steady with a boy we object to very much. Here is the reason. His family is loaded with divorces. His own mother and father are divorced. (His mother is remarried.) He has two sisters and they have both been divorced. One was married a second time and was divorced from her second husband, too. We heard that his grandmother on his father's side had also been divorced. He seems like a very nice young man, but the history of his clan is so bad with all those divorces we are fearful of our daughter's happiness.—FEARFUL

DEAR FEARFUL: Divorce in the family frequently inspires the offspring to succeed in their own marriages. Don't condemn the boy because of his family. Judge him on his own merits.

• • • •

DEAR ABBY: I am a high school teacher. I recently picked up a note written by one of our students. Here is an excerpt from it:

"Hi, Sue:

Yesterday Donna and I skipped school. We went to her house and watched television. Her mother works which makes it nice. When I went home at 4 o'clock Mom told me the school had called to see if I was home. Lucky for me she said I was home sick."

A child broke the rules and her mother lied to protect her. This prevailing attitude is very discouraging. What is happening to the integrity of people today?—WORRIED TEACHER

DEAR WORRIED: The integrity of some people has not changed. Mothers who lie to protect their children have always been with us. And always will be. But I believe this is the exception—not the rule. Most mothers would have told the truth and let the child face the music.

'Discover Yourself' Series to Begin

You learned to walk before you were two years old. But according to Wilma Hastings, the prominent authority on beauty, charm, and poise, many women need to learn all over again.

In a revealing 15-part series entitled "Discover Yourself," she tells how to acquire the "great lady" look through correct posture and carriage.

She explains how to sit and stand and even how to profit from the example of the baboon, who has his points when it comes to walking.

Look for Miss Hastings' description of the "baboon walk" and her hundreds of other practical, effective secrets of personal improvement — including valuable tips on weight and figure control, hair styling, skin care, make-up application, and clothing selection.

The series, based on her booklet, "Discover Yourself," will start in the women's section of the Independent, Press-Telegram next Sunday.

FLAME BURNS BRIGHTLY

Birthday candles for Beta Sigma Phi's 31st founder's day banquet Monday, 6:30 p. m., at Lafayette Hotel get special adornment at hands of Mmes. Alan McKeown, A. W. Anderson, president of Long Beach Area Council; Richard Hamilton and Tracy Wells, co-chairmen of event. Theme for the evening: "Flame of Friendship."

Beta Sigma Phis Set 31st Birthday Party

Twenty-two chapters comprising the Long Beach Area Council of Beta Sigma Phi will celebrate the 31st anniversary of the organization's founding Monday, 6:30 p.m., with a banquet in the Cavalier Room of the Lafayette Hotel.

Founded 31 years ago in Abilene, Kan., the sorority now has 7,000 chapters and 150,000 members in 14 countries.

With a "Flame of Friendship" theme, the banquet will be under direction of the Nu Mu chapter.

• • • •

ASSISTING Mrs. Tracy Wells, chairman, will be Mrs. Richard Hamilton, co-chairman, and Mrs. Alan McKeown, president of the hostess chapter.

The program will include traditional ceremonies, a review of area council history, a welcome to new members and a special message from the sorority's founder (received from International Headquarters in Kansas City) presented by Mrs. Hal Moore, member adviser.

Sell-Landon in Ceremony

Trinity Lutheran Church, Norwalk, was scene of the recent ceremony in which Linda B. Landon, Downey, became the bride of Thomas G. Sell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Werner W. Sell, 4201 Ejko St.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Burdette Landon, Downey, wore a full-length gown of silk organza trimmed with Chantilly lace and sequins. She carried a bouquet of white orchids.

• • • •

BRIDAL ATTENDANTS were Janie Davis, maid of honor; Carol Dudden and Mynet Marks, bridesmaids; Janet and Barbara Terry, flower girls.

Jerry Andre served as best man; Edward D'Orazio was ring bearer. Seating the 300 guests were Ken Brown, Sherwin Cotler and Don Rogers.

• • • •

THE BRIDE, a graduate of Downey Union High School, attends Long Beach City College, where she is affiliated with TNT.

The bridegroom, an alumnus of Poly High School, is a senior business administration major at Long Beach State College, where he is a member of Sigma Pi.

Mrs. Thomas G. Sell

Following a reception at Downey Elks Lodge, the newlyweds left for a honeymoon in Las Vegas and Tahoe. They will make their home in Bellflower.

Petroleum Wives Preview Exotic Island Fashions

In a Polynesian setting, Petroleum Club Wives will view Halekai Polynesian fashions during their regular luncheon meeting Wednesday at the clubhouse.

Member models will include Mmes. H. C. Carrothers, Charles Chandler, Lee Foust, C. L. Fowler, Donald Fowler, Sam Taylor and Kay Walton.

Hostesses for the day: Mmes. Ralph Dalton and Dean Jones.

What's on the Menu?

The following menus will be served in Long Beach elementary schools in the week of April 30-May 4:

MONDAY: Spaghetti, Southern style, buttered green beans, peach-cottage cheese salad, raisin bread squares and milk.

TUESDAY: Hamburger, potato salad, spicy applesauce, oatmeal cookie and milk.

WEDNESDAY: Lasagne, chopped spinach, raspberry sauce with whipped topping, peanut butter sandwich and milk.

THURSDAY: Hot sliced pork, cranberry sauce, mashed potatoes with gravy, California fruit cup, whole wheat bread and butter and milk.

FRIDAY: Macaroni and cheese, garden peas, carrot-raisin salad, tuna sandwich and milk.

The above items make up the elementary children's lunch 30c. Soup and salad from the junior-senior high school a la carte menu are sold in the elementary schools, but they may be purchased by the children only after they have purchased the tray lunch.

JUNIOR-SENIOR HIGH

MONDAY: Italian spaghetti, garden salad, boysenberry sauce with whipped topping, whole wheat bread and butter and milk.

TUESDAY: Sliced ham, home style baked beans, buttered spinach, fruit gelatin, hot buttered French bread and milk.

WEDNESDAY: Diced turkey in gravy on mashed potatoes, buttered peas, shredded carrot salad, whole wheat bread and butter and milk.

THURSDAY: Creole noodles, whole kernel corn, spicy applesauce with cranberry garnish, raisin bread square, and milk.

FRIDAY: Baked fish with oven fried potatoes or buttered sauerkraut with wieners, buttered green beans, California fruit cup, whole wheat bread and butter and milk.

DBE to Hear Librarian Speak

Daughters of the British Empire will gather at 1 p.m. May 8 for a business meeting and program in Guild Hall of St. Luke's Episcopal Church. The meeting originally was scheduled this Tuesday.

Mrs. Helene Silver of the Department of Science and Industry, Long Beach public library, will give an outline of her department's functions and will review some of the material available.

Fabric Facts

by BETTY BLAKE
Foasberg's Fabric Care Counselor

Spots on the Rug—Do not try to remove mud from a rug or carpet. Let it dry; then brush out. For spills we have HOST Drycleaner for Carpets. Pour this powder on spot, brush in, allow 5 minutes for drying. Then vacuum up the powder and usually the spot is gone. Beauty of this drycleaning is that even in the middle of a party you can catch spills before they set and stain.

Painted Stripes — Check patterns with stenciled or painted stripes. Cleaners can't usually guarantee they won't come off. Ask your store.

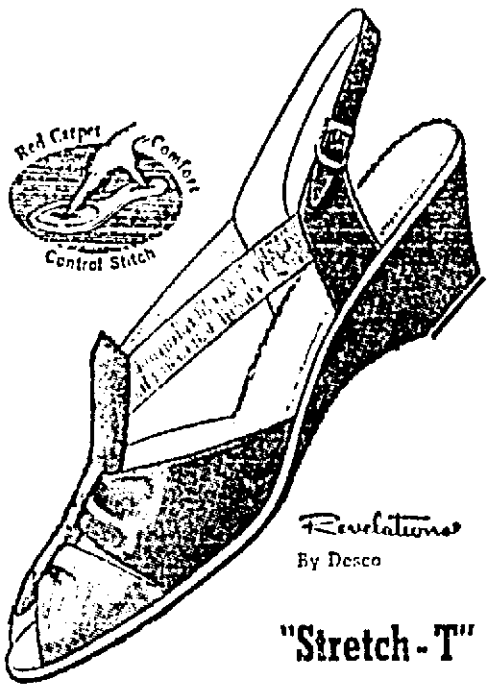

Club News—If you'd like an unusual talk and demonstration on fabrics, tell your program chairman to phone me.

After a Fashion

New Denims Go Everywhere, Do Everything

By MARY ELLIS
I.P-T Fashion Editor

Dame Fashion has taken denim out of the doldrums, has given it new dash and derring-do.

This onetime workhorse of the garment world, now refined, is turning up in summer stunners for island-hoppers, job-goers, supermarket shoppers, sneaker-addicts, sun fadists, beachniks.

A new lightweight version, called chambray denim, is cool and soft — a fashion-natural for children's toggery, country dance dresses and at-home culottes. Extra bonus: it virtually "irons" in the wash. Medium weights, easy-care and crease-resistant, are favorites for sailing togs and rainwear. And the heaviest, a cowboy jeans weight, goes nautical in bell-bottom pants and breeze-resistant jackets.

Favorite colors: "faded" shades of blue and charcoal, also denim with ticking stripes. Their special attraction: all "mellow" with age, improve with washing!

UP-DATED DENIM turns danceable in new lightweight easy-care Suritone, embroidered in matching or contrasting colors.

MOTHER-DAUGHTER fashions in lightweight denim, by Pepperell, feature fringed shorts, shirt for mom; appliqued version for small fry.

DASHING COTTON DENIM takes to sea in striped jacket teamed with bell-bottom sailor pants in sturdy blue jean fabric, matching bag. Jacket lowers to cover bathing suit or shorts; hood raises to shut out sea breezes.

FUN-IN-SUN SUIT for small fry is designed of sturdy cotton denim, appliqued with baby ducklings. Fabric, by Pepperell, is easy-care, drip-dry.

Assumes Helm of Auxiliary

Mrs. William Nesbitt will assume presidency of Long Beach Auxiliary of the Southern California Symphony Association at a May Day luncheon Tuesday in Virginia Country Club. She succeeds Mrs. Lewis T. Dorgan.

Long active in the city's civic and social affairs, Mrs. Nesbitt's auxiliary background includes service as both ticket and program chairman. She is a member of Long Beach Assistance League, serving as chairman of West Long Beach Girls Club, and is a past president of GOP Juniors.

• • • •

OTHER OFFICERS to be installed by Mrs. John W. Persons are Mmes. James K. McCall, H. W. Hodges, Alfred M. Durfee, Raymond Peterson, Geza J. Krempels, Betty Benwell, H. G. Randall, Harvey G. Doody, Fletcher M. Young, Edwin Harvey, Mark H. Keating, George R. Gerveny, Arnold J. Romeyn, Chris T. Conway.

The afternoon program will feature Laura Killingsworth in her program, "Fantasy of Silk, Satin and Song," with Rose Bishop as accompanist.

Lakewood Orchestra Will Play

In recognition of Public Schools Week, the Lakewood High School Orchestra, directed by John Swanson, will be featured on the community program in Exhibit Hall of Municipal Auditorium Monday evening.

Demonstrating the "professional" ability and versatility attained through the music curriculum of the public schools in Long Beach Unified School District, the orchestra will be heard in a variety of well known numbers ranging from the popular classics through the nostalgic music associated with American folklore.

• • • •

SPONSORED by the Long Beach Recreation Department, the show opens at 7:30 p.m. with a half-hour of community singing. Old time dancing until 11 p.m. follows the orchestral hour. Auditorium doors open at 7 o'clock for this free civic program.

Amvet Auxiliary

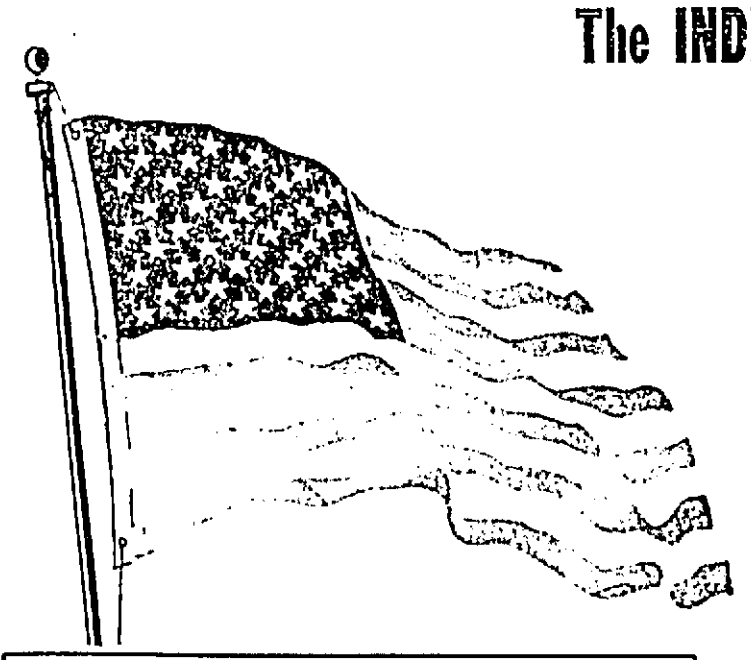

Auxiliary to Amvet Post 28 will meet at 8 p.m. Tuesday in the new clubhouse, 1002 Artesia Blvd.

On Course in Air, at Stove

Jackson R. McGowen

By MILDRED K. FLANARY
L. P-T Food Editor

Apparently he's been airborne most of his life! This writer, too, is far-out and way-over-her-head, what with swing-tail jets, DC's this and that, wing cords, turbo compound, configuration, etc.

Anyway, today's Chef of the Week, Jackson (Jack) R. McGowen, knows what it's all about, because he's vice president-general manager, Aircraft Division of the Douglas Aircraft Co. Need we add that his colleagues contend that he was born to be a top-flight, capable administrator and manager.

Born in Sipsey, Ala., McGowen left there at the age of 17 and enrolled in the Indiana Technical College at Fort Wayne, from which he graduated with his B.S. and A.E. degrees.

Though McGowen decided at the age of 10 to become a pilot, we must qualify an earlier statement. He WAS underground for a time . . . in the coal mines in Alabama, during his school years.

Following college, his career as a pilot was again held in abeyance. He enrolled in a special course for diplomatic service.

• • • •

AVIATION finally won out, however, and from 1939 to '46, he served as Civil Aviation Administration liaison engineer at Douglas. In 1946, he became assistant chief project engineer for the DC-6 program and subsequently was named chief project engineer. In '52, he was assigned as chief project engineer for both the DC-6 and DC-7 series.

His progression was continuous, and from '52 to '59, McGowen acted as manager for an aircraft early warning system and as manager of the swing-tail jet transport program. Early in March of that same year, he was appointed assistant to the senior vice president-manufacturing, with responsibility for the coordination of the DC-8 program.

He was named director of commercial sales in September 1959; and in October elected a Douglas vice president and named director of commercial programs. In April of '61, he became a member of the board of directors; and after 22 years of aircraft experience, was appointed to his present position. McGowen is a member of the National Aviation Club, Washington, D.C.

A GOLFER with a hole-in-one to his credit at Bel Air, he is also an avid reader and bridge hound. He has a mania, too, for adding and subtracting walls. A zealous remodeler, he redoes each new home in which they move. Even the new buildings at Douglas fascinate him.

Serious and intensely devoted to business, he rarely takes a vacation. And, inasmuch as he travels widely throughout the world for Douglas, his absences from home unfortunately are numerous. But he still finds time to get-away-from-it-all with his wife, the former Dolores O'Connor, and three teen-age daughters, Margaret, Catherine and Elizabeth.

In fact, he's so fond of the recipe he's sharing with us today, that he calls it "Beef Dolores." It just might be that she whipped-it-up!

BEEF DOLORES

- 5 lb. 7-bone roast (2 or 3 inches thick)
- ½ tps. EACH—black pepper, mace, red pepper and allspice
- 1 tsp. EACH—meat tenderizer and Ac'cent
- 1 tblsp. salt
- 2 medium onions, chopped
- 2 cloves garlic, chopped
- 2 cups salad oil
- Juice of 3 lemons
- 2 tblsp. Tarragon vinegar
- 2 bay leaves
- 1 cup cooking Sherry
- 2 large boiling potatoes, diced
- 4 large carrots, sliced lengthwise
- 1 cup flour
- 1 can consomme

Wipe meat with damp cloth. Pound or slice every-half-inch (¼" deep). Mix dry ingredients with 1 tblsp. flour and rub thoroughly into meat.

Marinate meat for 6 or 8 hours in mixture of onions, garlic, lemon juice, vinegar and 1½ cups salad oil, and ¾ cup Sherry. Baste or turn from time-to-time with flour and sear in remaining salad oil. Add tomato paste, consomme, bay leaves marination juices. Simmer for 3 hours in covered pan. Add carrots, potatoes and simmer for 30 minutes. Remove meat, add remaining flour and stir. Return meat to gravy, add Sherry, and simmer in open pan until potatoes are soft. Cover and keep hot until served.

WHY GROW OLD?

Nature Becoming More Beautiful--Why Not You?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Spring Fever is a confusing and contradictory malady, consisting of romance and floor polish; a relaxing, stretchy laziness, and a frenzy for self-improvement! Fortunately, it is not fatal and one recovers in time.

As you look around you can see that the birds are in the trees, the flowers are blooming or are on the way, and I bet there is a bee in your bonnet!

All nature is becoming more beautiful, is being made over so why not you?

WHY NOT? You probably spent a week or more spring cleaning your house. Why not spend that much time on yourself? You can accomplish wonders with a short, concentrated self-improvement program.

• • • •

YOU MAY realize that you are only five to 10 pounds away from a lovely figure. These may have slipped up on you during the winter, or may have lingered on from last summer when you were uncomfortable and self-conscious in a swim suit. You probably said to yourself, "Never again!"

If you are in the mood for a spring makeover (and who isn't?), I am here to help you. I am bringing you my 9-Day Reducing Diet which gives you a loss of from five to 10 pounds in nine days.

• • • •

ACTUALLY, this is a happy diet. Thousands of readers have told me that they were happy while following it because of the results, and also because they were well fed.

Monday the menus for Tuesday will appear in this column, so that you can shop a day ahead for the prescribed food.

That will be the procedure for nine days—each day the following day's menus will be printed.

PUBLIC SCHOOLS WEEK EVENTS SET AT CITY

Special activities in connection with the 43rd annual Public Schools Week are scheduled Monday through Friday at all three divisions of Long Beach City College.

Monday evening the Business and Technology Division ASB Council will sponsor the annual Advisory Committee Dinner to honor business, labor and industrial representatives who serve on 40 subject-area committees. Student speaker at the program, which starts at 6:30 in the cafeteria, will be ASB secretary Jan Mason. Elsewhere on campus, the same evening, more than 2,000 visitors are expected to tour the annual Industrial-Vocational Arts Exhibit.

Also on Monday, the General Adult Division student body will be hosts for special evening programs and exhibits scheduled at Polytechnic, Wilson, Jordan, Millikan, Lakewood and West Adult Centers. Classrooms and facilities will be open to the public throughout the week.

• • • •

MEMBERS of the Liberal Arts Division ASB Cabinet will be hosts on Thursday to some 125 members of the Uptown Kiwanis and East Long Beach Kiwanis clubs at a luncheon program in the student lounge. ASB president Jerry Schulte will be master of ceremonies. Music will be provided by the College Choir, which is also scheduled to sing for the Long Beach Rotary Club on Wednesday.

Other events of the week on the LAD campus include Mother-Daughter Tea on Wednesday sponsored by the Order of Kassai, women's honorary service group. Faculty sponsor Alice Marie Garrison will show color slides taken on her recent sabbatical tour of Europe. Kassai members will also be hostesses for the Kiwanis luncheon on Thursday.

• • • •

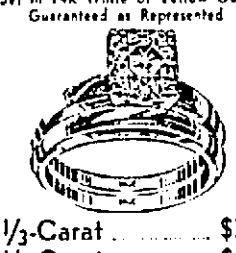

JOINTLY sponsored by the ASB Cabinet and the Associated Men Students will be the showing of "Going My Wave" (latest color surfing film by John Severson) at 8:15 p.m. Friday and Saturday in the college auditorium. Proceeds go to the AMS welfare fund.

BTD students are looking forward to another Co-Rec program Saturday night, sponsored jointly by Kisab, International Club, Norsemen, and the Society of Technical Writers and Publishers.

Winners of BTD's month-long "Best-Dressed Contest" were finally revealed at a gala assembly last week. Winners in the business and general education category were Mrs. Adelene Wing of Voksens and F. B. Lewandowski of Associated Junior Retailers. From the technology classes, the two prize winners were Dave Bleasdell of Airframe and Powerplant Club and Cindi Burrill, ASB Council representative.

Sold's in a Head Over Heels Hurry

DEAR MRS. MAYFIELD:

I'm so in love I'm miserable. Can't sleep, can't eat, have nothing to say, stare into space — but I'm happy.

I found the girl of my dreams just last night. We danced, rode the roller coaster and I'm still riding the clouds of outer space.

This morning I woke about 5 a.m. I tried to wait, but by 6 I was on the phone. You'd think she'd be cross, since I didn't get her home much earlier, but she wasn't.

I want to propose before she gets away. It's too good to be true. But is it too soon? Would she be shocked?—SOLD

DEAR SOLD:

Get off the roller coaster, Buster, before she makes you dizzier. Don't you dare propose. Tell her anything—you love her, adore and worship her, will do anything for her, but don't be more definite than that!

Suppose she feels just like you do. And suppose she accepts the offer of your humble but hot hand in wedlock. And then suppose you, or she, has a change of mind. Some do, you know.

Dear Molly Mayfield

Wouldn't it be embarrassing to retract a proposal?

I'm treating it lightly, but it's a weighty matter. Very serious, this uniting for a lifetime is! It takes thought and more thought and still some get caught in a mismated maze.

So keep your love and dreams shining clean and don't rush things when spring's orbiting through your veins.—M.M.

• • • •

DEAR MRS. MAYFIELD:

I'm so darned lonely. I'm 51, and my husband has many outside interests, although we do keep fairly busy evenings. But during the day I just don't know what to do with myself.

I'm a college graduate. I should have many ideas on what to do. But so far I'm what you might call "swinging on a limb."

Any suggestions you have I would appreciate.—MRS. F.P.C.

DEAR MRS. F.P.C.:

I had a letter the other day from the Veteran's Administration which impressed me deeply. It simply outlined the work that over 100,000 volunteers are doing for hospitalized veterans. These volunteers are devoting six million hours to their work!

And still more workers are needed — men and women from teenage to golden age.

If this interests you, you might inquire at Long Beach VA Hospital, or write care of Information Service, Washington D.C., Attention: Fred Panzer, Assistant Director of Special Projects.—M.M.

• • • •

DEAR MRS. MAYFIELD:

Please don't think I am overly sentimental, but a few short months ago I broke up with my girl friend. I know now I will never be able to forget her.

I've tried going out with others, but it doesn't help. I have also tried hard to get her to talk to me, or even write to me, but she is very stubborn.

You see, one night a short time before we broke up I went on a party and did get a little tight. Nothing bad happened, you understand, but she won't forgive me.

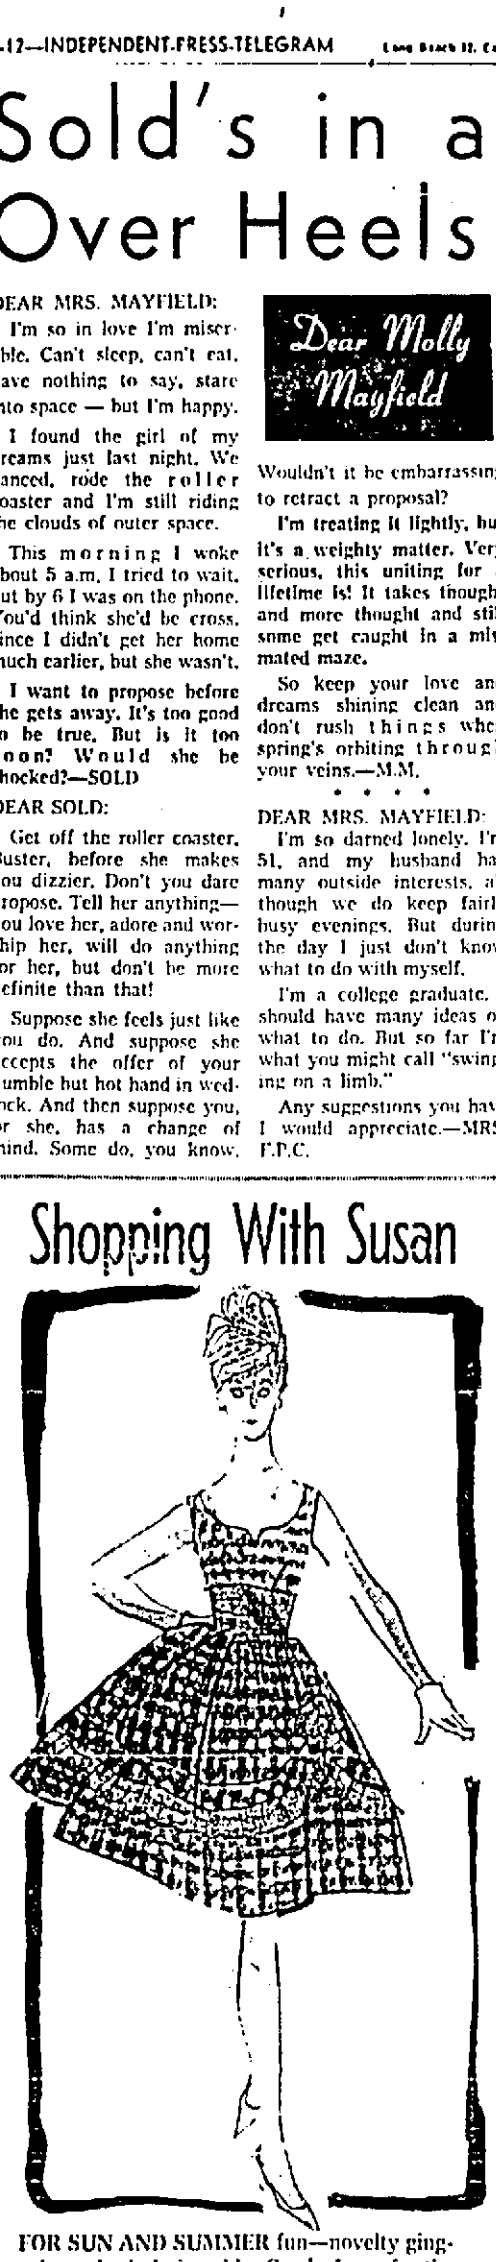

Molly, her lips are like the sweetest of vineyard wines, her eyes the twinkle of every star in the heavens, and her heart is as solid as the greatest mountain, yet as soft as a silken thread.

Am I not entitled to a few mistakes, my love, my dove, M.V.? (Ask her for me, won't you, Molly?)—CURLY

DEAR CURLY:

Surely your plaintive plea will touch the marble heart of M.V. But probably not half so deeply as proof that you won't goof again. CAN you prove it?—M.M.

THE APPROPRIATELY NAMED SWIFTS ARE PROBABLY THE SPEEDIEST OF BIRDS ON THE WING

LIVING ENTIRELY ON INSECTS CAUGHT IN THE AIR, THESE FEATHERED "FLY TRAPS" SPEND MOST OF THE DAYLIGHT HOURS IN FLIGHT...

AND SOME HAVE UNIQUE METHODS OF MANEUVERING

CERTAIN MEMBERS OF THE FAMILY— FOR EXAMPLE, OUR OWN CHIMNEY SWIFT— POSSESS SHORT, STIFF TAILS WHICH ARE INEFFECTIVE AS RUDDERS...

SO, TO CHANGE DIRECTION, ONE WING IS MOVED MORE RAPIDLY THAN THE OTHER...

AND THE SPEED OF THE ACCELERATED WING BEAT DETERMINES THE ARC OF THE TURN

TRAIL WAYS

THE LARGE, SPINETAILED SWIFTS OF ASIA HAVE BEEN RE-PORTED TO EXCEED SPEEDS OF 200 M.P.H. IN LEVEL FLIGHT

THOUGH THE WINGS BEAT SO RAPIDLY THEY ARE HARD TO FOLLOW WITH THE EYE, THE SWIFT IS CAPABLE OF SPENDING MANY HOURS IN THE AIR WITHOUT REST

SHORT, WEAK LEGS WILL NOT SUPPORT THEIR STREAMLINED BODIES IN NORMAL FASHION, SO THESE BIRDS USUALLY PERCH UPRIGHT LIKE WOODPECKERS

Why do A-1 used cars get extra attention from your Ford Dealer?

Because he believes in treating his customers in a way which will keep them as customers. Your Ford A-1 Used Car Dealer is in business to stay. Someday he is going to want to sell you a new car, and that means the used car he sells you today must be satisfactory. That's why only trade-ins of superior quality receive the special processing that makes them A-1 used cars.

The quest for quality. Not every trade-in qualifies for the A-1 sticker. Before any used car is accepted as "A-1" it must be inspected, road-tested and reconditioned if necessary. Thus, used car specialists can spot any real faults or even trouble that's "brewing"—and have an opportunity to catch it in time! This means you are not likely to buy other people's problems.

Cars for sports . . . or spinsters! Right now, your Ford Dealer is selling more new cars than ever before . . . resulting in a record number and variety of trade-ins. So he has an unusually large choice of popular makes and models standing on his used car lot. Today is the very best time to find preferred A-1 quality to match the make, the model and money you have in mind!

The man who makes A-1 work. Your Ford Dealer believes the important thing is to offer you A-1 Quality at an A-1 Value. That's why only the better used cars can make the grade. And as your dealer must make room for more trade-ins, he prices his A-1's at low, attractive costs to move quickly. Day in, day out, he has the best used car buys in town. See him soon!

THE COVER

Welcoming a new Ramona to the cast of the Ramona Outdoor Play has become old hat for Maurice Jara, who will appear in this year's dramatic classic for the 12th time as the ill-fated Indian hero, Alessandro. This year's Ramona, appearing in the role for the first time, is Hollywood movie and television actress, Pamela Grey. The 22-year-old beauty is the 12th girl to play the role in the pageant's 35-year history. On our cover Jara and Miss Grey pose in a scene from the play. On Page 7, Hal Wiener takes you behind the scenes of the colorful classic, which opened yesterday in the Ramona Bowl at Hemet, to show how the everyday citizens of the little town prepare for their unique presentation.

LA REINA RULE

WHAT YOUR NAME MEANS

Send your name to LaReina Rule in care of Southland Magazine, Independent, Press-Telegram, 604 Pine Ave., Long Beach 12, Calif., for origin, meaning and brief genealogy, for reply only in this column.

DEAR MISS RULE: Please give brief genealogy on WALTON — Mrs. E.W., E.J., Long Beach.

E.W., E.J.: WALTON portrayed an old "Walled farmstead" in 11th century Britain. Twenty-five villages called Walton are in various parts of England. The coat-of-arms of the Waltons of Essex has a red fleur-de-lis on a silver shield. The Rev. William Walton was among the first Massachusetts settlers in the 1600s.

DEAR MISS RULE: Have you information on RAMIREZ.—T. D., Long Beach.

T. D.: RAMIREZ, a family from Spain, is traced to a Gothic settler from eastern Europe who settled in Spain over 1,000 years ago. This outstanding person was known as Ragin-Mar, meaning "Family counselor." Spanish alteration of his cognomen produced Ramar, then Ramir. The Ramirez family (Sons of Ramir) were granted a coat-of-arms in old Castile. Their shield is silver, emblazoned in the center with a rampant lion standing by the trunk of a green tree. The border of the shield is decorated with a red band embossed with eight gold semi-circles.

DEAR MISS RULE: Please explain STAR. — L.S., Bellflower.

L.S.: STAR had a variety of origins in early England. The early spellings of this surname were Ster, Sterre and Stare. Ster and Sterre mean "Star," and were derived from ancestral ownership of an inn called "The Star." The original of Stare, meaning "Starling bird" was the same, from a shop or an inn trademarked with a picture of a starling. John Le Ster was an Oxford resident in the late 1200s. The family coat-of-arms has a red heart below a red, fur-covered stripe on a silver shield.

DEAR MISS RULE: Would like history on LEONARD.—Mrs. I.S., Long Beach.

I.S.: LEONARD may be English or Irish. English Leonards are traced to a Saxon warrior ancestor called "Leon-hard" meaning "Lion-brave." Early records list William Leonard of Huntingdon in 1273. The English Leonard coat-of-arms has three silver fleurs-de-lis on a blue stripe across a gold shield. Irish Leonards Anglicized their name from O'Leannan, an ancient Gaelic cognomen for "Sons of the man who wore a cloak." The primary American ancestor was Henry Leonard who obtained a large land grant near Boston, Mass., in 1626, following his arrival there. Irish Leonards were represented by James Leonard of County Fermanagh who settled in Westmoreland County, Penn., in the mid-1700s.

DEAR MISS RULE: Would like the analysis of ROOD.—F.L., Long Beach.

F.L.: ROOD, linguists and philologists say, alludes to a family who lived by a wayside shrine that consisted of a "Rood" or "Crucifix" in medieval Britain. Old records list George Roode of Oxford, 1554. I find no coat-of-arms for Rood. Number of this family were 17th century settlers of New England.

Guide: Don't Push

By Harry Karns
Education Research Associates

HERE'S ONE of the ironies of life: Some parents, in their desire for their child to succeed in school and in his career when he gets out of school, push him so hard that he falls short of the mark he is capable of making.

Such parents need to learn the difference between motivation and push.

Excessive pressure by teacher or parent on the child tends to make him nervous and give him a feeling of inadequacy; these feelings distract him; the result is exactly the opposite from what the teacher or parent intended.

Normally, a child has a priceless, fresh enthusiasm. He is ready to go down the roads of learning that are opened to him.

But find out what his best speed is. Evaluate his ability and the stage of his development. Remember that these factors vary widely in the average elementary school class. Some students are as much as four years ahead of others. The student who develops slowly may eventually catch up with his more advanced classmate. Meanwhile, he needs guidance rather than a firm shove.

THE PARENT who really wants to help will provide an intellectual environment that creates respect for and interest in learning. The number of books in the home and the quality of the conversation have a direct bearing on academic achievement.

Don't merely scold. Open up new avenues of thought. If you don't want the youngster to waste away his precious minutes, provide him interesting and constructive experiences. Take him to art galleries, museums, libraries. Answer his questions.

But you may be sure of this: If you try to thrust an art, a career, or a book upon him, he will resist. In the end, the choices must be his. Otherwise, he will feel that something has been hung around his neck.

YOU CAN challenge his mind (but make sure the challenge is not too big). You can open new worlds of thought. You can guide and suggest.

If you do these things, the chances are good that you will produce a scholar.

If you depend on push and force, the chances are good that you will produce a rebel.

(If you wish assistance in helping your child to do good work in school, mail questions and requests to Harry Karns, Room 403, Independent, Press-Telegram, Sixth and Pine, Long Beach 12. Letters cannot be answered individually, but some will be answered in this "Grade Card" column.)

Find New Aid for Hemophiles

By Ben Zinser
Independent Press Telegram Medical Science Writer

A TEAM of researchers reports the value of the cortisone-like drug prednisone as an aid in preventing the bleeding of hemophilia.

Harvard School of Dental Medicine researchers used the drug as an adjunct to plasma replacement in the treatment of 23 patients with hemophilia who underwent more than 40 oral surgical procedures.

Result: A decrease in the amount of bleeding after surgery. A firmer clot at the place of extraction. A shortened hospital stay.

The report is in the Journal of the American Medical Association.

Hemophilia is an inherited disease in which the blood fails to clot and abnormal bleeding occurs.

FOLLOWING a standard 10-minute presurgery scrub with surgical soap, researchers counted the staphylococcal bacteria count on a surgeon's fingertips.

Surprisingly there were more staph on the fingers after the scrub than before.

Possible explanation: Scrub procedures may force deep-lying microorganisms to the surface of the skin.

VA researchers in Albuquerque, N.M., who reported the findings in "Annals of Surgery," say that a five-minute soak in Zephiran chloride solution after scrubbing reduced staph count to what is considered a reasonably safe level.

MORE THAN a year and a half ago surgeons at St. Louis Children's Hospital were forced to remove 80 per cent of a 5-week-old boy's small intestine.

The child has survived and grown at a normal rate without nutritional defects, the surgeons report in "Annals of Surgery."

HOW LONG you boil an egg has no effect on its cholesterol count.

So says Philip L. White, Sc. D., secretary of the Council on Foods and Nutrition of the American Medical Association.

One egg contains about 340 milligrams of cholesterol, a fat-like substance that also appears normally in the body.

SLIDING should be banned in Little League baseball for boys 8 to 14 years old, insists Dr. Robert L. Larson of Eugene, Ore.

Dr. Larson, in an interview with Pediatric Herald, a doctors' newspaper, says that sliding is responsible for most major injuries in kid baseball.

Before a boy reaches high school age, he lacks the coordination necessary to master skill in sliding, Dr. Larson asserts.

ON THE ISLAND of Bali, men are the traditional attendants at childbirth, the World Health Organization reports. No one knows how the practice of "midhusbands" began.

Some observers have suggested that religion may be a factor. Bali is the only Hindu island in predominantly Moslem Indonesia. Yet in Hindu India most village midwives are women.

According to a report in "The Practitioner," one Balinese midwife—midhusband, that is—gives this explanation:

"You cannot trust women with important matters."

FACTS about baby weights, from a report in "Obstetrics & Gynecology:

Non-white babies weigh less at birth than white babies. Boys are usually heavier than girls. Second babies weigh more than the firstborn of similar sex.

Townsfolk of Hemet and San Jacinto again produce their famous play . . .

Curtain Time for Ramona

By Hal Wiener

"FIFTEEN MINUTES," comes the call over the loud speaker.

There is a flurry of excitement. Costumers, make-up specialists, and fitters scurry back and forth helping this girl into her gingham dress, and that boy to adjust his Indian wig.

It is time for the start up the long trail, from the cast house, to open the 35th anniversary edition of the famed Ramona Outdoor Play which opened yesterday and which will be staged again today and Saturday and Sunday afternoons, May 5, 6, 12 and 13, at the Ramona Bowl near Hemet.

The townfolks of Hemet and San Jacinto devote endless hours of work, preparing the 350 costumes, hundreds of wigs, boxes and boxes of make-up, the hundreds of other items, and props that go into this production. It's their show and theirs alone.

"Don't let your jeans roll down, because they'll show under your dress," one fitter cautions a girl of 14, making her first appearance in the play.

"Be sure to spread that blanket on the ground behind that rock. And do you have enough comic books? It's quite a spell before you're called on to pop up from behind that boulder. Now, you know your cue. Be sure to listen for it. On your way now," a motherly helper says to a young "Indian sprout" not over 8 years old, also making his start in the play as a rock Indian.

"This effort takes coordination from many different sources," says Ralph Freud, director, who is always calm, even in the face of many emergencies, which, for some reason, always seem to arise at the last minute.

"We've got a sell-out," says Kathleen Gilman, assistant director, who pops her head in the cast house door. "Now remember that change we made, in rehearsal last week, where you start up the hill after your farewell speech," she says to Robert Taylor, dressed in the flowing robes of Father Salvederra. "There's no way to cue you, but I'm sure you have it right, now," and she smiles, as only Kathleen Gilman can, and leaves for the director's booth at the top of the amphitheater.

"This is it. Hit the trail, folks. Good luck. Here we go. Jose Arias, lead your musicians. It's all in your hands now. You're on," it was Freud's voice coming over the "squawk box" in the cast house, from the director's booth. The 35th opening of the Ramona Play is underway.

The cast house that was crowded a minute before is suddenly empty. The unsung heroes of this and the many productions that have gone on before, are alone, and have time to take a breather.

There is Berte Paisley, chairman of the make-up department, a resident of the San Jacinto Valley for many years, who studied art in the Los Angeles schools; Mable Hight, serving her 15th year on the costume committee, a long time resident of the valley, who is active in home economics work at the Hemet Farmers Fair; Eva Dunham, who has lived in San Jacinto for a long time, serving as director of the children of the Rancho; Mrs. Bernice Sly, who directs the Spanish dance group; Lewis Barksdale, who is part Indian, and directs the Indian dancers, who is active in Boy Scout work; Mrs. Norma Gibbel, chairman of the all important properties committee; and John Gilbert, who directs the chorus of the play.

GWEN SORENSON, stage manager, is like a right hand to both Freud and Kathleen Gilman.

"Things went very smoothly this year," says Grace Weed, who assists in the wig and make-up department. "Isn't that new Ramona (Pamela Grey) a sweet thing?" asks Myrtle Decker.

"There goes the bell, they'll be coming back soon Myrtle, have you enough of that No. 1 make-up? I think Maurice Jara (Alessandro) will need some additional touches. Alma, be sure to tell Fanchon Jennings to put a bit more eye shadow on," and busy Berte Paisley, who never seems to stop working, prepares to have things ready for costume changes, as cast members begin returning.

And so it goes for the next two weekends. Organized confusion, one person called it. But that's show business, and these people love it. They are already talking and making plans for next year . . .

Hollywood beauty turned Indian girl, Pamela Grey plays "Ramona," the tragic heroine of the famed outdoor pageant.

Candid camera catches Miss Grey adding touches to make-up, for play, had getting helping hand from Grace Weed.

There's really no mystery why LBCC swim teams always win . . . it's the

Poppy Seed Caper

By Jerome Hall

IF MONTE NITZKOWSKI can come up with something to top his poppy seed caper, Long Beach City College is going to make it seven in a row.

Seven state junior college swimming championships in a row, that is.

The poppy seed caper and the leg shaving gimmick and the "runny honey" trick and a few other pieces of ingenious psuedo-psychology have made LBCC aquatics stars the most famous jaycee performers in the country.

Long Beach City College is to the two-year schools what USC, Yale and Indiana are to the four-year institutions—the best.

But if the Long Beach school is to maintain its position, the young coach is going to have to come up with a brainstorm between now and next weekend when the state finals are held at El Camino College.

NITZKOWSKI, who at the age of 34 has made a national reputation for himself and the school, is working on it.

This year's team has not compiled the impressive records and the victory streak of the recent teams Nitzkowski has produced, but there is hope for that seventh state crown in a row.

Last year's team didn't look like a world beater, either, until the state finals.

The 1961 Vikings lost the Metropolitan Conference meet by 70 points and as Nitzkowski says, "That's really getting clobbered." That's like losing a football game by five touchdowns. Then, in the Southern Cal championships, LBCC lost to the same team, Santa Monica, by only 21 points.

In the state meet Long Beach beat Santa Monica by 8 points and won the crown.

THE EXPLANATION is simple. Monte Nitzkowski is a master at underwater psychology.

"We build our entire season around the one meet, the state meet," says Nitzkowski. The reason is that when the four-year colleges hand out athletic scholarships, they check a boy's record in his toughest competition of the year. LBCC swimmers invariably achieve their peak performances in the state finals.

In addition to a training routine that puts the LBCC swimmers at their physical peak for the big finale, Nitzkowski has come up with some remarkable "assists" in his seven years of coaching the Vikings.

Like the time his team was on a road trip to Cal and Stanford. When bus connections became entangled, the boys lost most of the night's sleep before opposing Stanford, which had not lost a dual meet in 10 years.

NITZKOWSKI saw the need of a stimulant. So he rushed to a health food store and got some supplies. In the locker room before the meet he concocted his brew. He mixed orange juice with soya bean flour and sprinkled some poppy seeds over the top.

"Here," he commanded, "drink this and you'll win."

The boy entering the first race downed his and ran for the pool. "That kid did the best time in his life," recalls Nitzkowski. The weary LBCC team went on to hand Stanford its first defeat in a decade.

Later that season, USC beat Stanford and it was a big event in intercollegiate athletics. Nobody mentioned the accomplishment of the poppy seed kids.

Monte's next idea was for his swimmers to shave their legs. "I had a terrible time getting the first one to do it, as you can understand," says Nitzkowski. "But finally Butsy Wyre from Jordan High School agreed. Luckily, he did better than ever before that day. So all the kids on the team shaved their legs, and now its done all over the country. Now they even shave their heads."

Last year when Nitzkowski's team failed to wi. the conference title for the first time in five years, he recognized that drastic steps were needed. So he mixed a new potion and delivered a stirring lecture about its energy value.

THE POTION was wild flower honey combined with jasmine tea.

"I've read reports by doctors claiming there's value to drinking this combination," says Nitzkowski, "and I've read reports saying its just imaginary. But one thing I know: it did a good job."

City College swim teams have so dominated jaycee competition the past half-dozen years that they rated headlines only when they were beaten.

The current team is determined it will not make that kind of headlines in the state finals beginning Friday.

Even if they have to hold their noses and swallow a new Nitzkowski nectar.

When Coach Nitzkowski isn't fashioning championship swim teams, he is busy as school's men's counselor.

The Sign of a Taut Ship

By Vint Mader

THE TIME is a pleasant Sunday afternoon and the place is the waters off Alamitos Bay, where an outboard motorboat churns along as its owner and family enjoy their sea jaunt.

There is a hail from a patroling Coast Guard cutter. Coast Guardsmen board the boat. The pleasure craft is about to be inspected for compliance with the laws governing equipment and safety devices.

"So I guess here goes for a citation, sighs the owner, "I should have paid more attention to that auxiliary man and his checklist."

The man he is thinking about is a member of the United States Coast Guard Auxiliary, who offers a free "Courtesy Motorboat Examination" that exempts the boatman from a boarding unless he is observed in some glaring violation of boat-handling rules.

BOAT examinations are one of the busiest functions of the auxiliary's 11th District, headquartered in Long Beach.

A boat owner whose craft meets the auxiliary's staff requirements is awarded a decal —the sign of a taut ship, be it large or small. It is this large decal, showing through the boat's windscreen or cabin glass, that spares the owner a routine boarding—because the auxiliary's courtesy checkup is more thorough than the law-enforcement inspection made by the Coast Guard itself.

For instance, there is no legal requirement that a small boat have an anchor and line, but no auxiliary examiner gives a decal until that elementary equipment is aboard.

"Too often the examiner finds a boat supplied with suitable anchor, but minus the line to throw it out on," says Cmdr. Richard H. Hagadorn, professional Coast Guardsman who is assigned to the 11th Coast Guard District as full-time director of the 1,100 auxiliary members.

LAST YEAR examiners from the 11th district auxiliary conducted about 12,000 of these safety checks—all at the invitation of the boat owners. The Coast Guard made 22,000 boardings in the district.

With the springtime upsurge of boating activity, the auxiliary hits its busiest examination season. Around marina moorings, at launching ramps and on the waters, auxiliaries who have themselves been rigidly examined on their qualifications will be talking about safety with thousands of boat owners.

They will be seeking invitations to give the courtesy examination. For it is only at the owner's request that an examination is made.

OF THE 12,000 boats examined in 1961, only about 4,000 qualified for the coveted decal.

The other 8,000 failed to meet the required standards in lifesavers, lights, warning signals, fire extinguishers, elimination of fire hazards and so forth.

Regardless of the great number of failures, the examiners report deficiencies only to the owners of the boats.

The checklist is given to the owner. The examiner does not even keep a copy of it.

While the examination program is the auxiliary's big contribution to the world of pleasure boating, the organization conducts many other activities around the calendar, both serious and social.

The regular meetings of all levels from officers of the district to general meetings of the local basic units—the flotillas—are as much social as business. The auxiliary elects all its own officers.

HAND-IN-HAND with this democracy and sociability goes informality: there is none of the Coast Guard's military organization and discipline. Members have an authorized uniform, resembling the Coast Guardsmen's and distinguished by a shield insignia, but wearing or owning it is entirely optional.

Boating outings are, of course, a major auxiliary diversion, including an annual drawing room of large proportions, a dining room, study, out-sized kitchen, separate dinette, downstairs bedroom and bath, and, on the second floor, three large bedrooms, bath, spacious powder room, and a sewing or work room.

IN THE FORMAL entry, a tall French clock ticks softly in the corner near the winding staircase. Valuable pieces of bric-a-brac from all over the world are used as part of the decor and, in some cases, for definite and useful purposes. With professional adeptness and good taste, Mrs. Amar did her own decorating.

The decor is Mediterranean. Because this theme represents a blend of the best in so many countries, the end result is true elegance. In the case of the Amar home, the elegance is skillfully designed to produce a homey quality that is rare in many such surroundings.

Floor-to-ceiling drapes in the living room are topped with quilted cornices that match one of the couches. There are five different conversation groupings in the large room. Two chairs are covered in velvet, two others in silk with silver and red stripes. A broad mahogany breakfront in one corner holds countless small treasures in china and glass. Two small chairs, family heirlooms, in one corner date back to the 1880s.

THE FIREPLACE is framed in mirror above and to the floor on both sides. Twin Meissen candelabras adorn the mantel. An antique Syrian game table, inlaid with pearl, that unfolds for

ON A CORNER lot in the exclusive, quiet residential area of Bixby Knolls stands the stately, two-story home of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Amar, 4470 Olive Ave. It is the type of home that demands respect and attention, not only because of its gracious elegance, but because it is obviously not a typically California type of residence. It could be Mediterranean.

Curiously enough however the home has many features (not apparent from the outside) which lend themselves perfectly to the Southern California way of life. Among these are an enclosed barbecue room adjacent to the rear garden and a downstairs rumpus room furnished with casual rattan pieces in direct contrast to the formal upper rooms.

The home is built on a de luxe scale and includes a

Basement space is ample, providing for this rumpus room. Furnishings are of blond rattan in sharp contrast to the formal rooms in the upper portion of the dwelling.

Stairs sweep gracefully upward in the entry of the home, fitting backdrop for treasured antique clock.

various games, stands in one corner. Carpeting is a forest green shade.

The dining room is gracious and formal — large enough to accomodate all the extras: china cupboard, tea cart, sideboard, and serving table. A large bay window in the room faces the rear garden.

The study, located to the left of the entry hall, features the finest in mahogany wall paneling. Furnishings are tailored; this is a man's room. Bookshelves are recessed behind the desk. The walls are decorated with trophies and awards. The comfortable couch and chairs are leather. There is a TV in one corner. A camel saddle, upholstered in an avocado shade similar to the chairs, serves as a footstool or magazine table.

THE DOWNSTAIRS bedroom is a room of sentimental charm, furnished with pieces which the Amars had when they were married more than 50 years ago. An adjoining bath also serves as a downstairs powder room.

In contrast to the old-world formality of some of the other rooms, the kitchen and dinette are as modern as jet age. Streamlined and sparkling, with pink perfection everywhere, the rooms were recently redesigned by top kitchen designer, Kay Langen.

Upstairs, the master bedroom is large enough to accomodate twin four-poster beds, five occasional chairs including Victorian Mr. and Mrs. chairs, a desk, television set, and chests of drawers, with plenty of room to spare. A mirrored dressing room adjoins the room at one end, a bath on another.

The guest bedroom is done in French Provincial style. The headboard of the bed is recessed into one wall, and the alcove is papered with flowers.

Another bedroom employs purple touches in the French decor. A small sewing room nearby is bright and cheerful with windows overlooking the back garden.

THE DOWNSTAIRS basement is a large and spacious play and entertaining area. At the foot of the stairs, a walk-in bar, handsomely paneled in mahogany, faces the rumpus room. The latter is furnished with blond rataan down to the smallest accessory. Fireplace and piano add to comfort and interest. Lights can be dimmed to add to the atmosphere when parties are on the program.

The barbecue room, adjoining the garden, is entered from the outside of the house. It is appropriately furnished and is equipped with all the extras required for its purpose. The garden is expectly landscaped with full grown trees, blooming flowers and carefully tended shrubs.

"Two-storied," the home presents a stately demeanor in exterior composition, a bit on the Mediterranean side.

Wildlife Gets Help

By Enola Chamberlin

ALTHOUGH wild creatures have always had to contend with man for their right to live, it has generally been because man killed on purpose. He killed for food, for hide, for feathers or because the animals threatened him in some way or another.

But now has come a time when these wild things are killed only because they are in the wrong place at the wrong time. And to give man credit, he is helping to prevent this slaughter whenever and wherever he can.

Cars on the highways take their toll of animals even so large as deer. In an effort to prevent these accidental killings signs are posted wherever deer abound, warning motorists to watch out for them.

FRESHLY SURFACED tar roads are a hazard to chipmunks and squirrels that may try to scurry across them. Even birds, no doubt mistaking the shine of the tar for water, drop down and become stuck. To keep these tragedies from happening the forest service often allots men to patrol the areas while the tar is fresh. These rangers drive the small animals back where they can. Otherwise they rescue them.

In Florida, where the tiny key deer like tobacco to their death, men scout the roads picking up cigarette butts which lure these elf-like animals into the path of speeding cars. Signs are posted asking motorists not to discard their cigarettes. At the time this program of keeping the roads clean was started these deer were so nearly extinct that 25 were all that could be found. But now, within only a few years the herd has increased to 125.

Migratory birds also come in for their share of protective care. Laws have been passed to protect many of them. In this category, the hawk deserves especial mention. These birds that do so much more good than damage were rapidly being killed off as they roosted in trees on their north-south flight. Now in many states it is illegal to shoot or molest them during their migratory months.

BUT THERE are accidental hazards to flying birds. Ordinarily bird flight is high enough that nothing man has ever built extends into their fly way. But low clouds sometimes cause the birds to drop down. Since most land birds fly at night so they can feed by day, any light in the sky can confuse them, and they may fly into a solid object that holds it. And so man puts out his high lights in deference to the winged travelers. From April 15 to June 1, when birds are heading north, the beacon light atop the Empire State Building in New York City is turned off. It is extinguished again between September 15 and November 1, when the birds are heading south.

Such consideration by man for wild life. Combined with our efforts at conserving birds that may prevent further extinctions such as the great auk and the passenger pigeon.

Museum Happy!

Germany, a magnet for art lovers, now has a total of 31 museums of ethnology. Newest of these is the restored Freiburg Museum, housing exhibits from ancient cultures in Asia, Africa and the Arctic. Bronze statues from Nigeria, South Sea masks, Japanese tea sets and Peruvian vases are included in the collection.

Why be hurt by hemorrhoids

Recent research reveals fast new way to shrink hemorrhoid tissues, stop pain and itching—all without surgery. It's a combination of six modern medications in one complete formula: The Pazo Formula.

NEW, RELIABLE RELIEF. Pazo is the only leading formula with these six active ingredients to shrink and soothe hemorrhoid tissues. Research shows this new combination brings symptomatic relief even to long-time pile sufferers.

CLINICALLY TESTED BY DOCTORS: Pazo actually proves to do more than just shrink hemorrhoids. It also relieves pain and itching promptly, fights infection, promotes healing, and lubricates membranes.

Bus Tours Grow in Popularity

By Fred Taylor Kraft
Independent Press Telegram Travel Editor

WITH the first of its fleet of 500 sleek new Scenicruiser Service buses ordered for 1962 delivery now in service, Greyhound Lines appears to be stepping up its vacation tour planning.

These tours—long highly successful with Greyhound—already are rolling throughout the country, and more are in the works.

More than a few of the tours have new gimmicks which should give them added appeal to the vacationist.

For instance, there's the "Across America Escorted Tour" — starting from the West Coast with New York as the goal—which offers Americans the opportunity to see their own country, and at the same time enjoy this pleasure in company of visitors to the U.S. from Australia, New Zealand and other Pacific area countries drawn here by our own "See America" program.

DOM COPPOLILLO

Appointed manager for the western United States of Alitalia, the national airline of Italy, is Dom P. Coppolillo, with headquarters at 611 Wilshire Blvd., Los Angeles. One of the carrier's youngest executives, he has made travel his business since 1953.

TWO SUCH TOURS are now open, leaving Los Angeles on May 3 and May 31. Of 16 days' duration, the jaunts will move through Las Vegas, Grand Canyon, the Navajo country, Texas, Oklahoma, St. Louis, Chicago (two days), Detroit, Niagara Falls, and Washington, D.C.

Greyhound also has mapped 10 Seattle World's Fair Escorted Tours, each of nine days duration, with departures from Los Angeles scheduled May 9, 17 and 30; July 5 and 25; Aug. 8 and 22; Sept. 5 and 13; and Oct. 3.

Everything is included on these junkets—de luxe bus transportation, hotel accommodations at all overnight stops, monorail trip from downtown Seattle to the Fair, admission to the Fair and a complete land and water tour in and around Seattle. This trip includes the services of a trained escort who serves as guide and who relieves members of the party of such details as baggage handling at overnight stops.

EN ROUTE, scenic features will include an overnight visit in San Francisco and the scenic Mt. Shasta-Cascade area. Altogether, four nights will be spent in the Pacific Northwest and three full days in Seattle.

(In addition to the World's Fair tours, Greyhound again has planned a similar type of trip to the Canadian Rockies and the Pacific Northwest which will include the Seattle Fair.)

A series of four-day escorted tours to Yosemite National Park likewise is planned: June 12 and 26; July 12 and 24; Aug. 7 and 21; and Sept. 11. Included in the package are round trip transportation from Los Angeles by de luxe, air-conditioned coach; all meals en route and during the Yosemite stay; three nights in Yosemite with room and private bath; and escorted tours to points of interest within the park. As with the other tours, a trained escort will go along.

Any good travel agent can get you aboard the tour of your choice.

LARRY MACARAY, 1955 graduate of Long Beach State College and now a member of the art staff of El Camino College, will conduct a non-profit tour of 15 European cities — June 27-Aug. 9 — for the Danish International Student Committee. The nice thing about the tour, and one which should make it popular, is that it is planned to provide first-hand impressions, insights and facts about European culture, plus exciting bonuses such as a visit to Nymphenburg Castle in Munich, rides on the famed roller coaster with the fun-loving Danes in Copenhagen, and a steamer tour through the Greek Islands. Macaray now lives in Anaheim (P.O. Box 536).

REPLYING TO rumors that there is a shortage of rooms, the Seattle World's Fair asks prospective visitors to the exposition to apply for rooms through Expo-Lodging, Inc., Seattle 9, Wash.

"We have yet to refuse a reservation or change a date for any request for accommodation," Expo-Lodging chairman Ralph Lee told Canadian Pacific Railroad, which operates in the area.

Indian World to Display Art

By Winifred Layton

ONLY an arrow's thrust from the towering Wallowa mountain range, in the heart of the rugged Grande Ronde Valley of eastern Oregon, the third annual Indian Festival of Arts will take place June 22-26 in La Grande.

The setting, as well as the participants, radiates historical significance. Here the vacationist who is enamored by details of the Old West, the Oregon Trail, early customs of Nez Perce, Walla Walla, Klamath, Cayuse, Umatilla, Warm Springs and other tribes who inhabited the Northwest, will find a treat waiting.

REPRESENTATIVES of these tribes will play host to Indians from all over the North American continent who are at least one-half blood and who wish to compete for scholarships and other prizes. Featured entertainers, who are paying their own expenses to make the festival a success, will include Fred Beaver, baritone from Ardmore, Okla., who has studied voice in Italy; and the Indian choir of the Indian Presbyterian Church at Phoenix, Ariz., under the direction of Victor Manuel, a Pima Indian.

Among Northwest Indians participating as host entertainers are June Poitras, Klamath contralto who lives in Portland; Art Motanic, Umatilla baritone of Pilot Rock, Ore.; and the Boy Scout dancers from the Warm Springs Reservation.

In the field of visual art, George Cochran, Cherokee artist of Eugene, Ore., will display portraits of outstanding Indians.

Indians will compete for scholarships and prizes in contemporary and traditional media, both visual and performing. Not only is the purpose of the festival one of brotherhood between races but an incentive for the red man to keep alive the beautiful traditions of his heritage.

TO REACH La Grande, situated 260 miles southwest of Portland, travelers will find U. S. 30, the Interstate link between Portland and the East, a modern new freeway. The section crossing the Blue Mountains between Pendleton and La Grande is supposedly the only mountain freeway in the world, and is a part of the Federal Highway Program. At intervals it runs parallel with the Old Oregon Trail, designated by historical markers. For those desiring to travel from California through desert country the entire trip, the route through Klamath Falls to Bend is picturesque. Information regarding the many state parks, including some with overnight camping facilities, may be obtained by writing the Oregon State Highway Department, Travel Information Division, at Salem, Ore.

When only Indians lived in the Far West, Wallowa Lake centered Nez Perce realm. It's now vacation attraction.

AROUND THE WORLD WITH

DELAPLANE

"What documents do you need to drive in Europe? And do you save money buying a car and how do you ship it home?"

NOT ALL countries but some require an International Driving License — $2 — and two passport pictures at an AAA office.

The old carnet de passage, that involved documents at each border, is no longer needed, thank goodness. Whether you rent or drive, the place where you get the car should give you the right papers — the most important is liability insurance good in any country.

(The documents are not so easy in Iron Curtain countries. Better get AAA to advise you on those.)

Shipment home and import duty is usually handled by the seller. British Motor Corporation, for instance is handling all of it on the car I bought. It runs from $200 to $300 shipping with U.S. Customs charging you $100 to $200.

You still do better on a lot of cars than if you bought at home. However, on the Austin 850 I bought, I could do $135 better in the U.S. when you figure shipping and so on. But on the Austin-Healey, you do about $500 better in England.

On a Ford and Fiat you don't gain anything. You don't lose much either. You do very well on a Jaguar, Mercedes, Renault, Volkswagon, Triumph. The first two are a saving of about $600.

You should consider the gas mileage. Gasoline runs up to 90 cents a gallon — though in France and Italy you can buy cut-rate tourist coupons through the auto clubs. So I figure the $135 difference on my Austin 850 is recovered by its low gas consumption. And the fact I like it better than a bigger, hard-to-park car.

". . . a hotel in London that has TV. We have to keep the children quiet."

NEARLY all London hotels have TV available at small rentals or free. Nobody seems to buy TV sets. They all rent. You'll find the yellow section of the phone book full of rental ads — about $1 a week. Only two channels though and only part of the day.

". . . anything special you might need on the road in Europe?"

I find one of these travel kits with two Thermos bottles is a great help. You're always having a problem finding

Catalina Island's Fun-Sun Season Opens

By Sparky Saldana

CATALINA Island opens its summer season next Friday with a 3-day Spring Festival and, inaugurating the Festival, is the resumption of daily sailings to Avalon by the SS Catalina, long a favorite vacation vessel.

The Festival, which continues through next Sunday, will feature colorful pageantry, starring King Neptune and his court, a mammoth treasure hunt, parades, an array of marching bands and singing groups.

The opening of the 1962 season of fun-in-the-sun at Catalina, in addition, offers a wide variety of outdoor and indoor entertainment, including a boat and water ski show, a comic diving exhibition, brass band concerts, a gala King Neptune's Ball in Avalon's famed Casino, as well as dozens of other special events during 72 hours of weekend family fun.

JAY NORTH, television's Dennis the Menace, will be grand marshal of the parades, appearing as King Neptune Jr. There will be a contingent of movie stars and other personalities who will participate in the festivities.

Yacht clubs and boat owners from all along the Southern California coast will converge for a nautical rally in Avalon Bay. The boating fraternity will stage a dinghy parade, reviewed by King Neptune, and prizes will be offered for the best-decorated entry.

For the yachtsmens' safety, the U. S. Coast Guard will be on duty patroling the channel waters between the mainland and the Island with picket boats from Friday night to Sunday afternoon.

There'll be a ceremonial bonfire and free marshmallow roast on Friday night, a bathing beauty contest Saturday afternoon and King Neptune's Ball Saturday night in the Casino, featuring a gala floor show and the selection of the king and queen of the Festival.

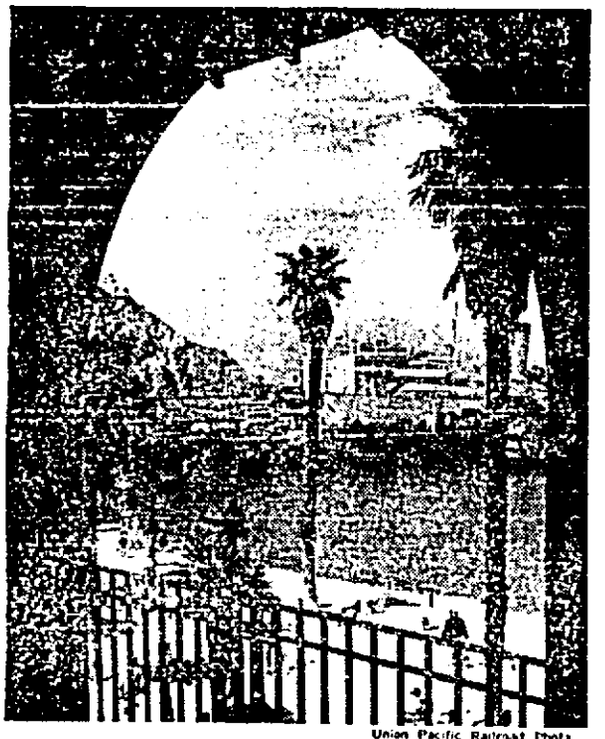

Gene's Photo and Rock Shop

Catalina Spring Festival director Bob Barton extends a welcome to Hollywood starlets, Patricia and Barbara Lyon as Avalon prepares to host the 3-day island fete.

THE S S CATALINA, known to generations of Avalon visitors as "The Great White Ship of Romance," has been completely re-decorated and re-painted during the winter. The 2,000-passenger ship again will feature the chic Fantail Room, a smart cocktail lounge, myriads of comfortable benches and a miniature ballroom near the vessel's bow. Stainless steel vending machines containing sandwiches and all sorts of soft drinks will be available on all decks. Catalina Cappy, famous sea-going clown, will be on hand for all voyages to entertain the children.

The S S Catalina will sail daily from her berth at the Catalina Terminal at the foot of Avalon Boulevard, Wilmington, casting off at 9:45 a.m. The return voyage leaves the dock at Avalon at 4:45 p.m.

water and you can fill the other one with coffee.

You could start out with learning to convert kilometers to miles: Multiply kilometers by 6 and forget the last digit. Example: 12 kilometers times 6 is 72 or 7 miles plus a few feet. A km. is ⅗ of a mile if you want to be exact.

"What was the name of that enormous night club and dance hall in Mexico City?"

You must mean "Waikiki" — where they had the sign: "Don't throw cigarette butts on the floor. The Senoritas are dancing barefoot." The Federal Governor, "Mr. Flowers and Fountains," closed that down. Too slummy for the Reforma. But any taxi driver can find you a half dozen like it off the boulevard, Rosa or Mil y Una Noches.

"How do you have a geisha party in Japan? What does it cost?"

It will cost you about $30 per person. You have to reserve room and geishas at a chai-dai — a tea house. (There is no such thing as a "geisha house.")

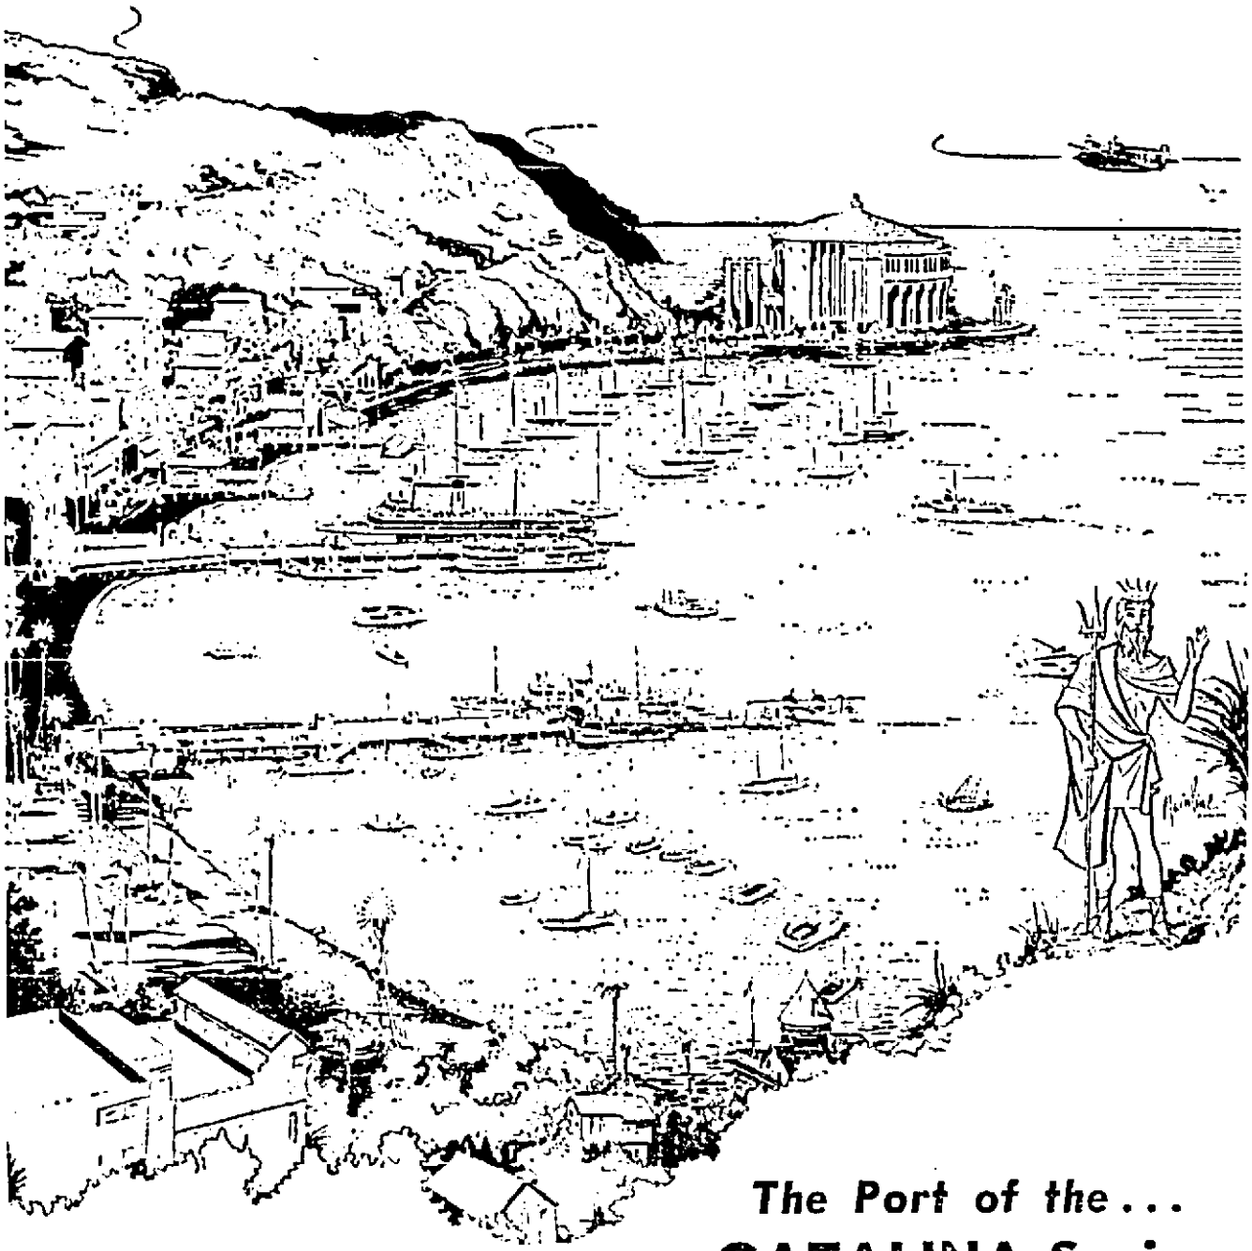

You'll need to be introduced probably. I think the desk at the Imperial Hotel in Tokyo could handle this for you. You might ask for Cho-ya in the Akaska district. Fashionable, wonderful and expensive. And worth it.

You Ask, We Answer

By Haskin

Q. Why are bands placed on cigars? T. M.

A. The early cigar manufacturers burnt their name and brand on the lids of cigar boxes, but this practice enabled unscrupulous people to use the boxes for inferior cigars. It was therefore decided to mark each individual cigar by pasting on it a small label or a star of colored paper, but when these burned they spoiled the flavor of the cigar. The removable paper ring was then devised.

Q. What is the place on the West Coast where monarch butterflies return regularly during migration? S. N.

A. For more than 100 years, monarchs native to the northwestern coast have migrated to a pine grove near Monterey Bay, in Pacific Grove, Calif. These winter visitors are protected by law, and a stiff fine or jail sentence is imposed upon anyone who molests them.

Q. How do stage magicians make people seem to float in the air? P. W.

A. As described in print some years ago, the secret of this trick is that the person who "floats" wears a specially constructed iron or steel corset, which is attached (out of sight) to a lifting mechanism. Some magicians have concealed the lifting mechanism in a hollow pole. One arm of the "floating" person rested on one end of the pole, thus concealing the rigid right-angled joint which connected the lifting mechanism and the body-supporting corset that held him in a "floating" position in air. The levitation illusion is a very old one, probably originating in India, and was once a specialty of the famed magician, Robert Houdin.

Q. Was Chief Justice Warren confirmed unanimously by the Senate? V.F.

A. About 40 Senators were present when the Chief Justice was confirmed by voice vote on March 1, 1954, and there was no dissenting vote.

Q. How does Dr. Hans Bethe, atomic physicist, pronounce his surname? Where was he born? D. U.

A. Bethe is pronounced BAY-te. Dr. Bethe was born in Strasbourg, Alsace-Lorraine, on July 2, 1906. He came to the U.S. in 1935, after teaching at universities in Germany and in England, and has been a professor at Cornell University since that year.

Simple and uncluttered modern design make it easy for anyone to make this vanity and stool at home.

By Ursula M. S. Dadras

FOR MANY young people, life's small luxuries often get crowded off the budget.

How many women, for instance, would love to have a bedroom vanity but have to wait until a dozen less glamorous necessities are bought (or paid for) first?

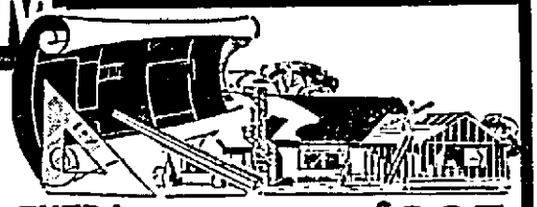

Do-it-yourself plans are available showing how you can make economically in your own home the luxuriously long and low vanity shown in the illustration. The graceful modern lines—without a single complicated curlicue—make it far easier to build than heavily decorated old-fashioned furniture.

If your handyman has trouble sawing in a straight line, you can have your lumber dealer cut all the parts to size. With the parts cut, assembly is quick and easy.

The vanity is 60 inches long and 18 inches deep. It's made of pine and easy to handle plywood. The tapered modern legs may be purchased ready-made with metal brackets which make mounting a cinch. The plan includes instructions for the neat and simple vanity stool.

TO OBTAIN PLAN, send name and address and 50 cents to Building Editor, Independent, Press-Telegram, Sixth and Pine, Long Beach 12, Calif., and specify Bedroom Vanity Plan S-55.

very likely the most inspiring recording you've ever heard

CLAUDIA'S LETTER

a letter from the wife of Pontius Pilate

Claudia's Letter is an intensely dramatic document written by the wife of Pontius Pilate to Pulvia, a close friend.

Relive through an eyewitness the drama of the moments Claudia cannot forget... the intimate moments she shared with the unhappy man who condemned Jesus Christ to the terrible death that has become symbolic to all Christianity.

Rarely does the opportunity arise for one to possess such a magnificently compelling and inspiring message... carefully and dramatically transcribed against an accompaniment of full orchestra and choir, with music especially composed to enhance the literary beauty of the ancient manuscript.

This ancient manuscript was found in an "old-world" monastery where it was known to have lain among other archives for centuries. Theologians and historians agree it was an important discovery in the history of Christianity, since the letter is a first-hand account of many events which occurred during the birth of the Christian Faith.

Claudia's Letter is a recording you will hear not once and forget! You may forget her words... you'll never forget her message.

Claudia's Letter is more than a collector's item... a conversation piece; it is a rare thing, an achievement... an event... an experience. It is a golden thread in the vast tapestry of literature, art and music.

Dramatically Portrayed by MARJORIE LORD
Music composed & conducted by EARLE HAGEN

If you do not agree that CLAUDIA'S LETTER is one of the most inspiring and dramatic recordings you have ever heard, we will gladly refund your money instantly!

Apples Are for More Than Cider

By Mildred K. Flanary
Independent-Press Telegram Home Economics Editor

APPLES are becoming shinier and more efficient each day, but their claim to fame continues to rest on the wonderful foods and memory-tickling fragrances that emanate from them.

Apples may be fried, poached, stewed or baked, and used in a wide selection of recipes. Four selected recipes, featuring apple uses from sun-up to sun-down, for youngsters and oldsters, are presented below. Washington winesaps are suggested for use.

Apples, simmered with spice and cider and scalloped with bananas, are two interesting items for the table.

Clove 'n' Cider-Simmered Apples

4 apples, peeled, cored and quartered
16 cloves
¾ cup sugar
¾ cup water
Juice of 1 orange
1 Orange, thinly sliced
1½ tbsps. lemon juice

Insert one clove in each apple quarter. Combine sugar, water, orange juice, thinly sliced orange and lemon juice, bring to a boil. Boil one minute and lift out orange slices. Simmer apple quarters in this syrup until translucent and tender but not mushy—about 5-10 minutes. Chill in syrup. Add orange slices to apples and serve as dessert, salad, or meat accompaniment. Serves 4.

Apple-Banana Scallop

1 cup graham cracker crumbs
4 tbsps. melted butter or margarine
¼ tsp. salt
4 bananas, diced
4 apples peeled, cored and diced
2 tsps. lemon juice
⅓ cup brown sugar, firmly packed

Blend together graham cracker crumbs, melted butter or margarine and salt. Sprinkle bananas and apples with lemon juice and brown sugar. Add to crumb mixture, toss gently. Spoon into buttered ramekins and bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 25-30 minutes, or until apples are tender. Serves 6.

Apple Calico Salad

1 cup finely shredded cabbage
⅓ cup mayonnaise
½ tsp. salt
1 tsp. sugar
1 tsp. lemon juice
2 apples, cored and diced
½ cup halves, seedless grapes
½ cup diced celery
1 apple, unpeeled, cut in crescents
Few bunches grapes

Place shredded cabbage in a bowl. Blend mayonnaise with salt, sugar and lemon juice. Combine remaining ingredients with cabbage, add mayonnaise mixture and toss lightly. Serve immediately on crisped lettuce, with unpeeled crescents of fresh apple and little bunches of grapes for garnish. Serves 4.

Freshest Apple Cake

2 cups sifted cake flour
2½ tsps baking powder
¾ tsp. salt
1 tsp. cinnamon
1 tsp. nutmeg
⅓ cup shortening
1 cup sugar
1 tsp. vanilla extract
1 egg
⅔ cup milk
6 cups sliced apples, peeled and cored

Combine and sift flour, baking powder, salt and spices. Cream shortening, add sugar and mix thoroughly. Add vanilla extract, egg and blend well. Add sifted dry ingredients alternately with milk, beating until smooth after each addition. Place apples in a greased 9x13 inch pan. Cover with cake batter and bake at 350 degrees F. for one hour. Serve with ice cream or whipped cream. Serves 10.

$5 for Your Recipe

TASTY method of preparing string beans is String Bean Casserole, winner of this week's $5 best recipe prize for Mrs. Charles Cox, 2518 W. Orange St., Anaheim. Mrs. Cox's recipe:

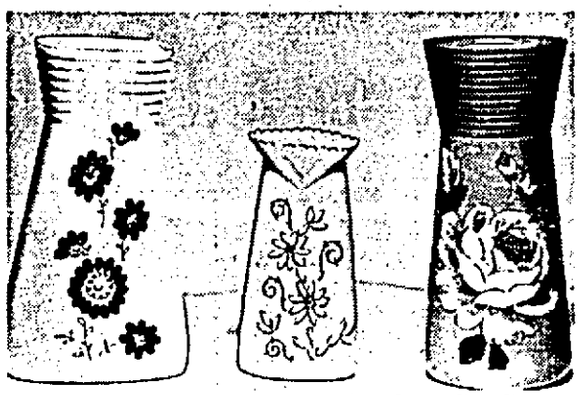

String Bean Casserole

1 qt. string beans, cleaned and cut in pieces
Sauce: ⅓ cup margarine
⅓ cup flour
1 med. onion chopped
2 cups milk
Add: ¾ cup shredded sharp cheddar cheese
¼ tsp. tobasco sauce
2 tsp. soy sauce
1 tsp. salt
½ tsp. pepper
1 tsp. accent
1 4-oz. can cut mushrooms

Melt the margarine, add flour and blend. Add onion and milk and stir until thickened. Then add the cheese and other ingredients. Finally add the string beans and place in a casserole and sprinkle with chopped almonds. Bake in 375 degrees for 30 minutes.

Producing Art From Plastics

Detergent bottles lend their varied shapes to making of decorative vases, similar to those pictured above.

By Lorena Fleissig

IT IS NOT surprising that you ask yourself if you ought to throw away the colorful detergent bottles when they are empty. And so you save them hoping an idea will come along.

Well, you may make immediate use of them as vases. Since the detergent bottles come in all shapes and tints, you may acquire an assortment on which to use your imagination and materials.

To prepare the vase, the top is cut away with a kitchen paring knife. Simply push the point of the knife into the shoulder edge and slice it off all around. Of course the edge will be a bit jagged, so it must be trimmed off evenly with scissors.

The paper labels are soaked off and all the bubbles rinsed out of the bottle.

IF THE printing is directly on the plastic, try scraping back and forth with the knife held at right angle, then finish scouring with an abrasive pad.

Now the vase is ready to decorate. There are probably 101 ways to do this. The easiest is to cut flowers, birds, butterflies, etc., from wallpaper or greeting cards. Paste them on smoothly. The illustration shows a large pink wallpaper rose on a blue background.

Have some fun trying out your ideas. You might try making a design of flowers using watermelon and muskmelon seeds. Lightly pencil in the pattern first. Make a thick circle of white glue and let it become a bit tacky. Then simply lay the seeds on the glue and lay aside to dry.

FINISH WITH pen and ink and add a yellow dot to the center of the watermelon seed flowers. The muskmelon seed daisies were glued on a pink bottle and, when dry, painted with white. The scrolls are soft blue. It is dainty enough for a boudoir.

These containers make sturdy vases and after you've had the fun of decorating them you will have the fun of giving them away to friends or to the bazaar coming up. They are really worth saving.

You saw Flexalum Patio Covers in Reader's Digest—
Why not enjoy them on your home?

Turn your backyard into a summer resort.

It may be just the resort you've always hunted for. (And what other resort can give you this bonus: a cooler, more beautiful, more valuable house?)

Begin with a Flexalum aluminum patio awning. At once, you've a big, shady setting for all kinds of fun. Bring out a table—and children's meals become picnics. Add a candle for al fresco dining yourselves. Set up an easel for your toddler. (Here finger-paints are no problem.) Throw a barbecue. (Here you can't be rained out.) For a really gala evening, give a dance here—string some lights and turn on the phonograph. (Flexalum awnings have no ugly nuts-and-bolts look to mar the effect overhead.)

Upkeep? Forget about it! Flexalum aluminum awnings take care of themselves. Their two-coat, baked enamel finish won't chip, crack, peel or rust. And only Flexalum rigid awnings—for patios, porches, windows and doors—give you this security: the Bridgeport Brass Company 5-Year Guarantee bonded by the Continental Casualty Company.

BOOK REVIEWS

Life on a Freighter

By Vera Williams
Independent, Press-Telegram Book Editor

KATHERINE Anne Porter, a master story teller, says 20 years of work went into her new novel "SHIP OF FOOLS" (Atlantic-Little, Brown, $6.50), a gripping, tremendous work likely to outlive all of her short stories.

It's about a widely assorted group of passengers on an ocean voyage, but the voyage represents life, and the passengers portray various aspects of mental and cultural development. Most of them, it must be admitted, are pretty seedy. The best is a nameless woodcarver in the steerage.

As the German vessel, combining freight and passenger service, moves in August 1931 from Vera Cruz, Mexico, to Bremerhaven, Germany, the characters unfold. Many, of course, are Germans returning to their homeland. There are the authoritarian ship's captain, a pompous professor, a brow-beaten German widow, a pre-Nazi publisher, a supercilious racemad woman who writes unspeakable things in her notebook, a German chagrined because he has married a Jewess, goose-stepping officers . . .

The ship's doctor, a member of the Junker class, finds himself betrayed into realizing his own falsity by a Spanish contessa being deported for political activity.

The four Americans are pretty bad, too. A boor from Texas, a disillusioned divorcee, a couple of painters who interminably fight and make up. The Spanish dancers specialize in prostitution, shoplifting and swindling. The steerage is full of peasants being hauled back to Spain because of a failure in Cuba's sugar crop.

Mercifully, a cast of characters is printed in the front of the book. If a reader gets lost, he can turn to the list, the same as in Russian novels.

The book is long, 497 pages, but it is not dull for a minute. Possibly Katherine Anne Porter writes about human beings and good and evil—principally evil — better than any other woman writer in America.

RICHARD FISHER

"Judgment in July," a new historical novel by Richard Fisher, takes place in the town of Deadwood in the Dakota Black Hills after Custer's Last Stand (Doubleday, $4.95). Fisher also is author of another fine novel, "The Very First Time."

"A FUNNY THING HAPPENED TO ME ON MY WAY TO THE GRAVE" by Jack Douglas (Dutton, $3.50) is an autobiography that gives another peephole look at Hollywood.

Douglas, a night club comic and comedy writer, has known the great and near great in show business — from Rudy Vallee to Bob Hope and Jack Paar.

Douglas pictures radio-television comics as insecure creatures who never are sure a line will be funny till it scores on the air.

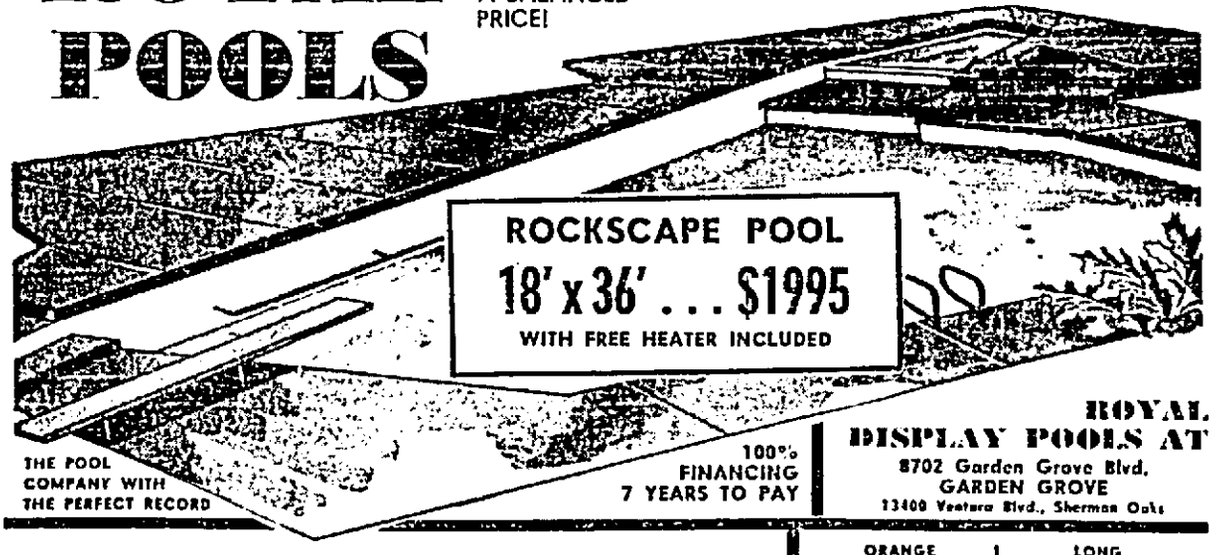

MANLY WADE WELLMAN, author of "Giant in Gray," "They Took Their Stand" and "Candle of the Wicked," has written a new novel, "NOT AT THESE HANDS" (G. P. Putnam's Sons, $4.50).

Set in the American South of 45 years ago, "Not at These Hands" presents a very different view of Southern life from the decadence-and-degeneration formula readers have come to expect.

Whenever there is an official Coast Guard patrol assigned to any event, the auxiliary is directly under control of the patrol commander. The Coast Guard delegates no authority to the auxiliary to give orders or enforce regulations.

MEMBERSHIP in the auxiliary is open to all United States citizens over 17 years of age who own a quarter interest or more in a motorboat (inboard or outboard), yacht, private plane or licensed amateur radio station.

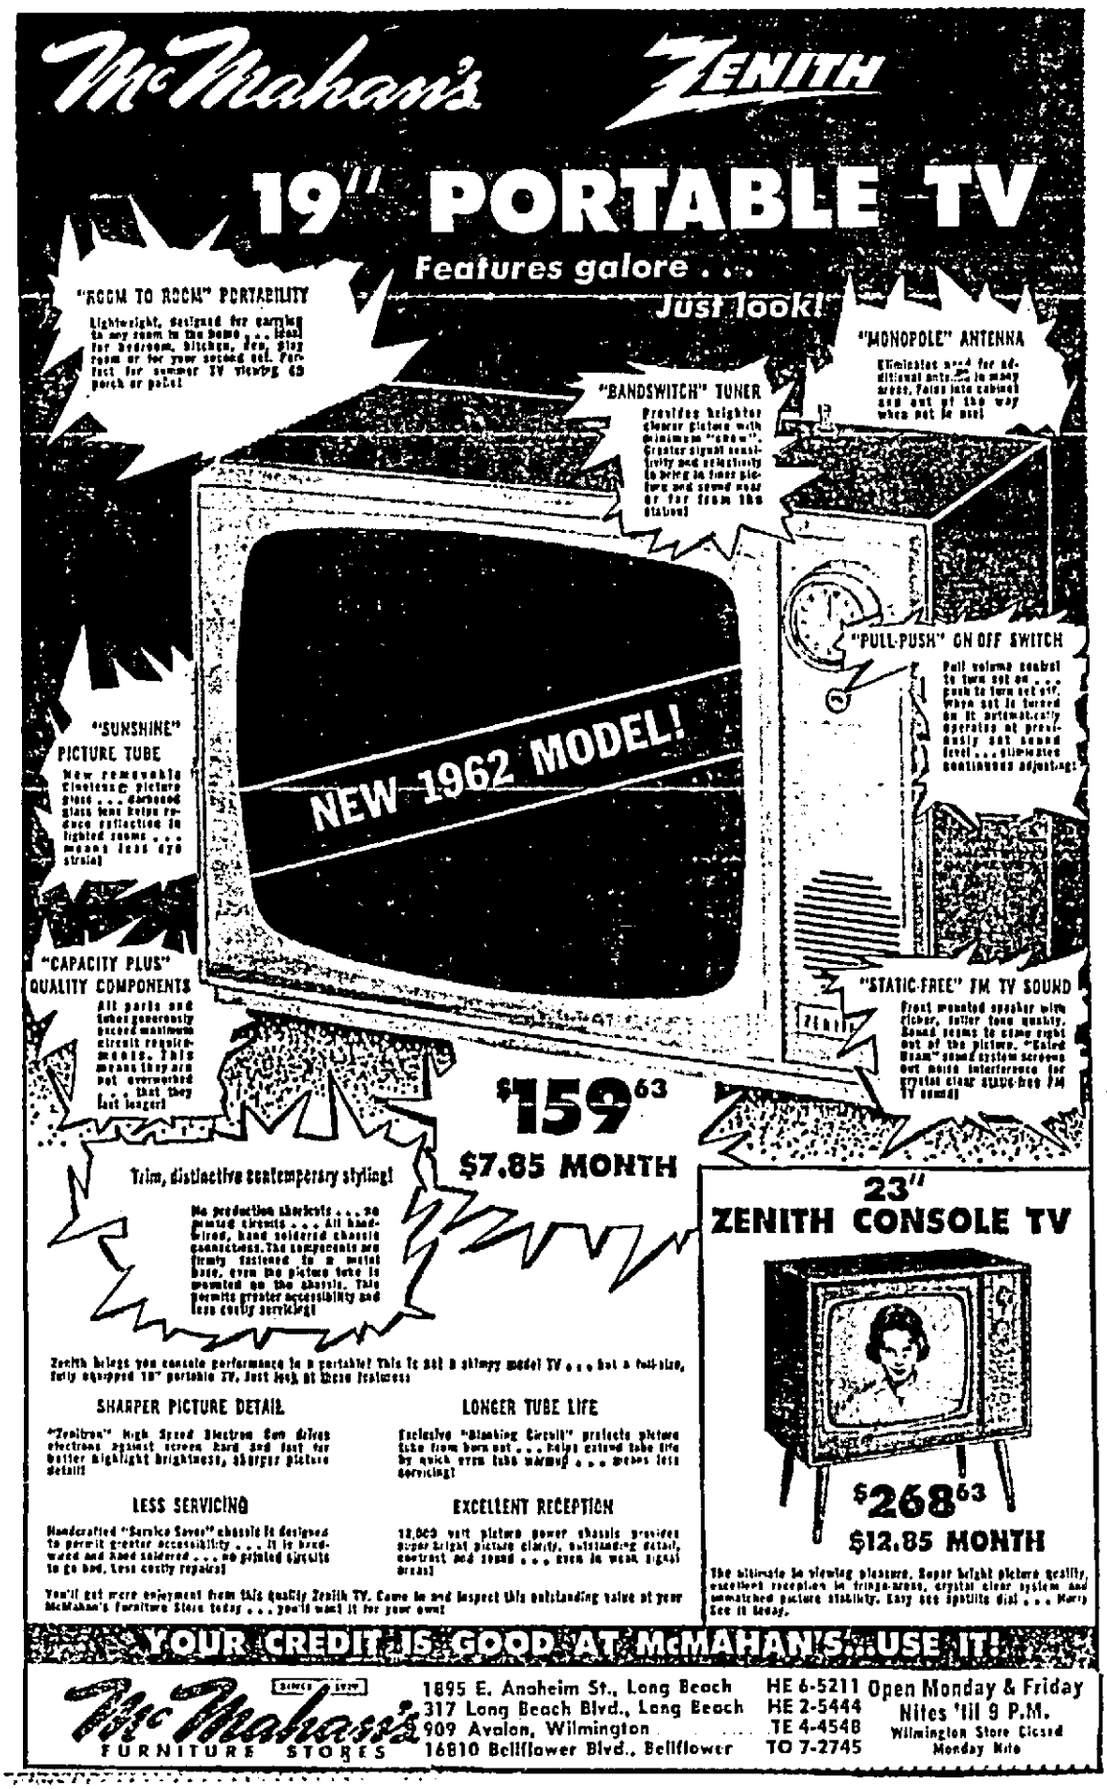

The group consists, of course, primarily of boat owners, the 1,100 members having about 650 boats among them. However, it includes 50 "ham" radio stations and an air wing of 32 aircraft centered at San Diego.

Cmdr. Hagadorn says membership is wide open for uncounted scores of thousands of pleasure boaters in his district, which embraces the populous areas of Southern California, plus Clark County, Nevada (Lake Mead) and the whole state of Arizona. There is one landlocked flotilla in Phoenix.

At present, 80 per cent of the membership is from the Long Beach-Los Angeles metropolitan area.

"We're striving for more membership," says Hagadorn, "very hard as a matter of fact.

"We particularly want membership of people who have time to participate actively—those who have the interest, the qualifications and the time—but, we welcome anybody who is a serious boatman."

Sled Dogs to Strut

By Eleanor A. Price

DOG FANCIERS gather at La Palma Park, Anaheim, today for the big spring unbenched show and obedience trial of Santa Ana Valley Kennel Club. Joseph Murphy of South Gate will select best in show. There will be other top judges on hand including Mrs. Milton Seeley, owner of the Chinook Kennels at Wonalancet, N.H. Mrs. Seeley will judge Alaskan malamutes, Siberian huskies, and Samoyeds.

Chinook Kennels is a real "dogtown" in which reside character dogs of older ages on down to purebred AKC Huskies and malamutes. So famous is this village of sled dogs that there is a project afoot to erect a National Polar Museum there, the purpose being to depict the true life of sled dogs in polar regions. Chinook already is the assembling place for dogs used in the antarctic, and Mrs. Seeley has been chief consultant for "Operations Deepfreeze." At Chinook there is a tablet dedicated to Adm. Richard E. Byrd and his sled dogs, and another tablet will be dedicated soon in memory of sled dogs that have given four-footed service to our armed forces.

Ch. Wonalancet's Baldy of Alyaska is the first Siberian Husky to win working group in a show and first of breed to be AKC registered in Alaska.

CHINOOK KENNELS are open to the public from May to late October and well worth a visit. Wonalancet is situated near Chocorua Lake and Mountain on the Chinook Trail road leading from Tamworth (5 miles). Children in particular are thrilled by the dogtown, for the animals are friendly, always ready to entertain.

Mrs. Seeley, oldest woman sled-dog racer and former Olympic racer, has many other interests centering around Chinook, not the least of which is loaning dogs to local children who learn to drive and later purchase their own dogs to race in the Junior New England Sled Dog Club. Mrs. Seeley is also completing her book, "Sled Dogs In This World."

Another big interest at the Anaheim show is the California Collie Clan sweepstakes featuring both shortcoat and longcoat collies. Judge will be Dr. Greathouse of Kentucky, president of Collie Club of America.

"TOURING With Touser," Gaines Dog Research Center, 250 Park Ave., is available for 25 cents, to travelers. Thousands of motels and hotels that will accept dogs are listed.

'Instant Prints' Are New Feature

Special film material, exposed normally in a roll film camera, can be processed in 30 seconds in a new device.

By Irving Desfor

SPEED is the password as photography advances in this jet-space age, new devices speeding up and easing the tedium of taking, developing and printing pictures. Here are some new items:

A new method of producing a roll of instant prints without a darkroom was demonstrated by Anken Chemical & Film Corp., Newton, N. J. It requires a roll of special negative material and a unique portable processor.

The negative roll in the Ank-a-Matic system, as it is called, can be used in any camera which takes a 127, 120 or 620 roll of film. It is loaded and exposed just as conventional black-and-white film is done.

AFTER exposure, it is put into the processor along with a roll of positive print paper. The developer, in a three-ounce plastic container, is poured into its special compartment and is used only once. When the electric switch is turned on, the development process starts as the rolls of negative and positive materials are brought tightly together. In a few seconds they emerge from a slot, pressed together in one continuous strip.

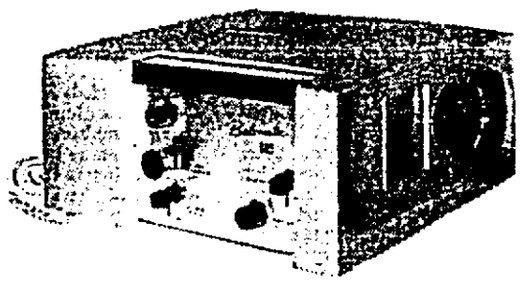

After 30 seconds they can be peeled apart. The negative roll is useless and is discarded. After drying, the roll of finished prints can be cut apart or accordion-folded to form a continuous snapshot folder.

After Spring Bulbs Are Gone

By Joe Littlefield

AFTER spring-blooming bulb plants have cast their fragrance and beauty into the garden scene, there are still other bulbs that come into bloom in late spring, summer and fall. are hybrid amaryllis, tuberoses, gladiolus, amarcrinum, pancratium, dahlias, and pink triumphant nerine.

The summer blooming bulb that continues to flower the longest of the all, from four to five months, is amarcrinum, a cross between two types of bulbs, the fragrant amaryllis and crinum. Amarcrinum is evergreen. The foliage reminds of corn leaves. Leaf ends are likely to freeze back several inches during frost.

Once the bulbs develop into a cluster of plants and start to bloom usually along in June, they'll continue to send forth tall and handsome new flower spikes topped with fragrant, pink, lily-like flowers. Because they don't all blossom at once, the cluster of a dozen or more buds on one stalk slowly continues to open over a period of ten days, sometimes longer.

Amaryllis is a member of the bulb family yielding late season bloom. A crossed cousin, Amarcrinum, is another.

THEY GROW in milder areas of sun, or partial shade. These bulbs are slowly becoming popular, but are not yet found at all nurseries. There are four wholesale sources where they may be obtained by the nurserymen. Bulbs are expensive, about $2.50 each, but they're worth it because they are a lifetime investment — provided the gardener keeps sharp lookout for possible mealy bug infestation.

One of the fall perennials that should be planted in sunny flower beds are chrysanthemums. Your nurseryman has well rooted young plants in plant bands or packs. They're a good buy now, in this size. Later, most mums will be sold in tin containers and prices will be higher.

Check with your nurseryman as to their season of bloom. Some mums such as the low, cushion mums flower early either in August or September. Northland daisy mums bloom a bit later. Then, along come the hardy type, pompom; later the large, spoon, and several other types. Two of the late varieties are Elsie Kramer and Treasure Island, both of pompon form. They start in December and overlap into January, if grown in milder areas.

BY SELECTING some mums that blossom early, some in mid-season, and some late, the flowering season may be extended four months or more.

After first cutting back new growth, thereafter pinch mums you want to grow bushy. Pinch tips out each time two or more sets of leaves develop after the previous pinching. You won't pinch those you want to grow into exhibition flowers, or the cascade low growers.

Tips on Gardening

GARDEN TIPS for the week . . . Begonia seedlings may be planted now. Stake the tender young plants and feed them twice monthly with liquid fish.

Caterpillars often show up on wisteria and on a few other favorites this time of year. Spray them before they get started. Ask your nurseryman what to use.

Plant annuals for late spring and summer bloom.

Container grown fuchsias should be fed and watered more frequently than those in the ground. Pinch the growing tips back, too, to promote bush growth.

Pot up pelargoniums and geraniums for bright color on sunny decks and terraces.

Plant fuchsias this month. You can use them in hanging baskets, in pots or in the ground.

Susan Learned displays Hawaii Marigolds, huge glowing orange flowers.

Bright Days

MARIGOLDS annually gain new friends among Long Beach area gardeners, bringing happier days to hybridizers who are now reapings their reward for years of tedious experimentation. The flowers, themselves, are brightening days for those who grow them for their brilliant colorings.

Giant hybrid Climax marigolds are in the forefront of this floral beauty parade, among them Hawaii, a glowing orange, and Alaska, soft primrose pink.

Marigolds are best sown into the garden outdoors in the spring. Sow seeds thinly and cover with a quarter-inch of soil. Thin or transplant the seedlings when they are large enough to handle, watering them thoroughly an hour or so before transplanting them. Leave a saucer-like depression around each plant for holding water at later application. Plants should be spaced 1½ to 2 feet apart.

Newer hybrids embrace a wide range of colors, habits of growth, flower form and heights, as well as having been purged of almost all of their original odor that was objectionable to some gardeners.

Flower Show

Spring Flower Show of Belmont Heights Garden Club is set for 1 p.m. Tuesday in Wesley Hall, Third Street and Mira Mar Avenue. Plans include a musical program with Mrs. Doris Longfellow as soloist, accompanied by Mrs. Shelby Barnard, and a flower preparation talk by Mrs. Addie Keating. Anyone interested in gardening is invited.

Hostess committeewomen are Mrs. Nannie Woods, chairman, and Mmes. Mildred Hubbell, Mabel Wilson, Melissa Konnight, Nina Parr, Millie Allen and Edith Jackson.

By Dorothy Jonson

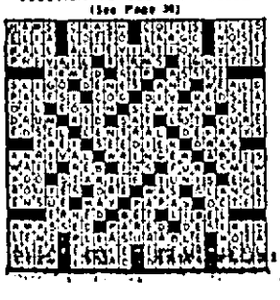

There are a few things we sometimes like to do in our gardens that can be done only at certain times. For instance, if you happen to want to transplant certain tender shrubs like bougainvillea or hydrangea, it should never be done while there is the slightest danger of frost.

And if you would like to plant a citrus or an avocado tree in your garden, now is a good time to do that, too.

In planting any kind of fruit trees, I like to warn people against a common practice of planting them too close to other shrubs or right in the middle of a lawn. Fruit trees, you know, require long, slow, deep, occasional irrigation, and so the method of watering them properly is very different from the way in which you would water your lawn.

Incidentally, now is the time to fertilize both avocado and citrus trees.

Book for African Violet Fanciers Revised

African violet fanciers will be happy to know that a full revision of Sunset Magazine's popular guide to the growth and care of these favorite plants has just been published.

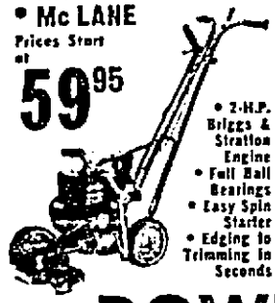

Titled "How to Grow African Violets" (Lane Book Co., Menlo Park, Calif., $1.75) the book is profusely illustrated with photos and drawings. It relates in easy-to-understand language the newest information on techniques of culture, hybridizing, mutations, propagation and pest control. The revised edition contains a new chapter on species of the plant. The author is Carolyn K. Rector.

Golf Brand Crab-X kills summer crabgrass of any size

WHATEVER CRABGRASS PLANTS are in your lawn now—young and tender sprouts or old, tough plants with many runners...

THEY ALL SHRIVEL UP and die when super-powerful Crab-X goes to work on them. Sure death for all crabgrass!

No matter what their stage of development, crabgrass plants are doomed when Crab-X hits them. This no-nonsense killer has the extra destructive power it takes to wipe out even the big, hairy adult plants that many killers don't affect.

The recommended applications of Crab-X will produce excellent results for you any time from early to late summer. The first application knocks out the younger plants and weakens the old, tough ones. The second dose about a week later finishes the job on the big adult plants, giving you a crabgrass-free lawn.

Golf Brand Crab-X is easy to apply and won't harm desirable grasses—Kentucky Bluegrass, Merion Kentucky Bluegrass, fescues, bentgrasses.

Get Golf Brand Crab-X now and see how easily crabgrass can be eliminated!

Large bag treats 5,000 sq. ft. $6.95

title or commentary can be added to a slide with their Slide Scriber unit which can be projected on the screen along with the image. It can be left on permanently or can removed as desired.

It's all done with a novel unit which looks like a portable typewriter but is very light in weight. It can be used only on 35mm (2x2) cardboard mounted transparencies which are horizontal in format.

The unit is packed with sufficient supplies to inscribe 50 slides. Refills are obtainable after that.

ANOTHER item is one for 8mm movie fans to flip over because it eliminates the time lost and the inconvenience of reversing an 8mm roll of film after the first 25 feet have been exposed.

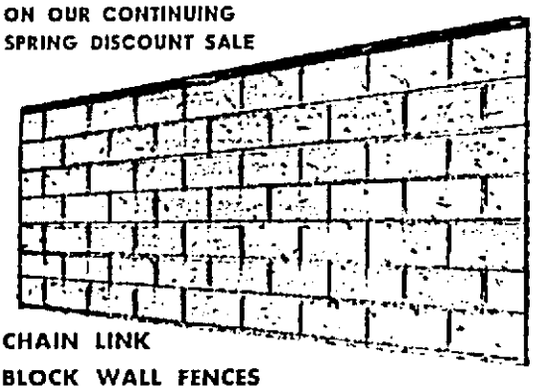

In a literally revolutionary move, the new Sekonic "Dual Run" movie camera has a film chamber which pivots around.

Other features: automatic single lens reflex zoom camera with a sensitive cadmium sulfide exposure meter; manual control if desired; f1.8 zoom lens with 11.5mm to 32mm range.

COLOR SLIDE and stereo competitions of Long Beach Camera Guild will be conducted at 7:45 p.m. Wednesday in Los Altos Library, 5614 Britton Dr.

HAROLD SOLOMON
Restful

AT THIS TIME of the year, with the perfume of spring everywhere in the air, city folk occasionally suffer from an overpowering desire to get away from it all, to visit a restful forest glen and be calmed by the sounds of a bubbling brook.

Perhaps this is why the large new dining room at Hoefly's 4911 E. Second St., has become so popular and has received such unstinting praise from its visitors. Owners Irving Solomon and his son Harold have brought a beautiful bubbling waterfall to Long Beach, making it unnecessary for their guests to trek out into the countryside in order to be calmed and soothed by the gentle forest sounds of nature.

Opened two weeks ago, Hoefly's Waterfall Room is a magnificent extension of the rear of the restaurant. With seating for nearly 150 persons, the room is dominated by the waterfall and tropical garden on the north wall. With 1,600 gallons of water pouring happily over stones and rocks each hour, it is at once cooling and refreshing to all who view it. Among the rare plants growing there are a stunted Japanese pine tree which is 40 years old but only 12 inches tall and a 20-year-old sago palm which is 10 inches tall. The Waterfall Room's long north wall is entirely of decorative stone, 8 to 12 feet high. Other handsome touches include diamond-tufted leather work and shutters on the south wall, and a daring color scheme of various reds, ranging from the rich wine color of the rug to cardinal and burgundy hues on the walls.

The food at Hoefly's, always wonderful, has never been better. Chef Charlie Cole has a master's touch in the preparation of prime rib au jus, which is $4.75 for a large luscious cut. Other splendid dinner items include charcoal-broiled steaks, $5.25, and sea foods, $3.25.

BERT'S EYE VIEW

Judy Says 'Westerns Need Women'

By BERT RESNIK
TV and Radio Editor

You know the bit.

Daughter of famous actress makes grade on her own. Conceals mother's identity and lands role on television series.

You've heard it before.

You never know whether to believe it.

In the case of Judy Lewis, the daughter of advertising executive Thomas H. Lewis and movie-television actress Loretta Young, I prefer to believe it.

Because when you talk to Judy, she comes across as a pretty believable girl—believable and sincere.

Judy plays the role of Connie Masters on NBC-TV's "Outlaws" Thursday night series.

She won the role after being sent by her agent to producer Frank Telford. The producer selected her from four girls whom he considered as finalists for the role. The producer later said he did not know Judy was the daughter of Loretta Young.

It doesn't really matter whether he knew or didn't know.

What matters, from the viewers' look at the screen, is that Judy has been able to capably perform the role.

* * * *

IT IS A ROLE, like those of women in other westerns, that is not too demanding.

"I realize," said Judy, "that it is very difficult to write for women in westerns.

"But women definitely should be in westerns. They were an important part of the West. The men needed women to start a new way of life.

"I feel that a woman in a western should have a very positive character — I don't mean that she has to get involved in fast-draw shoot-'em-outs.

"But why must a woman in a western be either doing a can-can, serving coffee or telling the sheriff, 'They went thataway.'?"

Judy feels that westerns need love scenes, "but not kissy, mushy stuff." She thinks women in westerns should be portrayed with very positive character, with inde-

Uncle Miltie Considers Joining Ranks of TV Vets Returning With Series

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The television viewer may feel like Rip Van Winkle next season as he watches Lucille Ball, Jackie Gleason, Loretta Young, Sid Caesar and Roy Rogers return to the air with weekly shows.

Those returnees may be joined by Mister Television himself: Milton Berle.

"The network has been talking to me about it," said Berle of his parent (or is it partner?), NBC.

"I'll admit I'm interested. In fact, I have been thinking about an idea for the last two or three years. It would combine the elements of the old Tuesday night show with an entirely different factor. I can't say now what that factor is, or it would be on the air tomorrow.

• • • •

THE MAIN thing I want is the proper time slot. I don't mean it has to be a sure fire time—there's no such thing any more. But I don't want to be stuck with an impossible time, as I was with 10:30 Mondays on 'Jackpot Bowling.' It was a good show, but I myself recommended that the sponsor cancel. You can't build a rating at that hour."

Berle's announcement that he's thinking of returning to regular television may or may not be occasioned by the fact that he is guesting on "The Joey Bishop Show" at 8:30 p.m. Wednesday, channel 4.

After all, he was television's top banana for a half-dozen years, and with the medium regressing to its old-time favorites, why not Uncle Miltie? Besides, NBC might not be adverse to putting him to work. The network is still paying him $100,000 per year under a contract that lasts until 1981.

• • • •

BERLE reminisced about those fine, frantic days when television was young and so were we.

"You wouldn't believe how we put the shows together in those days," he said. "We had two cameras and a drop-roll curtain. We had acts like Harry Richman, Sophie Tucker, Martin and Lewis, Lucille Ball, Red Skelton.

"I paid Pearl Bailey $150. Why, the whole show, talent, technicians and air time—came to $12,000.

"You know what a good variety special costs? Half a million. And that doesn't include air time.

"Try to get some names today and their prices start at $40,000."

• • • •

BUT EVEN if prices have gone up, it's easier to do television nowadays, said Berle. Facilities and technicians are vastly improved. That's why he'd be willing to return on a regular basis. But it couldn't be before November—he has a long-running role in Stanley Kramer's super-comedy, "It's A Mad, Mad, Mad, Mad World," which starts in June.

Milton's other interest these days is his 3-month-old adopted son, Billy, whom he displayed with paternal pride.

"Look at that Irish kisser," he glowed.

The comic admitted that Billy's advent had mellowed him: "Punch lines don't seem quite that important any more."

MILTON BERLE
May Return

ANN-MARGRET guests on "The Andy Williams Show" at 9:30 p. m. Friday in COLOR on channel 4.

Arthur Godfrey will do three specials for CBS-TV next season. The announcement dims reports that he was planning a move to another network.

TV Series Kill Individualism

By ERSKINE JOHNSON

HOLLYWOOD (NEA)—Individualism, in case you haven't thought about it, doesn't have a chance on television these days. Never before in all history have there been so many assistant heroes. It's just lucky for individualism that television didn't arrive until it did.

Fellows famous for solo deeds never would have made it. After being exposed to television early in life, they wouldn't have dared tackle anything alone.

Take Michelangelo, for instance.

Under television influence, he probably would have joined a firm of three other "Chiselmates." They would have alternated on such epic jobs as David, head of the Madonna and Descent from the Cross to avoid exhaustion and overexposure.

Somewhere along the way Michelangelo also would have organized "77 Sunset Colors" to get the Sistine chapel ceiling painted in 13 weeks, and the Creation of Adam and of Eve, and the Sacrifice of Noah ready for delivery in 26.

"TARGET: PARIS"—not Lindbergh—would have flown the Atlantic for the first time. Lindy would have been the top billed chief pilot, of course, but the plane would have been a four-seat job, giving him three co-pilots and a chance for a little shuteye.

Custer would have been saved by his three "Army Train" partners and even that scene of Washington crossing the Delaware, I bet, would have been different. There would have been three other fellows standing up with George in that boat—his alternating partners in "Valley Forge '77."

THE MULTIPLE LEAD SERIES which does not depend on one star to carry the show is the television gimmick putting individualism down the drain. It was devised to release pressure on human endurance caught in 39-week cycles. "Maverick" first introduced the idea, alternating James Garner and Jack Kelly as its stars.

Now, like everything else on home screens, the multiple lead idea is being copied to the point where every show has so many heroes you don't really get to know any of them.

Whether western, big city police or private eye shows, it's all group activity.

Except for a few exceptions, it has become the day of heroes SWARMING into a room. When a doll needs help on "Precinct 87," for instance, she's surrounded by so many of the show's leads the scene looks more like Marilyn Monroe at a fraternity house tea.

TELEVISION ROTATES its stars like Kansas farmers rotate crops—and it's just as corny.

The physical demands of week-to-week television acting are so great, it is said, that young actors must be hired in teams. But what is so exhausting is a puzzle because even when they act, a majority of today's hardly move a facial muscle.

Richard Boone and Raymond Burr, twice the age of most television actors today, are notable exceptions who prefer to say, "I'll do it myself and no help, thank you."

Perhaps Michelangelo and Lindbergh and Washington would have used the same words. But Madison Avenue would have turned thumbs down on them. They would have had trouble attracting sponsors even for one-shot specs.

CLIFF Robertson is a ventriloquist and Edy Williams a showgirl during "Twilight Zone" at 10 p. m. Friday, channel 2.

Rick Nelson Regrets He Can't Play Football

By JAMES BACON

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Rick Nelson soon will be 22, girls, and unmarried—but that's not his big regret.

"I'm a pretty happy fellow the way I am," says the handsome youngest son of Ozzie and Harriet. "The only regret I have is that I never had a chance to play college football."

Rick, a natural athlete, was a promising end at Hollywood High School but he never had the chance to go to college, despite a B average. It just isn't realistic for a bobby-sox idol to hope for a normal collegiate life.

RICK NELSON

Rick's buddies are all college or Los Angeles Rams grid stars. And he comes by his love for the game naturally. Ozzie was once a quarterback for Rutgers.

"I know Dad would have liked either Dave or me to play college football but what are you going to do when you're either acting or singing all the time?"

Ozzie is the first to admit that college for Rick is not realistic. When he makes public appearances—such as he will do this summer—at the state fairs, girls mob him.

RICK USES his football buddies to run a new kind of interference for him. Else his clothes would be stripped off him.

What if the success bubble would burst?

"If I'm not too old, I might go to college but the way the series keeps going, it looks as if it will go on until it's called 'Rick Knows Best.'"

Rick has been on the Nelson family show since he was eight. He will be 22 on May 8.

Meanwhile, his love for football even extends to girl friends. One of his best girls is Chris Harmon—daughter of Tom Harmon, the alltime Michigan great grid star.

SCOUT FLINT LEAVES 'WAGON TRAIN'

★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★

Bob Horton's Five-Year Ride Ends Without Fanfare

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Bob Horton, the scout named Flint, has dropped off the "Wagon Train" after a five-year ride.

How does he feel?

"Older, wiser, richer and full of enthusiasm."

Bob was relaxing at his Laurel Canyon home. I asked him to enlarge on the four elements.

"Older? The calendar takes care of that element, the less said about it the better (he's a vigorous 37) . . .

"Wiser? I've learned how a big outfit operates in this business. I once read an article by Kirk Douglas in which he said an actor is nothing more than a commodity in Hollywood.

"I found out that is true. As long as you are a studio's commodity, they are interested in you. After the relationship is over, you mean nothing to them. Friendship doesn't count for a thing.

• • • •

"FUNNY THING — I didn't look for any special celebration on my last day on 'Wagon Train.' But some of the crew said rather apologetically that they wanted to give a party for me, but the management of Revue, offspring of the giant agency MCA wouldn't allow it . . .

"Richer? I feel enriched by the friendships I made during those five years — with the crew members, not the executives. I respect the crew, and I think they respect me.

"Yes, I'm richer in money, too. It has been a very profitable engagement. I'm not fabulously rich, but I am well enough off to be able to pick and choose. For instance, I turned down a lead with Rock Hudson, not because the money wasn't right but because they wanted to tie me up in the future. I'm not going to do that again."

• • • •

THE FOURTH element — enthusiasm — stems from Horton's view of the future. He has a brand-new deal with NBC that ties him to the network for 10 guest appearances on different shows each season. They may well include "The Virginians," the 90-minute western which NBC will throw against "Wagon Train," on ABC next season.

"But I won't be a regular on 'The Virginians,'" Horton declared. "I won't do any regular series for at least a year. If I do decide on another series after that, NBC will put up the money for me.

A ham at heart, Horton hits the road this summer to play "The Man" in Chicago, Ill., "Pajama Game" in Atlantic, Ga., and Charleston, Tenn., "Oklahoma" in Columbus, Ohio, and Pittsburgh, Penn., and possibly "Brigadoon" in Kansas City, Kans.

BOB HORTON

'Tonight' Show

Bill "Jose Jiminez" Dana, Louis Nye and Pat Harrington Jr., all former members of the old Steve Allen gang, will serve as hosts for NBC-TV's "Tonight" show June 25-29.

Station Rejects TV Special

NBC-TV's affiliate station in San Francisco refused to carry the network's recent "Special for Women" feature titled "The Indiscriminate Woman."

Executives of the local station issued a statement saying:

"It is our opinion that the portrayal of sex is too vivid for television."

The program dealt with promiscuity.

DALE ROBERTSON CLAIMS CHANGES 'KILLED'

'Wells Fargo' Nears End of TV Trail

By JOSEPH FINNIGAN

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Television's "Tales of Wells Fargo" ends this year when Dale Robertson parks his stagecoach and unloads the last trunkful of money hauled safely despite maurauding bandits.

For six years, Dale has been like the local postman, hauling "Wells Fargo" dough through thick and thin, facing adversity and coming out smelling like a rose. Hardly anything stood in Dale's way.

DALE ROBERTSON

Robertson overcame everything except the vagaries of a fickle television medium which doomed "Wells Fargo" to end this year.

• • • •

"IT'S BEEN dropped," said Dale, who has two more shows to complete this season. He looks at the situation "with mixed emotions."

"It's kind of like seeing an old friend die," he added. "I've never regretted working an hour of any day on this show. But I'm looking forward to what we'll do in the future.

"In 16 years, I've never known what it is not to work in this business. We had a good career in motion pictures. Before the series I made 42 pictures."

Television's masterminds fooled around with "Wells Fargo" this year, changing the program's format. The cast was increased. The show was lengthened from 30 to 60 minutes and switched to a new time slot.

• • • •

ALL THIS, Dale believes, did the show more damage than make-believe holdup men he encountered.

"I think the thing that hurt us most was moving up from Monday to Saturday," Dale said. "Had we known they were going to switch that time slot, we would never have changed our format. The changes were too much."

Dale's earnings from the show and pre-series movies have made him independently wealthy. But Robertson doesn't intend to sit back "and whittle," as he puts it.

• • • •

"WE'RE going to pick up up where we left off before the series started six years ago," he said. "I'm going back into pictures and will do 'The Thousand Guns of Justin Malloy.' We were planning to do this picture before the series began."

When cowboys unhitch "Wells Fargo's" horses for the last time and put the stagecoach away, Dale will be thinking of new friends he met along television's make-believe trail.

"In the last six years I've shook hands with thousands of people and signed thousands of autographs," he estimated. "And I knew a lot of those little people never saw pictures in which I appeared before 'Wells Fargo' because they weren't born yet."

Dinah Shore on Sundays Next Fall

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Dinah Shore will return to Sunday night television next fall.

BERT'S EYE VIEW

'Westerns Need Women'

pendence, with the pioneering spirit.

"Above all," she added, "they should let a woman be a woman and use her warmth, her feminity, sensitivity and guttsiness."

• • • •

JUDY IS NOT unqualified to talk about what she feels are writing needs in television scripts.

For two years she was an assistant to the story editor —a job she frankly admits her mother got for her—of "The Loretta Young Show."

During this period she discovered two things:

1. A great admiration for writers.

2. She couldn't write.

"I would sit down in front of a typewriter," she said, "and the first thing I knew, I was editing before I was writing."

So she turned to her first love—acting.

"I really wanted to be an actress ever since I can remember," she said.

"And the most important advantage of being the daughter of an actress was to realize that acting is a lot of hard work."

In 1957 she went to New York where, according to her, producers were more inclined to take a chance on an unknown.

But not enthusiastically inclined.

Judy put in her apprenticeship sweeping out a little theater and selling tickets at the box office.

She studied with Agnes Moorhead. She got a part as an extra. She got a four-line role on a Kraft Theater television program. She landed a running role in a TV serial. She was on her way.

• • • •

"MY STEPS in the business have been very slow," she said. "But I'm in no rush."

To be a successful actress, Judy believes, a girl must have 10 per cent God-given talent and 90 per cent desire.

"If a girl feels she has that 10 per cent, she should first decide whether she thinks it will be worth the heartaches and decisions," said Judy.

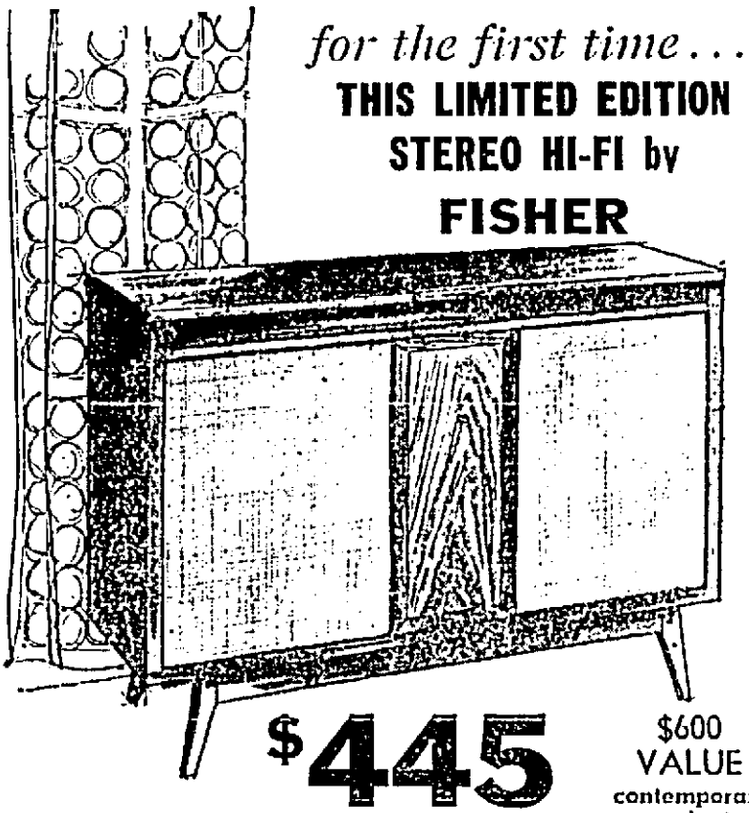

"Certainly, if she's going to be married, she must consider whether she can do both well, have an acting career and be a wife."

Judy is the wife of TV director Joe Tinney. They have a 3-year-old daughter, Maria.

Judy claims that marriage is her most important career. It's a claim that's been heard before, but I like the way she puts it.

"Supposing I've had a long, hard day at the studio," she said. "When I leave there, I must cut that off.

"I must walk into our house as my husband's wife."

SPECIAL

JOEY BISHOP SHOW—Milton Berle guests in first of two episodes previewing Bishop's new characterization for next season (when he'll be in color Saturdays starting Sept. 8). Joey plans his debut as a neophyte stand-up comic on the same bill with Berle at 8:30 p.m. on channel 4. (Nick Adams' "The Rebel" repeats take over this slot June 27 through Sept. 12; then it becomes part of "The Virginian's" 90 min.).

U.S. STEEL HOUR—Tallulah Bankhead makes one of her infrequent TV appearances as the over-anxious mother of a marriageable daughter who is uncomfortable with the socially acceptable men so dear to her mother's heart. Nancy Carroll and Astrid Wilsrud are featured in the spirited comedy at 10 p.m. on channel 2.

BASEBALL, 5 p.m. on channel 9, as the Cleveland Indians host the L.A. Angels. Buddy Blattner calls the game, and hosts the 4:40 p.m. "Warm-Up."

WRESTLING, live at 8:30 p.m. on channel 5, with Dick Lane ringside at the Olympic.

Pan and Fan Mail

I agree 100 per cent with J. Paul Gleason about namby pamby "What's My Line?" I never saw such a mutual admiration society as on that panel.

Who cares about Cerf's publishing or Mrs. Gable's show on Broadway or pouter pigeon Martin?

The poor guest panelist must have words stick in his throat with whomever he has to introduce.

No one laughs at Bennett or John but themselves. As Gleason says, half-hour lost and nothing gained.

If you like it, you keep it.

John B. Bush, Long Beach.

I don't watch it often enough to dislike it.

* * * *

I am just one of many that enjoyed last Monday's "Hennessey" show.

Although I'm an avid Soupy Sales fan already, his guest appearance was excellent.

Not only did the story show his ability to be a comedian, but it brought out the wonderful person he is.

I agree with Jackie Cooper in saying, "Soupy's a guy that loves people and wants people to love him."

I think he's accomplishing that, too.

Peggy Morrison, Seal Beah.

In your case, Peggy, it's obvious.

* * * *

You really call a spade a spade—good for you.

We need more men like you who can see things for what they are and who aren't afraid to say so.

If the moral decline is to be arrested in this country, I'm afraid a few more of us are going to have to voice our opinions.

Thanks for yours.

Helen Hermestroff,
Long Beach.

Thanks for yours.

GEORGE MAHARIS goes to Joanna Moore's rescue when she jumps off a yacht during "Route 66" at 8:30 p. m. Friday, channel 2. The sequence was filmed at Catalina Island.

Hitchcock Switch

"Alfred Hitchcock Presents" will switch from its present half-hour on NBC-TV to an hour on CBS-TV next season.

Everybody loves a WARM BATH and a PROFESSIONAL MASSAGE

NOW YOUR WHOLE FAMILY CAN ENJOY BOTH FOR ONLY A FEW CENTS A DAY!

IMAGINE! a Trained Masseur at your beck and call 24 hours a day! That's what you'll have with a

Jacuzzi WHIRLPOOL BATH

Never before could your family enjoy professional whirlpool massage in the home bathtub. Before the development of the portable Jacuzzi whirlpool massage was available only at clinics and expensive health clubs. Now your entire family can enjoy whirlpool benefits, in your home, for a few cents a day. It offers long lasting relief from daily aches, pains, nervous tension and fatigue.

Water massage is not a new idea. Ancient civilizations — the Romans, the Greeks, the Japanese — used water and water baths for relaxation and for the treatment of many human ills. The healing and curative powers of warm agitated water were well known.

Today, throughout Europe and America, better hospitals, clinics, health spas, and private clubs provide whirlpool water massage for those who can afford it.

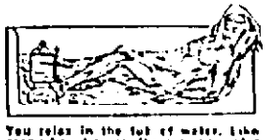

Now you and your entire family can enjoy the same beneficial water massage in your home bathtub — every day, several times a day. You can whirl away sagging tiredness, feel like new again with a Jacuzzi Whirlpool Bath.

HOW IT WORKS You simply set the Jacuzzi unit into the bathtub and fill the tub with water. The unit starts automatically.

In the morning, use cooler water and full force of the Jacuzzi to wake up the blood stream, the brain and the ambition.

In the evening, use warm water and gentle hydromassage to calm jittery nerves, massage away pain, and prepare you for deep restful sleep.

Use the Jacuzzi 15 to 20 minutes each time. You determine whether you want vigorous massage for stimulation or gentle massage for relaxation.

You relax in the tub of water. Like many tiny fingers, the moving water filled with millions of velocity air bubbles massages every part of your body.

Change the massage pattern to suit yourself. Adjust the unit for vigorous hydromassage or gentle whirlpool bath. Unit maintains water temperature.

DON'T SUFFER NEEDLESS PAIN

Many everyday aches and pains may be unnecessary. Hydromassage provides heat and massage at the same time to stimulate local blood circulation. It relaxes and brings temporary relief of minor pains associated with

CHRONIC ARTHRITIS SPRAINS & BRUISES ACHING BACK
NERVOUS TENSION MUSCULAR SORENESS

Try it yourself. You don't have to buy it in order to try the Jacuzzi Whirlpool Bath. Ask for a no obligation demonstration in your home. TRY IT TODAY!

WALTER SCOTT'S

PERSONALITY PARADE

Want the facts? Want to spike rumors? Want to learn the truth about prominent personalities? Write Walter Scott, PARADE, 733 Third Ave., New York 17, N. Y. Your full name will be used unless otherwise requested. Sorry, the volume of mail received makes personal replies impossible.

Q. I heard that all of Elvis Presley's associates carry guns to protect their leader. Please check out this rumor.—D. Wheeler, DeSoto, Miss.

A. Two of Elvis' employees, Joe Esposito and Robert Smith, were recently indicted by a grand jury in Memphis for carrying pistols without permits.

Q. Has any Wave ever married an Admiral?—Janet Briskin, Springfield, Ohio.

A. Yes. Captain Winifred Q. Collins, former head of the Waves, married Rear Admiral Howard L. Collins last year.

Q. I am told that the press plans to boycott Roger Maris, the baseball star, this year. True or false?—Dean Brown, Cleveland, Ohio.

A. False. Maris says he plans to boycott the sports-writers.

Q. When I was in Rome recently, I mentioned something about the reported food poisoning which sent Elizabeth Taylor to the hospital. People howled at me. "How naïve can you be?" one Italian asked. "It was too many pills because of unhappy love." My question is: Will Liz ever tell the truth about the men in her life?—Elaine A., Detroit, Mich.

A. When and if she ever writes her memoirs, Miss Taylor will probably describe in detail her relationships with Nicky Hilton, Mike Wilding, Mike Todd, Eddie Fisher, Joe Mankiewicz, Richard Burton, and other intimate friends.

Q. Is it true we plan to send a woman astronaut into space shortly?—Bill Townsend, Chicago, Ill.

A. Twelve women astronauts have passed the same tests given our men astronauts, but thus far James Webb, Chief of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, has not scheduled a flight for any woman astronaut.

Q. I read that the Democratic incumbent Governor of Michigan, John B. Swainson, and the Republican gubernatorial candidate, George Romney, are both Mormons? Is this true?—F. B., Lansing, Mich.

A. Gov. John Swainson was born a Mormon, his family belonging to the "Reorganized" church with headquarters at Independence, Mo., followers of Joseph Smith, founder of the Mormon faith. Since his marriage, however, Swainson has been a Lutheran. Romney is a member of the Mormon faith with headquarters in Salt Lake City, followers of Brigham Young.

Q. Two youths, Loeb and Leopold, kidnapped and killed a boy in Chicago in 1924. Loeb died in prison. Leopold was paroled in March of 1958. What has become of him?—Elsa Arila, San Ysidro, Calif.

A. Nathan Leopold shortly after his parole went to work as an orderly at the Brethren Service Hospital in San Juan, Puerto Rico. In February 1961, he married a San Juan widow, Trudi Garcia de Quevedo.

Q. I was told that Sir Laurence Olivier had gendarmes guard him against plastic bombs while working in Paris recently. Why does he rate more protection than French citizens?—D. Lund, Boston, Mass.

A. A request was made for six policemen to keep sightseers from disturbing Sir Laurence, Simone Signoret and others while filming Term of Trial. Because of increasing numbers of plastiqueurs, Paris authorities were unable to spare the gendarmes, so six "extras" were dressed for the parts and did a masterful job of keeping order around their charges.

Q. Rochester, the comedian on Jack Benny's show, had an adopted son, Billy Anderson, who used to play professional football with the Chicago Bears. What's happened to the boy?—L. Carlisle, Chicago, Ill.

A. Unfortunately, he's in the Los Angeles county jail, serving a one-year sentence for second-degree burglary. In 1956, after he had finished playing pro football, Billy Anderson was convicted of possessing and selling narcotics and was sentenced to five years in prison.

Q. Is the Connie Stevens-Glenn Ford reported romance for real, or just publicity? Ugh! He's old enough to be her father!—Elizabeth Eaton, Hayward, Calif.

A. For real.

Q. Edda Mussolini, daughter of the Italian dictator and wife of Count Galeazzo Ciano, had a lover who helped her escape into Switzerland during the last days of World War II. Can you identify the lover?—V. J., Atlantic City, N.J.

A. Marquis Emilio Pucci.

Q. Can you give me the immediate plans of George Chakiris, the lead dancer of West Side Story*?—Mary Beth Lewis, Bethesda, Md.*

A. Mr. Chakiris is currently filming Diamond Head.

ON PARADE

Night calls—whether doctors should make them or not—are a matter of concern to every family. To get the facts, PARADE Medical Editor Robert Goldman assembled a panel of six doctors (see photo below — that's Goldman at the right), requested their frank views. For the results turn to Should Doctors Make Night Calls? on page 4.

On the same pages you'll find a special offer of a new booklet to help you improve your family's health. It's a collection of articles published in PARADE over the years on relations between you and your doctor. In it you'll find candid, authoritative answers to many medical problems.

Correction concerning Mr. Ernest Modarelli

In the issue of PARADE dated January 21, 1962, there appeared an article entitled "The Untold Story—Our Government's Crackdown on Organized Crime." It was stated therein that Ernest Modarelli, at a time when he was police commissioner of the Town of West New York, N. J., had sent his police captain with a "$1,000 bribe" to "fix" someone's ticket. After a careful and further investigation into the facts, we have found no conclusive evidence to support such charge and it is with sincere regret to Mr. Modarelli that the matter was published. It has also since been learned that Mr. Modarelli has been vindicated by a jury of charges of misconduct in office.

SHOULD DOCTORS MAKE NIGHT CALLS?

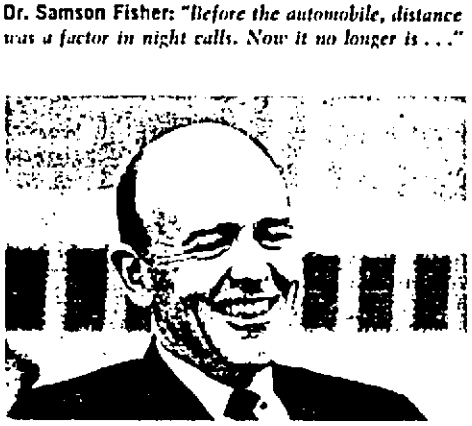

Some do and some don't. Read their reasons

Dr. Clarence Dore: "The majority of needless night calls come from people who have no regular doctor . . ."

Dr. Samson Fisher: "Before the automobile, distance was a factor in night calls. Now it no longer is . . ."

Dr. George Robertson: "Under certain circumstances, a conscientious doctor will discourage night calls . . ."

by ROBERT P. GOLDMAN

SHOULD DOCTORS make night calls? Do people who phone a doctor at 1 a.m. really need him or are they just neurotics seeking a willing ear?

Recently, a New Jersey doctor declared that night calls are unnecessary, a waste of time. Almost any ailment, according to this physician, can wait till morning.

These remarks made many people hot under the collar. They also affected many doctors the same way—especially those who are accustomed to working into the early morning hours.

All doctors, of course, have strong views on night calls. To find out what they are, I interviewed a panel of six doctors affiliated with the Thayer Hospital, Waterville, Me., a typical medium-sized American community.

Doctors—most family doctors—do make night calls. They believe night calls are important to overall medical care.

However, they see some problems arising from making night calls. The Thayer general practitioners and internists made these two important points:

1 Many people don't know when or why to call a doctor at night.

2 Doctors want patients to understand the problems of night calls, when they will or won't come to the house, fees involved and other aspects.

When Calls Are Needed

When is a night call necessary? It is always needed, says the Thayer panel, in cases of serious accident, significant blood loss, and severe pain or discomfort.

"Patients have to use their judgment," adds internist Dr. George Robertson, "but a call also is justified if you have a chronic disease such as heart trouble, asthma or ulcers and fail to get relief from your usual medication."

Dr. Jacob Jackler, another internist, says he believes a patient may be justified in calling at night if he is extremely anxious, worried about his condition or that of a relative.

Some doctors disagree with him. "If patients call just because they're anxious, we'll be swamped," the panel commented. "Patients should call when they think they're in serious trouble and need immediate attention."

As far as pregnant women and children are concerned, doctors offer some rules of thumb. A call is expected if a pregnant woman goes into labor, bleeds or her "waters break." Many doctors expect to be informed if a child's temperature exceeds 101 degrees and the child is extremely uncomfortable.

A Silly Phone Call

Of course, doctors are accustomed to unnecessary calls. Dr. Clarence Dore, a general practitioner, tells the story of a woman who phoned around midnight. She demanded he come immediately. Asked for the symptoms, she refused to discuss them over the phone.

"Are you in pain, bleeding or have you broken a bone?" Dr. Dore asked.

"No," she replied, then added: "Well I guess I can see you in the morning."

The next day, she said she had called the previous night because her stomach itched and it bothered her. This was all that troubled her—and was the only reason for her distress call.

"You get a few like that," Dr. Dore says, "but fortunately not too many are from your regular patients."

The doctors explained that most practitioners instruct sick patients to call at certain times, especially if their conditions should change. "Panic calls," Dr. Dore says, "come usually from individuals who have no doctor—who fail to understand their ailment, and are alarmed by the slightest symptom."

Doctors admit they are griped by certain types of night callers.

A chronic offender is the patient who calls and yells "Come quickly, Mother is sick" and slams down the phone. Dr. Stanley Beckerman points out that the physician has little recourse other than to call back and "try to determine if Mother really needs the doctor."

Then there's the relative who calls and tries to describe symptoms. He ends up shouting at the patient, trying to elicit a clear description of what to tell the doctor.

"This is why doctors prefer to talk to the patient himself—if possible," says Dr. Samson Fisher. "Even the patient's voice can provide a clue to his condition."

The patient—or his spokesman—should relay the following information: the symptoms and signs, location of pain, if any, the nature of the pain and other pertinent facts. Has the patient lost blood, vomited? Has he taken drugs? Did he lose consciousness?

The doctor wants to know exactly why he's receiving the call.

This is important, explains Dr. Harold Willard, "because the doctor wants to know if he's really needed or if the patient is better off going directly to the hospital." Here, for example, is a typical situation:

A wife calls and wants the doctor to come immediately. She describes her husband's symptoms—shortness of breath, pain in the chest, pale complexion, vomiting, and perhaps fainting.

The doctor surmises a heart attack. He may order the patient to the hospital. Knowing the symptoms in this case has saved precious time—and maybe the patient's life. A house call would be a waste of time.

Night callers make significant mistakes that can easily be avoided, the Thayer panel points out.

Failures at Home

Many fail to take the patient's temperature—in fact, don't even have a thermometer in the house. Also, they "destroy the evidence"—blood, or other bodily discharge, before the doctor arrives. Such bits of evidence may be helpful in making an accurate diagnosis.

While patients may not as a rule exaggerate symptoms, they omit important facts. They tend to be vague about subjects such as how much they've been drinking, what kinds of food they have eaten, whether they've been overworking, overexerting. To patients with ulcers, high blood pressure, heart trouble, or allergies, these questions can be vital.

Most patients want the doctor to come to the house. They do not want to be "treated" on the phone. Some doctors are exasperated to find that a patient just wants to chat.

Dr. Dore once got a late-at-night call from a woman who said she wanted to know why she kept getting hungry at night. Dr. Jackler got a night call from a patient asking if he was going out of town. She was anxious and just wanted to make sure that another doctor would be available and "covering" him if he did leave town.

Are there doctors who refuse to make night calls?

Yes, a minority do refuse, says Dr. Robertson, and "they stick out like a sore thumb." These "daytime doctors" throw the burden of night calls on their colleagues. Patients soon learn which doctors make night calls and which don't. They steer toward those who do.

What do you do when a really sick patient calls and says he cannot reach his "regular" doctor? "We either make the call," Dr. Fisher points out, "or arrange for another doctor to go to the house."

Doctors do this partly as a favor to colleagues and partly because they feel some day the tables will be turned and the colleague will reciprocate.

I asked why there is a popular notion that young doctors make most of the night calls.

"They do make many," Dr. Robertson says, "because the young doctor, just establishing practice, is eager to make any calls he can. Also, some of the older practitioners seek out the younger practitioner to 'cover' them at night."

What about fees?

Dr. Robertson candidly admits fees are upped (after 9 or 10 p.m.) "to discourage night calls." There is a tendency to forget that the doctor is a human being who wants some time with his family, to socialize and to sleep, too.

Dr. Fisher declares, "Some doctors look at the increased night fee as extra payment for extra work, a sort of time-and-a-half for night work."

Night calls present hazards to the doctor's equilibrium and to his physical well-being.

Dr. Dore cites the type of individual who calls several doctors "just to make sure that one will get there." On a couple of occasions he arrived in a hurry—only to find another doctor already at the house.

At times, too, the panel believes, there is a definite danger in making night calls, especially in big cities. Not infrequently, doctors have been mugged and robbed.

When the phone rings late at night, what is the doctor's first reaction?

"Experience shows that about half the calls you receive at night mean one of your hospitalized patients has 'gone sour,'" Dr. Robertson said. "More often than not, you're prepared to rush to the hospital."

I asked if a conscientious doctor would ever discourage night calls. Here, the doctors reveal a serious personal conflict.

"There comes a point," they say, "when you have so much work, so many patients, that you cannot care for new ones efficiently. Additional patients mean that someone will be neglected.

"When that point is reached, the conscientious doctor actually performs a service for all the patients concerned by discouraging night calls."

A Compromise Plan

Actually, doctors who are always likely to be fighting fatigue and demands of conscience are finding ways to ease the night-call problem. In communities throughout the U.S., groups of two, four or more doctors work out "covering" arrangements so that one doctor will always be available for night calls.

Should the patient ask a new doctor if he makes night calls routinely? Yes, was the unanimous reply, and the patient should think twice about accepting a family doctor who does not make them.

Obviously, as the Thayer doctors point out, everything is not black or white when it comes to night calls. Even doctors disagree on some of the fine points. This much is certain: the patient must use his judgment. What can wait until morning—and what cannot wait?

The patient must decide because the initiative for the night call almost always resides with him. ■

PRINCESS GRACE

Why is she returning to Hollywood?

by LLOYD SHEARER

MONTE CARLO.

BACK IN THE DAYS when Her Serene Highness, Princess Grace of Monaco, was a commoner, posing as a photographic model for PARADE, her father, the late wise and witty John Kelly of Philadelphia, told her, "There are two words no prudent woman uses—'never' and 'always.'"

From her dad, who rose from Philadelphia bricklayer to multi-millionaire, Grace Kelly accepted and retained that bit of advice, which is why when anyone asked her during the past six years, "Will you never again star in another motion picture?" or some variation thereof, Princess Grace made sure not to use the words "never" or "always."

She always hedged with, "I am much too busy with my husband and children," or "I have left that all behind," or "I am afraid my movie-making days are part of my past."

But the truth is that ever since her marriage to Prince Rainier, the former Grace Kelly has retained a Hollywood press agent, has kept in communication with the film colony and had talks with her agent Jay Kanter of MCA. Film stars shooting on the Riviera have always been welcomed by Princess Grace and her show-business-minded husband.

Urge to Come Back

In addition, as proven by Hollywood history, it has been an unwritten rule in this industry that no actress can resist the lure of a screen comeback. And that applies even to the great Garbo, last of the holdouts, for whom several producers are preparing comeback vehicles.

The announcement a few weeks ago, therefore, that Princess Grace was returning to Hollywood this summer to star in Marnie for Alfred Hitchcock came as a surprise to no one.

What is surprising, however, are the reasons offered for Grace's comeback.

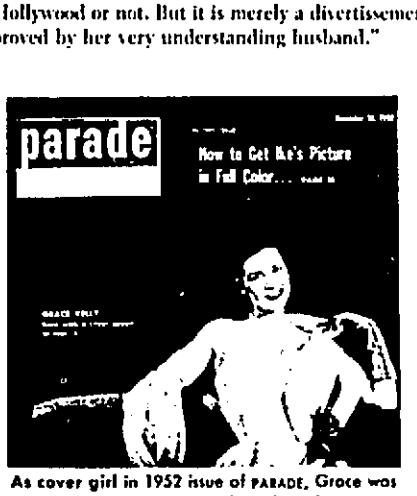

There are two sets of these, one emanating from the Princess and her entourage, and the other from the people of Monaco.

Because she is now, at 33, well versed in the ways of royal protocol, Princess Grace deferred to her husband in explaining her comeback decision. Treating the entire affair in a jovial, light-hearted manner, Rainier revealed that like former President Eisenhower, he, too, is a golf-addict, in fact loves to spend his vacation playing golf. "The Princess does not," he pointed out, "so this is really my little holiday treat. While she is making her film, I will play golf.

"I know," he added, "that she would very much like to see whether she can still act as well as she used to. After all, she spent many years of time and effort in establishing her screen career, and then she gave it all up for marriage to me."

When asked if the Princess might not be fed up with life in Monaco or simply bored, Rainier quickly denied it. "She has many interests here," he declared, "our children, the Junior Girl Guides, the Red Cross, many interests. But I think," he went on understandingly, "that every talented woman derives satisfaction from doing a creative job, a piece of work which she can pursue enthusiastically. And that is why she wants to act—if only temporarily—in another film."

When I asked Grace's press attaché at the palace whether money might have been a motivating factor in her planned return to Hollywood—Grace will receive at least one million dollars for the film—he laughed. "Of course not," he said. "She will give all the money to a charity for children. She is doing it merely as a divertissement . . . a diversion. Right now we do not know whether she will take the children to Hollywood or not. But it is merely a divertissement approved by her very understanding husband."

As cover girl in 1952 issue of PARADE, Grace was brunette, and was 10 lbs. lighter than she is now.

According to the Monegasques, however, Grace Kelly Grimaldi is departing Monte Carlo "in the year of the blow-up with Big Charlie."

The "Big Charlie" referred to is Charles de Gaulle, President of France, who doesn't like Prince Rainier on a personal basis and would just as soon force his abdication.

By making Monaco a virtually tax-free principality, Rainier has attracted so many people that land in Monaco, much of which he owns, has tripled in value.

Now what de Gaulle contends is that Monaco is being protected by France, that the Monegasques enjoy most of the privileges of French protection and neighborliness and that Prince Rainier and his subjects should pay their fair share of taxes.

What De Gaulle Wants

In addition, de Gaulle wants the right to countersign Prince Rainier's decrees. Three years ago Rainier suspended the Constitution, dissolved the elected Parliament of his little 370-acre country, banned all political meetings and began to rule by decree. Three weeks ago he restored the old constitution of his vest-pocket principality. He also proposed that Monaco have its own "flag of convenience" and that Monte Carlo become a free port attracting a tremendous amount of trade and tourist business, all of which would detract from France.

De Gaulle quickly snuffed out these proposals and at one point threatened to throw a cordon of troops around Monaco and cut off its supply of water and electricity.

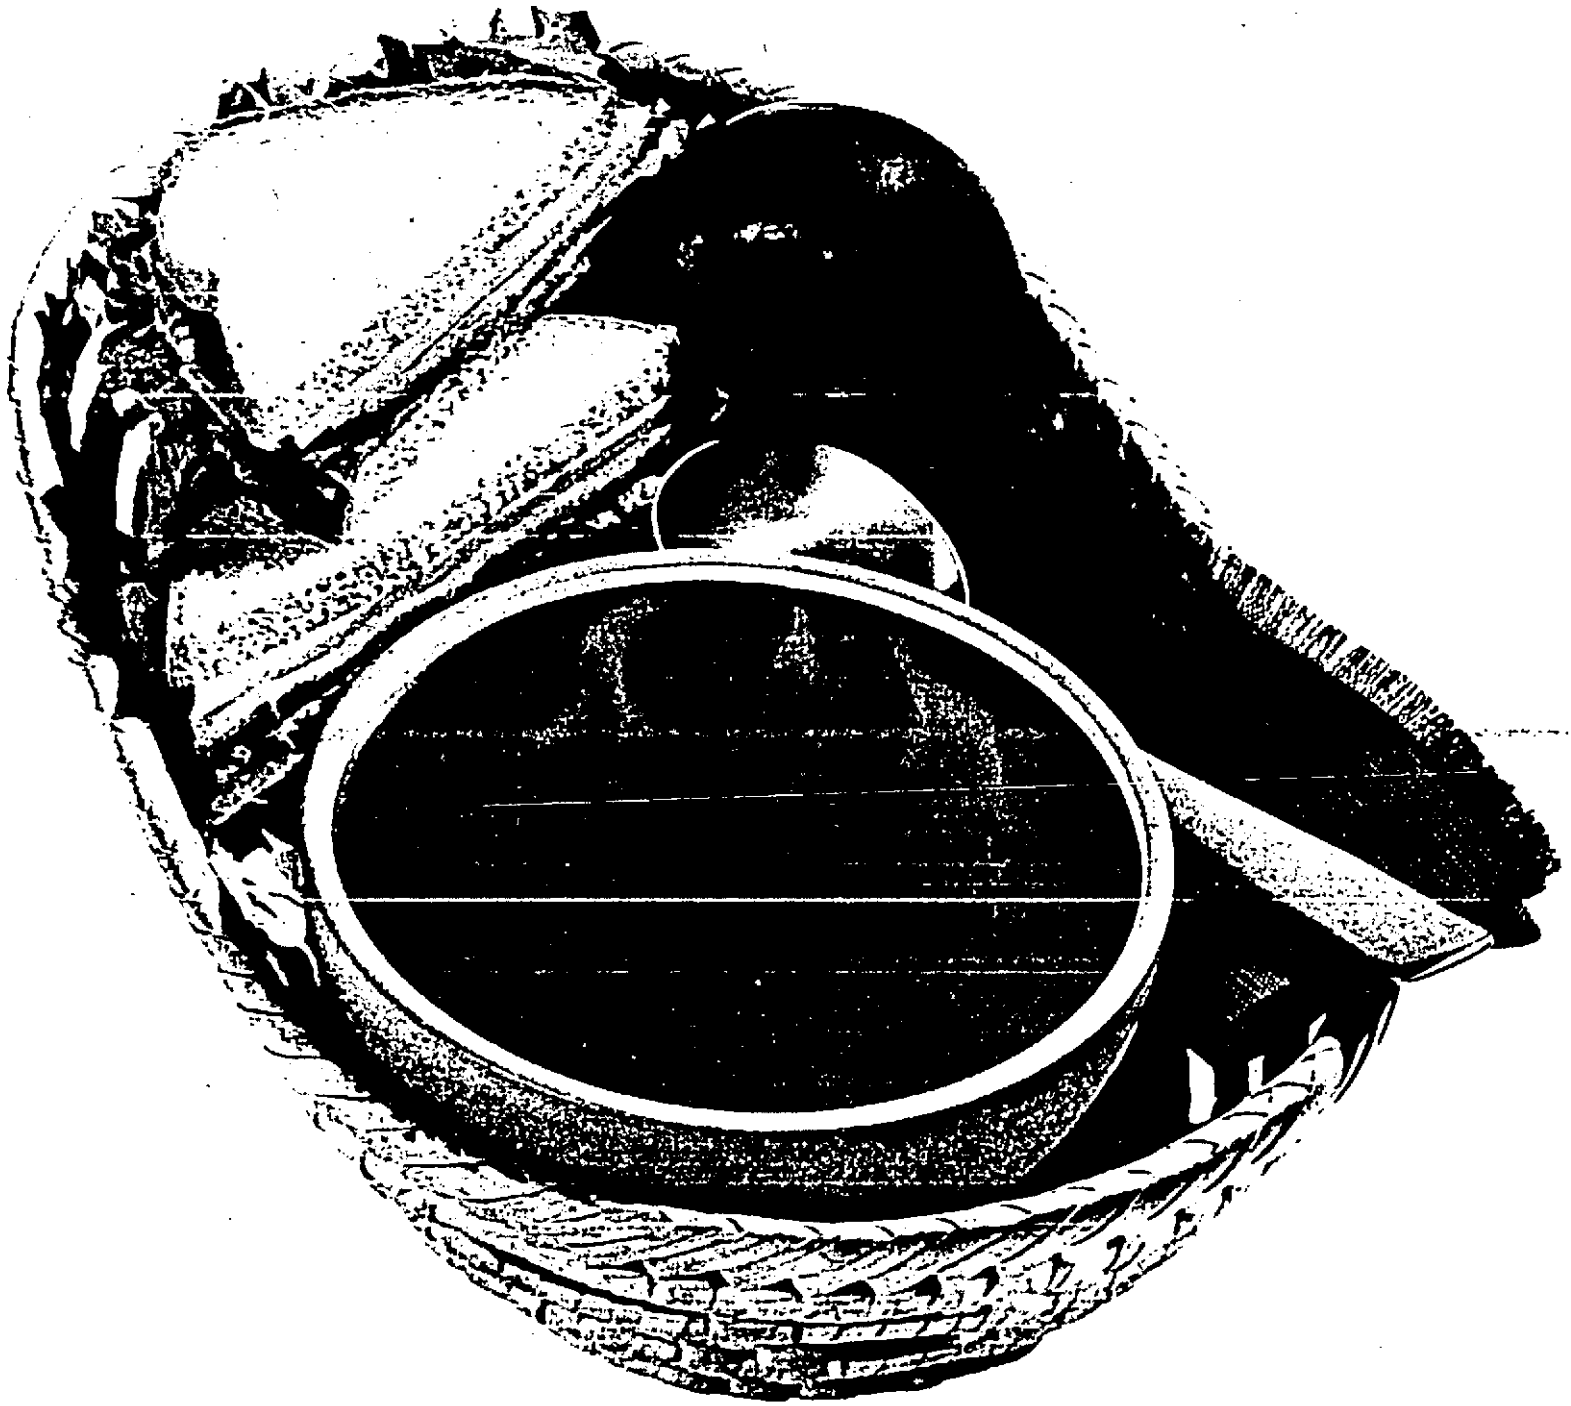

Eventually the French president relented but he has made it no secret that he regards 38-year-old Rainier as an autocratic upstart.

Another bone of contention between these two is Emile Pelletier, French-nominated prime minister of Monaco and a personal friend of de Gaulle who had chosen him for this soft, tax-free $35,000 per year job. Recently Rainier fired Pelletier and de Gaulle fumed.

Most Monegasques are frankly appalled at these developments. If French taxes are imposed upon them, they will scream bloody murder and accuse Rainier of ruining their tax-free principality.

Many of them do not like Rainier—they accuse him of being petulant, autocratic and dictatorial, although they do admit he is a great promoter—and they suggest privately that he abandon his throne and let a regency rule for his son Prince Albert, the heir apparent born March 14, 1958. They insist that Rainier is personally unacceptable to de Gaulle and that practically any other leader can get them a better tax deal with France.

Rainier at this writing has asked de Gaulle for a meeting to settle French-Monegasque disputes and claims he will give his people a modern constitution. Many of the more cynical Monegasques say the promise is merely an attempt to win them to his side in the fight against de Gaulle.

As for Her Serene Highness, Princess Grace, they say she knows all about the trouble in Monaco and wants to get out to Hollywood with the kids. Some of the older Monegasques say it is unbefitting for a Princess to act in films but many others insist she has a perfect right to do what she likes best.

Says one hotel manager, "The way things are going, who knows how much longer she will remain an active princess?"

The facts concerning Princess Grace's comeback vehicle are: She has never renounced her screen career and from time to time her agent Jay Kanter has sent her story properties she might be interested in.

Grace Takes a Job

"Six months ago," says Jay Kanter, "I sent her a copy of Marnie, the story of an English girl who spends her life lying and stealing and avoiding love until the real thing accidentally comes along. I told her Alfred Hitchcock owned the property. Grace and Hitch have made several films together, and I felt that was an added attraction. Sure enough, Grace sent word back that she'd like to do the film some time this summer. Since we handle both her and Hitch, it was a cinch to work out the deal."

Director Alfred Hitchcock, who also described Grace as "generating wholesome sex appeal and sexual elegance" and said of her, "There is nothing more exciting on the screen than an iceberg that is about to explode," may find it a bit more difficult to direct Princess Grace this summer than he did Grace Kelly in 1954 when she shot To Catch a Thief on the French Riviera.

Back then, I remember Hitch waddled up to her one morning and in a particular two-shot with Cary Grant, said, "Darling, we need a little more sex in your eyes."

Surely, one cannot demand the same thing in the same way from a young woman who has been a Princess and a Serene Highness for the last six years.

Watching them shoot Marnie this August should prove an interesting experience—interesting indeed.

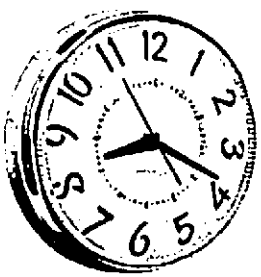

Grace talks with director Hitchcock on film set in 1954.

Up in the air together, lady helicopter pilots converge on Washington.

LADIES IN A WHIRL

DID YOU EVER HEAR of a woman's club without officers, dues or social affairs—whose members never 'meet' but merely hover together? That's the way it is with the Whirly-Girls, shown on this page. The nation's first organization of women helicopter pilots, they'll be hanging around Washington this week during their annual three-day hovering.

The Whirly-Girls have been chopping along since 1955. Their aim, according to "den mother" Jean Ross Howard, is to promote more heliports and dramatize the role of women in flying. Members include Janey Hart, wife of Michigan Sen. Philip Hart, who has volunteered as an astronaut; Massachusetts Aeronautics Commissioner Charlotte Kelley; Edna Gardner Whyte, who learned to fly at 50. The girls now are recruiting junior members. One member recently taught her daughter, 15, to solo in a plane and a helicopter. Any day now, the girl will learn to drive a car. —TREVOR ARMBRISTER.

Down on the ground, 11 of 12 Whirly-Girls gather for photo. All are licensed fixed-wing pilots. One has broken sound barrier.

RIO DE JANEIRO. Veteran observers here claim a revolution is inevitable. Brasilia, the new inland capital, is rapidly becoming the world's largest ghost town. Former President Juscelino Kubitschek has become one of the world's richest millionaires. Graft and corruption are endemic, sweeping the country at every level. Brazilian politicians have deposited tremendous sums in Swiss banks.

The situation here is similar to the one which existed in pre-Castro, pre-Communist Cuba. The U.S. may pour limitless funds into this bankrupt nation in an effort to save it from Communism and anti-Americanism, but all of it will go down the drain unless the character of the nation's leaders changes.

For example, a mayor of Sao Paulo while campaigning for office told the people, "Sure I steal, but I also achieve." Brazilians claim that Janio Quadros, the President who resigned, is personally honest -- "but drunk with power and sex." Things here look terrible.

BEIRUT, LEBANON. Women are taking over the white slavery run in the Near East. Interpol, the international police organization, reports that this constitutes the single largest headache in trying to crack the existing vice ring.

Here's how the system works: Lebanese and Syrian women recruit girls from France, Austria, and Germany. Under contract these girls "sell" themselves for a specific period of time, usually from a week to six months.

The girls come to Lebanon and from here are sent to rich protectors in Saudi Arabia, Kuwait, and Qatar. They stay with their buyers for agreed periods of time, then have the option of renewing their contracts, being sold to another buyer, or returning home.

The woman agent who arranges the deal receives 20 per cent of the selling price plus a bonus from the buyer if the "merchandise" turns out to be exceedingly attractive.

TOKYO. Each year 220,000 new residents move into Tokyo, a city which cannot care for its present population of 10,000,000. The government is frantically trying to find a solution to the problem since Tokyo today doesn't have enough housing, transport or water to maintain decent standards. One solution: have the government develop a group of suburbs within a 100-mile radius of Tokyo.

BARCELONA. Biggest demonstrations yet against Dictator Franco are currently under way in Spain. At Barcelona University recently, a $2500 portrait of Franco was ripped to shreds, a dummy hanging from a gallows put in its place. Franco's police have been court-martialling students for writing "Liberty and Democracy" on classroom blackboards.

A man needs Jockey support

Jockey is for men. Made from 13 separate pieces to give the support and protection every man needs

A man needs a special kind of support. And only Jockey builds a brief from 13 separate, tailored pieces to give that support -- plus real male comfort.

Other manufacturers have tried to imitate it, but they've never even come close. Jockey tailors 13 pieces of closer knit, combed cotton into an exclusive design that fits the male contour right to give maximum support and comfort.

No other brief has such a firm, long-lasting waistband to hold the brief up for constant support. And, no other brief has the Jockey assurance of no-gap security.

You can pay less for briefs. But you'll wind up with less. Less comfort. Less wear. And certainly less support.

Be sure to get the real thing . . . get the Jockey support a man needs.

Meet Bashir Ahmed—he's a

YANKEE DOODLE

by ROSALIND MASSOW

KARACHI, PAKISTAN

BASHIR AHMED, one of the world's best known camel drivers, is turning out to be one of America's most promising ambassadors-at-large. The 48-year-old Pakistani, who came to know the U.S., and vice versa, when he was the guest of Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson last October, is creating more good will for the U.S. along camel row than

On becoming a celebrity

"I am dust. It's up to God to honor you or do you disgrace. If God favored me before others for this trip, I say God's secrets are known to God alone. I am grateful this has happened to me."

On intelligence

"Do you think only educated people have brains? God gave us common people brains too. There are many with literate educations who are ignoramuses. They don't understand people."

'Love begets love,' says Bashir, kissing his camel. While he is now the owner of a new truck (see cover), Bashir's heart belongs to 'Camel.'

CAMEL DRIVER

foreign aid. Everybody here from the donkey-cart driver to the sweeper tells and retells the story of how Bashir, the common man, was treated like a king in "Am'rika." Bashir says, "Am'rik'ns are wonderful, they treated me better than my mother." I went to Pakistan to find how Bashir's life had changed since his great adventure in the U.S. I also wanted to know if he was still the same charming fellow Johnson picked up on a hill here last May.

On false impressions

"There is a false notion that I have become rich, and so people come to me for financial help. I went to the United States in these garments and I'm still wearing them. I can only give advice."

On sending a message

"What I have to tell Americans is so important I can't trust anyone to deliver my message. I'll tell them myself when I return there. I will say, however, that it's the best country in the world."

I took my doctor's advice!

Now our constipation worries are over!

We asked thousands of doctors, "Do you ever recommend Milk of Magnesia?" The overwhelming majority replied: "Yes!" You see, Phillips' Milk of Magnesia is both a gentle laxative and a soothing antacid. It not only relieves constipation thoroughly and comfortably; it also relieves accompanying acid indigestion. No single-purpose laxative can offer you such complete yet comfortable relief. Ask your doctor!

REGULAR OR MINT-FLAVORED

Miracle Cushion Holds False Teeth Tight

Eases Sore Gums

- Sticks to Denture
- No More Daily "Fixing"

Snug X brand Denture Cushions are a triumph of science, a sensational new ever-soft plastic re-lining that gets rid of the annoyance and fear of loose, badly fitting false teeth. Snug eases sore, irritated gums due to loose dentures. Helps prevent food particles from lodging under plates. Applied in minutes, makes worst-fitted plates stay firmly in place — gives perfect comfort. Eat anything — talk, laugh — plates "stay put." Harmless to gums or dentures.

Snug re-liners can last from 2 to 4 months. Stay soft and pliable — do not harden and ruin plate. Feel right out when replacement is needed. No daily bother with adhesives. Get Snug brand Denture Cushions today! 2 liners for upper or lower plates $1.50. Money back if not satisfied. At all druggists.

Now he wants an education—for his sons

I found Bashir fully as clever as his news clippings indicate. Many people in the U.S. doubted that an illiterate man like Bashir could speak so eloquently. When asked about his poetic answers, Bashir told me: "Do you think only educated people have brains? God gave us common people brains too."

Bashir's American visit may have changed his life, but not his address—one of the worst slums in Karachi. His hut, made of burlap scraps, straw matting and wrapping paper, is a far cry from his $30-a-day room at the Waldorf Astoria Towers in New York and the guest room at Lyndon Johnson's ranch in Texas. Bashir lives here with his wife and three of his four children in a community made up of 800 Moslem families, refugees from India after the 1947 partition.

Bashir's hovel is different from the others in that it has a table piled high with a suitcase, a Pan American overseas bag, souvenir of his 15,000-mile flight to the U.S., a box that once contained a Kissy doll, and gift clothing from the U.S. Another souvenir is a supermarket cart, which Bashir uses as a baby buggy.

The camel driver returned from the U.S. with a new interest—politics. Despite the fact that he can't read and can write only his name (he learned how in the U.S. so he could sign autographs), Bashir is a candidate for election to the Provincial Assembly in Lahore, a 150-member body akin to a state legislature. He is also president of the newly-organized City Railway Colony Social Welfare Organization, a community-improvement group. Bashir admits he can't really afford to be a politician, but he feels it's more important to do something for the people.

"I'm a poor man myself, but as people want me to contest the election I will do so," Bashir says with all the aplomb of a drafted candidate.

Prestige Up—Pay Down

All this may enhance his prestige and celebrity status, but it has diminished his take-home pay. B. J. (Before Johnson), Bashir made 25 rupees (about $5.50) a day picking up loads of coal and wheat from the railroad terminal near his hut. He was able to save about five rupees daily.

Now, with little time to drive his camel, Bashir pays a jobber four rupees a day to do his hauling. Bashir's main occupation is learning how to drive the red pickup truck sent to him as a gift from Ford.

I went with him once when he was having a particularly hard time with his driving lesson. While he can do figure-eight turns, he has a heavy touch with the brake pedal. After a sudden jolting stop, he turned to me in exasperation. "This truck is for engineers and big officers," he said, "it's not for a man who has to labor to earn his living."

Bashir intends to go into the carting business with his truck—but he will also keep his camel. The camel cart hauls more. Such a "fleet" will make him a real entrepreneur in the eyes of his Pakistani neighbors.

Until recently, Bashir had no idea of what an education could do for a man. His philosophy was that of millions of other Pakistanis—that it was "not his lot" to be schooled. It's good fortune to be educated, but if you're not, you're not.

Bashir's visit to America changed this view. "I wanted to earn enough to keep my family happy, but I see now that it is not enough. I am a camel driver because I have no education. I use my hands, but now I want my sons to be educated in 'Am'rika', so they could earn a living with greater ease and less toil."

Bashir has a more traditional goal for his five-year-old daughter. "In my country it it not necessary for girls to be so learned," he said. "I am sending her to a religious school and I would like her to read and write, but more is not necessary."

Shoes and a Pilgrimage

If Bashir had his own Aladdin's lamp, he couldn't have done as well for himself as he has in the last year. With Vice President Johnson's help he's fulfilled the Moslem's sacred dream of visiting Mecca. His wife and four children now have shoes, American-made clothing and he owns a Polaroid camera, which he doesn't yet know how to use, also a portable transistor radio and a wrist alarm watch. The watch, with the Golden Rule inscribed around the dial, is his most prized possession, because Johnson gave it to him. The Vice President also taught him how to tell time.

When Bashir talks about the watch, he closes his eyes in reverence, and says, "This watch is my heart, it was given to me by a friend."

Bashir also closes his eyes when he talks about "Am'rika" as if to capture the sounds and sights of the admiring crowds, the subways, the friendly faces. "I almost feel like an American," he said proudly. "I was made a citizen of San Antonio and they gave me the keys to all of Kansas City. Your country is first class."

Bashir's children pose all dressed up in their American best outside their hut in Karachi.

Bashir's immediate neighbors are proud of him. They renamed the little shop in the square "Bashir Chowk". Others are jealous. When Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy rode a camel recently led by Bashir, the whisper was out that Bashir borrowed the camel. Detractors said his camel was "too mangy."

The upper class, which didn't want Bashir to go to the States because they feared he would make a fool of Pakistanis, are still angry that a "nobody" got all this publicity. "Oh, him again," they say.

Everybody Says 'Salaam'

The man in the street, however, takes warm pride in Bashir—loves to hear Bashir's stories of America—and identifies with him. One told me: "He's 'not my friend, he is not my relative, but I tell you Bashir Ahmed is a good man. Nobody asked his name before he went, now people come to see him. It was time to change his luck. Now when he goes, everybody says 'salaam, salaam'. He no pride man, he simple man."

The account of how the uneducated camel driver was plucked from anonymity to become a friend of a great American named Johnson is the most popular living fairy tale in Pakistan today. As for Bashir himself, his real-life adventure has just begun. ■

Bashir comes home to hut made of burlap and straw, a far cry from luxury he has seen.

Golden waffles with maple jelly

by BETH MERRIMAN Parade food editor

Any time is waffle time—breakfast, brunch, supper or snack time—because crisply-tender, golden-brown waffles are so versatile that they can be served as a main dish or dessert whenever you please. Be sure the waffles you make are really perfect. Use this recipe for Best-Ever Waffles to give your family a treat. And don't fail to try the brand-new recipe for Maple-Jell to serve with the waffles. Just 3 ingredients—made in a jiffy, but don't ignore the setting period—this takes a full 3 days.

BEST-EVER WAFFLES

2 cups sifted cake flour
3 teaspoons baking powder
¼ teaspoon salt
2 egg yolks
1¼ cups milk
⅓ cup melted shortening
2 egg whites

Mix and sift flour, baking powder and salt. Beat egg yolks until light. Combine with milk. Add milk mixture slowly to dry ingredients, stirring until batter is smooth. Add melted shortening. Beat egg whites stiff, but not dry; fold in. Bake in hot waffle baker. (Follow manufacturer's directions for using baker.) Makes 6-8 waffles.

MAPLE-JELL

1 tablespoon lemon juice
1 bottle (12 oz.) maple-blended syrup
1 bottle liquid fruit pectin

Place lemon juice in medium bowl. Pour in maple-blended syrup and fruit pectin; stir well. Pour into 2 sterilized 8-oz. jelly glasses. Cover at once with tight lids or seals. Let stand at room temperature 3 days to set. Serve as an accompaniment to waffles or other hot breads or with meats.

IS THERE SUCH A THING AS A SPECIAL LAXATIVE FOR WOMEN?

So many women are asking this important question.

The answer is—yes. A remarkable new medical discovery called Dioctyl Sodium Sulfosuccinate has now made possible a special new laxative for a woman's sensitive system. We call it Correctol®.

Correctol works two ways. First, its miracle ingredient takes advantage of the natural moisture in your system. Second, its mild laxative acts gently but most effectively. Working together, Correctol's two active ingredients give a woman more natural relief than any ordinary laxative can.

Correctol is recommended any time in a woman's life, even during and after pregnancy.

Try gentle, hospital-tested Correctol... bearing the Good Housekeeping Seal. Ask your druggist for Correctol.

'OUR MIRACLE BOY'

Rodney Brodie, born a Siamese twin, made medical history 10 years ago. How is he today?

by SID ROSS and ED KIESTER

Rodney's 'legs,' big brother Steve, carries him to yard. Rodney recently lost his sense of balance, can't walk.

FERRIS, ILL.

TWO LITTLE GIRLS, aged 3 and 4, every day swarm over Rodney Dee Brodie. Their favorite brother is 10 and far bigger than they, but he is never too busy for Julie and Jill. He reads them nursery rhymes or builds with their blocks, and when he finishes they shower him with kisses.

Yet the remarkable thing about Rodney is not that he reads and plays, but that he is alive at all. As PARADE readers may recall (PARADE, July 26, 1953, We Risked Our Babies' Lives), the son of Boyt and Marjorie Brodie was born a Siamese twin—joined at the head to a brother, Roger Lee. In a history-making operation, the two were separated in 1953, but Roger fell into a coma and never woke up.

Thus, Rodney Brodie is the only known Siamese twin ever to survive such surgery.

Today Rodney, at 10, is a frail, friendly boy, loved by his family and popular with playmates. In many ways, his life is not too different from that of any other 10-year-old. He reads and writes and loves to draw. He attends "school"—a teacher comes to his house every day and he greets her with his favorite song, a quavering Good Morning, Dear Teacher. He watches TV a lot and he peppers strangers with questions—"Do you go to school?"... "What do you do?"... "What do your mother and father do?"

Of course, Rod has had to be a "fighter" since the day he was born. His history is one of setback and gain. Recently, for instance, he unaccountably lost his sense of balance and now cannot walk unaided. Bone grafts in his skull never have completely "taken," so that a flap of skin is all that covers the top of his head. He is small for his age and moves slowly, but his dark eyes are alert and intelligent.

Rod spent the first five years of his life in hospitals, with only rare visits home. When he finally came home to stay in August 1956, he had a lot of catching up to do.

"He could tell you how to use a stethoscope or an X-ray machine," Mrs. Brodie says. "But he didn't know the difference between a brother and a sister, a car and a tractor, or an apple and a potato. He'd never had any experience with any of these things and he had to start learning at the age of 5."

He also was starved for companionship, but his seven brothers and sisters immediately provided that in quantity. "We just love Rodney," says Linda, 15. The neighborhood children feel the same way. In summer, the yard of the rambling white house is full of children.

Rodney usually sits in the sandpile or on the swings and watches them. He cannot always keep up with them, but they always include him in their games. They even mock-wrestle with him, being careful not to bump his head.

Rodney and His Friends

Actually, Boyt and Marge Brodie wish the other children would be a little less solicitous of Rodney. The children are so eager to be nice that they do many things for him that he could do for himself. "Rodney learned to be dependent in the hospital," his mother says. "We'd like him to be more independent, strike out more for himself."

Rodney doesn't talk too much to the other children. He saves most of his conversation for Jill and Julie and for his favorite playmate, brother Kevin, 7. Rodney's idea of happiness is to sleep with him. Conditioned to early hours in five years of hospitalization, he used to wake up at dawn and then rouse his brother by tickling his feet or blowing in his face. Needless to say, Kevin's feelings did not jibe with Rodney's.

What's an Operation?

Rodney has no clear conception of his past. "I don't 'member the hospital," he told PARADE. "I just 'member being home with my brothers and sisters."

"He never has asked why he can't play like other kids," Marge Brodie says. "All he asks is why he has no hair on the sides of his head. We tell him he had an operation when he was a little boy and won't ever have hair there. He doesn't know what an operation is but it seems to satisfy him."

Rodney, meanwhile, seems a happy boy, looking forward eagerly to school every day, reading his books, thinking about the future. "I don't know if I can play ball when I grow up," he says, "but I would like to drive cars and trucks."

"We'd be lost without Rod," says his mother. "He's one of us, an important member of the family. He's not special—we just let him be Rod, the same as the others are whichever ones they are. We love them all the same."

The whole "miracle" case remains mystifying to doctors, who do not know what to expect from Rodney from one day to the next. For every hurdle Rodney Brodie overcomes makes medical history. ■

CACTUS CURTAIN

MILLIONS upon millions of spiky fingers like those above are the latest barrier between the Communists and the free world. Nicknamed "bayonet grass" or "maya grass," they are now being planted by Cuba's Fidel Castro regime around the 45-mile perimeter of the Guantanamo Bay U.S. naval base in eastern Cuba. American military personnel call them "the Cactus Curtain."

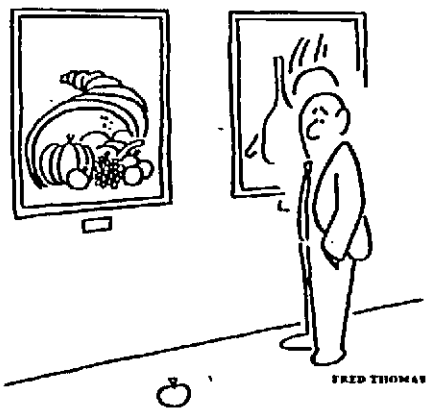

Like Russia's Iron Curtain and Red China's Bamboo Curtain, the 15-foot-deep screen aims more to keep insiders in than outsiders out. The sharp, saw-toothed leaves could inflict a nasty gash on anyone caught in them. Yet rumors are rife that escaping Cubans already know how to come through safely. Whether the curtain is iron, bamboo or cactus, freedom finds a way.

Cuban militiamen water sharp-leaved barrier on Guantanamo boundary.

MY FAVORITE JOKES

by JACK CARTER

EDITOR'S NOTE: Jack Carter, originally from Brooklyn, is a comedian who started out in show business as a Shakespearean actor. Since this start placed him on a starvation diet, he decided to eat better and became a comic. After World War II, he went into TV, was M.C. of his own show, Cavalcade of Stars, then did guest appearances on the Ed Sullivan, Perry Como, Pat Boone, and other variety TV programs. Jack has played all of the nation's leading supper spots, the Desert Inn in Las Vegas, the Chez Paree in Chicago, the Copacabana in New York. He is married to actress Paula Stewart. Here are some of his favorite one-liners.

My wife kept nagging me to live in a more expensive apartment. Now she's getting her wish—the landlord raised our rent.

Every morning I read the obituary notices before I get out of bed. If I'm not listed, I get up and shave.

I know an Arabian sheik who has just had his apartment redone—wall-to-wall girls.

I recently bought a dozen golf balls and the salesman asked me if he should wrap them up. "No," I told him, "I'll drive them home."

Heredity is when a teenage boy winds up with his mother's blue eyes and his father's automobile.

Broadway wolves not only kiss and tell, they kiss and exaggerate.

My nephew saved me a lot of money on new college books this term. He flunked.

My European friend tells me Americans are strange. They say "Here's to you" and drink it themselves.

I tried to go on a diet, but it was just wishful shrinking.

We know a kid so well adjusted that he can go to the psychiatrist alone.

I've been offered the lead in a new psychological western—Frontier Coward or Have Gun—Will Run.

In Paris they have a Left Bank and a Right Bank—but to live there, you've got to own the Chase National Bank.

When I think of the biscuits my wife makes, I get a lump in my throat.

After seeing Nancy Kwan's structure in Flower Drum Song, I can understand why her father is Hong Kong's most famous architect.

Here's my new tax plan: Send your salary check to Washington, and they'll send you back some money to live on.

My dog is a one-man dog—he bites only me.

ANECDOTE OF THE WEEK

Soviet Premier Khrushchev once told a joke that laid an egg. It so troubled him that he told Eric Johnston, the American movie mogul, about it months later.

On Khrushchev's visit to Belgrade, he had regaled Yugoslav President Tito with a story about animals who took refuge in the hills to keep away from mankind.

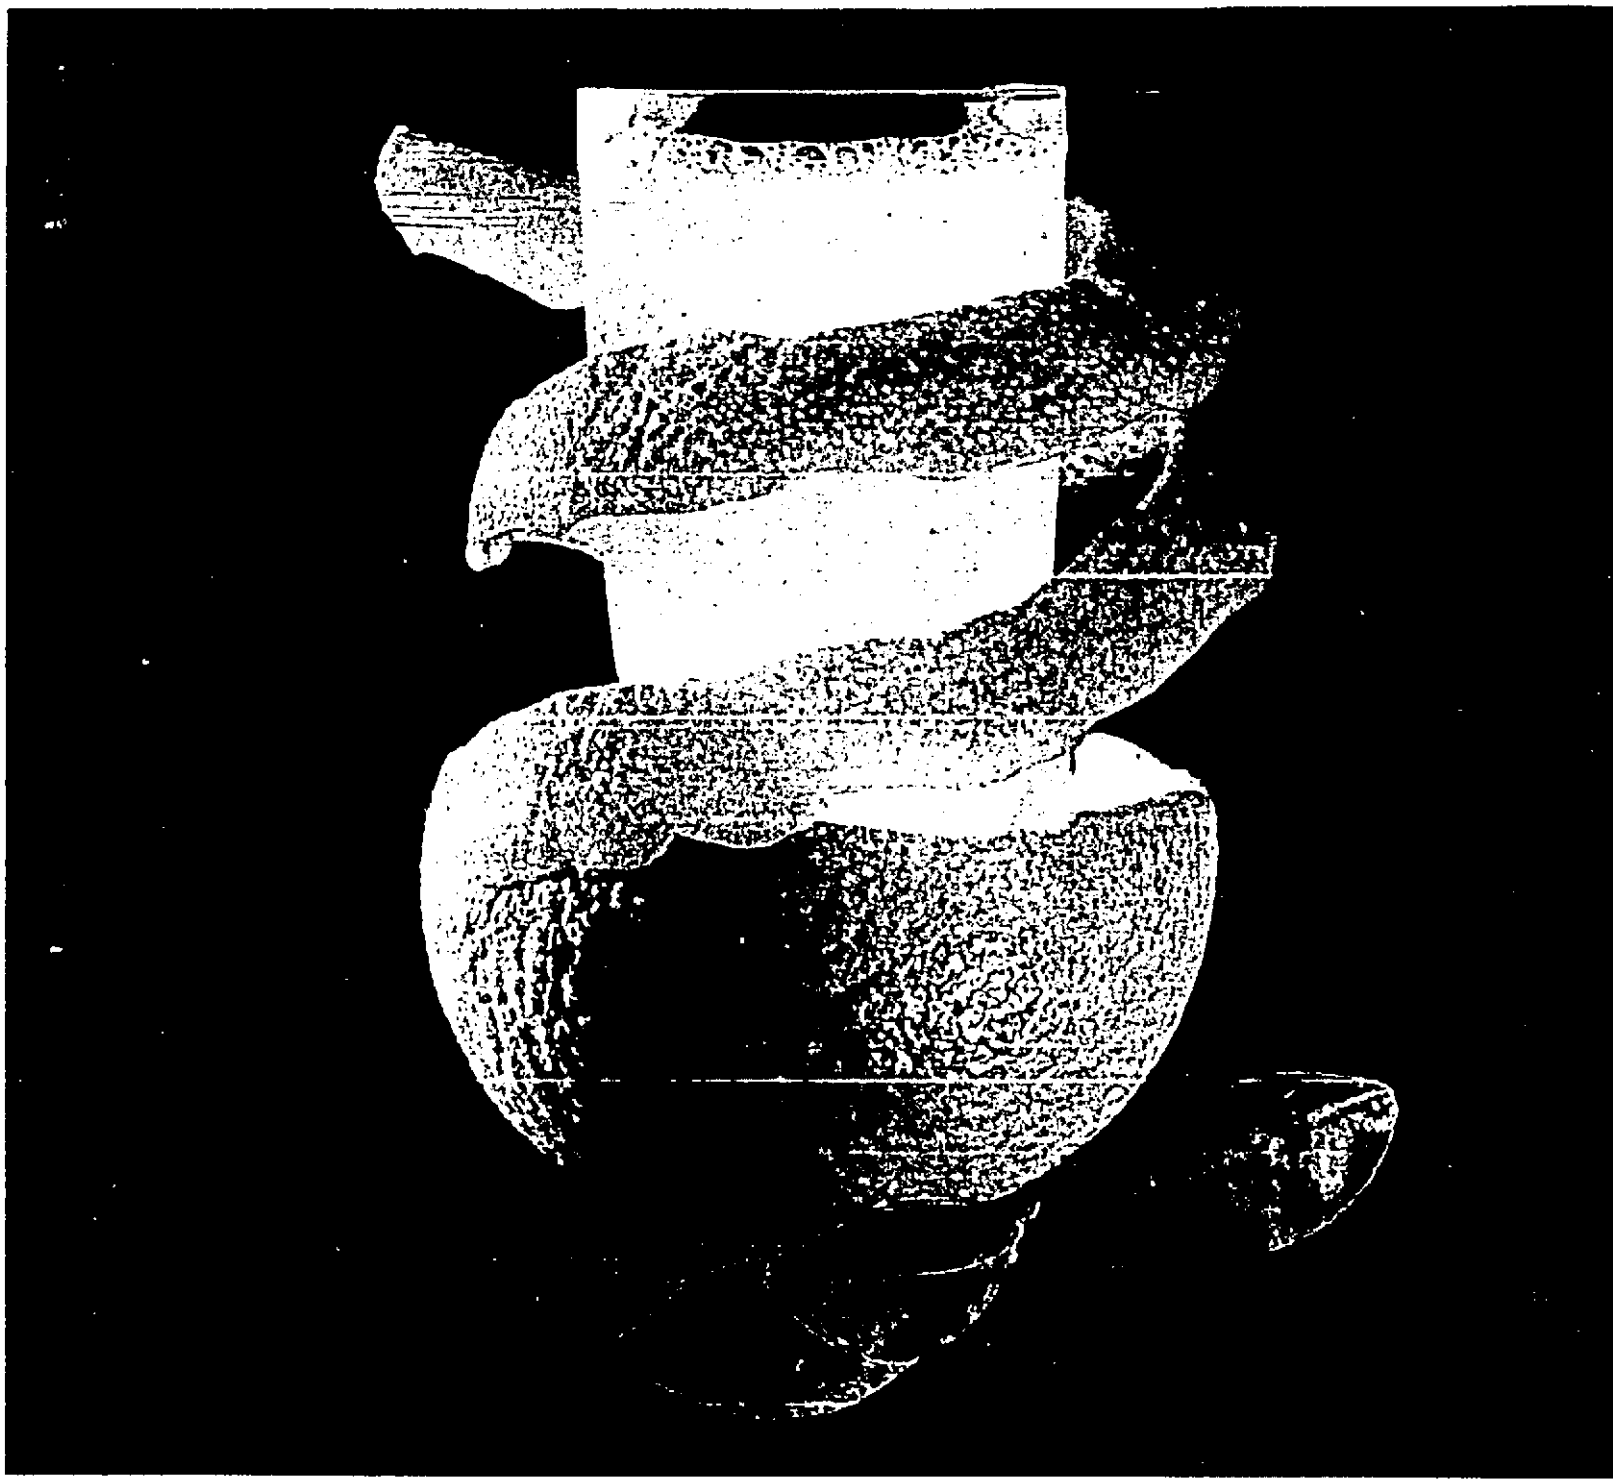

One day, they became bored and decided to find out what was going on in Belgrade. First they sent the dog to reconnoiter. He returned quickly and reported, "They put me on a leash and wouldn't let me bark. It was awful."

Next the cow set off. She also came back mooing with dismay. "Before I got inside the city limits," she said, "they started milking me."

Finally the jackass went down to Belgrade and didn't return for days and days. When he eventually rode up, he was in great spirits, kicking his heels. "Belgrade is great," he said. "They made me President."

Khrushchev laughed uproariously at his own joke, but Tito received it with a glare as cold as a Siberian winter. Relating the incident later to Johnston, Khrushchev confessed mournfully: "I think I hurt Tito's feelings." ■

THE RICHEST ORANGE FLAVOR IS SKIN DEEP... AND THAT'S WHERE TANG GETS ITS NEW NATURAL FLAVOR

Amazing but true: The richest orange flavor is not in the juice, not in the pulp, but locked in the rind of tree-ripened oranges. And that's where TANG gets its new natural flavor.

So, no matter how much you might have liked TANG before, you'll like new Natural Orange Flavor TANG even more.

Not a juice—not a soft drink, TANG is the instant breakfast drink that gives you more vitamin C than fresh or frozen orange juice...plus important vitamin A, too.

For breakfast tomorrow, mix a decanterful of New Natural Orange Flavor TANG tonight. Serve ice cold in the morning.
